Ga. Judges Urged To Apply Laws In Traffic Cases

Following close on Gov. Herman Talmadge's request to law enforcement officials to "clamp down" on traffic law violators, Chief Justice W. H. Dockworth, of the Georgia Supreme Court, has sent out circulars to judges, ordinaries and traffic court officials throughout the state urging them to strictly apply the law in cases brought before them.

"Every year," Justice Dockworth wrote, "Georgia's traffic accident toll is ghastly—700 or 800 dead, over 25,000 injured, and more than $2-million cash loss. This constitutes one of the most serious threats to public order that I know, and places a heavy and sobering responsibility on the judiciary."

Pointing out that violations breed accidents, the chief justice said prompt, universal and fairly applied punishment of traffic violators invariably reduces accidents and saves lives. Another thought he said he would like to urge upon judges of the lower courts was this:

"For every defendant appearing in the Supreme Court, literally thousands appear in courts such as yours. To them, the workings of your court exemplify the workings of the government under which they live, and for which "It is startlingly true that in this traffic situation the lives and well-being of thousands of Georgians are literally in your hands. I implore that you give your very best to your duty here, to save God's gracious gift of life for those who come before you, and for those who might cross their way. I wish you opportunity for real service to your fellowman; and I wish you Godspeed in your mission to reduce violations, reduce accidents and save lives."

Community Center; Hub For City-County Youth

Max Lockwood, superintendent of the Statesboro recreation department, last Friday made a complete report to the recreation board on summer activities at the Community Center.

The board met with Mr. Lockwood at the Jackson Hotel.

According to the report, the 1950 summer program was the most successful of any since the inauguration of the recreation center.

The highlight of the summer program was the swimming pool. With the National Red Cross participating, 75 adults and 298 children were given swimming instruction, and courses in life saving and water safety. Many received life saving certificates and all were given certificates for the various stages of their advancement in swimming.

The pool was closed on Monday of this week. A representative of the State Department of Health gave the pool an excellent rating, stating that it was one of the best in the state. Its standard of cleanliness and safety was higher than that required by the state.

One hundred and seventy-three boys participated in the baseball program, with 68 in the "Midget League, 57 in the Senior League, and 48 in the Junior League.

The Browns Troop includes 40 young girls, and the Girl Scout Troop is made up of 37 girls.

The Knot Hole Club, Happy-Go-Lucky Club, and the Teen-Age Club combined their meetings during the summer months.

The recreation director worked with the local and regional Boy Scout program and served as a member of the district committee.

The wading pool proved a popular attraction for boys and girls old enough to go in the swimming pool.

A movie projector has been added to the Community Center building and a program of audio-visual education was given, featuring films of wide interest.

The Community Center building has been a hub of community activity, with many city and county organizations using it as a meeting place.

Parties, picnics, barbecues, birthday parties, and dances were given at the Center.

Many tourists were attracted to the Center and found it to their liking.

Lockwood is now making plans for the fall and winter program.

Central of Georgia Takes Over G&F Terminal; to Improve Service Here

The Central of Georgia Railway Company is now operating the only railroad facilities in Statesboro.

The Central has purchased all the terminals, including the rails and Florida Railway, and the old Statesboro and Savannah Railway.

The Public Service Commission granted the petition of the G. and F. to abandon the service from Stevens Crossing to Statesboro and the tracks are now being abandoned.

Authorities of the Central state they expect to improve the service to this community. There are two sections of 20 men now working here. More than 300 crossties have been replaced and heavier rails are being put down.

They explain that the present rails on the G. and F. roadbed are too light for the Central's heavier engines and are being replaced with 70-pound rails. They are also using the G. and F. engine to facilitate switching.

Bulloch 4-H Club Works on Project

Bulloch county 4-H Club members will work on an educational hog feeding demonstration during the next few weeks.

Raymond Hagan, county president, announced Saturday.

Hagan and other clubbers worked out an agreement with Gerald D. Groover, manager of the Trading Post and local Purina dealer, whereby the demonstration could be put on in the store on Parrish street.

Joe Norris, Purina fieldman, Hagan, and Mr. Groover selected two pigs at W. H. Smith's farm Saturday, each pig weighing 50 pounds.

The pigs selected were Duroc and Hampshire crosses. Hagan named them "Mike" and "Ike".

"Mike" is to be fed hog chow and corn and "Ike" is to get corn only. Both will have all the minerals and water they desire.

Club President Hagan stated that on November 18 at pigs, which they hope will be hogs, will be taken off and "Mike" will be given away. However, he said, during the time from now until November 18 clubbers will sell chances to each other and to their parents on "Mike" for 25 cents each. Two or more clubbers will be selected to weigh the hogs each Saturday to keep up their progress.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the Bulloch county 4-H Club. However, Mr. Groover has agreed that they may be used to help a major part of the cost of feeding the pigs for the clubbers.

Accurate records on the per-pound-of-meat cost will be maintained for use in discussing hog feeding programs by the county agents.

Soil Conservation Week to Be Observed By Bulloch County

Soil Conservation Week, as proclaimed by Governor Herman Talmadge, is September 10-17 for Georgia.

The anticipated shortage of nitrogen for the 1951 crop year makes the 1950 conservation week more important than ever to the farmers of Bulloch county. It will help to remind them of the things they can do this fall to help meet the nitrogen situation next year, well before it is too late.

