Roy Harris Tells G.E.A., F.B. To Not Forget Local Problems During Crisis

Roy Harris, former Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Georgia, told members of the Bulloch county unit of the Georgia Educational Association at Brooklet on Wednesday night of last week that we must not forget our local problems, the education and training of our youth, the raising of the standards of our living, even in the present struggle for survival against the constant pressure of Communism to dominate the world.

Mr. Harris addressed the Brooklet Farm Bureau immediately after his talk to the county teachers. He was presented to both groups by F. Everett Williams, senator-elect from the 49th senatorial district.

Lester Akins, president of the teachers' organization, presided at the meeting held in the Brooklet Community House, and presented Mr. Williams. Others at the speaker's table were H. W. Pomack, county school superintendent; J. H. Griffith, principal of Brooklet schools; Sam Graham, representative from Richmond county; Norman Lawrence, of the Georgia Power Co.; Augusta; A. J. Trapp, Bulloch county representative; Rev. Cassidy, and Lesdel Coleman.

Using figures compiled by Jesse D. Jewell, of Gainesville, president of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Harris told the more than 150 Bulloch county school teachers that it is good business to invest in education. He pointed out that in 1948 the average per capita income in the United States was $1,410. In Georgia, the per capita income was $971. He added, "If each person in Georgia had received the United States average income, it would have amounted to $439 more per capita. This would be a total annual increase of $1,317,000,000 in the income of citizens of the state."

He deplored the fact that Georgia spends only $112 per pupil (based on average daily attendance), while New York State pays $212 per pupil in average daily attendance, with other states spending from $200 to $300.

He placed the blame for our low per capita income on these figures, for "our per capita income is in direct proportion to the amount we spend on public education (to control red spenders)."

Mr. Harris then reviewed the story of the Minimum Foundation Program for Education. He related how it was conceived, how Dr. C. Aderhold made the survey and conducted the study of the idea, and how it was adopted and written into the law in 1949. "But it has never yet been financed," he said.

Mr. Harris is all for the Minimum Foundation program. He believes in it wholeheartedly. He emphasized the need for better school plants, for expanded programs of vocational training, and for providing better salaries for teachers. "We must make this investment in the education of the youth of our state," he said.

Mr. Harris told the teachers that Negroes in one-third of the counties of Georgia have filed petitions asking for school facilities equal to those in the white schools. "We are trying to uphold the doctrine of equal but separate facilities," he explained. "And unless we go into the courts with an intelligent plan, and show that we intend to provide equal facilities, separate, we'll see segregation done away with now."

It was then that he said that it is going to take every man and woman in Georgia paying their equal share, according to their ability—and he said part of the answer is a sales tax.

He revealed that 90 percent of the taxes in the state are paid by 50 percent of the families of the state. The Negroes, constituting one third of the state's population, pay less than three percent of the taxes.

In closing, he said that improving the school situation in Georgia will take many years and a great deal of effort.

In his informal talk to members of the Brooklet Farm Bureau, he again stressed the points made before the teachers' organization.

Abandoned school buildings can still be the hub of community activities, if the action by various groups in the Ogeechee, Denmark, and Esala communities can be taken as a guide and pattern.

Generally, the school in any community is a point of common interest and is the one community activity in which everyone is interested. Community life, more or less, revolves around the school because of the common feeling everyone has for the school. Generally, the type community that exists in any given area can be fairly well predicted by seeing the school and the activities around the school.

When enrollment dropped at Ogeechee, Denmark, and Esala, county with other conditions, and forced the communities to give up their schools, other groups moved into the buildings and made them into community centers. Community life is still centered around the school buildings.

The Home Demonstration Club, Farm Bureau, and Associated Women all cooperated in the Ogeechee and Denmark program. The Farm Bureau took the lead at Esala. Ogeechee now has a modern lunchroom, with two large dining halls, an assembly hall, and a gymnasium. The old lunchroom is a meeting place for the Home Demonstration Club. Rugs and Curtains, along with appropriate decorations, have been used to make the rooms more attractive. Denmark has renovated the lunchroom to take care of large crowds at the Farm Bureau meetings. Play rooms have been set up for the youngsters so that they can be out of the regular meetings. Esala has developed their school building along the same line as Denmark. These three community schools are still active, even though school is not taught there any more.

Max Lockwood Tells Rotarians Of Needs Of Statesboro, Nation's Youth

In a talk to the Statesboro Rotarians on Monday of this week, Max Lockwood, director of the city's recreation program, painted a word picture of the needs of the youth of Statesboro and the state and nation.

