A Chain of Islands What is popularly known as Malta consists actually of a chain of islands of which the two largest are Malta itself, covering 91 miles, and Gozo covering 20 square miles. For archeologists and historians, these islands are a paradise. There are dark temples to be explored, and in one temple visitors can make use of a hole in the wall, which in bygone days served as a megaphone, through which the priest thundered forth the spurious message of the god. Rock temples contain massive altars which by their shape suggest that they were used for human sacrifice.

Bulloch County Votes For Marketing Quotas

Cotton And Tobacco Growers Vote For By Big Majority

PRODUCERS ROLL UP A LARGE MAJORITY IN FAVOR OF THE COTTON QUOTAS; VOTES FROM OTHER STATES CARRY TOBACCO TOTALS PAST TWO-THIRDS MARK

Bulloch cotton and tobacco farmers overwhelmingly approved marketing quotas for cotton and flue-cured tobacco in the March 12 referendum, thereby paving the way for full application of the broad agricultural program recently enacted by congress.

A two-thirds majority vote of all cotton and flue-cured tobacco farmers on the vote was necessary, under the law, to make marketing quotas effective.

Bulloch cotton farmers joined other Southern cotton producers in rolling up a large majority in favor of cotton marketing quotas. The Georgia vote on flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas. The Georgia vote on flue-cured tobacco quotas fell slightly short of a two-third majority but as the vote was on a belt-wide basis marketing quotas for flue-cured tobacco will be ineffect in Georgia just as they will be in those states that gave the tobacco quotas a heavy majority.

Here's how Bulloch farmers voted with all districts complete:

There were 1921 voting for marketing quotas on cotton and 184 against. There were 785 voting for marketing quotas on tobacco and 193 against.

By districts the votes are: District—Cotton for against Tobacco 44—125 66 108 17 45— 91 5 5 0 46— 95 0 5 0 47—142 13 112 18 48—192 21 41 41 5 1340—67 22 63 24 1209—437 31 89 12 1523—175 35 89 57 1547—19 19 40 179 1575—145 6 18,0 1716—264 12 64 8 1803—109 11 91 17

The 46th district led the county in majority with none of the farmers voting, casting an opposing vote.

The total vote, in the state with all counties complete, except one was: Cotton quotas, For: 119,133; Against 22,088. Tobacco quotas: For 14,133 Against, 9,430.

F.W. Darby Lumber Company Qualifies To Take FHA Applications

FOR LOANS TO BUILD NEW HOMES AT LOW RATE OF INTEREST OVER LONG PERIOD OF TIME

It was announced here this week that the F. W. Darby Lumber Company has qualified to accept applications for home loans under the 1938 Federal Housing Plan.

Under the new plan, according to Mr. H. L. Kennon, business manager of the F. W. Darby Lumber Company they will make loans on new construction up to 90 per cent of the value of the property on applications which are approved by the FHA. Mr. Kennon stated that 80 per cent of the property value will be loaned on remodeling and repairing work.

Applications and information concerning these loans may be obtained from the F. W. Darby Lumber Company. Mr. Kennon states that the plan makes it easier for families to own their own home with payments amounting to less than rent. Loans may be obtained on a plan given the local bank since its organization last fall. The band competed at the College recently at the Musical Festival giving a very credible performance. The proceeds of the frolic will go for equipment for the band and every one is urged to attend.

Bulloch County Boy Receives Naval Academy Appointment

Andrew Rucker Given Appointment by Senator Richard Russell, Jr., to Take Physical Exam in Spring

Andrew J. Rucker, 19, has received an appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Mr. Rucker will report some time later in the spring for physical examination.

A. J., as young Rucker is known around Bulloch county, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rucker.

In 1936 A. J. finished high school at Statesboro with honors, being the only boy in his class that achieved that award. For the past two years he has been a student at South Georgia Teachers College. His scholastic record in college and in high school was excellent enough to get the appointment without an examination, which is an exceptional recommendation.

When this young fellow was not in school he could always be found on his father's farm milking, plowing and feeding hogs. He is very seldom seen on the streets, even though he lived within only a mile or so of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Rucker have lived in Bulloch about 35 years, coming here from Banks county.

Fat Stock Show Here March 21

Monday night about fifteen men of Statesboro, interested in golf, met at the office of the Bulloch Herald and discussed plans for the building of a golf course. A site has been selected for consideration. A committee was named to secure a golf course architect to go over the site and estimate the cost and upkeep.

The meeting, in charge of Kermit S. Carr, instructed Mr. Fred W. Hodges, the owner of the site under consideration, to submit a price for the property. Monday night, March 21, was set as the next meeting time for further consideration of the project.

