'What of 1951?', Bulloch County Farmers Asking

By BYRON DYER, County Agent

What may Bulloch county farmers expect in 1951?

Hopes for a good crop year, which is always the point of view farmers start off with, is more evident among farmers than normal. Ample cold weather to kill lots of pests has added to this normal January "planning feeling" farmers have. Then too, it has rained enough to wet the tobacco beds. That has helped their feelings.

They are worried about the prospects for ample fertilizer. Many local farmers have already put their fertilizer for 1951 in the barn, along with some insecticides for use this year. Then, too, tractor parts and farming tools may not be plentiful.

Assuming normal weather conditions for 1951, prospects are that farm income for the year should be considerably higher than in 1950. Practically all farm prices are expected to be as high or higher than in 1950 and total production should be greater.

While prices of the things farmers must buy in 1951 will be higher, it is not expected that they will rise high enough to prevent the net farm income from being some 10 to 15 percent higher than in 1950.

The lid is off on cotton. Farmers can plant all the cotton they wish. The support price on cotton at present is a little over 32 cents per pound. Local expansion of cotton acreage will probably be limited to labor and equipment available on the individual farm.

Peanut acreage for harvest has been reduced by some 15 percent. Increased yield is the only means of reducing loss in income from peanuts. Price supports will be available on the 1951 crop.

The tobacco acreage has been increased by about nine percent on the whole. The increase was made in order to provide adequate supplies for an increasing volume of domestic consumption and for exports to foreign countries. Local tobacco growers should increase their income by increasing both acreage and yield in 1951. Tobacco prices in 1951 should compare favorably with prices received in 1950.

Demand for meat will continue to strengthen as consumer income rises. After the first of the year cattle and hog prices will probably take and upward trend. The short-time and long-time outlook for cattle and hogs in Georgia is such as to encourage expansion of these enterprises.

Demand for eggs has been unusually heavy in recent weeks, and, despite the recent discontinuance of support prices for eggs, prices have advanced. Supplies of poultry and eggs in relation to probable consumption are such as are likely to result in smaller price rises in early 1951 than is the case with many other commodities.

THE BULLOCH HERALD NOW OFFICIAL PAPER

The Bulloch Herald has been designated as the "Official Gazette" for Bulloch county for the year 1951. The designation was made by Sheriff Stothard Deal, Clerk Hattie Powell, and Ordinary Frank L. Williams, all officers of the county. During 1951, The Herald will publish all legal advertisements.

Drag-On-Inn Formal Was The Party Of The Year For Statesboro Youth

The Drag On Inn party was the party of the year for the club as the members celebrated the holiday season with their first annual Christmas party on Christmas Day.

The Recreation Center was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a Christmas tree, soft lights and plenty of good eats for the gay crowd.

The party was a formal occasion with all the girls decked out in their evening gowns.

Club members gave their adult hostesses, Mrs. E. B. Morris and Mrs. Prince Preston, a big hand as they served the refreshments. Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Preston were appointed by the adult council to serve as hostesses for December.

The Teen council, consisting of a boy and girl representative from the three upper high school classes, were introduced to the club. These are Jere Fletcher and Jo. Attaway from the tenth grade, Frank Williams and Betty Womack from the eleventh grade, and C. P. Claxton and Ann Evans from the twelfth. Hal Averitt is the permanent club treasurer. This committee is the representative of the club and will serve as the governing body for 1951.

This Friday the Teensters have planned a dance marathon, with the prize going to the couple remaining on the floor for the longest time.

Henry S. Blich Family Is Named Master Farmers

The Henry S. Blich family was today named to the honored circle of Georgia Master Farmers by The Progressive Farmer and the Extension Service.

The Blich farm and home organization is without a weak link of any kind. Mr. Blich has production in cotton, peanuts, corn, small grains, and other crops equal to any found in these 27 counties he was selected to represent.

The pasture and livestock program is as good as can be found in the state, balanced off with hogs and beef cattle. All these crops added up to a diversified system of farming that will probably not make as much money at times as some specialized system would, but it is the kind that will keep him in the business of farming for years to come, regardless of economic conditions which usually put the specialized type of farmer out of business.

The home on the Blich farm is as modern as any urban home in the county, with every convenience to people here. Mrs. Blich artistic touch added to this modern home makes it one of the most attractive in the county. It is livable. It is modern. It is comfortable, year round. It is attractive.

If there is a machine that will work on the farm, it is found on the Blich farm. The four fish ponds on this farm provide water for livestock and a place for recreation for the family and visitors.

