Zacchini Featured In Circus Thriller

A terrific boom—a flash—and the Great Zacchini is shot bodily from the mouth of a giant cannon, hurtling through space at the rate of over 300 miles an hour. One of the most daring feats ever conceived in the land of sawdust and spangles. Fired bodily from the mouth of the giant cannon, Zacchini lands hundreds of feet away in a specially built net. The feat has been one of the leading attractions of the day. As a special feature show, "The Parade of the Elephants," not a circus parade—will be presented downtown at 11 o'clock as a reminder of circus day and the scores of thrills in store for youngsters of all ages. Members of the Lions Club will ride the elephants in the parade.

Give The Pedestrians A Chance

ONE HUNDRED AND SIX pedestrians have been killed in traffic accidents in Georgia from January through October 21 of this year.

And anyone of those 106 might have been you, you, or you!

Records show that pedestrian deaths make up the largest single total of traffic deaths over the entire nation. Two-vehicle collisions make up the next greater number.

With these facts before us, we might become as children and "play games" to learn lessons. We could call the game "Drivers and Pedestrians." The players will have to get into the game—and, as in all games, it will take the best efforts to come out a winner. "Rules of the Game" would have to be drawn up and "Game" would have to be drawn up to set forth practices which permit reasonable, efficient and safe movement of both pedestrian and vehicles. For example—

1. Drivers must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians at intersections or in marked crosswalks (except where traffic is under the direction of a police officer, or an automatic traffic signal. Then both pedestrians and drivers must obey the signal or the officer's directions).

2. Pedestrians in turn must yield the right-of-way to drivers in mid-block. (If this rule can be "sold" to the people, if many more can be induced to cross at corners, and for occasional crossings in mid-block, if they will always look carefully to be sure that the way is clear, the nation's death toll will be greatly reduced.)

3. Drivers making a turn on a green light must yield the right-of-way, before completing their turns, to pedestrians who are also proceeding on that green light. (Statesboro drivers pay little heed to this.)

4. Drivers crossing a sidewalk must yield to pedestrians.

Statesboro drivers would win the good will of all pedestrians by exercising discretion, by observing common courtesy, if they would take time out in their all-fired hurry to do so.

Join in our game of "Drivers and Pedestrians" and observe the rules. You'll be a winner, whether you're a driver or a pedestrian.

They're Winners, Too

WE LIKE the spirit in which the citizens of Sylvania accepted the results of the judging in the Georgia Power Company's Champion Hometown Contest.

Sylvania made tremendous strides in her progress march last year and this year. Those concerned worked hard at their entry presentation in the contest—and received a letter of congratulations from the vice president of the sponsoring company.

Norman Chalker, editor of The Sylvania Telephone, speaking for his community, said:

"Although no one was more disappointed than we were when Sylvania was not awarded a prize in the Georgia Power Company contest, we feel that Sylvania has something much more valuable than any prize could be.

"In addition to inspiring the people of this community to make improvements, the contest helped develop a spirit of working together. The job could not have been done if a lot of people had not been willing to work at it.

"A letter from Charles A. Collier, vice president of the Power Company, in which he congratulated Sylvania on the accomplishments made during the last year, said, in part:

"This contest is merely a symbol of concerted activities—the efforts of your people, your clubs, your civic groups, toward community improvement must have resulted in making your town a better place in which to live and work."

"Even though Sylvania did not win a prize, this community has progressed, and progress itself is a tremendous reward for any effort."

One Dollar Per Sheet

LAST WEEK you received your batch of Christmas Seals from the Bulloch County Tuberculosis Committee, sponsored by the Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club.

Don't just toss these stamps around. Send in your dollar and use the stamps on your Christmas mail and Christmas packages.

Every year your purchases of these Seals provide funds to assist in the job of fighting tuberculosis in our community, our state, our nation.

It is satisfying to know that out of the dollar you send in for stamps, 74 cents remains here in Bulloch county.

Mrs. Janie W. Etheridge is chairman of the seal committee. Miss Zula Gammage is president of the sponsoring organization.

Take Stock, Stand By

RIGHT NOW Bulloch county's committee to promote the salvage and marketing of scrap iron and steel and other metals is in a sort of suspended state.

