Let's Merge Our School System

"THE reviewing committee feels that no long-range program of education or building program can be intelligently planned before it is determined whether the Bulloch county school system and the Statesboro school system will merge or stay separate."

"It is the opinion of the reviewing committee that it will be advantageous to both the city and county to merge into one system."

These are the exact words of Dr. E. S. Lawler, Florida State University; Dr. W. B. Sutherland, South Carolina Department of Education; Dr. J. N. Baker, Georgia State Department of Education; Dr. Mark Smith, Superintendent, Bibb County Schools; Mr. Knapp Boddiford, Superintendent, Screven County Schools; Mr. C. W. McGuffey, Georgia State Department of Education; and Dr. J. A. Williams, University of Georgia.

The merging of the two school systems was their Number One recommendation.

Listen To Your Heart

LISTEN to your heart!

It tells you to go ahead and sign your pledge card to become a blood donor.

It tells you that there's some kid out yonder in Korea wounded and crying for some medic to please do something for him.

It tells you there's someone's mother out at Bulloch County Hospital, sinking fast—in desperate need of whole blood.

It tells you that everywhere in the nation and the world there are human beings, less fortunate than you and yours, with their lives depending upon just one pint of whole blood.

It tells you that you are hale and hearty and that it'll not hurt you to make this small sacrifice.

It tells you that your contribution is small compared to the great sacrifices being made by many that you might rise and shine with the morning sun and retire when the day is done, with the full assurance that your day will be filled with unrestrained activity.

It tells you to sign your donor's pledge today!

Oh, you don't have a card? Then visit the Bulloch County Blood Bank Program headquarters at the home of Mrs. J. D. Fletcher on North Main street and get a card. Or sign the facsimile printed in this week's Herald. It will serve just as well.

Listen to your heart!

Our Losses a Minimum GOVERNOR HERMAN TALMADGE has proclaimed Saturday, May 5, as "Georgia Forestry Day."

Every day in the year, every year, should be Georgia Forestry Day.

Our forests are one of Georgia's most important natural resources, and conservation of them is of paramount importance to the welfare of the individual and the state.

All their other recommendations are based upon that one.

We believe that the time is now for carrying out this recommendation.

We believe that for the success of any long range program there must be one school system. And we believe that it also should be effected by July 1, 1951, when the Minimum Foundation Program for Education goes into effect.

The mechanics to merge the two systems is simple.

Twenty-five percent of the registered voters of the City of Statesboro must petition the mayor and city council to call a special election. Then a majority of those voting in the special election will decide the question.

Any citizen can start the petition. There are approximately 1,200 registered voters in the city. 300 signatures on the petition would authorize the mayor and council to call the election, then a majority of those voting in the election would constitute authority to complete the merging of the two school systems.

We hope it is done.

We believe that the future of our children is tied up in this first step. If Bulloch County and Statesboro schools are to move forward it must be under one system.

downs in most, four right, one rear. Un-jacketed stove. Rooms poorly lighted, four exposed bulbs. Housekeeping is poor. Record player.

Fourth grade—five windows left, patented desk, excessive blackboard, bad, dirty plastered walls, dark ceiling, un-jacketed heater.

Gym locked, poor housekeeping. Toilets and shower rooms in poor condition. Girls' toilet in better condition than boys'. Two commodes in filthy condition. Lunch-room—door open, flies.

DENMARK SCHOOL Probably the most attractive school site in the county. Good property not in use. OGECHIEE

Six classrooms. Roof leaks. Lockers in hall. Frame lunchroom building. Canning plant. Outdoor privies. Not in use.

(Editor's Note): This completes the series on the evaluating the school plants of Bulloch county. These reports were made by the evaluating committee of the Bulloch County Survey.

Right-of-Way Rules VIOLATING the right-of-way ranks as one of the top violations in accidents.

But many accidents could have been prevented if the driver who did have the right-of-way had not been so stubborn in keeping it.

Here are specific right-of-way rules every driver should know and heed:

1. When about to enter a through street, make a complete stop and proceed only when you can do so without interfering with the through traffic.

2. When you are driving on a through street, yield to a vehicle which has been waiting to cross your street and has already entered the intersection.