The family is active in community and county activities that help promote a higher standard of living.

Mr. Blich's hobby seems to be doing a better job of farming. Mrs. Blich goes in for art. Smets, the younger son, likes music. Jimmy is in an agricultural college studying to be a farmer.

Being chosen a master farmer is the highest honor that can come to Georgia farmers as such and is an honor coveted by all good farmers.

The Blich family joins five other families that have been so honored from Bulloch county, along with one family honored by the American Legion.

The W. H. Smiths received the Master Farmer award in 1928, after which came the C. B. Gays, the W. C. Hodges, Delmas Rushings, and Otis Holloways. The Holloway family was named in 1949 by the American Legion as the Master Farmer for the veterans of World Wars One and Two.

One other county in Georgia has three Master Farmers and one county in Texas has three, which means that Bulloch county leads in this field by a wide margin.

The Master Farmers named by The Progressive Farmer and the Extension Service represent the farmers in their respective districts, which is 27 counties here in southeast Georgia. The American Legion award was statewide.

Each county has an opportunity to submit a candidate. These are judged by a district committee and then by a state committee. These committees actually visit each individual farm from which a record is submitted by the county agents.

The Henry Blich family was named the county's candidate by local bankers, other Master Farmers, Farm Bureau president, chairman of the county commissioners, and county agents.

In selecting the final families to be honored, Alexander Nunn, editor of The Progressive Farmer, and Miss Sally Hill, home editor for the Farm Journal, visit each of the leading candidates and are the final judges.

78 Homes Built In Statesboro In 1950; Construction Is $676,075

All types of construction in Statesboro increased for the 1950 year over the year 1949, according to a statement made yesterday by James Bland, city engineer.

Herald Begins New Feature

Beginning this week, The Herald will present a new feature. Unless we can think of a better name, or some reader suggests a name for it, we will call it, "The Thermometer Last Week Said."

The feature will consist of the official thermometer readings by the day, giving high and low during the 24-hour period, and the rainfall for the week for Bulloch county.

The information is being furnished us by Mr. W. L. Cromley, of Brooklet. Because of the mail schedule and our printing schedule the readings will be from Monday through Sunday each week.

For this week's "The Thermometer Last Week Said" see elsewhere on this page.

Holidays, Hours For 1951 Are Set

At a meeting of the Statesboro Merchants Council held here on Thursday of last week, the closing hours of the stores, businesses, and holidays for 1951 were set.

C. P. Olliff was re-elected chairman of the council. A. M. Seligman was re-elected secretary.

Holidays to be observed are: Wednesday, July 4; Monday, September 3, Labor Day; Thursday, November 20, Thanksgiving Day; Tuesday and Wednesday, December 25-26, Christmas; Tuesday, January 1, 1952, New Year's Day.

The Christmas holiday will include both Tuesday and Wednesday. Stores will close New Year's Day and will remain open Wednesday afternoon, January 2.

Closing hours are set as follows: Furniture and jewelry stores open at 8 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m.; drug stores, open at 7 a. m. and close at 7:30 p. m.; hardware, feed, and grocery stores open at 7 a. m. and close at 6 p. m.; dry goods and ten cent stores open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. On Saturday nights, dry goods and ten cent stores will close at 8 p. m.

Business houses will close at 12 noon each Wednesday until the opening of tobacco season, when stores will remain open each Wednesday afternoon until the close of the season. Then, until Wednesday before Thanksgiving, the stores will close Wednesday afternoons.

From Thanksgiving through the remainder of 1951 stores will remain open Wednesday afternoons.

10 Are Inducted Into U. S. Army

On Monday, January 8, ten Bulloch county youths will leave Statesboro for Atlanta to be inducted into the U. S. Army. They are:

Valder Heath, Nathaniel Harvader Creasy, Jessie Phillippe Campbell, Delmus Ellie Marsh, white; Willie James Jinkin, Leemoore Stewart, Duran Russell Jordan, Winton Hendley, Andrew Phillip Martin, and Robert Lee Andrews, negroes.

Mrs. Ida S. Matz, clerk of the Bulloch County Local Board, announced this week that 20 registrants will leave Statesboro January 24 for Columbus for pre-induction physical examination.

Mrs. Matz urges all registrants to advise the local board of any change of address or status.

BAPTIST W.M.U. MEETINGS SCHEDULED JANUARY 8

Meetings of the Baptist W.M.U. circles will be held on Monday, January 8, at 3:30, in the following homes: Loyalty Circle, with Mrs. Inman Dekle; Serson Circle, with Mrs. Roy Hitt; Friendly Circle, with Mrs. A. C. Bradley; Service Circle, with Mrs. T. W. Rowse.