"Using figures, he emphasized the need of providing proper recreation facilities for young people and adults. He pointed out that the picture of the local situation looked good compared to other sections. The entire text of Mr. Lockwood's talk follows:

"Most of us are aware of the program we have for our youth in Statesboro and Bulloch county. I would like to take this opportunity to discuss our needs on a broader level and to look at the needs of the youth and adults on a state and national level, and to make comparison where possible. "In this day and time, it is easier to attract the attention of a group of businessmen when you begin to talk to them through their pocketbook. I would like to take just a minute to show you the cost of delinquency to the citizens of our state for both youth and adults for the period of only 12 months.

"The latest figures we have are for 1947, which we might call one of our best years as far as our economy is concerned. In that year, Georgia spent $2,500,000 on crime delinquency. In the same year, Fulton county and the City of Atlanta alone spent over $3,000,000 on this same problem. It is easy to see that the total cost to the state in dollars and cents would run into many times this amount. This does not consider the loss to the state in potential contributors to the state welfare or the moral breakdown in our communities, or the anguish to individuals of the community, or the adverse influence on the whole community.

"The fact is that delinquency is on the increase all over the United States. "In 1948, the Georgia Citizens Council released a report compiled with the cooperation of the Attorney General and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and titled 'Working Together, We Can Remove the Causes of Juvenile Delinquency, Crime.' If we look at the problem only from an economic view, without considering the human element, we can see that it would be well worth our while to do something about the problem facing us. I believe that as Georgians we will survey this situation and will do something about it. It is not a question of whether it can be done; rather, it is a question of whether we will take the trouble to do it.

"This report shows in plain figures that 76 percent of all the juvenile delinquency cases reported in 1947 belonged to any supervised playground or youth organization, such as Scouts, Y's, 4-H Clubs or other character-building organizations. This, of course, brings to mind the question of how many of Georgia's boys and girls belong to any of these character-building organizations. Continued on Page 3.

Officers will be elected at this annual meeting. Mr. J. T. Nesmith, secretary of the organization, announced that turkey will be served from 7 to 8 p. m. It has been our custom for 30 years to serve turkey on our annual communication," he said.

Marvin G. Pound, of Sparta, Grand Master of Georgia Masons, was guest speaker at the lodge's annual Ladies' Night banquet held Friday evening, December 8.

Rev. John S. Lough, pastor of the Methodist Church, announced that his sermon Sunday morning at 11 o'clock will be "The Magic of Christmas." Youth Fellowship boys at 6:30 Sunday evening.

At the 7:30 evening worship hour the Statesboro Music Club will present its annual Christmas cantata.

They... worshipped him

Even as the wise men and shepherds followed the Star to the Manger in Bethlehem, so should we attend Church on Christmas and renew our vows of Christianity. His teachings light the way in a world of darkness. His principles, lead the way to eternal peace.

New Church Is Named Calvary Baptist Church

The new church now being built on West Main street will be known as "The Calvary Baptist Church." The formal organization program of the church was held on Sunday afternoon of last week when the advisory council, made up of pastors and deacons from the churches of the Ogeechee River Association, met and reported to the congregation of the new church, and pledged the full moral and spiritual support of all the churches in the association.

H. H. Olliff, moderator, extended recognition to the charter members asking for the organization. After reading the church covenant and adopting the Articles of Faith, Rev. Grover Tyner, of Metter, gave the charge to the new church.

Rev. R. S. New, of Statesboro, made the prayer for the success of the venture and reviewed the history of New Testament church.

Officers of the new Calvary Baptist Church are: Rev. Carl H. Anderson, pastor; Ray McMichael, clerk; Charles Grimes, treasurer; L. B. Taylor, Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. Janie Etheridge, pianist; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holland, church caretakers; H. M. Cleary, Roy Aldred, Mrs. Frank Mack, Mrs. John Denmark, Mrs. Roy Aldred, Mrs. Carl Anderson, church grounds custodians; Mrs. Ray McMichael, Mrs. John Denmark, and Mrs. Charles Grimes, publicity.

(andel, TOP the, IG-tO-n-Dv se sece Greetings to the new church were extended by Paul Carroll, Harry Brunson, and M. O. Lawrence. C. B. McAllister pronounced the benediction.

In closing, Rev. George Lovell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said: "We praise God for this victory; we ask the support of all Christians in making this count in the Kingdom's work."

Other officers elected are: Wm. H. Alderman, King; Joe Woodcock, Scribe; John W. Bishop, Captain of Host; Raymond R. Darden, Principal; S. J. O'Brien; Charles A. Mooney, Royal Arch Captain; Hugh Strickland, Master of the Third Veil; Harry L. Vause, Master of Second Veil; Bernice C. Waters, Master of First Veil; Bob Akins, Sentinel; and Josh T. Nesmith, secretary-treasurer.

