55 FFA Boys Will Compete in Fourth Annual Hog Show

Fifty-five Future Farmers will compete in Bulloch County's fourth annual F. F. A. hog show Tuesday, April 10. Judging of the purchased hogs will begin at 10:00 at the Bulloch Stock Yards.

Presentation of $500 in prizes is part of the program scheduled for 12:30. Radio Station WWSW will rebroadcast the show's activities from 2:30 to 3:00.

Student officers of the Bulloch County F. F. A. chapter will direct the program. President Avant Edensfield from Brooklet will be in charge, assisted by vice-president Frank Saunders of Portway. Also participating will be W. J. Webb of Statesboro, secretary; Talmadge Anderson of Nevils, treasurer; Jimmie Higdon, reporter from the Laboratory High School in Statesboro; and George Chance, teacher of Vocational Agriculture at Stillson, adviser of the county chapter.

Holston Wyatt, from Brooklet, will discuss F. F. A. work in Bulloch County. Brooklet student Barney Deal will speak on "My F. F. A. Project Program."

Prizes will be awarded by J. N. Baker, Assistant Supervisor of Agricultural Education, and H. P. Womack, Superintendent of Bulloch County Schools.

Brooklet FFA Hog Show Wednesday

The annual purebred hog show of the Brooklet chapter of Future Farmers of America will feature the meeting of the Brooklet Farm Bureau on Wednesday, April 11, at 7:30 p. m. at the Brooklet school.

A barbecue supper will be served in the community center.

The F. F. A. entries will be shown outside the community house under lights.

F. F. A. boys exhibiting in the Durco-Jersey breed are: Billy Frawley, Richard Cowart, R. J. Kins, Calvin Wilson, and Billy Tyson. This team is sponsored by the Bulloch County Bank, the Sea Island Bank, the Statesboro Livestock Commission Co., the Bulloch Stockyard, and S. W. Lewis, Inc.

Exhibiting the Poland China breed are: W. D. Lee, Jack Best, James Minick, Billy Bennett, Ray Briesendine, and Jimmy Wilson. This team is sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

Exhibiting the Hampshire breed are: Eugene Cook, Jerry Woods, Horace Knight, Glen Wilson, and Ronald Denny. This team, a new one, is sponsored by the Brooklet Farm Bureau, the Farmers and Merchants Bank.

First and second place winners in each class will complete for the grand champion and reserve champion.

Cash prizes amounting to $300 will be given with the ribbons.

Red Cross Offers First Aid Course

John Swint, chairman of the First Aid Bulloch County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announced this week that a first aid training course will be conducted here during April 16-27 by the Red Cross.

The course is being offered to train citizens here as first aid instructors.

Mr. Swint says, "An urgent call is made to our people to meet the pressing need of our civilian defense program in our community by preparing for an instructor in first aid through the American Red Cross. Any person wishing to meet this responsibility can do so by taking advantage of the complete course which will be offered here April 16-27."

He points out that no previous experience in first aid is required for the course which includes special instruction in fundamentals. Those to complete the course will be qualified as a certified Red Cross first aid instructor. About 40 hours of instruction will be required for this certificate.

Call Mr. Swint at 127 if you wish to take the course.

PTA Council Will Meet in Register

Mrs. Sam Brannen, president of the Bulloch P. T. A. council, announces this week that Mrs. Kanon, director of the seventh district division of the Georgia Congress of Parent-Teachers Association, will be the guest of the Bulloch County P. T. A. council when it meets at the Register School on Saturday, April 14, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. Brannen urges all the local P. T. A. presidents to attend the meeting. New officers will be elected.

'Spring Clean-Up Time' To Reduce Fire Hazards

The annual "Spring Clean-Up Time" will be observed in Statesboro and Bulloch county from April 9 through April 12, according to Logan Hagan, Statesboro fire department chief.

This "Spring Clean-Up Time" is being sponsored statewide by the Georgia Fire Safety Commission, with the active cooperation of local mayors, fire departments, chambers of commerce, and civic organizations.

Fire Chief Hagan stated that he was here last week and observed a fire drill at the Statesboro school. Mr. Foster intends to return to Bulloch county to make inspections of all schools.

Chief Hagan also stated that "Junior State Fire Inspectors" are being appointed in schools to assist the state fire marshal in the prevention of fire in homes, schools and communities in which they live.