The girls presented their dates Christmas presents which were opened before the group. Gifts consisted of baby dolls, rattlers, baby bottles and other presents for fun. Each member was limited to ten cents on the purchase of the fun gift.

A study of the building permits filed with the city engineer shows that during 1950 a total of 99 applications were made for all types of construction for a "permit" total of $676,075.

This total is $262,025 more than for the year 1949 when a total of $414,050 in construction permits were issued.

According to the study, permits were issued for the construction of 78 new homes, with permit value of $517,750.

Permits were issued to remodel 11 homes for $20,700.

Permits for three new businesses amounted to $104,500, including the Bonette Motel on North Main street.

Permits for one garage and an addition to a garage were issued.

A permit for construction of the new Calvary Baptist Church was estimated at $17,000.

Of the 78 new homes built during the year, 35 are located just outside the city limits. These are the 15 built by Bill Bowen in Pine Air, north of the city; 10 built by Spann Construction Co. back of the hospital; and 10 by Jones Lane on U. S. 80 near St. Matthews Church.

In 1949, a total of 112 permits were issued for a total of $14,050, including 59 new homes at a "permit" value of $263,350, 10 new business buildings with a "permit" value of $48,500, and other construction including remodeling and repairs amounting to $102,200.

The "permit value" is the figure used by contractors on the application they file with the city engineer before beginning construction. Builders and contractors agree that these figures do not represent the final cost of construction. It is estimated that a truer figure would be between 25 and 30 percent higher.

MISS MARGARET SHERMAN WEDS
ARNOLD ALMAND DECEMBER 28

The First Methodist Church in Statesboro was the scene Thursday evening December 28, of the marriage of Miss Margaret Louise Sherman and Marion Arnold Almand, of Atlanta. The Rev. Gerald E. Martin, of Karmack, Texas, classmate of the groom, read the marriage lines before an assemblage of friends and relatives.

MRS. ARNOLD ALMAND, who, before her marriage December 28, was Miss Margaret Louise Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Sherman of Statesboro.

The classic simplicity of the church was accentuated in the beautiful decorations that framed the nuptial scene. The arch over the choir loft was outlined with cointe palm. The arch design was repeated in the use of white burning candles over the choir rail and the communion rail, which were draped in white satin. The top of the communion rail was banked with cointe palm interspersed with burning candles. Candles and tapers in multi-branched candelabra were used in the chancel and on each side of the altar extending to the windows, which were banked with cointe palm and single candles. A sunburst of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums centered the chancel and smaller arrangements of white pom-pom chrysanthemums were on each side of the altar.

bride, wore black silk with bodice of pink lace over flesh marquisette. Her carriage was of pink roses. Immediately after the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman entertained the wedding guests at a reception at the country club. The guests were met by Mrs. Frank Olliff and introduced to the wedding line by Mrs. Bruce Olliff. In the line were Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Almand, the bride and groom, the lady attendants, and Mrs. J. L. Martin.

Assisting in entertaining guests were Mrs. Waldo Floyd, Mrs. Loy Waters, Mrs. Joe Watson, Mrs. Hinton Remington, Mrs. Ernest Brannen, Mrs. Bonnie Morris, and Mrs. Horace Smith. Those serving were Misses Lila Brady, Paty Odom, Sue Simmons, Ann Waters, Emily Williams, Ann Remington, Betty Smith, Myrtle Prosser, Mary Jeanette Agan, Barbara Ann Brannen, Nona Hodges, Edith Rushing, Mrs. Jewel Casey, and the bride, furnished a delightful musical program. Mrs. Marcus Toole kept the bride's books. The bride's table was overlaid with a white satin cloth with gathered skirt that touched the floor. In the center of the table was the tiered bride's cake, embossed in rose garlands, with a miniature bride and groom under a trellis of white snapdragons and tiny sprays of plumosa fern. The cake was encircled with white marble with clusters of snapdragon tips. Silver candelabra and white tapers decorated with maline, were used at each end of the table. Satin bows were used in the center and at each corner of the table. Snapdragon and plumosa fern decorated the punch tables. The bride and groom went to Sea Island for their wedding trip. The bride traveling in a smart hounds tooth bluish and brown checked suit with a dawn pink felt cloche with brown veiling. Her blouse matched her hat and her shoes and bag were alligator. She wore an orchid from her bride bouquet. After Tuesday, January 2, they will be at home in their apartment at 1376 Denning Place, Atlanta.