The National Production Authority of the United Department of Commerce is calling upon industrial leaders, farmers, and automobile wrecking yard dealers to get every available piece of scrap iron and steel in Bulloch county into "circulation."

Some steel mills and foundries in the nation are facing a complete shutdown because of a desperate need for heavy industrial scrap iron and steel.

Broken and beat-up abandoned tractors, discarded discs and rigs, worn-out machinery—all the stuff about your place which you think of as "scrap" is badly needed to keep our steel mills and foundries rolling.

There'll be no door-to-door campaign such as during World War II. Concentration is being made on farmers, plant owners, and automobile wrecking yards. It is known that there is enough scrap iron and steel lying dormant on farms, in plants and in auto wrecking yards to ease the situation.

A scrap metal committee is expected to be named through which proper collection and marketing will be made. Until then, take stock about your place, and be ready with what you have when the committee begins working.

That Spells Rotary

PERICLES died in 429 B.C., which means that he lived quite a while ago. He is remembered, however, because he was the foremost statesman in old Athens at the period of her greatest material and intellectual development. He won his way to the hearts of his countrymen by his consideration of his fellowmen. Plutarch relates that:

Such was his conduct, when a vile and abandoned fellow loaded him a whole day with reproaches and abuse. He bore it with patience and silence, and continued in public for the dispatch of urgent affairs. In the evening he walked slowly home, this impudent wretch following and insulting him all the way with the most scurrilous language. And as it was dark, he ordered one of his servants to take a torch and light the man home. — The Rotarian.

Among Statesboro visitors was Grace Aldred Jarrell of Atlanta. Grace looked wonderful and she appeared to be as young as she was many of her friends as she watched the circus parade. Grace had dinner at "Aunt Cora's" (Mrs. Bob Lanier's) and we know she never lacked for everything you could wish for on a Thanksgiving menu.

CAROL JEAN CLARK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark, was coming to Belle Land recently. Teasingly, she said to Belle: "I bet you don't know when my birthday is. Bet you don't know my Daddy's birthday, huh? You don't know my Mamma's, do you?" Belle didn't count. She countered by asking Carol Jean: "You don't know Buck's birthday, huh? You don't know my birthday Monday?" Carol Jean was instantly interested. "I am coming to the party," Belle said there wouldn't be any party. But Carol Jean came up with another announcement. "Yes, but me and my Mamma's coming to the cake."

LITTLE CILFORD DOUGLAS COLLINS, III, born on Thanksgiving Day at the Bulloch County Hospital, is Grandmother Collins' only grandson. The baby's father was also born on Thanksgiving Day. Lt. C. D. Collins Jr. is in Korea, a jet plane pilot, actively engaged in combat. The news reached him early for on Friday afternoon late a bouquet of red roses were brought to Ida's room. There exists a real need for these donations if every child is to know that there is a Santa Claus. Everyone can give something to the Empty Stocking Fund—old clothing, toys, cash, or canned foods. Make your own Christmas happier by bringing happiness to some child.

As ever, JANE.

Thanksgiving was wonderful! All day long. Blue skies and sunshine—worship and song. Later on came the band and the circus parade. With plenty of clowns and pink lemonade.

The church worker was busy, but not too busy to tell the conference delegates when to go, the driver for the social group who to go, and the onery deacon where to go.

By Any Name...

THOSE FANCY red or blue silk short coats with the satin lapels and the wide sash that tied around the waist used to be "lounge robes," then they became "smoking jackets." Now, according to an advertisement in Sunday's Atlanta newspapers, they have become "TV jackets."

By any name they are still the same. "I-just-don't-know-but-gotta-get-something" Christmas gift, in which a man is never quite at ease.

Fresh Air

Editor's Uneasy Chair

OUR PRINTER FRIEND, Jack Gross, was in our office Thanksgiving Eve singing the turkey blues. He had just paid $12.48 for a 20-pound turkey. Twenty-one years ago he swapped a milk cow for a 1,800-pound Black Angus bull and sold the bull for $11. "Times do change," allowed Jack.