Lupine will probably draw more attention this fall as a crop following peanuts, for planting in cotton fields following harvest, and on other land that can be planted before too late.

Ample lupine seed is available for planting this fall. A good growth of lupine will add 500 to 800 pounds of nitrogen per acre, and will help hold the land during winter rains. The green manure crop will help conserve moisture next spring. Lupines are not new to Bulloch farmers, as thousands of acres have been planted during the past few years.

Grazing crops, such as ladino clover, tall fescue (either Kentucky or Alta), oats, and vetch (ample hairy vetch is also available again this year), white clover, and Dixie Crimson clover, will also play a major part in the soil conserving program of the county this fall and, at the same time, help solve the grain shortage now existing here. Recommended fertilizers and planting practices should be watched closely as these crops the first year if they are to be successful.

Corn yields are averaging 50 to 60 percent higher in Georgia now than 20 years ago. Cotton is 58 percent higher, potatoes 88 percent higher, and oats 17 percent higher. These figures indicate farmers are making progress in soil improvement. It is true that better varieties, wiser land use, a better use of fertilizer, machinery, and a number of other things have helped increase yields. Still a large part of the credit can be given to improved soil.

Bulloch farmers are urged to County Agent Byron Dyer to listen to publicly given soil maintenance next week, and if the planting and fertilizing problems are not thoroughly understood, they should contact him for detailed information.

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY Statesboro young'uns with something to do during the summer . . .

Two hundred and fifty young'uns off the streets of Statesboro . . .

Two hundred and fifty young'uns at healthful and character-building play . . .

The completed report of Max Lockwood, superintendent of the Statesboro Recreation Department, reveals that participation in the city's recreation program has been wonderful.

A breakdown of the report shows that 173 boys played baseball in the three city leagues. Sixty-eight of them were in the "Midget League," the little bitty boys; 48 in the Junior League, the junior size boys; and 57 in the Senior League, the king-size boys. Forty girls were in the "Brownies," the little-bitty Girl Scouts; and 37 Girl Scouts, troop for the middle-size girls.

And so many members of the Knot Hole Club, Happy-Go-Lucky Club, and the Teen-Age Club that the superintendent and his assistants couldn't count them for his report.

Now for some more figures:

In the 1950 swimming program, 288 young'uns and 75 adults were given instruction in swimming, with emphasis on water safety and life-saving. They learned the technique of artificial respiration, what to do with themselves in the event of a boating disaster. They enjoyed picnics and movies in between times.

The teen-tiny folk in and around the wading pool, "hundreds" of them, according to the report.

And the wonderful part—not a single

For a Good Job

Get a Busy Man

FROM TIME to time we pay tribute in our editorial columns to citizens who do outstanding service for our community.

There is always one common factor which characterizes these citizens who do so much. They are busy people.

There's an oft-quoted maxim which gets like this: "To get something done, get a busy person to do it."

This week we mention Ike Minkovitz. His most recent service to the community is his acceptance of and reorganization of the Bulloch County Blood Bank program.

The success of his work on this new community assignment is attested to by the results obtained when the Bloodmobile was here July 17, at which time 109 pints of blood were collected, exceeding our quota of 100 pints.

His services to the community include directing campaigns to raise funds for the Bulloch County Boy Scouts; he was president of the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce before he entered the armed services in World War II. He has served as chairman, and on many committees organized for community progress.

Through anonymous channels he has contributed generously to the needy in the city and county, with no desire for credit.

He's a good man to have in our community.

We Live by the Land

NEXT WEEK — September 10-17 — is Georgia Soil Conservation Week.

We don't hold much for these "weeks," but here is one we commend to the people of our community, as well as to the people of our state.

We in this community live by the land. The local druggist may sell drugs, the hardware man may sell plow points, the department store may sell dresses and suits—but they know they live by the land.

Land is the most useful and important of all our natural resources. It is the very existence of our community. No other gift of nature is so essential to not only our own progress and prosperity, but to the progress and prosperity of the nation.

From the land we get the food we eat, the clothes we wear, and the homes in which we live. All our material possessions come from the land. It is our primary source of wealth.

Yet, inspite of the fact that the soil provides the necessities of life and raw materials for trade, industry, and com-accident was reported for the entire summer.

The Recreation Center was the hub of many community activities—The Blood Bank Program headquarters, the meeting place for county 4-H clubs, the County Home Demonstration Clubs, the Soil Conservation promoters.

Moving picture equipment has enlarged the program to include audio-visual educational movies — to a young'un a movie of the 1949 World Series baseball game between the Yankees and Dodgers is tops in educational movies.

Truly a Community Center with definite objectives arrived at by sustained interest, directed intelligently and with enthusiasm.

We know of no better investment the community has made than that it now has in its community recreation program.

When a community can put its finger on 250 of its youths and know that they are regular participants in scheduled activities of the recreation program, and know that uncountable others are using the Center's facilities, it is easy to figure that nearly every one of the city's youth is being touched by the program.

It's great to know these things. It's wonderful for the community.

And there must be much satisfaction in the minds and hearts of the mothers and fathers of these young'uns who have made the community's recreation program their program for growth and development.