Companion W. J. Mobley, Past High Priest, Georgia Chapter 3 of Savannah, assisted by Companion T. R. Hicks, High Priest of Georgia, and acting as delegate, and 50-journer, installed the newly elected officers.

Companion Mobley was guest speaker of the evening. A turkey supper was served.

Our Women At Work

IT SURPRISED us just a little, but it should not have. They are in nearly every other venture which we have always thought of as being exclusively in the realm of men-folk.

We Commend Our Band

ONE SHORT year ago they were timid, they were amateurs, they were unsure of themselves, and they were just kids. Last Sunday, the citizens of Statesboro saw them as a complete unit, confident, professional, and sure of what they were doing.

We remember the band one year ago, when the director, Mr. Guyton McLendon, presented each member and told what grade each was in, and what little experience each had had. We remember the brass quintette which played "Silent Night." They played it one time, and Mr. McLendon believed they could play it better, so they played it again. Sunday, the same quintette played "Silent Night."

Thanks From Battery 'A'

NOW COMES thanks from the boys of Gun Battery "A" of the 101st AAA Gun Battalion of the National Guard now stationed at Camp Stewart. Recently, The Herald published an appeal for old furniture, lamps, games, and other furnishings for the recreation room of the boys of Battery "A" had fixed up in their area.

These boys are Statesboro's and Bulloch county's own. They want us to know that they appreciate all the citizens of this community have done, and are doing, for them.

The Straight Dope

ROY HARRIS gave teachers of Bulloch county the straight dope at a county-wide meeting in Brooklet Wednesday night of last week. Ten minutes after talking to the teachers, he told Brooklet Farm Bureau members they must invest in the education of the youth of Georgia.

Verse for This Week

At Christmas-tide the open hand Scatters its bounty o'er sea and land. And none are left to grieve alone, For Love is heaven and claims its own.

Case of the Man Who Performs His Wife's Tasks

WHAT IS a guest columnist supposed to do when he is guest columnist, especially when the columnist is the guest columnist's wife? Better to keep quiet, I think, and preserve the domestic truce which, except for occasional irritations, is reserved for almost two decades. But my dilemma ("A situation involving choice between equally satisfactory alternatives."

As first, prior to her departure, the children and I joked about her trip, especially remarking on our anticipated freedom from her rigorous discipline. One morning, however, she occasionally shows a spark of intelligence, even chortled out a variation of the verse on the cat and dog which she had written away, the brats will play," he sang.

ALL'S FAIR

Sunshine and blue skies, bright stars overhead; Friends, neighbors and loved ones; simple things like milk and good bread. The clasp of a hand, warm and sincere. The smile that goes with it infinitely rare. Like glimpses of heaven, such sweetness it brings. Our heart grows lighter, our spirit sings.

Peace on Earth—Well, Almost

There comes to us a 36-page booklet entitled, "Conservation Program Material," and the title page indicates that Mrs. E. L. Barnes, of Statesboro, past president of the Statesboro Woman's Club, past director of the First Baptist Church choir, and active in many other activities, is state chairman of the committee on Conservation of Natural Resources of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Statesboro was flooded with boys and girls from all over the state as more than 500 young musicians gathered for the State Band Clinic at T. C. last Friday and Saturday. Members of our band found it to be an interesting experience to play in a band made up of members of other bands.

Drag On Inn Club Continues to Grow: Dight Spence Is Elected 'Dog Catcher'

The Drag On Inn Club continued to grow last week as many new members paid dues for December. The gang really had fun with the dancing and games. Dight Spence and Buddy Preterorius ran a close race for "dog catcher" for the City of Statesboro when they made speeches for the honored position. The winner, Dight Spence, was elected by the audience. C. P. Claxton won the quiz contest and was given a beautiful watch from the Dine Store as first prize. The Fortune Wheel smiled on everyone as it told fortunes. One fortune read: In ten years you will have false teeth, buy them now at the College Pharmacy and get a 10 percent discount.

This Friday night the club will attend the Statesboro-Swanboro game and will meet at the Center following the game for a reception.

BROWNIE CHRISTMAS PARTY

At their last meeting, the Brownies really had fun fixing the decorations for their Christmas tree. The tree is beautifully decorated with things the Brownies made—silver balls and bells, long white strings of popcorn, and other trinkets and strings of chains made from colored tinfoil. The Brownies had their Christmas party this week and there was fun galore as they gathered 'round the tree for their presents and refreshments.

G.A.'S ENJOY PARTY

The Friendly Circle of the Baptist W. M. S. entertained the G.A.'s Friday afternoon at a Christmas party in the social room of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. W. L. Call, circle leader, was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Sam Lee, Mrs. Allen Mikel, and Mrs. Cliff Bradley.