The chief also states he will make an inspection during the week. He suggests that businessmen take a look about their places and clean them out. "Clean-up, don't burn up," says the fire chief.

Governor Herman Talmadge has issued a proclamation proclaiming "Spring Clean-Up Time."

Part of the observation of the week here includes a fire safety home inspection blank which will be given to school children to take to their homes to be filled out.

T. C. LOOKS INTO FUTURE—This sketch outlines the Georgia Teachers College campus as it should be equipped after the college attains an enrollment goal of 1,500. The plan was drawn by architects employed by the University System of Georgia to study potentialities for physical development in line with anticipated growth of the college. The drawing centers on the circular driveway leading into the campus from Highways 25 and 301. Existing buildings are plotted in perpendicular lines with white border, needed buildings in solid white, buildings to be removed in dotted lines, and buildings to be relocated in white lines. At the left is an index keying the numbers assigned to the building with the names of the buildings. (Campus Development Plan by Aeck Associates, Architects, Atlanta).

Statesboro Bandsmen Receive 29 of 38 Superior Music Festival Ratings

Statesboro participants, including two children of the honored band director, received 29 of the 38 superior ratings awarded in the First District School Instrumental Music Festival at Teachers College last Thursday.

Statesboro participants, including two children of the honored band director, received 29 of 38 superior ratings awarded in the First District School Instrumental Music Festival at Georgia Teachers College last Thursday.

Statesboro's bandmaster, Guyton McLendon, is district chairman of the sponsoring Georgia Music Educators Association and was chairman for the festival. His children, Felicia and Guy, were declared superior flute and tuba soloists.

Three other Statesboro ratings went to Miss Linda Bean for oboe and clarinet solos and twirling. She also was a member of a clarinet trio and two bands, all judged superior.

The Statesboro musicians exhibited superior concert bands in both high school Class CC and junior high brackets. Henry Applewhite's Savannah band got one ranking as the only Class A entry, and Valdosta, directed by August Johnson, won honors in a new Class B division. Rain forced cancellation of a concluding seven-band parade in Statesboro.

The meet was the third and final phase of the district music festival here on April 1.

Superior ratings elevate the recipients to the state instrumental festival at Valdosta May 7-9. Statesboro ratings were assigned as follows:

High school ensembles—Clarinet trio, clarinet quartet, two mixed clarinet quartet, saxophone quartet, horn duet.

High school solos—Guy Freeman, bass clarinet; Geraldine Lane, tenor saxophone; Faysene Sturgis, French Horn; Buel Carl, trombone; Don Flanders, both marimba and drum.

Elementary school ensembles—clarinet quartets one and two, trumpet quartet, and brass quartet.

Elementary school solos—Thelma Mallard and Felicia McLendon, flute; Linda Bean, both oboe and clarinet; Carey Donaldson, baritone; Yelany Carroll, trombone; Guy McLendon, tuba; Mary Jo Hodges, and Eddie Lane, each drum.

Concert bands—Statesboro, junior high; Statesboro Class CC.

High school twirling—Faysene Sturgis and Jane Morris.

Elementary school twirling—Linda Bean.

The Thermometer Last Week Said

Temperature reading for the week of March 26-April 1 in Bulloch county, were as follows:

Monday, Mar. 26	High	Low
Tuesday, Mar. 27	59	41
Wednesday, Mar. 28	75	42
Thursday, Mar. 29	78	62
Friday, Mar. 30	64	57
Saturday, Mar. 31	71	43
Sunday, Apr. 1	79	42

Rainfall for the week was 2.99 inches. The rainfall for March was 5.29 inches. For January and February, 1.00 inches. The normal for the period is 10.72 inches. Deficiency for this period is 3.73 inches.

This information furnished special to The Herald by Mr. W. C. Cromley of Brooklet.

The Statesboro Recreation Center observed its Third Anniversary on April 1.

March was featured by the activities of the Drag On Inn Club with the big event, the Square Dance which attracted more than a hundred members. The second affair was a picnic at the Lester Martin home.

The Teen Council gave all the members of the club who are delinquent in their dues, 90 days to pay up before being dropped from the club.

The hours for the nursery are now set for 10 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. on Saturdays. Saturday of this week plans include a story hour, hike, singing, playtime and refreshments. Children three through seven years of age are invited to be present.