The site selected for consideration consists of about 80 acres of land on the Dover road just this side of the airport. All those who have seen the property are enthusiastic over the prospects of building the course.

At its regular meeting Monday, the Statesboro Rotary Club heard County Agent Byron Dyer speak on Bulloch county. Mr. Dyer gave facts and figures concerning the income of the county from its various crops. Mr. Dyer cited the value per acre of the farm lands in each of the militia districts in the county. He also gave the number of farms in the county, breaking down the figures into farm owners, part owners, sharecroppers, and others.

NO ANSWER
On February 2 we asked the editorial question why the case involving the operation of Bank Night at one of our local theaters was not prosecuted.

So far there has not been any explanation made or offered. There are a number of persons who are vitally interested in this case. But it seems that to secure an explanation pressure must be brought to bear from some source.

The Grand Jury meets Monday, March 21. It occurs to us that the members of this body on whom the people of Bulloch county depend for the proper dispensation of justice, are interested in clearing it up for the satisfaction of the people who come to this bar for justice. If they find that there was reason enough for the case to have been not pressed then they will clear, in the minds of the people in Statesboro, any suspicion of irregularity in handling of the case. If, on the other hand, they find that there is no explanation, then their duty seems clear.

We do not know if the theatre operator who was under indictment feels that the case was handled efficiently and impartially or not but we can understand why he would like for the whole thing to be forgotten. His business depends on the whims of the public, yet in this case we see an opportunity for him to do the citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch county a great service. It seems to us that, he would much prefer light being thrown on this case at his own instigation rather than letting a third party ask for light or for the grand jury itself to demand light.

With the establishment of the Bulloch Herald we pledged it to the promotion of the welfare of this community. Our masthead carries the line "Dedicated to the Progress of Statesboro and Bulloch County," and we are taking our job seriously. We are young and like youngsters may be asking questions out of order. But you can't ignore this question and overlook it because of our youth, for the questions still would be in the minds of every right-thinking person had we never become a newspaper.

OFFICE AS A DUTY
This is a political year. Much concern will be manifested in some quarters as to who will be elected what. In some quarters the interest will reach a low with the mere question of "Who won?"

The Monroe Advertiser in commenting on office as a duty says: "Since this is going to be somewhat of a political year, it is well to consider that the welfare of citizens is loosely divided into what is generally called private and public interests. The success of a man's business and the happiness of his family are issues which usually lie nearer to his heart than all others since they touch his life more directly. These are our private interests and to them we devote the bulk of our attention and effort. We can never separate ourselves, however, from what we regard as our public welfare. There are issues of town, county, state and nation which are more or less related to our private prosperity and happiness. The fact is that both private and public affairs must be looked after by somebody and no country can be what it ought to be unless both these phases of activity receive constant and capable attention. There is thus a call to every capable man to do his part by serving as a public official at times if the necessity arises and he can thereby advance the welfare of the people. It is a species of selfishness which keeps many able men tied to their private interests and indifferent to the calls for public service.

There is a belief in many quarters that crookedness and politics are companions and that a worthy man cannot succeed as an official. In so far as there is any foundation for this belief it is the fault of worthy men who shirk office because they are unwilling to incur the worry and loss which public service would entail. This opens the gates to the man who aspires to office because he has nothing else to do and men are thus selected through the force of circumstances rather than on account of their fitness. A failure to recognize the duty of holding public office has doubtless given opportunity for the development of the professional politician, who is often a curse to the country because he knows and care more about being elected than he does about the duties of the office and the welfare of the public. There has thus been created a condition which should lay upon the conscience of every worthy citizen, no matter how busy with other affairs, the debt which he owes to the people in the matter of public office.

"EULOGY OF THE DOCTOR"

By Robert Louis Stevenson
There are men and classes of men that stand above the common herd: the soldier, the sailor and the shepherd not infrequently; the artist, rarer still the clergyman; the physician almost as a rule. He is the flower of our civilization, and when that stage of men is done with, and only remembered to be marveled at in history he will be thought to have as little as any in the defects of the period and most notably exhibited the virtues of the race. Generosity he has such as is possible to those who practice an art, never to those who drive a trade; discretion, tested by a hundred secrets; tact tried in a thousand embarrassments; and what are more important Herculean cheerfulness and courage. So it is that he brings air and cheer into the sick room and often enough, though not so often as he wishes, brings healing.

WHAT OF BURTON'S FERRY?