H.G.L. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

At their first meeting of the season last week, the Happy Go Lucky Club elected officers for the current year. Dianne Strickland was elected president; Glenda Banks, vice president; Harriette Cone, secretary; and Bobbie Jean DeLoach, treasurer. Officers were inaugurated at their meeting this week and took the oath of allegiance to the club. The Happy Go Luckies are planning a Christmas party for next Tuesday night at the Center. All girls in the sixth and seventh grades are invited to join the club.

4-H Club to Have Christmas Party

The 4-H Club Christmas party will be held at the Recreation Center Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. Miss Beverly Brannen, county president, reports.

Miss Brannen stated that every clubber in the county, whether an officer in the county or community organization or not, is invited to participate in the party. Those attending are expected to bring small gifts for the tree. Numbers will be placed on the gifts and lots will be drawn for presents.

In planning the party a few days ago the boys agreed to buy the drinks if the girls would bring cookies to the party.

Mrs. Rufus G. Brannen and Miss Patsy Edmfield will assist Miss Brannen with the gifts. Mrs. L. Carter Deal and Mrs. Dorris R. Cason will assist the girls with the refreshments.

THE DENMARK SEWING CLUB

Will Your Child Also Need "Glass Crutches"?

If you now have a child in school, the odds are one in three that before he finishes high school he will need glasses or some other form of visual correction, unless his poor seeing environment is corrected.

Studies by eminent authorities have disclosed that old-fashioned seating, blackboards, and misplaced light actually aggravate or create visual defects.

Georgia has come a long way, but like most other States it has thousands of classrooms which, visually speaking, are "hollowbacks" from the "little red schoolhouse" era. Demands on the eyes have increased 15-fold since 1900, and improvements in classroom seeing environments have not kept pace.

Fortunately, a move is under way to correct this situation through the Minimum Foundation for Education. By all means, it should be financed without delay.

Your child should not have the handicap of a poor seeing environment. Does his classroom conform to these rules:

- (1) Plenty of even light with no glare.
- (2) Seats and desks to fit the child.
- (3) Maximum use of natural light.
- (4) Painting and wood finishes light, but not too shiny.
- (5) Pastel chalkboards - for instance green with yellow chalk - to prevent absorption of light and visual distortion.

Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. SAM SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, of 2 Denmark street, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary with an open house on Sunday afternoon, with many friends and relatives calling from three to six o'clock.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used in the decorations and the table in the dining room was centered with a beautifully embossed tiered cake. Guests were served pound cake, ice cream, and coffee.

Mrs. Smith wore black crepe with a corsage of small, yellow roses. The groom of 50 years wore a yellow boutonniere.

In the receiving line with them were their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Durham Smith, of Blitch. Those assisting in entertaining and serving were Mrs. Fred Atkins, Mrs. Edger Smith, Mrs. Lee Roy Blackburn, Mrs. Dewey Deal, Mrs. S. H. Price, and Miss Josephine Price. Mrs. Fate Deal presided at the register. Many lovely and useful gifts were received by this fine couple.

Decorations. Guests were served frozen fruit salad.

Ladies' high, perfume, was won by Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr. A Christmas stocking with a box of assorted nuts went to Don Hackett for men's high. Roy Hitt won a whisker for men's cut. Mrs.

He Holds Springtime in His Hand!

Our rural engineers have designed and helped to install electric hotbeds for hundreds of Georgia farms. These engineers can make kilowatts do more than 200 other farm chores...from hoisting heavy bales of hay to the tender brooding of baby chicks.

Every year thousands of Georgia farmers ask for and get the help of these skilled engineers at no cost. The results are greater farm production...larger farm profits...lower costs for labor.

Our rural engineers—and 5,000 other employees doing their jobs conscientiously and well—are an important part of the reason why Georgians get the best electric service available anywhere.

Jack Frost is still full of tricks but the farmer has a trick of his own. With an electric hotbed he can grow plants early and have them ready for the fields by Spring. Set a thermostat... flick a switch... gain a month on the calendar!

RIGDON—WILSON

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rigdon announce the marriage of their oldest daughter, Marilyn Faye, to Charles J. Wilson, both of Brooklet. The marriage took place Saturday afternoon, November 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Williams in Statesboro.

The bride was dressed in a white wool suit with light blue blouse and Navy accessories. Miss Mary Cook, maid of honor, wore a beige suit with brown accessories. Mr. Wilson had as his best man Pfc. Leroy Cook Jr.

SEWING CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. BLAND

Mrs. Robert Bland was hostess to her sewing club last Tuesday afternoon at her home on Inman street. Pretty house plants decorated the room and a salad course was served with coffee.