It's part of the reason Statesboro is one of the finest communities in the world.

merce, land has been neglected, wasted, and exploited.

In the United States we are destroying our soil resources faster than any other people in the world's history.

But we may be spared the fate of older civilizations if we will rally to the support of our nation's conservation program.

Soil conservation is the responsibility of the people of Statesboro, and Atlanta, quite as much as it is the duty and obligation of those who live on the land. All of us are tied very closely to the nation's topsoil; all of us are dependent upon it.

Keeping the soil highly fertile and preventing it from washing away are necessary if we are to remain prosperous and our democracy strong.

These are some of the reasons why all of us should have a keen interest in the soil.

Soil Conservation Week is designed to focus attention of our people on the land.

Governor Herman Talmadge has issued a proclamation designating next week as Soil Conservation Week.

Next week The Herald plans a special section of the paper on soil conservation.

Encourage your neighbor in the principles of conserving our greatest natural resource—the land.

Verse for This Week

Oh! Let us not this thought allow;
The heat, the dust upon our brow,
Signs of the contest, we may wear;
Yet thus we shall appear more fair

In our Almighty Master's eye,
Than if in fear to lose the bloom,
Or ruffle the soul's lightest plume,
We from the strife should fly.

ALL'S FAIR

By Jane

DID YOU KNOW that we had an honest-to-goodness tree sitter in town last week? Yes, we did. I saw him myself, and a cute little kitten was sharing the solitude with small Alan Lundberg, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Lundberg, who lately of Pocatello, Idaho, and residents of Tallahassee, Fla., where the doctor will head a department teaching hotel management. Dr. Lundberg will still conduct classes in psychology which has been his major forte. After interviewing his wife, the former Carolyn Brown, we are convinced that she has qualifications to take over a radio program in a big way. In her summary of their activities at both Pocatello and Pocatello, Idaho, I got the idea that she related every bit of life and will be found in there battling with Doc and Alan in the realities and the sports amusements her men-folk think up. Yes, Alan discovered a tree—really discovered it. It was not just a tree to him. It was a way up. He found branches that he could touch; he pulled up and found another view, another branch, and finally attained height with a comfortable perch.

We've forgotten how to imagine the things he saw that tree and exhilaration. He, under his own power, had climbed, had found altitude, space, and a vast blue overhead. Now Jane is no philosopher, no scholar. I'm just a unit in society and I wish for just one minute I could feel the wonder of that small boy who climbed a tree and was so enraptured with his discovery that for days he sat there . . .

Yes, a boy climbs a tree—and he has parents who will encourage him to climb, to wonder—and suddenly there will stir within the aspirations that will come with expanded horizons and new heights. There has never been a time in the history of mankind that didn't boys—lots of boys—to grow up in an environment that made them

Old Homesteads Are Revisited

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

SOME YEARS AGO there was a decision to be made that would involve the selling of our home and moving away from Statesboro. Our son, who was about 10 years old, was asked what he thought about the change. With tears in his voice, as well as his eyes, he asked, "Where would the old homestead be? Where would we bring our grandchildren?"

Several years have passed since those questions were asked and there has been much time to think about and understand those questions, or, at least, the reasons they were asked.

For two weeks the two young-est children in our family and I have been visiting in the two old "homesteads." Because my grandparents died before or soon after I was born, it was some time before I could realize what it means to children to go to grandmothers.

In the first place, grandparents have acquired the happy virtue of knowing real values. Their emphasis is on life, attitudes, and love. Not on the material things or artificial manners, and because children are straightforward beings, they love what their grandparents have grown to be.

The third Sunday in August was a reunion of the churchyard and the same church that this 82-year-old grandmother had worshipped in as a child. We sat in the same pews where she sat and was allowed to nibble biscuits because the sermons lasted for hours instead of minutes in those days.

After the sermon we spread dinner in the churchyard and talked to kinfolks from everywhere. We walked down a very steep hill to the spring (and my very civilized husband whispered in my ear that I must bath the children carefully for he had seen poison ivy along the path). Then we visited the important point in the woods, showing the children that material blessings aren't to be winked at, but reminding them that their spiritual life ought to keep pace with the material progress.

Not far from this church was the birthplace of the children's grandmother, who was a thirteen-year-old child. Along with birthplaces go cemeteries, and within a radius of 75 miles are the burial places of sixteen great-grandparents. Graves are empty, but remembering what these blessed ones believed in and stood for can reinforce his own faith in God and man.

A visit to my own home was a refreshing experience. To walk under the same big oaks, down the steep hills in the pasture that I walked in as a child, just to see these added freshness to my own spirits.

One day I was telling my three-year-old that this was the same home that I was born in, that those big acorns she'd gathered were from the same trees that had given me acorns with which to play. Her reply needs an explanation. She seems to resent very much that she hasn't shared all the experiences that the older children in our family have shared. Often a story is told and she laughs and says, "Oh, I remember that," only to be told, "No, you don't, you weren't born." Then she cries and asks, "Where was I?" I always explain that she was in heaven waiting to be born. So on the day we were discussing my old home she brightened up and said, "Oh, yes, Mommy, I see. This is heaven."

I am convinced that a child's greatest heritage besides honor is in brothers and sisters and grandparents!

merce, land has been neglected, wasted, and exploited.