In the past ten or fifteen years there has been enough correspondence between interested parties, regarding the Burton's Ferry Route, that if it were compiled and edited it would constitute a fairly accurate picture of this section's progress. The Burton Ferry Route has always been something of a will-o'-the-whisp—now we have it—now we do not have it. We talk about it, write about it, but does anyone know about it?
We feel like we will eventually get it through Statesboro, we have been assured that we will and it is quite possible that, with time, we will get it just as a matter of course. But this might be in five years maybe ten years. Why can't we get it sooner?

Changes in the recently-amended national housing act, including restoration of the property improvement credit plan, are intended to help farmers to repair, rebuild, or modern their homes, barns, and other service buildings. The Federal Housing Administration says new dwellings, garages, barns, silos, and hog poultry, and milk houses and similar structures may also be built with loans insured by the FHA. "How to Modernize Your Farm," a booklet describing the national housing act as it applies to farmers, is now available, and free copies may be had by writing to the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C.

Some 75,000 tree seedlings are available without cost to Georgia's 4-H club boys and girls this year. Mr. and Mrs. G.E. Bean Celebrate Silver Wedding

Beauty and simplicity marked the reception at the Woman's Club on Sunday evening March 13, given by Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bean in observance of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The club room was never more lovely than on this occasion. The color motif of green and white was effectively adapted to the decorations and refreshments. Vases and bowls of white gladioli with graceful fronds of spirea were used with artistic effect. The receiving line had for a background, on each side, tall silvered cathedral standard bearing gleaming white tapers. Dogwood blossoms massed to form a pyramid were used in the center. The rugged granite fire place was lavishly adorned with narcissi, baby breath and trailing ivy. The gifts were displayed on long tables placed against the wall. At the end of the room opposite the receiving line was placed the lovely tea table overlaid with an Italian lace cover and centered with a silver basket filled with white snap dragons and spirea flanked by silver candle holders with slim white tapers. Silver comports placed at intervals held the dinner party for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oram. Mrs. Robert Donaldson and Miss Dorothy Brannen entertained on Monday evening with a dinner party complementing their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oram, of Ridgewood, N. J. NEVILS NEWS

SUPT. WOMACK AND SUPT. LITTLE VISIT NEVILS SCHOOL

On last Thursday, Supt. H. P. Womack and Supt. M. R. Little visited our school. These two gentlemen made some very favorable remarks about our school plant. In a recent letter written by Mr. Little to Supt. H. H. Britt he stated that the Nevils school plant had progressed at a rapid rate and was still improving. He suggested every effort possible be put forward in having a building constructed to take care of vocational activities such as cooking. These cooperative people appreciate these facts very much and are willing to do their part when it comes to supporting their school.

HIGH SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

The high school department is now doing a splendid piece of work in writing poetry. Rubye Burned is now leading her class in this type of work.

The two following poems were written by Miss Burned for which she deserves much credit:

NEVILS HOPES

By Rubye Burned

We hope to get Nevils on the accredited list, And we are practically sure, that we are going to do this.

For Mr. Saxton has recommended our school, And that of course will be our main tool,

In gaining the success that Nevils should and will attain, By working our way on this list first thing.

Supt. Womack has agreed to help us also And we appreciate all help, as we hope somehow to show,

But we're sure in the end that we will win, With the help of these two, kind gentlemen,

We're hoping to build a shop and canteen plant combined; And thus far, we have got along fine.

The cooperation of the community has been grand, In helping our school to its permanent stand.

So we thank the folks for all of this Which enables our school to ascend to the accredited list.

(There are twelve members of the eleventh grade at Nevils school this year of which we are very proud. The following poem is dedicated to them by a prominent member.)

"THE NEVILS TWELVE"

We'll begin with Mary Miller our best girl athlete Full of fun and kindness and her holiness can't be beat.

Then we'll take Lena Mae Denmark who always makes us laugh; And when she goes we feel a thing, it isn't done in half.

And next we'll take Willard Rushing our best boy athlete; His sportsmanship is wonderful even in defeat.

Now comes Inman Lanier, the baby of the class; Always eager to help everyone and hopeful till the last.

Next we'll take Eunice Denmark, our popularity girl, Who joins in every fun or sport and keeps so neat her curls.

Now comes Rubye Dell Anderson, with her disposition so sweet; Who always keeps her clothes and hair arranged so very neat.

Next we'll take E'dwin Groover, a friend of everyone; Always teasing, always pleasing and very full of fun.

Now next in line is Junior Hood, whose studiousness is very, very good. And now we'll take Eloise Davis, whose happy face and sunny smiles.

Keeps us merry all the while. Now for Wilma Lee Anderson, with her quick and clever wit; Always willing to do her part, never trying to shun a bit.

