But we treated that one like the other stuff he says, just didn't notice it at all. But seriously if you find these beautiful little birds we are offering a last years almanac (slightly used) for their prompt return—Frankly, we didn't know what they were until the gifted Miss Trussell, of Collegeboro, told us their names. They are among the tinicet of birds, much smaller than an English Sparrow, not so fat and squabby, about the same color, and very graceful. Worth said they were "stream-lied" sparrows, Donald described them as being "baby mocking birds" and Mike decided they were "just overgrown humming birds," until finally the argument got as hou that we started out to see Miss Trussell or John DeLoach, knowing they could provide the answer, (Note: If you get stumped on Nature stuff, in either the bird and flowers). Miss Trussell, did not tell us from whence they had come, but did say that they were in transit and had merely stopped to look us over, fill up their pentry and wing their way onward. My neighbor opines what a wonderful advantage these migratory birds have over us. When notes come due, when politics get rotten, when the neighbors start to 'acting up', how grand it would be to tuck a few biscuits under her wing, call in the baby members of our family, fold our little tent, and steal away on the wing, call in the baby members of our family, fold our little tent, and steal away on the wing, call in the baby members of our family, fold our little tent, and steal away on the wing call in the baby members of our family, fold our little tent, and steal away on the wing call in the baby members of our family, fold our phissed them. F you did not apply enough potash at planting time or if your cotton rusts, it will cost little to apply more potash in a nitrogen-potash topdresser. The increased yields, control of rust, reduced wilt injury, and improved quality which will result from this extra potash will return tho small investment many times. Heavier bolls more lint per seed, longer staple, stronger fibers. and easier picking also result. An increase of $15 to $25 per acre in the value of the crop duc to the extra potash has been secured in practical field tests and experimental work.

Your county agent or experiment station will tell you whether you applied enough potash at planting time. See your fertilizer dealer or manufacturer about adding the equivalent of 50-100 lbs. of muriate of potash in a nitrogen-potash topdresser. Keep your plants growing vigorously into the profits which you plan to make this year.

Increased acraeges of hap, pasture, and woodland on farms of cooperators in erosion-control areas in Georgia indicate that conservation farming practices are providing a better balanced farm program as well as protection for farm land, according to Jule G. Liddell, state coordinator of the Soil Conservation Service. Tabulations recently completed on 1,-756 farms in demonstration areas and CCC camps engaged in erosion control work in Georgia show that, while crop land on all these farms has been reduced more than 23,000 acres, pastures have been increased by 5,000 acres, permanent hay by 6,000 woodland by 13,000 acres and nearly 1,000 acres of formerly idle land has been put to productive use.

Enough soil is washed and blown from fields every year to fill a train of freight cars long enough to go around the earth 19 times at the equator.

Of the 1,907,000,000 acres representing the total area of the country, exclusive of city and water territory, nearly two thirds is in some degree affected by erosion.

Make this just before serving. Peel banana and half lengthwise. Spread one half generously with peanut butter. Press halves together and slice cross-wise into small sections directly into crisp lettuce. Serve at one with a salad cressing. (Salad recipes continued next week)

"At the beginning of the fiscal year 1908-39 the Statesboro Womans Club was still feeling an indebtedness of $500.00. We were not alarmed in the least for we had steadily and rapidly reduced the original debt of twelve hundred dollars and we felt calmly sure that there would be no club debt remaining at the end of the year.

"One of the first activities of the New Year was the Benefit Bridge, put on by the Benevolence Committee, Mrs. Booth, chairman. This delightful affair netted the committee their pledge of $25.00. The Citizenship Committee sponsored on open forum on two long, remembered occasions. The speaker for the first of the occasions was Ralph Ramsey, Secretary of the Georgia Education association. This forum was held with the Chamber of Commerce are host. The second forum was tield with the Womans Club as sponsor, and Miss Emily Woodward of "Empire" fame was the speaker. These forums brought to the members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Womans Club a consciousness of the treeto the members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Womans Club a consciousness of the tremendous importance of open discussion of the important issues of the day. This committee entertained Miss Woodward with a lovely luncheon preceding the meeting at the club home.