In the United States we are destroying our soil resources faster than any other people in the world's history.

But we may be spared the fate of older civilizations if we will rally to the support of our nation's conservation program.

Soil conservation is the responsibility of the people of Statesboro, and Atlanta, quite as much as it is the duty and obligation of those who live on the land. All of us are tied very closely to the nation's topsoil; all of us are dependent upon it.

Keeping the soil highly fertile and preventing it from washing away are necessary if we are to remain prosperous and our democracy strong.

These are some of the reasons why all of us should have a keen interest in the soil.

Soil Conservation Week is designed to focus attention of our people on the land.

Governor Herman Talmadge has issued a proclamation designating next week as Soil Conservation Week.

Next week The Herald plans a special section of the paper on soil conservation.

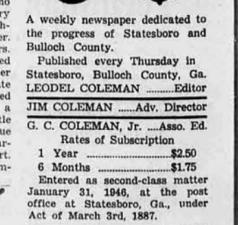

Encourage your neighbor in the principles of conserving our greatest natural resource—the land.

Verse for This Week

Oh! Let us not this thought allow;
The heat, the dust upon our brow,
Signs of the contest, we may wear;
Yet thus we shall appear more fair

In our Almighty Master's eye,
Than if in fear to lose the bloom,
Or ruffle the soul's lightest plume,
We from the strife should fly.

WE MUST PAY for our Dove Errors

IN A NUMBER of talks with Sportsmen's Clubs throughout Georgia, I have expressed the opinion that we may some day go hunting doves with a camera instead of a gun.

This state is fortunate, in that it is a terminal point in the migratory flight of the dove; therefore, we have for these many years been complacent over annual dove hunting.

Since these great flights of doves do favor us, we haven't considered that we have taken on a responsibility for their safe keeping. We haven't considered that we should leave something for seed stock. Like old man river, we have been rolling thoughtlessly along.

Now Uncle Sam, who has the final say-so on dove hunting, has been in a huddle with the experts and has given serious consideration to calling a halt to all dove shooting. This is the prospect, and it will come no surprise when the dove goes over on the protected list.

What is to blame and who is to blame? Federal authorities are disgusted with the continued violations. Cases are made against illegal dove shooters every month in the year. Thus, unnecessary inroads are constantly being cut into the fading dove population. Nesting birds are being slaughtered and their young are dying in the nest.

A disease has attacked the dove and has left a trail of death across Alabama and Georgia. It seems the doves are found dead of starvation with their mouths full of food. Add this to the trigger-happy eye, who calls himself a sportsman and shoots almost every month in the year, and you get the answer. It is just more punishment than this marvelous game bird can absorb.

One Federal Authority puts it this way: "We are interested in the species. If it is within our power, we will keep the dove flying forever. The hunting must and will be a secondary figure."

Farm Bureau and Associated Women Held September Meeting Last Night

By MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

After being in "summer quarters" for the past three months, the September meeting of the Brooklet Farm Bureau and the Associated Women was held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The men held their meeting in the community house and the Associated Women met in the home-making department of the Brooklet school.

Mrs. Felix Parrish, president, conducted the business session of the women and the following ladies served a delicious supper: Mrs. R. C. Hall, chairman; Mrs. Ulmer Knight, Mrs. Floyd Akins, Mrs. T. E. Hayes, Mrs. J. H. Griffith, Mrs. Kermit Clifton, Miss Henrietta Hall, and Miss Olive Mae Lanier.

Next Monday afternoon, September 11, the Ladies Aid Society of the Primitive Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. A. Wynn.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Watts, and Miss Mary Slater spent last week end at Shelman Bluff at the Kennedy home.

Mrs. Lee McElveen and Mrs. W. H. Upchurch visited relatives in Savannah last week.

Mrs. Pat Moore visited friends in Millen Thursday.

Misses Shirley, Cecile, and Linda Donaldson and Lee Donaldson, of Savannah, spent last week end here with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Woodcock.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lee and little daughter, of Penasco, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Beasley and two children, and Talmadge Lee, of Savannah, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lee Sr.

Friends of Joel L. Minick regret to learn that he is a patient in the Bulloch County Hospital.

of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jones, suffered painful injuries when she fell from a horse last Friday afternoon. She was with relatives at the Jones cottage at Bluffton, S. C., and was horseback riding with a friend. In some manner she fell from the horse she was riding and her companion stepped on her body. She is now a patient at the Bulloch County Hospital.

Miss Mamie Lou Anderson, of the Brooklet school faculty, who has had an apartment at the home of Mrs. Felix Parrish for several years, arrived Monday to resume her duties. She now has an apartment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Birnie Waters.

Mrs. W. B. Bland, who has occupied an apartment in the Mikell home, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Grady Flake, moved Wednesday into an apartment at the home of Mrs. B. F. Cowart.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Lee Rowe entertained a group of tots at her home in honor of the third birthday of her little daughter, Jan. After games were played the children were served dainty refreshments.

Last Wednesday afternoon an interdenominational prayer service was organized at the Methodist Church by Mrs. W. B. Parrish. A service will be held every other Tuesday night in the various churches. The next meeting will be held on September 12 at the Primitive Baptist Church at 7:30 p. m. The invitation is open to all to attend these services.