And now for Daniel Hodges, who is always just the same; Always flirting, never shirking, never is to blame.

Last Friday Rubye Burned the author of this poem, Who wrote it just to show her friends she didn't really know 'em.

Hawaiian King a Guest

Although horse races are held annually in Hawaii, gambling of a kind is prohibited by law. Yet horse racing and gambling thereon was once the principal sport of Hawaiians. Several land-owning families of today own much of their acreage to King Kalakaua's poor racing judgment. The king, minus cash, habitually attended races with a map of Oahu in his pocket. He wagered land against money.

THE FANCIFUL PEN

Tonight I sit beside the fire; My being is so weary I feel as though I must give up; My eyes are almost tear.

These hands of mine are rough and worn How proud I am of them! This day they have accomplished much.

For Mother, Dad and Jim.

Yes, I really am so tired, I feel that I must fall; But my young heart is satisfied, At rest—when I recall

The things which I have done today With that which God gave— My hands, my heart, and everything For which I have to live.

Evelyn Mills, Brooklet.

To The Ladies

By Adelaide Barnett

I promised you this space for your letters, and strangely enough, To The Ladies' first letter is from a man. Here it is:

"Adelaide Barnett, care of The Bulloch Herald, Statesboro, Ga.

Dear Mrs. Barnett: "I liked your recipe on How To Preserve a Husband, and you deserve a vote of thanks for your paragraph, two weeks ago, I believe, pointing out the beauty and dignity of Mothers and housewives.

"If we husbands could get more cooperation in that direction our wives would have less to complain of in our behavior.

"Keep up the good work and I guarantee you will have plenty of readers—men as well as ladies."

Sincerely, Mr. A. E. F. Statesboro, Georgia.

Frankly I hope Mr. A. E.'s wife will get to be more domestic don't you? I'm glad he gave me the opportunity to print, for all of us, where at least one of our companions will come from. And also, in case any other husband takes a look at this column, that most of us will do our best with our children, our meals and our homes if we can always depend on that pleasant word of praise and devotion when the going is hard.

Most of us have realized that healthy living habits make for greater beauty. If we sleep eight hours at night, eat plenty of fresh vegetables, take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise and keep our bodies clean we may never be great beauties, but we will be attractive.

--Try harmonizing your gloves, bag and slippers, with contrasting dress and hat. And do—if you are slender—get a bolero jacket dress or just a luster to brighten up your old dresses.

YOUR FAVORITE RECIPE

This space will be filled each week with the recipes you send to me. We are offering a six months subscription to the Bulloch Herald for each recipe sent in the next two weeks.

This subscription may go to yourself or as an extension, if you are already subscribing or to anyone you care to have it set to. The recipes will be published weekly, with your name or initials, as you prefer.

NEW SPRING COLORS — Paris Sand (reddish brown shade), Roseberry (deep wine shade).

YOU CAN GET zipper fasteners that have colored buttons to harmonize with your color scheme—cheap and practical.

DID YOU KNOW that egg yolks in warm water removes coffee stains? That Cauliflower is delicious served with mayonnaise dressing? That we'll be seeing you next week.

Rehabilitation Families Show Increase in Assets

Despite a drought over much of the state in 1936 and low prices for farm products during 1937, families on the rural rehabilitation program in Georgia have been able to increase their assets each year.

The annual report of State Director R. L. Vansant, of the Farm Security Administration, revealed today that the net worth of rehabilitation clients had risen steadily from an average of less than $50 in 1935 to approximately $500 at the present time.

"The increase in net worth of rehabilitation families in Georgia since 1935," the report said, "is outstanding evidence of the value and effectiveness of farm home planning. The total assets of families accepted for rehabilitation in 1935 averaged less than $50.

"At the end of that year their net worth had increased to $150 per family, and at the beginning of 1937, records show that the average had risen to $250. A careful analysis of records of 2,000 families, selected at random from Georgia rehabilitation files on January 1, 1938, shows that their net worth averaged $503.23.

"These figures were arrived at after deducting all indebtedness which a family may have had, from a reasonable estimate of the value of all livestock, equipment, feed, seed, food and household goods on hand." Vansant's report continued. "We might safely assume, then, that this analysis of 2,000 families would be a fair basis for estimating the average net worth of all families on the program in Georgia as being approximately $500."

The report showed further that the Farm Security Administration loaned during 1937 a total of $2,068,370.59 to its 9,735 Georgia clients, or an average of $212 per family. Despite the lowered cash income, more than one million dollars has already been repaid and $200,000 more is expected to be collected from the 1937 crop after clients complete their marketing and receive their payments for participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program. The remainder of the sum advanced this year will fall due in from one to five years.