HEARTS HIGH CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Joe Mathews were hosts Thursday evening to the Heart's High bridge club. The Christmas season was reflected in a beautiful arrangement of silver and green, candles and painted pine cones being used in oblong design.

Watte nut pudding topped with dried cream was served with coffee and mints.

For ladies' high, Mrs. Jake Smith received a cigarette set of Linage china. Men's high, a pair of loafers, socks, went to Julian Hodges. Mrs. Sidney Dodd received a dainty apron for ladies' cut, and Mr. Dodd won men's cut, a tie.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Buford Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olliff Jr., Horace McDougald, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Hodges, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Smith.

TO CELEBRATE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bennett, of partial, will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 17, at open house. All friends and relatives are invited to attend between three and six o'clock.

tentions were good." When he reached Bulloch he discovered that his own Bulloch county house was there. They both agreed that they had been a happy life all the way. "Right now," he went on, "we sit and talk about old times and laugh fit to kill." We stepped by Sunday afternoon and they were dressed to a queen's taste. And we saw the lovely anniversary cake. The Smiths were still talking. They weren't too keen about this formal way of modern society. But Mrs. Smith said, "If they'd let me go all over the house with them I wouldn't get so tired." It was even more difficult to keep Mr. Smith in line. He declared, "You know, this party took a lot of work. Why, I hardly ever go to Statesboro (his home is only about four blocks from the courthouse), but Saturday I had to make three trips."

ENJOY CHRISTMAS BANQUET

One of the outstanding social events of the season was the banquet taking place Monday evening at Forest Heights Country Club, where the Business and Professional Women enjoyed their annual Christmas party.

The table, overlaid with white, was lovely with red satin ribbon extending the length of the table on each side of miniature Christmas trees used at intervals down the center. Silver and red Christmas ball, along with decorated Christmas gifts, made a festive holiday setting.

The main course was turkey with other traditional courses.

Appearing on the dinner program was Mrs. J. O. Johnson, who read "Why the Chimes Rang." The guest speaker was Mori Hegi, of Okinawa, an exchange student at Georgia Teachers College. The entire group sang Christmas carols and were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. S. Hanner. Christmas gifts were exchanged.

Those present were Miss Helen Rowse, president; Miss Hattie Powell, Mrs. W. S. Hanner, Mrs.

HARRISON—BRYAN

Miss Geneva Jacqueline Harrison became the bride of James Randall Bryan, of Brooklet, at the Rite, Ga. Baptist Church on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day, with Dr. Joseph M. Branch, of Davisboro, officiating.

Chrysanthemums, pine boughs, and branched candlesticks with white candles decorated the church.

A program of music was presented by Mrs. W. F. Lovett, of Wrightsville, with Miss Melrose Jordan, of Wrightsville, as soloist. The groom's father, Thomas R. Bryan, of Brooklet, was best man, and ushers were Dr. Harold Harrison, of Atlanta, and Hughel Harrison, of Macon, brothers of the bride, Jack Bryan, of Brooklet, the groom's brother, and D. E. Smith, of Savannah.

Dexter Allen Post No. 90 to Sponsor Oratorical Contest on Americanism

An oratorical contest, dealing with Americanism topics, will be sponsored locally by the Dexter Allen Post No. 90 of The American Legion in Statesboro. Post Commander Joe Woodcock, who announced the contest, says that all boys and girls in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades in high schools in the community will be asked to participate.

All subjects in this contest deal with phases of the United States Constitution and each participant may choose his or her subject. Prepared speeches are to be between 10 and 12 minutes long.

Francis Trappell has been appointed post oratorical contest chairman by the commander and will be in charge of arrangements for local finals, which must be completed by January 28, 1951.

Details on the exact time and place of the local contest will be announced as soon as final plans are decided upon, the chairman said.

Following local contests to be held all over Georgia, the same here, before January 28, there will be district, area and state finals, the latter in March.

The state winner will continue through sectional, regional and national contests, until eliminated, competing for a top national prize of $4,000 and several other cash awards, all to be used for educational purposes.

In the state contest, the prizes are $125 for the winner, $75 for the runner-up and $50 for the third place contestant.

The contest has been through out the nation for the past 14 years by the national organization of the Legion. It has been conducted in Georgia in the past, as this year, by the state organization, State Commander John Brock, in asking the 336 Georgia posts to promote participation in all high schools in the state this year, described the contest as "one of the most effective means ever used. By getting our high school boys and girls, who will soon be running America, to study the U. S. Constitution and talk about it to their audiences, we bring out more of the real meaning of the freedom we enjoy—and how we got it and can keep it."