W. C. Cromley, chairman of the finance committee of the Methodist Church building fund, called a special meeting of all members of the finance committee last Tuesday night at the church. Matters of importance were discussed at the meeting.

Mrs. C. B. Free Jr. and children returned Sunday to their home in Bamberg, S. C., after spending two weeks with relatives here and in Statesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robertson Jr., Claude Robertson, and Billy Robertson spent the past week end at Rome and visited J. W. Robertson Jr. at Batey Hospital.

Farmers living in the Register community are invited to a pasture tour Tuesday morning, September 12.

The tour will begin at Cecil Kennedy's at 9 a. m. Stops will be made at C. O. Bohler's, Ivy Anderson's and Sam Nevel's to see and discuss wildlife borders, coastal bermuda grass, sericea lespedeza, kudzu, fescue and ladino clover.

On this tour will be seen pastures that have furnished abundant grazing during the recent dry spell and combination pastures that will furnish year-round grazing.

Mrs. Walter Brown of Atlanta was the guest during the week end of Mrs. Virgie Lee Hilliard.

Miss Lila Blitch of Atlanta spent the holidays with her mother Mrs. Dan Blitch Sr.

Mrs. Aubrey Brown returned during the week end from Adrain where she was called by the illness of her mother, Mrs. R. B. Pitts. Mr. and Mrs. Pitts and daughter, Mrs. Marie Mitchell, of Adrain, and their son Jack Pitts of Cohran accompanied Mrs. Brown to Statesboro where Mrs. Pitts was attendant grazing during the recent dry spell and combination pastures that will furnish year-round grazing.

Thinking of the Long Pull?

Better Buy Buick!

If that car of yours has put its best days behind it, there's no time like right now to think about starting out afresh with a taut, new, up-to-the-minute motorcar with all its mileage still in it.

And there's no better place in the world to start than with the beauty pictured here, for a variety of reasons.

For one thing, this Buick SPECIAL is a quick-stepping fireball valve-in-head straight-eight that's priced lower than some sixes.

For another, it's built with typical Buick ruggedness through and through—a husky that can take a lot of years without crying "Uncle!"

Then, too—this high-styled beauty is proving to be one of the most economical Buicks ever built—easy on gas, easy on upkeep, easy on you in its soft, floating, light-handling comfort.

It even comes with Dynaflo Drive if you like—and Dynaflo means that you'll never have to service or replace a friction clutch, and that rear-end or transmission servicing—even engine upkeep—are cut to a minimum.

For another, it's built with typical Buick ruggedness through and through—a husky that can take a lot of years without crying "Uncle!"

But you can experience the good solid feel of Buick strength beneath you. You can satisfy to service or replace a friction clutch, and that rear-end or transmission servicing—even engine upkeep—are cut to a minimum.

All such things will tell you that this is a car you'll be glad to live with for a long time to come—and you need only to ask your Buick dealer for a demonstration to see precisely what we mean.

Why not call on him soon to talk about signing up?

It's A Woman's World

Miss Carolyn Bohler Weds C. R. Millican Jr.

Miss Carolyn Bohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bohler, became the bride of Charles R. Millican Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Millican, at Langston Chapel Methodist Church Friday afternoon, September 1, at 5:30 o'clock.

The Rev. D. H. Mann, of Waynesboro, performed the impressive double ring ceremony. A white background veiled with sprays of plumosa fern, outlined with magnolia leaves and interspersed with candelabra holding white tapers and centered with a graceful arrangement of white gladioli and white daisies, decorated the church. The candles were lighted by Darwin Bohler and Joe Middlebrooks.

Mrs. Roger Holland played the nuptial music and Dr. Roger Holland sang "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. James McElhannon, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a navy dress with brown accessories. The groom's corsage was of pink carnations.

The ushers were Emory and Darwin Bohler, brothers of the bride, and Joe Middlebrooks, the groom's roommate at Georgia Teachers College. C. R. Millican served as his son's best man.

The bride, entering with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, was beautiful in an autumn-toned pink suit worn with white silk blouse and brown accessories. She wore a pearl choker and a purple orchid corsage.

The ceremony took place at five o'clock. The church was decorated with a background of green pine. Centered in front was a tall white floral arrangement of white gladioli, white asters, and a corsage of pink lilies. Mrs. Wallis Cobb Sr., mother of the groom, was dressed in a black sheers, set off with a corsage of yellow tuberoses.

During the ceremony, Miss Timmerman played softly, "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us," and after the benediction Mr. Averitt sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a small reception at their home.

The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a white wedding bell. On either side were crystal candelabra with white tapers, and on one corner was a floral arrangement of white asters and fern. The buffet was banked with magnolia leaves and white candles, and throughout the house white gladioli and asters were used.

Mrs. Manton Horton kept the bride's book. Those assisting in serving were Mrs. Henry Quick, Miss Mamie Quick, Mrs. Roland Dunn, Mrs. Virginia Blackburn, Mrs. Alvin Colston of Wrightsville, Mrs. Jack Brannen of Statesboro, Miss Betty Lewis of Sylvania.