As another sign of progress, the report cited reduction of the average loan from $335 in 1935 to $250 in 1936 and to $212 in 1937. This need for a decreased sum by clients, according to the report, was due to the fact that farmers last year grew much more of their food for home consumption and practically all feed needed for livestock.

In addition to its regular loan program, the Farm Security Administration made 17,793 direct grants, totaling $321,701.33, to more than 10,000 families last year. Some of these grants were to families not on the rehabilitation program.

The annual report called attention especially to the home management phase of the program.

"While the financial record of Georgia rehabilitation families is very commendable," it said, "their record of carrying out a balanced, 'live-as-home' agricultural program is even more remarkable. Ninety-nine per cent of our clients planted summer legumes of some kind, and much interest has also been shown in the use of winter cover crops.

"At least 97 per cent of the families on the program have adequate feed for their livestock, 99 per cent kept an average of 15 or more chickens, 95 per cent had hogs to kill for home meat consumption, and 93 per cent had one or more milk cows.

31,720 Acres In Cotton For County

Under Provisions Of New Farm Act

ALLOTMENTS TO INDIVIDUAL FARMERS NOW BEING CALCULATED; FARMERS CAN MARKET ALL COTTON PRODUCED ON ALLOTTED ACRES WITHOUT PENALTY.

Bulloch county's cotton acreage allotment for 1938 is 31,720 acres, it was announced this week by Byron Dyer, county agent.

Of the 2,068,273 cotton acres allotted to Georgia under the new farm act, 1,999,831 acres were divided among the state's 153 cotton-growing counties and 36,092 acres were reserved for allotment to new producers.

The largest county allotment went to Burke, which received 63,772 acres. Laurens was second with 53,521 acres and Carroll third with 43,102. The smallest allotments went to two coastal counties—Glynn and McIntosh—each of which received 18 acres.

The state allotment was apportioned to the counties principally on the basis of the acreage planted in cotton together with the acreage diverted from cotton during the last five years. The act is so specific on this point that division of the state's quota to the counties was calculated on the basis of the formula contained in the act.

Approximately two percent of the state's acreage allotment was reserved for apportionment to new growers—that is, growers on farms which did not grow cotton during the last three years.

School children from all the schools, doctors, lawyers, bankers, farmers, butchers, bakers and candle-stick makers all turned out to watch the parade.

The best native steer was shown by James Denmark. The best county grown calf was shown by Garner Hall Fields and the second best by Jim Rushing. John Rushing had the best steered weighing less than 750 pounds.

Election Called By The Ordinary

PETITION SIGNED BY MORE THAN THIRTY FIVE PER CENT OF REGISTERED QUALIFIED VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY

The Ordinary of Bulloch county, Monday, called a special election on the Local Option Law to be held on April 14 to determine whether the manufacture, sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages and liquors shall be permitted in Bulloch county.

Ordinary J. E. McCran called the election upon the registrars checking the petition signed by thirty-five per cent of the registered qualified voters of Bulloch county asking for a special election.

The petition was circulated in the county under the direction of Mr. Wade Mallard, who has devoted about five weeks to the project. The petition was signed by thirty-five per cent of the registered qualified voters of Bulloch county asking for a special election.

The petition contained approximately 1650 names, which is more than the required thirty five per cent. Liquor may be sold legally in Georgia for the first time in twenty-two years when the act officially takes effect in Dougherty county on March 23. Thereafter it is scheduled to become legal in Muscogee, Pierce, Coffee and Chatham counties, all of which have voted overwhelmingly wet.

Up to Sunday, Chatham, with a vote of 7,010 to 254 in favor of legalizing whiskey, brought the combined election returns in the five counties thus far voting to 11,923 to 1,340 or nearly nine to one for liquor.

Under the setup there will be no private warehouses. Under express provisions of the act, the revenue commissioner must provide warehouse space for products of manufacturers or distillers, for which he is to charge rental by the square foot. It is not known if there will be a warehouse in Statesboro or not. If Bulloch county should vote wet it did last June.

The warehouses will be operated by state employees, and no shipment of liquor may be consigned to any person or firm except a licensed and qualified dealer in a wet county. All liquor stored in the warehouses must bear state tax stamps, affixed by the state agents, who must post individual bonds of $10,000.

S. D. Alderman and J. W. Cannon, Registrars of Bulloch County, in 1937, are paid on or before March state that unless poll taxes, including 31 one will not be eligible to vote in the special election called by the Ordinary for April 14.