Are We Making Good Use of Our Inheritance?

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

"THE MAN who prayed asked God, 'Help us to get that inheritance that is going to the past and relate it to the present and the future...'"

Then the speaker of the day pleaded for a return to the simplicity of the Christian faith. We were filled with mingled feelings as we sat in old Midway Church.

The building, itself, spoke quietly of peaceful simplicity. The quiet old pews with their small individual doors stirred our imagination of families, long before the Civil War, using them. There was a sign of hope that the children behaved better than ours were behaving at the moment!

After the morning worship service the crowd retired to the yards under the great old live oaks draped with moss and began spreading the dinner. (In times gone by horses and wagons stood where the good motor cars were now parked.)

The brides assembled hurriedly, like frosting on cakes; The brides assemble trousseaus with less time than it takes To walk slowly up the aisle and make those solemn vows.

All his earthly goods and tribute proffered to obey; And we look on and hope that they'll continue as happy as May he love and cherish her "until death do us part."

STATESBORO FOLKS are trip-happy. Doll Foy, Marian Oliff, and Isabel McDougald left last week to visit Willie Cobb in Rocky Mount, N. C., and Mrs. Foxhall at Tarboro. Then we got a card from Doll, postmarked Washington, D. C., "Spending the day with Myrtle and Prince Preston. They really showed us around."

THE DARS had charge of the afternoon program. There was the usual playing of the wreath on the Revolutionary hero's grave, after a speech and then the military salute. The men in uniform had their original lively spirit at first, but after they raised their guns and shot the awe turned to fright.

THE FORMAL part of the program over, people were free to mill about in the cemetery and view the graves of their forbears. One group of small graves told the story of a family tragedy when several brothers and sisters, during a typhoid epidemic, died within their twenties from childhood.

WE let our imagination work and included snake bite as another cause for many of the deaths along with epidemics of scarlet fever, smallpox, typhus, appendicitis (known only as colic), etc.

WE looked across at the beautiful old church (the first building was burned by the British, we are told) and back to the descendants of those early worshippers who had gathered from far and wide. They were good, substantial, prosperous-looking people, all of them; and we could not help wondering if they were realizing, unknown to themselves, perhaps, some of the promises God made to those early settlers of Georgia, who had kept faith with God.

WE drove home with good friends, and talked of the experiences of the day. The children had had a glorious time and gave little resistance at bedtime.

WE sat in our comfortable chair by the light of an electric light. We had finished washing the supper dishes. The hot water we had used ran in the sink when we turned the faucet on, the soap poured out of a box we bought in town last week. We sat and thought.

There was the hospital we could rush the children to if they got sick, and there were all the modern drugs. I could not take time to remember all the things that come to us so painlessly. We thought of those early settlers of Georgia and what they suffered

Paris in spring! Ah! and a co-la-la! We got a whiff of it last week on a post card from that great city which inspires young men to toss their heads, click their heels together, roll their eyes, snap their fingers and go into an Adabel shuffle.

Ruth Rebecca Franklin Moorehouse and her husband are visiting England and France and Ruth Rebecca found enough time off to tell us the chestnuts in bloom and "Paris is very gay," said she. Becky writes that she likes London better than Paris—and we can just hear H. V. Jr. (her brother, president of Register Farm, Du-seau)—"Ah, shucks, she don't know what she's talking about!"

Their trip was marred by the death Monday of Ward's mother in Savannah.

JUST FOR THE RECORD—This week is "National Honor Demonstration Week." The Bulloch county Home Demonstration Clubs are observing it with appropriate activities.

It is also "Rural Mail Box Improvement Week." Rural residents of Bulloch are asked to check their mail boxes for appearance, in addition to checking it for the day's DAR Congress as delegate from the Adam Brinson chapter. Traveling through the country with Mr. and Mrs. Varn of Savannah, she spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday visiting historic places in Virginia.

THE PRINCE PRESTON invited them to a tea held at the Congressional Club where Madam Bonnet, of the French Embassy, lectured on styles and colors.

FO had the edge on some of us. She was in Washington when General Ike Eisenhower received a hero's welcome with a parade down the avenue. She was there on V-J Day. So the parades, pomp and splendor are not new to Flo.