A penny-for-your-thoughts-on-a-postcard days are about over. On January 1, 1952, the penny postcard will go with the wind. Beginning with the New Year, you'll be paying two cents to say, "Aunt Emma arrives on the bus Saturday at dinner time. Please meet her" on a postcard.

There are some other changes, too. But the three-cent charge per ounce for first-class mail and six cents per ounce for air mail will not change. Third-class mail, largely circulars and advertising blines, has had just paid $12.48 for a 20-pound turkey. Twenty-one years ago he swapped a milk cow for a 1,800-pound Black Angus bull and sold the bull for $11. "Times do change," allowed Jack.

ALL'S FAIR . . . . . By Jane

Whether they play for victory or play for fun, We say to the Blue Devils—"Well done!" Does anyone know how tired they got? They may have played better, maybe not. Whatever the reason, whatever the score, they gave us good sports and will give us more. Now, I have no brief for the man who lost money. His slant of the game is to me unfunny. I like the glory of muscle and brawn, The skill of an athlete is not for pawn, Who plays for the love of it with competition keen, And abhors any pressure that would make sports unclean. The man in the crowd who enjoys the game, Is also a sport—maybe unhappy—but he doesn't blame The boys or the coach for Fortune's trick That fumbles the ball or fails to kick. So here's to the Blue Devils who played up to the last— May they in the future play as well as in the past.

Trivia and Tripe . . . . . By G. M. B.

The name of a Russian newspaper is "Pravda," meaning truth. Don't let that fool you—the paper is so full of lie (ye) that you can dump a cup of grease on one page and make a cake of soap.

An old cornfield crony of mine has sent me a clipping headed: "Corn Cobs Exempt From Ceiling Price." I hope the OPS was wise enough to know that the publication of this news in certain areas would be a useless waste of stick paper.

This community get-together is a thing of beauty. It adds a spirit of unity of purpose and understanding which is priceless. If it any wonder that my old friend thinks of this program as the best of his life? And of course, there are those who argue theirs is the best. That's all it should be. And we'd like to help about it. That's sharing with your neighbors, you know.

INDUSTRY TO OFFER PART-TIME WORK High industrial activity will continue to offer opportunity for farm people working part-time in industry. In 1951 one of every 10 farm women worked off the farm for pay, Extension Service records show.

Community Talk Fests Are Great For Our People

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL. SOMETIME AGO I was hailed by an old friend. He told me that he had known before that I lived in the best state in the union and that I was in the state, and now, he added, he was glad to hear that I was teaching in the best community in the country.

My friend's belief in his community gave me something to think about. A ted while I thought I not only kept an open mind concerning his feelings; I kept my eyes open some of the things I've seen. I'll share with you. There is a vital difference in teaching children who feel secure and those who don't feel secure. Somehow it seems that the children who live in the same place all the time possess a poise that is lacking in many children who are pulled about from place to place.

The Wednesday before Thanksgiving Day, the Westside School invited the parents to visit the school and stay for lunch, if possible. The parents responded by being present in the school in order that they might visit the school. And this occasion didn't just happen this year. It has been a sort of tradition for years.

This visit enables the teachers to talk with the parents and the parents to talk with the teachers of their children. The valuable results is that better understanding develops between the school and the home.

When a teacher is able to talk to and know parents better, she can be the better understanding her pupils. There are so many things that can be learned from a child after the teacher talks with his parents. And it works the other way around, too. The parents understand the teacher better, too, once they've visited together.

Besides the teacher-child-parent relation which is advanced by such a meeting, other benefits of great value emerge. Real living, as we know, is serving our fellowmen. And how can we serve if we don't know our neighbor's needs.

It takes just such an occasion for the men to talk over their work and bring it up to date. Once the work is taken care of, isn't it only fair for a man to share with his neighbors his latest and best jokes, his best fish story, and the news of his best hunting trip. And other hunting and fishing dates can be arranged.

The mothers have so much to talk about, all the way from paternity suits to the latest fashions. There were Lions Carr and Banks, Lockwood and Deal, who couldn't compare with a trained circus seal.