CEILING PRICE REGULATIONS FOR PROCEES AVAILABLE

Jim Hayes of the Chamber of Commerce states that he now has the regulations CPR 14, 15 and 16, for grocers. They may be secured from his office on Siebold St.

60 Herefords to Be Sold April 9

Bulloch county livestock farmers will have another opportunity to buy purebred "working type" Hereford cattle here next Monday, April 9.

Methodist Youth Rally Here April 9

On Monday evening, April 9, at 8 o'clock, the Youth Rally of the Savannah District will be held at the Methodist Church, with the Rev. McCoy Johnston of Macon the inspirational speaker. This is one of a series of eight rallies in the South Georgia Conference during April. The youth of Statesboro are especially invited.

Regular services Sunday are at 11:30 a. m. when the Rev. John Lough, pastor, will preach on "Light Shining in the Darkness," and 8 p. m. when he will preach on "All or Nothing."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

The revival closed at the Calvary Baptist Church Sunday with 32 having been added to the membership, 22 for baptism, 10 by letter. Baptism of the new members will be held at the First Baptist Church at 3 o'clock Sunday, April 8. B. T. U. will meet at 6:45 p. m. Sunday evening. A program has been arranged for all age groups and everyone is invited to attend.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Simultaneous Revival at the Statesboro Baptist Church continues this week, with Dr. Harold Pickett, of Galveston, Texas, conducting the services. Morning services are at 8 o'clock and evening services at 8 o'clock.

PRIMITIVE BAPTIST CHURCH

J. A. White, newly-elected president of the Southeastern Field Hereford Association and head of the Clarendon Plantation, Burton, S. C., will open the sale Monday at 1 p. m. The cattle will be sold by two auctioneers new to this section, Col. Bill Pace of Montgomery and Col. Ted Hughes, of Valdosta.

Bulloch farmers kept 78 head of the last purebred Herefords sold here. Many of these cattle will probably find a home in Bulloch county also.

City Court Will Convene Monday

City Court of Statesboro will convene Monday morning, April 9, for the April term with the following jurors drawn:

A. Bernard McDougald, Lester Bland, John C. Cromley, W. Otis Waters, C. C. Anderson, F. W. Hughes, O. W. Simmons, Brooks B. Sorries Jr., C. E. Joiner, W. Frasier Deal, Charles G. Lewis, C. L. Fair Store Holds Formal Opening

A. M. Seligman announced today the formal opening of The Fair Store tomorrow (Friday) evening at 7 o'clock. Mayor Gilbert Cone will cut the ribbon in the formal ceremonies opening the new store to the public.

Mr. Seligman invites the citizens of this entire section to the opening, when the store will be open from 7 to 10 p. m. for visiting and inspecting.

In announcing the opening of the remodeled store, Mr. Seligman said, "We believe we have one of, if not the most modern store buildings in this section of the state. The Fair Store has been completely renovated. The ceiling has been lowered, continuous fluorescent fixtures light the store brightly. Oak fixtures, installed by the Columbus, Ga., Fixture Manufacturing Company, lend to the store a national director, will be among the speakers.

President Farrar Newberry, of the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce, representing 31,000 Woodmen of Georgia, are expected to attend the meeting.

Dr. Herbert B. Kennedy, of Onaha, Nebraska, formerly of Statesboro, and now medical director of the national organization, R. E. Miller, national vice president and J. Rivers, former governor of Georgia, a national director, will be among the speakers.

WOW Sends Two Delegates to Camp

M. O. Lawrence and Otis Hollingsworth of Statesboro will attend the Head Camp meeting, Ga. Jurisdiction, Woodmen of the World, Life Insurance Society, April 30 and May 1, at the Rialto Hotel in Columbus.

Rufus Anderson of Statesboro is one of the Head Camp officers, serving with two others as auditors.

More than 300 delegates and visitors, representing 31,000 Woodmen of Georgia, are expected to attend the meeting.

Dr. Herbert B. Kennedy, of Onaha, Nebraska, formerly of Statesboro, and now medical director of the national organization, R. E. Miller, national vice president and J. Rivers, former governor of Georgia, a national director, will be among the speakers.

Farmers' Day Mon. At Rotary Meeting

Monday is Farmers' Day at the Statesboro Rotary Club. County and community Farm Bureau presidents and other farm leaders are invited to this annual meeting.

H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, will be the speaker. Alfred Dorman, club president, stated.

