OUR LIBRARY LOOKING AHEAD

With a sense of gratitude that is justifable the American Library Association cites the figures of its present service to the public. They include 6,000 public libraries; 100 million books in circulation; 77 1-2 million persons served and twenty six mill.ion registered borrowers.

That is a record worth studying, particularly when it is considered that practically all this total is of comparatively recent growth; that it represents a tremendous advance in literacy, in widened horizons, in thinking and in intellectual enjoyment for the American people.

The people of Bulloch county are advancing along these same lines under the influence of the Bulloch County Library. With its services being extended into the various sections of the county and the organization of reading clubs with planned programs the library movement in the county advances. But in Bulloch county there are certain problems that must be solved before the library can do its greatest good. The chief of these is the problem of distribution of books and the education of the people to use the facilities the library offers.

With the splendid record behind them and the clear recognition of the problems that confront them we have a feeling that the library leaders eventually will attain the objectives toward which they are working.

BUSINESS - To the business man confidence is the basis of profits, and the prospect of profit is what makes prosperity. Factories are reopened or new ones built as soon as operators believe that there is at least a 50-50 chance of being able to sell more merchandise at a profit in the near future. The return of confidence usually begins to manifest itself in the stock market. People are willing to pay more for stocks and bonds of corporations once they feel assured that earnings and dividends are likely to increase. Last week men and women all over the country and even in Europe began to invest idle money in American securities. Result--the stock market rose to a new high for 1938. Even confirmed pessimists had to admit that all signs indicate the low point in the depression is behind us.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR - Golf clubs with transparent heads, in which arrows are imbedded to guide the stroke . . . A "can't miss torpedo" whhich, in case it misses an enemy battleship, turns back and strikes the warship from the opposite side . . . Portable partitions for soda fountains, which move on an overhead rail and can be adjusted to divide off any number of seats from others . . . A germicide more potent than tincture of iodine, yet less irritating . . . An "elevator" car which runs up and down the side of the stairs in your home.

HEADLINES - New car registrations declined, but filling stations see upturn in busisness-reason: old cars burn more gas than new ones. Cigarette production shows increase over last year . . . Private power companies last year paid a tax bill of $330,-000, or 16 per cent of gross revenues. United THE BULLOCH HERALD WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1938

TAKE A TIP

Our heart fell behind our thoughts upon hearing the siren of a patrol car coming up behind us, while driving on U.S. 80 about three miles north of Portal. "C hurch is out" we said to us, as we came to a halt on the side of the road. "How-do-you-do" the patrolman greets us, nice as you please,

"Not so good, and you" (we could see no reason for telling the S. T. a lie). "Do you know you've been driving with the rear light out?" "No," we said. "You have. I regret it but I must write you a ticket" the trooper informed us. So with a feeling of the lost, we reached for our drivers' license. While fishing through our wallet for the license we remarked: "While you are making out the ticket, we might as well fix that light and be done with it." "What do you mean," inquired the trooper. We told him that we had an extra tail light bulb and that while the car was stopped we could put it in. The trooper then volunteered to he'p us put the bulb in.

After having some trouble with the lens on the light he said: "All the lights on this model car are like this. They are made so that the lens are hard to get out. Tell you what I'm going to do. I am not going to

CALEB: LIFE-TIME DEVOTION

"We need to know more abou good men who are occasionally great, and less about great men who are occasionally good," says the Lesson Commentary, in pointing out that Caleb is one of the characters about whom the Bible does not say much, but in every case the word is one revealing high and noble character. Consider such passages as Numbers 13:6, 30; 14:7-9, 24, 30; 26: 65, as well as our lesson for today. The background for our study o today, and in fact an integral part of the lesson itself, is the story of Caleb's courageous stand with Joshua when the spies returned from their visit to Canaan, which is re-lated in Numbers 13. He was then a comparatively young man, but demonstrated by his every word and deed that he had from his youth learned to know and obey God. Note first of all Caleb's I. Perfect Obedience (vv. 6-8). "I wholly followed the Lord my God." Such a testimony from a man like Caleb is no idle boast, no effort to parade his faith and piety before others. In saying it he was repeating what God and Moses had both said about him. In his heart he knew it to be true. It is God's will for each of His children that they should come to such a place of simple trust and complete obedience that in every circumstance of life they need know only one thing—God's will, and then in faith to go and do it. It is a life boottid in the transmission of transmission of the transmission of tran in its transparent sim plicity and powerful in the strength of*God Himself. II. Promised Inheritance (v. 9).

"Surely the land whereon thy fee have trodden shall be thine inher itance." Such was the promise of God through Moses. Forty-five long years had elapsed, but down through this period of wilderness wanderings and the conflict in sub-duing Canaan the promise had lived in Caleb's heart. He knew it would be fulfilled, and he waited serenely for God's time. Such also are the promises of God which keep the heart singing in our hours of trial and sorrow, which hours of trial and sorrow, which light up the dark ways, which strengthen the heart of His children. Learn God's promises, cherish them in your heart, expect God to fulfill III. Preserved Strength (vv. 10,

"The Lord hath kept me alive was a man kept of God, in full vigor was a man kept of God, in full vigor in his eighty-fifth year, "like a rock in a changeful sea, like a snow-capped peak in a change of cloud and storm and sun" (Meyer). No doubt there was what our fore-fathers liked to call "the longevity of the antedeluvians," but even apart from that let us recognize that life and strength come from t life and strength come from and that those who walk with in holy living may count on God, God Him for the renewed strength of Psalm 103:5.

An incidental, but extremely im-portant, lesson, we should learn is that God has no age deadline. The that God has no age deadline. The church has frequently sinned against Him and against His faith-ful servants by "shelving them" for younger men, when they would have brought blessing to themselves and to the church by encouraging and using them. The writer of these lines is a young man, but he would speak here a word of hoving would speak here a word of loving tion regarding his hono brethren who have gone on before to bear the brunt of the ba IV. Powerful Assurance (vv. 12-

"If . . . the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able." Caleb asked for no easy task. He was ready to go up against the giants of Hebron Read Deuteronomy 3:11, and you will find that there were men in those days who needed thirteen-foot beds. But Caleb was not afraid. beds. But Caleb was not atraid. He counted not on his own strength, but on the power of God. It is sig-nificant that while the other sec-tions of Canaan were only par-tially conquered Caleb brought his formidable adversaries entirely un-der control, so that "the land had rest from war" (v. 15). rest from war" (v.15).

The spiritual application to our day is evident and appropriate. day is evident and appropriate. There are giants in the land in this year of our Lord 1938. Corruption year of our Lord 1938. Corruption —social and political—raises its brazen head. Drunkenness and vice leer at us with the impudent suggestion that we cannot control them. There are giants "within us —greed, selfishness, love of ease, lust, passion, cruelty" (Blaikie). Are we to do nothing about them? If we are to meet them in the strength of the flesh we might almost as well do nothing. But in the powas well do nothing. But in the pow-er of God, we are like Caleb--able In His name we may take up a slogan of today, "Let's do some-thing about it!" and really do it, for His glory.