Among those who came from a distance to attend the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Almand, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Almand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Pope, Jr., Miss Ruth Abercrombie, Miss Mary Winterbottom, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robert Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Almand, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Parker, Miss Loretta Stuckey, Mrs. Tom Crumpler, and Mrs. Joe Broadwater, all of Atlanta; Mrs. Martin Willis and Mrs. Carl Westmoreland, Dublin; Mr. and Mrs. George Harter and Mrs. Coralie Moxley, of Augusta; Mrs. J. L. Martin, Mrs. Jewel Casey, Mrs. H. E. Moxley and Willard Burgess, of Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clay, of Union City, Tenn.; Richard Fisher, of Sardis; and Rev. Gerald E. Martin, Jr., of Karmack, Texas.

It's A Woman's World

Pre-Nuptial Parties
For Miss Sherman

Miss Margaret Sherman, popular bride-elect, arrived from Atlanta December 21 to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Sherman. Since her marriage to Arnold Almand, also of Atlanta, was scheduled for December 28, her friends vied with each other for the opportunity to honor her before that important appointment at the local Methodist Church.

Mrs. Roger Holland entertained Thursday afternoon with a bridge party. Christmas decorations were used in the home and from the Christmas tree bags of candy were given each guest. Gifts from the tree for high scorer at each table were novelty boxes of letterettes. These were won by Mrs. Ben Turner, Mrs. Eddie Rushing, Miss Shirley Tillman, and Miss Mary Janette Agan. Miss Sherman, the bride, received a China plate in her pattern. Mrs. Pearl Brady and Mrs. Lila Brady assisted in serving a desert course. Guests were seated at a T-shaped table with a beautiful arrangement of white gladioli in the center with plumosa fern extending the length of the table.

Miss Sherman was the inspiration of morning coffee Friday with Miss Ann Waters as hostess at her home on Woodrow avenue. The home was attractively decorated for the Christmas season. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Jimmy Collins, Mrs. Gene L. Hodges, and Mrs. Fred Fletcher. Mrs. Henry Bulch poured coffee. The bride-elect was presented a combination waffle iron and sandwich grill. About fifty guests called during the morning.

Thursday at Mrs. Fred Darley and Mrs. Fred Hodges Jr. were hostesses at the Darley apartment Saturday, continuing the series of parties for Miss Sherman. A low angled hair and vari-colored Christmas bells were on the coffee table. Centering the table in the dining room was a giant red candle arrangement on milk glass base and surrounded with red and silver crystal balls. Cheese sticks, cookies, and cheese wafers were served with hot chocolate and marshmallows. The gift of the hostesses to the honoree was their apartment at 1376 Denning Place, Atlanta. Among those who came from a distance to attend the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Almand, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Almand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Pope, Jr., Miss Ruth Abercrombie, Miss Mary Winterbottom, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robert Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Almand, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Parker, Miss Loretta Stuckey, Mrs. Tom Crumpler, and Mrs. Joe Broadwater, all of Atlanta; Mrs. Martin Willis and Mrs. Carl Westmoreland, Dublin; Mr. and Mrs. George Harter and Mrs. Coralie Moxley, of Augusta; Mrs. J. L. Martin, Mrs. Jewel Casey, Mrs. H. E. Moxley and Willard Burgess, of Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clay, of Union City, Tenn.; Richard Fisher, of Sardis; and Rev. Gerald E. Martin, Jr., of Karmack, Texas.

Radford—Jackson

Of sincere interest to their many friends in this section was the marriage of Miss Jacqueline Radford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Radford, of Metter, to Dr. John L. Jackson, of Statesboro.

The simple home ceremony was performed Saturday evening by the Rev. W. W. Whaley, pastor of the Methodist Church at Lyons. The bride wore a navy blue suit with a winter white felt hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was of white purple-throated orchids. The groom's mother, Mrs. J. L. Jackson, and his children, John Marshall and Robby Ann, were present for the ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. Jackson left for a wedding trip to Florida, returning to Statesboro Tuesday.

Lanier—Proctor

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Ella Mae Lanier to S. J. Proctor Sunday morning in South Carolina. They left immediately for a western tour with a stopover at Mineral Wells, Texas, going from there to New Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. Proctor will return by way of Hot Springs, Ark., where they will stay for two weeks. They are expected to be away for six weeks.

Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Stockdale, of Statesboro, announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrtle Lela, to Sergeant Carl Alvin Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Williams, of Pulaski, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.