The aim of the contest is to re-emphasize the full meaning of the Constitution of the United States.

Air Force Accepts Men With Dependents

Major Jacl P. Glenn, commanding officer of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service for this area, announced recently that the Air Force is now accepting male applicants with dependents.

This complete turnaround in enlistment regulations should be welcome news to the hundreds of applicants who have previously been rejected at recruiting stations.

According to the new regulations, Air Force male applicants, including those with prior service in the Army, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, having dependents may be enlisted in the Air Force if they are eligible to enlist in grade E-4 (Sergeant) or higher, with the following exceptions.

PCA Stockholders Meet Here Dec. 16

The seventeenth annual stockholders' meeting of the Statesboro Production Credit Association will be held Saturday morning, December 16, at 10 o'clock, in the Bulloch county courthouse, J. P. Shedd, of Cochran, Ga., will be guest speaker.

H. G. Waller, field representative of the Production Credit Corporation, is also expected to be present and make a short talk.

At this meeting two directors will be elected and the financial and directors' reports will be made. There will be gifts for several families.

According to Josh T. Nesmith, secretary of the association, due to the severe cold weather Saturday, November 25, the meeting was adjourned until Saturday. The meeting will last about two hours.

Mrs. A. M. Gates Jr., of Jeffersonville, spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Sidney Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Trussell, of Live Oak, Fla., were guests of Mrs. Bill Keith on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their pocketbooks

There's been a lot of talk in recent weeks about "the buying power of the dollar"—past, present and future.

We can't foretell the future—but we can tell you this right now:

You'll look a long way before you'll find a car that offers as much for the money as you can get in a 1950 Buick.

Close to half a million of these cars have been built and sold this year.

Close to half a million people have checked their features and prices against the field—and decided they'd better buy Buick.

As to prices—they start down below some sixes. And whether you price the SPECIAL, the SUPER or the ROADMASTER, you'll find, on a cents-per-pound basis, that few other cars can touch them for value.

And this is for sure! When it comes to performance—ride—the way they handle and hold the road—and thrifty use of fuel and oil—Buicks have never been finer.

That's another way of saying that coil springs on all four wheels—Dynaflo™—torque-tube drive—and Buick's high-compression, high-economy Fireball power produce an out-of-this-world combination.

So if you want your dollars to do extra duty—the time to act is now.

Look at the price tags—look at the features—sample the power and thrill that you get for your money—and you'll know what we mean.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

So You Wanna Go Deer Hunting?

PEOPLE who do not appreciate the comforts of home should take up deer hunting. Too many of us light a pipe, after storing away a hot dinner, slip into comfortable shoes, pull up in front of the radio or tune in a television program and just fall apart in sheer luxury. How can a fellow appreciate all of these joys of living if he has not experienced the hardships of a deer hunt?

The deer hunter spends the night in the mountains sleeping either on an army cot or on the ground, wrapped like a mummy in all the blankets he can lift. He shivers and shakes like a human being all night. Chills race up and down his spine. A camp fire blazes perhaps a few feet away but he is too cold to get to it.

Shortly before dawn he drifts off into a fitful sleep, utterly overcome from complete exhaustion, chilled to the bone and probably dreaming of a soft mattress and soft pillows. A breakfast, whipped up by a pal who hasn't cooked anything in his life, is ready. It is a warm breakfast of burnt toast, eggs fried a la frazzle, bacon that could pass for shoe laces and black as tar, and coffee thickened with grounds and thinned with plenty of water.

The hunters gather around the fire and eat this get-up which at home they wouldn't feed to the hog. They swear by their cook and comment on the excellence of the food and often remark, "Wonder what the poor people are doing—?" Actually, the poor people are home in a warm bed and soon will get up to enjoy a sane morning repast.

Often ice must be thawed to get water. Make no mistake about it, it's cold in the mountains. The boys take off, plugging through the darkness to find a stand near a deer trail. One by one they take up their places. They are of good cheer apparently but their teeth are chattering and they lean the gun against the tree to blow on their frozen hands. They must be perfectly still so as not to frighten away the deer but this leaves them wide open as a target for icy blasts that cut through their clothing. They hold their positions often for hours. Their eye lashes are frosted.

Here, friends, is your deer hunter. One of God's frozen people. Here is a character as miserable as man can be but without vocal complaint. If he doesn't get his deer, he is willing to repeat this schedule. It would take a great pile of cash to pay him to do these things but what he does costs him plenty and he does it because he loves it.

After a few days of this life, he returns home and with or without deer, he is in high spirits, says he had the best time of his life and can't wait for the next season. He is gentle and kind to his family, loves everybody and tries hard not to show he has been reduced to a physical wreck. He rips into home-cooked meals like a demon. If he moans, you can hear him for five miles. He drops off in bed and it is seven before you can snap your fingers. Now the warm and comfort of home really means something to him.