WHILE WRITING this, a cousin of mine, Mrs. Hollis Sullivan (formerly Bernice Burke), now living in San Leandro, Calif., dropped by to see me. She and her husband are visiting her mother, Mrs. Stan Lee and Wendell and Edna Burke and the San Franciscos.

HEY! Wait a minute. Just heard that Brownie—that is, LL W. P. Brown Statesboro, stationed at Seward Air Field, near Nashville, was selected as one of the honor guard as General MacArthur visited Nashville enroute to Murfreesboro, Tenn, the home town of Jean MacArthur.

NOW I am running around in circles at 125 N. Main street, waiting for my son, my daughter-in-law and grandbaby. Yes, Corporal Ernest E. Brannen will arrive by plane (I hope) from Alexandria, La., and I'll be stay-at-home-happy.

ANOTHER Washington visitor during this Great Week was Flo Pretorius, in attendance at the pellet air rifle, better known to our younger generation as a BB gun. O. U. had sent an order blank for a BB gun to be mailed to the address given, so his son would get it for his birthday.

Through an error in the shipping department the order was misinterpreted and the air rifle was shipped to this Marine in Korea, whose position was close up to the front lines.

"Although he always had a gay sense of humor, he was highly displeased with the whole thing, leaving the men in his unit the pleasure of a good laugh over what had happened. This rough and rugged Marine became more and more aggravated as he gazed upon this BB gun.

"This concludes the story about Sergeant Cowart and his BB gun, of which he might read in the hometown newspaper due to its rotation to the United States. Sincerely yours,"

Recommendations Are Made for Negro Schools

ADDITIONAL NOTE: A survey has been completed on the Negro schools of Bulloch county. The results and findings of the committee are published in The Herald.

The school should be five acres plus one acre for each 100 pupils. The plants should provide adequate classroom space to carry on the desired instructional program. Other space areas should include office, clinic, lunchroom, library, storage, auditorium and playroom facilities.

It is felt that the present structure at William James High School should be renovated and provided with adequate lighting, heating, toilet, and lunchroom facilities. Adequate storage should be provided and the interior should be redecorated.

The New Sandridge structure should be designed to house approximately 300 elementary pupils. This would require approximately 265 classrooms, plus the additional classroom space areas heretofore stated.

New Hope center should be planned to house approximately 265 elementary students. This would require approximately nine classrooms, plus the additional classroom space areas heretofore stated.

The estimated enrollment at Brooklet center is around 308. Approximately 10 classrooms plus the other needed space areas should be provided at this site.

Willow Hill enrollment is estimated at approximately 650. To house this number around 22 classrooms should be provided.

By LEHMAN FRANKLIN

About this time every year the nation's flock of sons and daughters come to with a start and recognize Mother. In a quick 24 hours we try to make up to her with flowers, candy and kind words for 364 days of neglect, partial neglect, or being taken for granted.

(In Leap Years you can add an extra day.) With Mother's Day, 1951, at hand, we just want to remind our devoted readers not to forget that Mothers are pretty important people, and most of them don't expect too much, they still like to get a pat on the back, a card or a small gift. And they certainly deserve it.

HAVE YOU SIGNED your Blood Donor Pledge yet? Do this today. This is one of our most worthwhile community projects. It deserves the cooperation of every person who is physically able to contribute a pint of his blood. Sign your pledge card today! Our fighting forces in Korea, the states which have returned to the U. S., need your blood. What they have given is certainly worth as much as a pint of your blood.

T.C. Seniors Now Practice Teaching

Seven Bulloch County Seniors are practicing teaching in the college laboratory schools during the spring quarter as a requirement for graduation at Georgia Teachers College.