Later, the couple left for a short trip to Florida, after which they will make their home for the present in Washington, Ga., where the groom is employed by the Royal Manufacturing Company.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. R. G. Aaron of Atlanta, uncle of the bride; Mrs. C. R. Aaron of Millen, Mrs. R. J. Aaron and Miss Jackie Aaron of Savannah, Miss Peggy Jo Burke of Statesboro, Mrs. R. Howell Williams of Macon, aunt of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Durham Cobb and Miss Mary Cobb of Mt. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cobb of Augusta, Mr. and Mrs. J. LeConte Smith of Macon, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wilson of Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cone, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bradley, Mrs. Earl Serson, Miss Grace Gray, and Miss Mamie Vesey, all of Statesboro.

LOVELY REHEARSAL PARTY FOR QUICK-COBB WEDDING

A lovely party of Monday evening at Midville followed the wedding rehearsal for Miss Bobby Quick and Wallis Cobb Jr., with Mrs. Manton Horton and Mrs. Wallis Cobb as hostesses at the home of Mrs. W. T. McBride near Midville.

The home was beautifully decorated throughout with arrangements of orchid asters, adhering to a color motif of orchid and white. The bride's table, overlaid with lace cover, was lovely with crystal candelabra with orchid candles and arrangements of orchid and white flowers. The individual cakes were embossed with orchid and white and orchid and white mints were served.

The guests were Miss Bobby Quick and Wallis Cobb Jr., the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Quick; Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Cobb and members of the wedding party; Frankie Quick, sister of the bride; Miss Virginia Cobb, sister of the groom; Johnny Brannen, Jimmy Thomason of Statesboro, and Miss Regis Howell of Sylvania.

Farm Center Drive Gets Full Support Of States Leaders

Supported enthusiastically by many prominent Georgia agricultural and business leaders, the $200,000 state-wide fund campaign to establish a Negro Agricultural Center near Fort Valley is now in its second week.

The campaign is headed by Jesse D. Jewell, Gainesville, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, as chairman. Mills E. Lane Jr., Atlanta, president and chairman of the board, Citizens and Southern National Bank, is treasurer.

The campaign executive committee announced this week includes the following: Charles A. Collier, Atlanta, vice president, Georgia Power Co.; Walter E. Dellinger, Rome, president, Dellinger Spread Co.

Fred L. Cannon, Atlanta, president, Dr. Pepper Bottling Co.; Walter L. Graefe, Griffin, president, Pomona Products Co.; and John A. Sibley, Atlanta, chairman of the board of directors, Trust Company of Georgia.

The campaign is being conducted under the joint auspices of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial and the State General Committee on Recreation and Camping for Negro Youth in Georgia. It has the wholehearted endorsement of the Georgia State Department of Education and many other agencies and organizations.

Can't Afford To Haul Corn
Hogs Keep Both Landlord and Tenant Happy by Keeping Up Fertility of Corn Crop.
Murray Crafton is a tenant farmer at Henderson, Kentucky. His relations with his landlord are most congenial and both are making money by their farming agreement. At corn picking time, the landlord calls in corn buyers and gets their bid for his part of the crop. He then gives Crafton the option of buying at the elevator price, less the cost of hauling.

Crafton's experience shows the hogs pay for the extra premium for the corn so he can't afford to haul it. He is permitted to keep about 15 acres seeded down for hog pasture and for his hog feeding operations. While 85 acres are planted to corn each year, in this arrangement, the landlord gets full market price for his corn, plus full value of the manure. Crafton not only gets his share of the corn crop, but makes a profit on the landlord's share by converting it into pork.

Restricted to 15 acres for his hog operations, Crafton has found it best to keep only 6 or 7 sows. However he breeds for 2 litters per year and figures on fattening out from 100 to 120 hogs each year. Operating as a tenant, he naturally would not want to invest heavily in equipment, but many owner-operators as well as tenants could profit by his practice. Pasture usage is a central factor.

Essential shade is provided under an open low-roofed shed.

Top picture shows a field of Coastal Bermuda growing on Mrs. J. E. Rushing's and A. P. Murphy's farm. This three-acre field of Coastal Bermuda grass has not only furnished grazing for several cows per acre for the past three years but enough sprigs have been dug from it to seed a hundred acres on other farms.

Bottom picture was taken of a well-constructed broad base terrace on the farm of Mrs. J. E. Rushing and A. D. Murphy. This type of terrace is broad enough for row crops to be planted and cultivated on and the channel is wide enough and shallow enough to carry of excess water without causing a ditch to be washed out above the terrace. Also shown in the picture is a good rotation of one year clover growing crop of oats followed by a row crop planted and cultivated on the contour. Jack Storey, former District Conservationist, and J. R. Kelly, Soil Conservationist, are also shown in the picture.

USDA Reports Tobacco Market Is State Leader
The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in a release from Valdosta this week, confirms the announcement made here last week that the Statesboro Tobacco market led all the Georgia-Florida flue-cured markets in 1950, with 12,330,396 pounds which sold for an average of $42.92 per hundred.

The market here led the state last year with 12,583,090 pounds, for an average of $39.89 per hundred. The report of the USDA placed the gross sales for the Georgia-Florida markets at 141,202,074 pounds, for $67,772,295, to average $48 per hundred. Last year gross sales amounted to 135,163,375, for an average of $40.12.

The market began this year on Monday, July 24. The season ended on October 24.