Yes, ladies, if you have a nattered husband, send him off on a deer trip. He will be a lamb for weeks to come and you can name your new outfit without a crumple from him.

In the recent regulated hunt in the Chattahoochee National Forest some 1480 deer hunters were on hand. Not all of them had the hardships heretofore mentioned. Some came along with trailers. Some had bottled gas heat, and tents were strawled all over the Area. Big tents, little tents and back seats of automobiles were loaded with hunters. Some brought along as much luxury as possible, such as radios, plates, knives and forks, cups, drinking water, rubber air mattresses and enough clothes to last five years.

Some day a smart cookie is going into this area about deer hunting time with a supply of indigestion medicine. He can sell completely out at astonishing prices. It's amazing how much trouble a sportsman will go to in an effort to make himself as miserable as humanly possible. It is a rare thing indeed to hear a hunter confess he did not have the "greatest time of my life." Be assured that a man on a hunt will enjoy good fellowship, courtesy on every hand and rub elbows with some of the finest men on earth. These boys who round the forest trails are the most patient, dependable and likeable guys on earth.

Few women ever attempt a deer hunt. The few that do are cured and seldom return. They may be the weaker sex, but when you get right down to it, they also might be the smarter sex. And after all the trouble you go to and all the suffering, the only remark they have when you proudly bring home your buck is—"Poor thing. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

Safety motto: "Matches have heads but no brains."

WILLIFORD HOSTESS AT DINNER-BRIDGE PARTY
Sewelle House was the scene of a lovely dinner-bridge on Tuesday evening with Miss Ann Williford as hostess.

The living room was beautifully decorated for the Christmas season with the Christmas tree predominating. The mantel featured an arrangement of red candles and greenery. The table in the dining room was centered with a low arrangement of red gladioli flanked by miniature Christmas trees. Favors were miniature Santas.

Dinner was served in five courses.

Covers were laid for Misses Helen Rowse, Helen Brannen, Hattie Powell, Zula Gammage, Sara Hall, Irene Kingery, Pennie Allen, Ruby Lee Jones, Miss Williford, and Mrs. Don Hackett.

At bridge, Miss Helen Rowse won a bottle of hand lotion for high score; for cut, Miss Sara Hall received a dainty apron.

BIRTHDAY PARTIES
On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Carl Franklin entertained for her small daughter, Carlene, with a birthday party slightly in advance of her third birthday, which really is December 28.

Fifty children enjoyed the afternoon in the Jack and Jill play ground and in the house, where they were bountifully supplied with toys and blocks for their little games.

Mrs. Franklin served birthday cake and punch. Favors were candy-filled Santa Claus boots.

NO TRUMP CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. ROY HITT
Mrs. Roy Hitt was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to her bridge club at Sewell house. A dessert course was served with tea.

For high score, Mrs. Bill Keith was awarded a lovely rhinestone necklace. Ear bobs went to Mrs. Paul Franklin Jr. for floating prize. As consolation prize, Mrs. Charles Robbins Jr. received a piece of pottery.

Other players were Mrs. Inman Foy, Mr. Don Hackett, Mrs. Josh Lanier, Mrs. Lamar Trapnell, Mrs. G. C. Coleman Jr., Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr., Mrs. Earl Allen, Mrs. Jake Smith, Mrs. Curtis Lane, Mrs. Robert Lanier Jr., Mrs. J. F. Spiers, and Miss Maxann Foy.

TURKEY DINNER GIVEN
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wynn entertained with a delicious turkey dinner Sunday at their home on South Main street. The occasion was the birthday of Mrs. Wynn and her mother, Mrs. J. H. Strickland.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Luther Watson, of Graymont; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wynn, of Portals; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Strickland, of Register; and Mr. and Mrs. Wynn.

Farm Bureau

W. W. Jones Is Denmark F. B. Head; Middleground Keeps W. C. Hodges Jr.

W. W. Jones will head the Denmark Farm Bureau next year, and W. C. Hodges Jr. will again be president of the Middleground Farm Bureau. These communities elected officers last week.

Mr. Jones succeeds C. C. DeLoach as president at Warnock. R. M. Bragg was elected vice president and E. L. McDonald will be secretary of that group.

J. L. Deal was renamed secretary at Middleground and Fred M. Atkins was again elected vice president.

The Denmark group went on record, by standing vote, as asking that all groups such as this Farm Bureau discontinue any adverse criticism of the national administration's effort to prosecute the war in Korea and to support the effort 100 percent in every way possible. Their January 2 meeting is to be of a business nature. No supper will be served.