They are Harold E. Kennedy, majoring in Industrial Education, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kennedy of Statesboro; Fred M. Kennedy, Jr., of Statesboro, majoring in Industrial Education; Miss Ninette Sturgis, majoring in social sciences, daughter of Mrs. Nina D. Sturgis of Statesboro; Bobby Taylor, majoring in exact sciences, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Taylor of Statesboro; Miss Jane Robertson, majoring in Business Education, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Robertson of Brooklet; Miss Jimmie Lou Williams, majoring in Business Education, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Williams of Brooklet; and Samuel Jenkins, majoring in Business Education, the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Jenkins of Route 2, Statesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith Jr., president of the Westside Associated Woodmen, assisted Mrs. Sam L. Brannen, Mrs. L. P. Joyner, and Mrs. J. R. Lester to serve as a committee plan for the naming of a queen for their community.

Dr. Fiddling D. Russell, head of the English department of Georgia Teachers College, was the speaker at the Statesboro Farm Bureau meeting on Wednesday night.

Dr. Russell quoted from a writer of long ago relative to world conditions when it appeared that man's life might be destroyed, along with all animal life on the face of the world, or the civilized world might revert back to barbarism, so that one or two nations would dominate the rest of the world.

He traced the comparison of that statement of more than 400 years ago with statements now being made and the methods by which the people are brought into better condition than when they entered it.

Dr. D. L. Deal discussed the school survey report and asked for an expression be procured from the people in the community as the best course to follow in meeting suggestions made in the report. The group recommended that a mass meeting be held and the entire report thoroughly discussed as it pertains to Stilson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones visited Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Zetterover Sr. last week. Miss Billie Jean Jones, University of Georgia student, spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Zetterover and Mrs. William H. Zetterover visited Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Zetterover Sr. last Sunday.

Miss Myrtle Anderson is visiting relatives in Savannah. Misses Mary Elerbe and Hazel McDonald were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Betty Joyce Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lamb visited Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lamb in Gainesville, Fla., last week. While there they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lamb to other points of interest, including Orlando, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Rainbow Springs, the Singing Tower, and Lake Wales.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell DeLoach had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simmons and Patsy O'Connell. Mrs. E. W. DeLoach and family, Mrs. Glennis Greath, and Sgt. and Mrs. Don DeLoach of Ft. Meade, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ansley and children spent last Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Snipes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ansley entertained at their home last Thursday night with a Rex-Air demonstration. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cressy and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sikes and son of Brooklet visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ansley last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Zetterover and Frank and Mrs. W. L. Zetterover and Linda enjoyed a turkey dinner last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cromley at the home of the latter.

NEVILS NEWS

The Nevils Home Demonstration Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Dan R. Groover, with Mrs. Floyd Hulsey as co-hostess. Mrs. Hulsey had charge of the devotional, after which Miss Leila White, president, presided.

After the reading of the minutes and treasurer's report, the meeting was turned over to Miss Irma Spears. Beverly Brannen, 4-H Club member, gave a demonstration on cotton. Mrs. W. W. Edge also gave an interesting talk on first-aid.

Miss Leila White won first place in the style revue. Judges were Mrs. H. H. Godbee, Mrs. Otis Groover and Mrs. Daniel Anderson.

STORK SHOWER HONORS MRS. JACK BRANNEN Immediately following a recent meeting of the Nevils Home Demonstration Club, Mrs. Floyd Hulsey and Mrs. Dan R. Groover decorated Mrs. Jack Brannen with a surprise stork shower party in honor of Mrs. Jack Brannen.

Mrs. Hulsey directed interesting games in which prizes were given to Mrs. W. W. Edge and Miss Irma Spears. After the games there was a treasure hunt in which the honoree, Mrs. Brannen, was asked to be the leader. While they were on the hunt gifts were placed in the living room. Mrs. Brannen was completely surprised, for only when the treasure was found did she realize that she was being honored. She received many lovely gifts.

The hostesses served a dainty party consisting of congealed fruit salad, crackers, party sandwiches, individual cakes with blue and pink decorations, and a drink. Handmade miniature blue baby shoes filled with salt nuts were given as favors.

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS Thousands of Georgia farmers who produce high yields and make good profits almost every year report that they are using information provided by agricultural experiment stations in this state and presented to them by county agents and other Extension Service workers.

TOMATOES IN THE GARDEN The tomato probably holds the No. 1 spot on the long list of vegetables grown in Georgia when considered from the standpoint of its many uses and its importance in a healthy diet, in the opinion of Elmo Ragsdale, Extension Service gardening specialist.