COME TO CHURCH
 This Sunday
 Georgia Junior Chamber of Commerce

The Statesboro Jaycees are joining the state's 45 Junior Chambers of Commerce in their statewide "Come to Church" campaign.

Charles Robbins, president of the local Jaycees, urges citizens of Bulloch county to come to church during April, as well as the other eleven months.

The Jaycees are using all means possible to promote the campaign. This is the third year that the young businessmen of the state have promoted the "Come to Church" idea.

Looking At Bulloch Schools

THIS WEEK, we begin the first of a series of reports on the schools of Bulloch county. The information for this series was compiled by members of the school buildings committee of the Bulloch County School Survey. J. Harry Lee is chairman of that committee. The members are: Mrs. F. C. Parker Jr., Statesboro; R. Cone Hall and J. H. Griffith, Brooklet; Floyd Skinner, W. E. McGlammy and Mrs. Juanita Abernathy, Middleground; Tom Waters and Durell Rushing, Nevils; Frank Saunders, J. E. Parrish, and C. M. Cowart, Portal; H. E. Akins and J. L. Holloway, Register; Lehman Akins, Stillson; Preston Anderson and Floyd Brannen, Warnock; Sam Brannen, West Side; and Joe Woodcock, Statesboro.

Editor's Note: Because the editor is chairman of the Bulloch County School Survey, this series of articles will be the exact reproduction of the reports by the committees. Each is a report of facts, not a composition. We publish them exactly as written to prevent any shade of opinion that the editor may have, so that the citizens of Bulloch county will get the picture exactly as the citizens' committee found it.

Congratulations

THIS WEEK A. M. Seligman invites the people of this section to visit the opening of the completely remodeled Fair Store.

The new Fair Store now takes its place among the most attractive business houses in Statesboro. It is a store which would stand out in Atlanta, Savannah, and any metropolitan center.

Completely modern, it offers the last word in lighting, heating, air conditioning, fixtures, and merchandise.

We congratulate Mr. Seligman upon giving Statesboro another modern store.

It marks another step in the city's progress parade.

It Can Be Worked Out

WE DON'T KNOW how it can be solved. But we do know it is a problem, and that it can be worked out.

We suggest that a complete and thorough study be made of the parking situation at the First Baptist Church which develops on Sunday morning just before the 11:15 worship time.

Clean Up, Don't Burn Up

NOW, here comes a "week" to which we heartily subscribe.

Governor Herman Talmadge has declared April 9 through April 21, 1951, as "Spring Clean-up Week" in Georgia.

Now, this is not the sort of clean-up promotion that your garden clubs might sponsor and promote. There's more than just a "pretty" objective behind this "week."

The continuing high loss of life and property from fires in Georgia is completely unnecessary and can be prevented by proper precautions.

Carelessness and poor housekeeping conditions in the home, store, shop, and factory are the chief contributors to the starting of fires.

Logan Hagan, fire chief of the Statesboro Fire Department, plans to make a business-to-business inspection and check during that week.

The Georgia Safety Fire Law, which was passed by the General Assembly in 1949, is being vigorously administered, and is providing much needed protection for the people of our state. Under this law, local authorities have the power to make fire inspections in their respective communities.

Five Years Bring A Great Change In Learning ...

BY VIRGINIA RUSSELL
MARK TWAIN is reported as saying that when he was sixteen years old he thought that his father was the biggest ignoramus he'd ever known but when he became twenty-one he was simply amazed at how much the old man had learned in five years. Some years back when I first heard Mark Twain's above remark I had a very good chuckle. At that time I was not far removed from my own youth and my interpretation of the statement took in my limited experience.

It had not been too long then that I could remember for instance the reason for it at my mother for putting sausage and biscuits in my lunches, the Atlanta girls had sandwiches made of "light" bread, and I had learned that once they discovered my lunch they would trade me anything in theirs for my home-made biscuits, the humbling of me as I sat in my mother when I had to carry a package of butter to my aunt each week, and how I wished that I could conceal the fact that my horse was not in Atlanta when I attended high school in a little country town nearby. Oh, the silly ideas that my parents had—any boy who looked at our front door was put on a blacklist, there was to be no riding in a car unless it was to and from a destination, and dozens of other backward thoughts that my poor, foolish parents possessed. I thought yet I had hardly reached twenty-one before I had reorganized my sense of values just as Mark Twain implied that he had.