Vet Commanders To Head 'Crusade For Freedom'
Kirk Suttive, of Savannah First District, chairman of the Crusade For Freedom, announced this week that Joe Woodcock, commander of Dexter Legion Post No. 90, American Legion, and J. B. Williams, commander of the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, would coordinate the Bulloch County Crusade For Freedom.

Mr. Suttive with Mr. Woodcock and Mr. Williams, together with Miss Maude White, visiting teacher of the Bulloch county school board, and Leodel Coleman, on Friday of last week.

Mr. Suttive said, "There is a shooting war going on in Korea. We read a lot about this in the newspapers and hear a lot about it on the radio. The one great conflict which rarely makes the headlines, but which represents the greatest struggle in the history of the world is the current battle for men's minds."

He then explained that the Crusade For Freedom puts America on the offensive in this war of ideas. It was conceived by General Lucius D. Clay and other distinguished Americans and is vigorously supported by General Dwight D. Eisenhower. It is a personal declaration of ideals and will afford every American an opportunity to participate in the psychological war we are now engaged in with the eastern powers.

The Crusade For Freedom, simply stated, is an offensive "home front" against the Communist propaganda which distorts the truth regarding our aims and purposes in world affairs and portrays us as a war mongering people. General Clay has stated that the Communists are trying hard to make the world think we started the war in Korea and that we are a nation of imperialist warmongers out to conquer the world. He suggests it is vitally important that we step up our campaign of truth to blast this false propaganda — to declare before the world our true aims of freedom and friendship for all people. He points out that this is the purpose of the Crusade For Freedom in which all Americans are earnestly invited to take a part.

Every American is going to be asked to sign a Declaration of Freedom. (See editorial page.) Mr. Woodcock and Mr. Williams explained that when you sign this declaration you are expressing your faith in a world of human liberty and are supporting the vigorous private effort now being made to bring a message of peace and encouragement to the millions of people held under Communist rule. The many hundreds of thousands of Freedom Scrolls which will carry the signatures of many millions of American citizens will be flown to Berlin, Germany, where they will be placed in the base of the Freedom Bell which will be tolled for the first time on United Nations Day, October, 24.

Committee Organized To Enter City In Champion Home Town Contest
Statesboro is now organized to present this community in the Georgia Power Company's contest to select a "Champion Home Town" in Georgia.

The contest will cover all improvements made in the city from October 1, 1949 to October 1, 1950. Mayor J. Gilbert Cone called together on Saturday of last week civic club leaders and told them that Statesboro had been entered in the contest, "and to win," he added.

Soil Conservation Tour Shows Bulloch Farmers Care For Land
Led by J. R. Kelly, work unit conservationist of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District, a number of Bulloch county citizens made a tour of the southern section of the county on Tuesday of this week, inspecting outstanding examples of soil conservation practices.

The tour was a part of the county's observation of Georgia Soil Conservation Week, proclaimed by Governor Talmadge to be September 10-17.

The first stop on the tour was at Cecil Kennedy's place on U. S. 201, south of Statesboro. The group inspected a field of lespedeza on which a herd of fine cattle are now grazing. Mr. Kennedy explained to the group that he sowed the sericea seed in March of last year. He praised the sericea as a soil builder, as a source of feed, and for hay cutting.

From Mr. Kennedy's place the group moved on to explore a wildlife border on Outland Boiler's place. The border, designed to feed and protect wildlife, particularly quail, is made up of a strip of bicolor lespedeza and sericea planted between woodland and fields. Mr. Kelly explained that field borders are sapped by trees at the field, crops are not profitable and the area of 30 feet more out from the trees, and erosion is a severe problem. This strip of land has no use except for wildlife food and cover. He said, "Bicolor lespedeza supports quail better than any other man has been able to do before."

While at Ivy Anderson's place, standing in a field of knee-high kudzu, Otis Holloway told of an experience on his place with lespedeza. He had sold the top soil off a piece of land to the highway department. This left nothing but a clay area. He planted lespedeza and thirteen years later he planted and gathered a fine crop of corn on the land which the lespedeza had rebuilt for him.

Mr. Anderson's field of kudzu had almost washed away and which now has a fine rich topsoil. "Nothing saved it, nothing could have built it up faster than this kudzu," he said.

Henry Blitch told of a cow his brother, Fred, had been feeding on kudzu and said that she got so fat that her backbone sank and during the winter, President Zach S. Henderson said, the fall registration, however, will be well below the record 1,344 of the recent summer quarter.

Men students, though drafted without exception in the late summer term, now may expect deferment from military duties for the school year if their scholarship is satisfactory. Dr. Henderson said, "Freshmen will report for orientation on Monday, September 18, and will register the following Wednesday morning, with seniors registering in the afternoon and sophomores and juniors on Thursday. Classes will begin on Friday, and the opening convocation will follow on Monday, September 25. Evening and Saturday classes will be offered for teachers-in-service. All non-laboratory courses of the college will be available on quarterly basis in evening classes to be organized at 7 p. m. Tuesday, September 19, and to meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Saturday classes in art, biology, English, and music will be formed at 9 a. m. Saturday, September 16. The faculty has been enlarged by three, and there have been 12 replacements. Additions are Dr. Henry L. Ashmore of Crawfordville, Fla., coordinator of off-campus practice teaching, which will be done this year in the Baxley, Claxton, Commercial of Savannah, Jessup and Vidalia schools; Miss Roxie Remley of Crawfordville, Ind., Teachers College alumna with master's degree from the George Peabody College for Teachers, assistant professor of fine arts; and J. T. Folds of Macon. (Continued on Page 12.)