ROY HARRIS SPEAKS TO BROOKLET GROUP
Roy V. Harris, Augusta political leader, was the Brooklet Farm Bureau speaker Wednesday night of last week. Mr. Harris reviewed the state's educational program since the Reconstruction days and compared the present program in Georgia with that of other states. He pointed out that states that spent most on education also had the highest per capita income. In Georgia, where 91.2 is spent each year per child on education, the per capita income is around $900, whereas in some of the nearby states that spend $200 per child

Case of the Man—

Education is a business and pays dividends just as any other business, according to Mr. Harris. However, you have to invest in education before the payments start, just as in any business, he stated. He urged the group present to support a sales tax for financing the proposed minimum foundation school program.

If any good wife wishes to put her man to a confession of this truth, let her go away for a week, or ten days—a longer time than this would take him away from her—leaving behind, of course, the children and, please, the mother-in-law.

Postscript: All in all, don't think that I have been able to preserve my one-night-out a week?

If this be error, and upon me proved,

H.V. Franklin Jr.

His ratproof cement block barn has a false wire floor and a drier made of three tobacco barn heating units. Fans force hot air from these units up through corn piled four feet deep on the false floor.

In 1949, when he entered the Institutional On-Farm training class at Register High School taught by L. G. Boddiford, H. V. set out on a plan to steadily improve his yields over a five-year period. That year he averaged slightly over 50 bushels on 120 acres. Last summer's long, dry spell just when corn was in the "making" stage kept him from equalling that yield in 1950. He has gathered as high as 80 bushels from an acre.

Hogs and cattle harvest any corn that H. V. "wastes" in the fields. Other crops on the Franklin farm include 30 acres cotton, 30 acres peanuts and four acres tobacco.

A self-styled bachelor who lives with his widowed mother; he is president of the Register Farm Bureau and she heads the local chapter of Associated Farm Bureau Women.

"When I was linking up with my combine last summer," H. V. relates, "she kept protesting that it wasn't going to work and I oughtn't waste so much time piddling with it."

Now that it works, Mrs. Franklin seems even more pleased than her son.—Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

Bulloch Ministers Now Organized

The Protestant ministers of Bulloch county met here December 11 and organized the Bulloch County Ministerial Association and elected the following officers:

Elder V. F. Agan, president; Rev. John S. Lough, vice president; and Rev. Carl H. Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

Others present at the organizational meeting were Elder Henry Waters, Rev. T. L. Harnsberger, Rev. E. A. Woods, Rev. E. T. Styles, Rev. Carl E. Cassidy, and Rev. George Lovell.

In announcing the purpose of the organization, a spokesman for the group said: "We are organized to promote Christian fellowship, understanding and appreciation; to cooperate in common objectives; to unite in service to our Lord through city and countywide union worship services, such as Thank-

Christmas Party at B P W Club Names Seal Chairman

THE BULLOCH HERALD, THURSDAY, DEC. 14, 1950

The Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club has assumed sponsorship of the annual Christmas Seal sale for Bulloch county.

Mrs. Janie Etheridge, who works at the Bulloch County Bank, has been named local chairman.

Mrs. Etheridge urges every person in the county to buy these seals to use on all mail during the Christmas holidays.

"Everyone is familiar with the Christmas Seal objectives," Mrs. Etheridge said. "But let's not lose sight of the fact that the program for fighting tuberculosis is ever-expanding, and that it needs everyone's support."

The feature of the party will be the lighting of the club's Christmas tree, and singing of Christmas carols.

if you have trouble starting your car TRY A GULF POWER-PAR BATTERY

Don't let a "weak sister" battery kill your pleasure or leave you stranded. Give yourself the thrill of surging power aplenty with Gulf's dynamic POWER-PAR Battery—like the one that came with the car. You'll find it eager to turn your engine over! And stays that way because of slow-creep plates that harden to greater shed-resistance! Modestly priced, and Gulf-guaranteed in writing. Come ask us all about POWER-PAR.

When all you see is what's outside, such marks of merit as the Orange Disc are more than ever your best guide

For "know-how" battery service, too!

VOLUME XI NUMBER 6

MERRY CHRISTMAS

GOING TO YOU

Those devoted men absorbed in putting a light and magical dress on the stately tree in the community square are helping create another Christmas. The hurrying people on the street are scouting for gifts which they can offer to those whom they love. This is Christmas in the making, like it's being made in our town today. Santa Claus and his elfin crew are a living part of it, too. Though they go unscen and unheard, they are looking in and out of every window in town this week -- just because we would have it so. Fantasy, devotion, love and generosity, this the Christmas we fashion for ourselves. May it be a happy one, for you.