Now, however, years later, that saying of Mark Twain's can be interpreted in a very different manner. Just between us girls I bet Twain's father learned more in five years than the son ever imagined, unless he had become a father. At least, mothers certainly take an intensive course during their period.

How hard it is for parents to spend sixteen years of their lives thinking about and caring for a boy suddenly to find that now he must be allowed to try his own wings—how hard it is, only parents themselves know.

The little baby that comes to live in a home requires constant care and hourly thought. He grows and the care changes but continues. Until one day the parent stand helplessly by and see this little one now grown into a big boy put a gun over his shoulder and real bullets (the kind that shoot) in his pockets and go off to the woods to hunt rabbits or birds.

The parents warn and caution and give directions. I well remember our first experience. Night came and the hunter hadn't returned. Forty-five minutes later my imagination had done dreadful things to me. I had managed to work father up into a pretty bad state, too, when in came the hunter. Questions on how he hunted after dark, he told us that it simply took him a long time to walk home after he stopped hunting.

The next morning I went across the street to a neighbor's house and said, "I want to congratulate you." "For what?" she wanted to know. "For rearing two boys and staying sane," I said.

The next time I saw my mother-in-law I determined to find what formula she had used when she reared seven boys and six girls, and tried to tell the tale. I told her to just please tell me how she kept from worrying when a boy went off with a gun or learned to drive a car or do any of the hundreds of dangerous things boys have to do. She patted me and said, "Honey, you don't ever quit worrying, you just learn to keep it to yourself!"

Mark Twain's father learned more in those five years than his son ever dreamed of, I repeat.

Extension Service livestock specialists believe Georgia farmers would benefit by adding sheep to their livestock programs since they bring in cash during spring when it is needed for financing crops.

THE BULLOCH HERALD
27 West Main Street
Statesboro, Ga.
THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1951

A weekly newspaper dedicated to the progress of Statesboro and Bulloch County.

Published every Thursday in Statesboro, Bulloch County, Ga.
LEODEL COLEMAN, Editor
JIM COLEMAN, Adm. Director
G. C. COLEMAN, Jr., Asso. Ed.
Entered as second-class matter on January 31, 1948, at the post office at Statesboro, Ga., under Act of March 3rd, 1879.

And now, nearly 20 years later, an aura of scandal hovers over the once great lending agency, as revealed in the investigation now in progress in our national Congress.

So far, the investigating senators had not appeared to uncover anything actually illegal.

But they have come up with the feeling that many government officials and their hangers-on evidently believe that everything is proper which is not illegal.

And that is a state which we deplore. What to do about it? Frankly, we don't know.

Maybe by adding our voice of disapproval to that of all those over the nation it will become loud enough for those in high office to listen and take action. We can only hope so.

Editor's Uneasy Chair

DOGWOOD JOE'S IDEA IS GETTING AROUND. Dogwood Joe's idea is getting around. Joe Zetterower's vision of a dogwood drive along the length of U. S. Highway 301, from Bangor, Maine, to Miami, Florida, is catching the imagination of all who hear about it.

Already the Atlanta papers have commented upon it. The Screen County Girl Scouts are planting a mile of the beautiful trees in that county; Olin Stubbs of the Tobacco Trail, has had Dogwood Joe plant him a couple of miles; a citizen of Statesboro has given him $100 to plant a couple of miles; and Dogwood Joe himself has a planted two miles.

Now comes a suggestion from the Garden Corner by the Garden Club of Savannah, published in Sunday's Savannah Morning News, that Dogwood Society be formed.

The writer of the column points out that there are all kinds of clubs in existence featuring some plant or tree—the American Camellia Society, the Tulip Association of America, the American Rose Society—so why not a Dogwood society?

And the Garden Corner goes on to say: "We would nominate as Club of Savannah members, the Garden Club of Savannah, the Garden Club of Georgia, the Garden Club of South Carolina, the Garden Club of Florida, and the Garden Club of Alabama."

ALL'S FAIR ... By Jane

To the Class of '46 we dedicate this rhyme.

It's members in reunion had a wonderful time
As they gathered at the Jacekel from far and near
To swap with one another events of the year:

The hardships, the fun, troubles they'd had;
The joys, the memorable, the good and the bad.
They told of successes, marriages, and careers,
They spoke of absent members, noted empty chairs.