Really we wondered where all the people came from. Both afternoon and evening performances—the Big Top was packed. FGY OLLIEP from somewhere on a lake where some McKoy boys were on maneuvers, wrote his mother, Mrs. Bruce Olliff: "I don't know anything about cold weather. It's 12 degrees below zero here. I slept under black blankets."

THE YLL SEILL COOKIES—"sing a song of sixpence, Hopes and a sprits high, Four and twenty cookies, The box for you to buy." Yes, it's cookie time for the Girl Scouts. When the Sales Scouts knock on your door, show your gratitude for the wholesome, well-rounded program for Girl Scouts in America.

U. S. Must Build Civil Defense

RURAL AMERICA HAS IMPORTANT PART IN PROTECTING HOME FRONT

By WILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

Even if forewarned of war, our armed forces cannot prevent attack, for there is no sure way of keeping enemy planes from getting through our defenses. The enemy's first objective would be to upset the war efforts of the civilian population, as well as to destroy property and to kill and injure people. His aim would be to make you quit, leave your jobs, desert your homes and start panic among you. Panic can take a tremendous toll of lives. It also can bring production to a stand-still.

It is the task of the civil defense program to organize and train millions of Americans so that each one will be prepared to render the best protective service at the moment it is needed.

Your aim should be to accept that training so that you will know how to rescue the trapped and injured, know how to work with volunteer fire-fighting units, know how to prevent panic and know how to perform any of the specific duties of civil defense, particularly those you have indicated, in your training, that you are best qualified to do.

There are ways to save thousands of people from the effects of blast, radioactivity of heat from the atomic bomb. There are ways to take shelter, to rescue the trapped and injured, and ways to cut fire losses to a minimum. Organized civil defense can do those things.

The atomic bomb is too expensive to use purposefully on a farm community. However, this relative freedom from attack only adds to the responsibility of the people who live in such areas. Civilians away from the target area will be better able, mentally and physically, to cope with situations of disaster.

Farm People Equipped With cars, trucks and tractors available, farm people are well equipped to aid any stricken area within their reach. Mobile support, rescue and evacuation work are phases of civil defense that rural folk are especially qualified to do. To do any of them without confusion and delay, you must be organized and trained.

Defense Takes Planning Civil defense takes planning, organization, and a lot of hard work. There are jobs for you. Find out where you can serve your family, your community and yourself the best. Then volunteer for the work you are best suited to do.

Civil defense cannot protect every life and every home, but it will save thousands of lives—may be your life or the life of someone dear to you.

The next article will discuss what would happen if an A-bomb fell on your city without civil defense.

Arab Student At Teachers College Sponsored By Rotary

Louis Zeitoun, 27-year-old Arab from Israel, was the guest speaker at the Statesboro Rotary Club at its regular meeting on Monday of this week. He was presented to the club by Paul Carroll, dean of Georgia Teachers College.

Zeitoun is now a student at Georgia Teachers College under the sponsorship of the Atlanta Rotary Education Foundation and the Statesboro Rotary Club. He arrived here recently after leaving Haifa, Israel, on October 26.

The Arab student was born in the holy city of Nazareth, of Nazareth parents of original Christian stock. He received his elementary education in Nazareth, studying Arabic, English and French. He received his secondary and high school education in Jerusalem. Before leaving to come to the United States he was teaching in a private school in Nazareth.

In expressing his appreciation of their sponsorship Zeitoun told Rotarians: "We in the East look at America as an ideal democratic country, and every one of us longs to be here, to catch a glimpse of the way the people are living and to feel and experience real democracy with the purpose of introducing the best he could to his country, and I consider myself to be very fortunate to visit this blessed land which, without the benevolent assistance of the Rotary Club, I could not have come at all."

He explained that the government is trying to expand the educational system to include all villages and cities. He said, "The Hebrew University in Jerusalem is now attracting scholars from all over the world and is doing a great service, especially in the field of Jewish culture."

In describing his hometown, Nazareth, he stated that it was never mentioned in the Old Testament and the first time it is mentioned in the New Testament is in St. Luke, chapter 1:26-28. He quoted the scripture: "In the sixth month the Angel Gabriel was sent from God into a city of Galilee named Nazareth..." He said that one can still see the biblical boundaries of the town.

"It contains about 30 churches,"