Rites Held For Louis Seligman
Mr. Louis Seligman, retired Statesboro businessman, died Friday last week in a Savannah hospital after a year's illness. Seventy years of age, he had been active in his business here. The Seligman Store, until five years ago when he retired and left the management of the store to his son, A. M. Seligman.

Funeral services were held Sunday morning at the chapel of Sipple's Mortuary in Savannah with the Rabbi A. E. Rosenberg, of the Rabbi A. E. Rosenberg, of the B. E. Jacob Synagogue, officiating. Burial was Bonaventure Cemetery.

Harold Hendrix Dies Suddenly
Funeral services for Harold Moses Hendrix, 40, well known Bulloch county teacher and basketball player of Portal, were held in the Portal Methodist Church last Thursday. Burial was in the Portal cemetery.

Mr. Hendrix died unexpectedly on Tuesday of last week. At the time of his death he was teaching a veterans class at Portal. He attended Portal school, the University of Georgia, and received his B. A. degree from Georgia Teachers College.

Active pallbearers were Rupert Parrish, A. D. Milford, Clifford Martin, Herman Nesmith, Max Brown and H. P. Workney. Smith-Tillman Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Junior G.I.'s Want In U.S. Army Now
There's no questioning the loyalty and courage of the G.I.'s, junior size... they want to help, too. Ed Smith, T. son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith, and Elton Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hill, presented themselves to Tom Smith of the local draft board for induction into the U. S. Army.

On Friday of last week, Mr. Smith was at his place of business on West Main street when the two would-be G.I.'s came in, dressed in combat clothes complete with pack, K-Bar knife, ax, canteens, blankets, and enough clothes for an assault operation.

John Spence To Head Bulloch's 'Keep Ga. Green'
Bulloch county is one of the more than 45 counties in the state that have already formed "Keep Green" committees to erect signs throughout the state urging every one to "Help Keep Georgia's Forests Green."

John F. Spence has been named chairman of the Bulloch County Keep Green committee. Mr. Spence was selected from among the membership of the Brooklet Kiwanis Club, the sponsoring organization.

A total of 318 signs will be erected on main highways of the state, but in the various counties the project will be locally sponsored and directed. The metal signs, measuring two feet by three feet, will be provided by the county committee by the Georgia Forestry Association.

GTC Enrollment Back On More Normal Status
A predicted decline in male enrollment, as a result of mobilization of National Guard units and reserves in this area and calls by troubled draft boards, is expected to return Georgia Teachers College to a more traditionally co-educational status at the opening of the session on Friday, September 22.

For the first time since World War II, the woman student body may equal or outnumber that of the men. Enrollment was predominantly female before and during the war, but in the latest registration 513 men were registered as compared with 563 women.

An increase in women's reservations indicate the total attendance figure may not fluctuate greatly despite the loss of men students. President Zach S. Henderson said, the fall registration, however, will be well below the record 1,344 of the recent summer quarter.

Men students, though drafted without exception in the late summer term, now may expect deferment from military duties for the school year if their scholarship is satisfactory. Dr. Henderson said, "Freshmen will report for orientation on Monday, September 18, and will register the following Wednesday morning, with seniors registering in the afternoon and sophomores and juniors on Thursday. Classes will begin on Friday, and the opening convocation will follow on Monday, September 25. Evening and Saturday classes will be offered for teachers-in-service. All non-laboratory courses of the college will be available on quarterly basis in evening classes to be organized at 7 p. m. Tuesday, September 19, and to meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Saturday classes in art, biology, English, and music will be formed at 9 a. m. Saturday, September 16. The faculty has been enlarged by three, and there have been 12 replacements. Additions are Dr. Henry L. Ashmore of Crawfordville, Fla., coordinator of off-campus practice teaching, which will be done this year in the Baxley, Claxton, Commercial of Savannah, Jessup and Vidalia schools; Miss Roxie Remley of Crawfordville, Ind., Teachers College alumna with master's degree from the George Peabody College for Teachers, assistant professor of fine arts; and J. T. Folds of Macon. (Continued on Page 12.)

John Spence To Head Bulloch's 'Keep Ga. Green'
Bulloch county is one of the more than 45 counties in the state that have already formed "Keep Green" committees to erect signs throughout the state urging every one to "Help Keep Georgia's Forests Green."

John F. Spence has been named chairman of the Bulloch County Keep Green committee. Mr. Spence was selected from among the membership of the Brooklet Kiwanis Club, the sponsoring organization.

THE PAPER SAID SO

How many times have you heard someone say (and how many times have you said it yourself!) that something had happened because they "saw it in the paper!"

It's the time honored tradition of your newspaper to "get at the bottom of things" and tell the unvarnished truth, regardless.

No matter how fascinating a rumor may be, it's still labeled "rumor" until the paper says it's so! For the newspaper is proud when its readers say that they KNOW something happened because "the paper said so."