But hearts were warmed as these schoolmates of yore
Sang the "Alma Mater" as they never sang before—
SALLY SERSON and Postine Akina, program chairmen, sent out invitations. Class officers were: Johnny Brannen, president, up from Camp Stewart (considered the most eligible bachelor. They recalled how the girls flocked around him because he was so-o-cute! Vice President Agnes Blitch Kennedy couldn't attend because her husband, Billy Kennedy (class of '45) was busy selling Easter candy as manager of a drug store in Columbus, Ga. The secretary, Polly Hodges Rushing, was present. Treasurers Ray Darley and Dent Newton were up from Camp Stewart.

Passing out awards, as usual, gave spice to the banquet. Louise Keel Blackburn was the first to get married. Jean Prestorius Arrington had the oldest child, and Louise Blackburn the youngest child. Annie Bula Brannen, down from Atlanta, had come the greatest distance to attend. Johnny Brannen, the most eligible bachelor, had his new bride, Mrs. Brannen, Ray Darley, most recently married, Lois Stockdale Williams.

state president, with a vice president in each county through which runs United States Route 301. For already Mr. Zetterower has planted three miles in Bulloch county with dogwood trees. His idea is to take this route and plant three to five-year-old dogwoods every 300 feet. He will then try to get the interest of neighboring states in carrying the trail through from borderland to borderland until the entire route has been planted with flowering dogwood. Nothing could be more beautiful, and no doubt it would be a way of fostering a love for this plant in every part of the country. It is known that the dogwood will grow in every state from Maine to Florida and it can be adapted to varying climates all along the way. In order to conserve the dogwood, care should be taken in the transplanting so that too many of them will not be lost in the attempt."

RUTH REBECCA FRANKLIN COMES CALLING ON US. Friday afternoon last week, our Ruth Rebecca Franklin Morehouse came in to see us, she's looking fine. She was to home last week for the Jason Franklin family reunion. Soon she and her husband are taking off on a fast trip to London where Mr. Morehouse will do stories on London. They will make a quickie trip to Paris, where, no doubt, Rebecca and her women, will have a wonderful time.

Statesboro and Bulloch county are proud of our Ruth Rebecca. One reason is because Bulloch county still holds number one place in her heart. She's still a good Bulloch county gal.

WE UNDERSTAND ABOUT PAINTERS, CARPENTERS. Last week end we painted our screen porch—that is, we got one coat on—well, to be perfectly truthful about the whole thing, we finished putting the first coat on last Saturday. We started the job Saturday a week ago. Give us two more Saturdays and we'll have the second coat on and we think the third coat will just have to wait.

Under proper conditions Georgia's many fish ponds could produce marvelous fishing. The finest example of what can be accomplished is contained in the seasonal report of the fish catch by Hugh Hill, State Game & Fish Commissioner from Macon.

Why Fish Ponds Go Bankrupt

Greed is the principle ingredient for waste, destruction and devastation. Not only do we leave its scars on man's soul but its far reaching influence is felt on all things tangible and intangible. A great many farms ponds in the State are bankrupt of fishing simply because the owner is selfish to the extent that he does not allow but a few chosen friends to use his waters.

Under proper conditions Georgia's many fish ponds could produce marvelous fishing. The finest example of what can be accomplished is contained in the seasonal report of the fish catch by Hugh Hill, State Game & Fish Commissioner from Macon.

Hugh's lake was stocked with about 500 bass and 5,000 bream. When the fishing crop was ready, the process of harvesting began. Again, cabinets overhead in every conceivable space—and so attractive. The shower bath is all plastic and is compact. An open door revealed a double-bed all made up. There were lights and tiny ventilators. Cabinets—lengthwise and up and down. Colorful, comfortable. And cute as a kitten.

SPEAKING of kittens, reminds us that we fell in love with a cat yesterday. A tabby, part Persian. The cat is eight years old and Todd Thompson loves his "Baby," as the tabby Persian is called. "Baby" pouted a day or two when the Bob Thompasons moved into their lovely new home on Jones lane. She caught the disappearing stairway down and disappeared into the attic, and it took a bit of coaxing to get her down. The living and dining rooms are in French gray and we were amazed that they appeared so spacious. The kitchen and den are done in paneled walls finished in natural stain. There are two bedrooms. The children's room with door to suit the young fry. Helen went Chinese in her bedroom, with black lacquered furniture with Chinese red accents. Chinese prints on the walls. No chop sticks. No chop suey. But an attractive home throughout. Ray waved to us, but he couldn't leave his gang who were having a wonderful time home from Washington. They saw the Blair House, but only a brief glimpse, before they were waved on by the guards. While in Washington they stopped at the Mayflower Hotel.

DOT DANIEL (Mrs. Bird) is off for a good time in Washington with the Prince Prestorius. She will accompany Myrtice to Congressional teas, formal luncheons, etc. WE are now ready for our informal luncheon. What can it be? No beef. How come? We just don't know the answers, do you?

As ever, JANE.

concealed in cabinet space underneath. Stove for heat, fans for cooling, four units and a large water heater. Cabinets overhead in every conceivable space—and so attractive. The shower bath is all plastic and is compact. An open door revealed a double-bed all made up. There were lights and tiny ventilators. Cabinets—lengthwise and up and down. Colorful, comfortable. And cute as a kitten.

Highlights of Franklin Reunion Easter Sunday

By JANE

Last week, our account of the Franklin reunion left Judge Oscar Franklin of Eastman, Dr. George Franklin of Boston, Mass., Paul Franklin of Statesboro, Mrs. Edmund Brannen of Statesboro, and Mrs. Minnie Warnell of Cairo on the bench, with Rebecca Franklin Morehouse, daughter of the late Herschel Franklin, leading them on with questions.

Becky was aided and abetted by others who liked the idea of audience participation. Raymond Emerson Kennedy, who lived only a whoop and a holler across the branch, told how, when returning from school at Excelsior—the Franklin boys and the Kennedy boys and sweet, too, was along—they reached Ten-Mile Creek. There had been a heavy rain and the water was swirling and soapy. A bunch of cows were huddled together and these mischievous boys had an idea. It seems these boys were always having ideas. With much yelling and shouting, with running and heading off, they drove the cows into the freshet. It was lots of fun—until they discovered that a heifer had caught her tail in a bamboo vine. And, right there before the helpless group, she was near drowning. It was a relieved bunch when they saw the heifer go down and, with a tremendous effort on her part, break loose and swim to shore.

Then came the yarn about the late Dr. Virgil Franklin of Graymont. He received his M.D. from the University of Maryland, graduating with second honors. They visited all the teachers. Finally, one anatomy teacher admitted, "I'm satisfied that he should have had top honors, but I couldn't read his paper." Dr. Virgil opened his office in the Franklin home—the same Jason Franklin home. Dr. George says he began having patients at once. How well he remembered the time when Virgil operated on a girl. He put the patient on a table and called Oscar to administer the ether. A piece of cotton saturated with ether was placed in a regular drinking glass. Oscar was so enthralled with his job that he leaned closer and thought, "What do the fellows (he didn't think renews) mean, bowing and scraping to me?" Somebody shouted, "Tell 'em, Oscar, what they did to you when they found out you were only a freshman yourself." Minnie's eyes twinkled. "He was a dude, all right."

It might interest some of you to know that George and Oscar went to the University of Georgia the four years. "Was Grandfather wealthy?" asked lovely Janice Franklin of Atlanta, daughter of the late Dr. Russell Franklin, who was a dentist at Hawkinsville. Janice was thinking in terms of a nice rebate, which came in good in the summer time.

And so it went on, and we enjoyed every minute of it. Janie Lou Gardner, whose North Carolina husband is librarian at the Supreme Court of North Carolina and a raconteur, with Uncle Remus stories as his particular forte, introduced their charming daughter, Julia Ann and Betty Jane, who made sweet music with clarinet and flute.

It was a wonderful day! H. V. Jr. said, "Uncle George, one of these triple-threat fellows, likes reunions—he was the big wheel in this reunion." H. V. then added, "This tape is running out on me."

And, to all you good Franklin folks, time is running out on me.

As an added incentive to do better project work, Georgia 4-H club members this year will receive more than $50,000 in awards from state and national business leaders.

WHEN A BOOSTER NEEDS A BOOST---

Do you ever stop to think of how many good causes and worthy institutions are championed by your newspaper? Never a week goes by that some drive or welfare project is not "plugged". The school needs a new piano; the Red Cross drive is opening; the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis needs money! There are many other fine causes too numerous to mention.

The columns of the newspaper are open to tell the story whether it be an organized drive or a family left destitute because their home burned down. This is just one more example of how your newspaper links your community together.

Farm Bureau

Charles Hamilton Explains Social Security to West Side Farm Bureau

Regularly employed agricultural workers must be employed 90 days and be paid as much as $50 during a quarter to qualify for social security, and then work as many as 60 days and be paid as much as $50 in the second (quarter) before the employer has to pay social security for them, Charles Hamilton, field director for the social security program, stated at the West Side Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday night.

This work must be done in consecutive quarters, which eliminates the sharecropper that works quite a bit by the day or month during winter and spring and then goes into his own crop later. Mr. Hamilton stated.

The household worker must work 24 days and be paid at least $50 the first quarter, and the money must be in cash, to qualify if approximately this amount of work is done in the second quarter, the employer must pay social security for the employee and must withhold the employee's part.

This social security payment is due in April. If the employee worked the last three months in 1950 and the first three months in 1951, Mr. Hamilton stated.

C. M. Cowart, county secretary and treasurer, delivered checks to A. S. Hunnicutt, first place winner in the cotton contest in the county sponsored by the Farm Bureau. A. S. Hunnicutt Jr., second place winner and Cluise Smith, third place winner, all from the West Side community. He praised the efforts of farm people in improving the standard of living in their communities, and expressed belief that this was one of the best ways to fight things like Communism. It is far cheaper to fight such activities with money and food than with lives, Mr. Cowart pointed out, whether here or in foreign countries.

Forest fire in Georgia woods are causing a loss of almost $10,000,000 a year to our state, according to Extension Service foresters.

OGEECHEE RIVER W. M. U. ASSOCIATION HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF NEW YEAR

As a prelude to the Simultaneous Revival Crusade now being conducted by the Baptist churches in Bulloch County, the W. M. U. of the Ogeechee River Association sponsored a Woman's Rally at the First Baptist Church March 16.

The theme of the rally was "Thus Saith the Lord," with Mrs. Mrs. R. T. Hathcock, the Rev. E. J. Stiles, Harry Brunson, and the Rev. Searey Garrison delivering inspirational messages. Miss Sally Serson furnished music for the meeting.

Expressions of the feeling that "someone is missing" were made following the realization that Mrs. E. A. Smith, former superintendent, was not present.

In the afternoon the executive board met for the first time in the new year, with Mrs. F. T. Proctor, new superintendent, presiding.

Mrs. P. F. Martin, southeast division president, brought to the board the changes in the W. M. U. plan of work.

Following the meeting several members were delegated to visit Mrs. E. A. Smith to present her two gifts of love, a silver pitcher as a reminder of the association's esteem for her, and a hundred dollars for a memorial to her in the memorial chapel at Camp Pinnacle.

GUM FROM ACID "BOOST"

The old "chip deep and chip often" method of producing gum is rapidly giving way to a new, more economical method of "mark chipping with acid stimulation." Chemical stimulation, according to C. Dorsey Dyer, Extension Service forester, means spraying a 50 percent solution of sulfuric acid on a freshly clipped streak. "This is a method which gives good results," Dyer said.

More than half the deaths caused by fires are in rural areas.

Statesboro Receives 52 Units Under Federal Housing Setup

Alfred Dorman, chairman of the Statesboro Housing Authority, received a telegram from Senator Walter F. George, Washington, D. C., last Friday, advising him that 52 housing units have been approved for Statesboro.

The telegram as received by Mr. Dorman reads: "Pleased to advise Public Housing Administration has approved 52 housing units. Preliminary loans must be approved by President." Signed, Walter F. George. It was dated April 6.

Mr. Dorman explains that the Federal Housing Administration will furnish money, when approved by the President, with which to make a survey to determine how many of the 52 units will be for white residents and how many for negro residents, and how many more units Statesboro will be entitled to receive.

The preliminary allocation of 52 units was based upon the Department of Commerce figures as of the 1940 census. It is believed that more units will be allocated with the completion of the survey.

The location of the units will be determined later. The Statesboro Housing Authority was set up at the regular meeting of the City Council on October 3, 1950 by resolution.

Members of the Statesboro Rotary Club Monday night, April 2, discussed the problem of Bulloch, Camden and adjoining counties. Dinner will be served on the church grounds Sunday.
