Week's Sentence Sermon

It has been said that men carry on a kind of coasting trade with religion. In the voyage of life, they profess to be in search of heaven, but take care not to venture so far in their approximations to it, as entirely to lose sight of the earth; and should their frail vessel be in danger of shipwreck, they will gladly throw their darling views overboard, as other mariners their treasures, only to fish them up again when the storm is over.—Colton.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING

More and more folk are getting upset over the President's changing the date for Thanksgiving from November 30 to November 23, and the football schedule arrangers are heard above all the others.

We like the new date. And we believe that the merchants will like it for it gives them a longer Christmas shopping season.

A lot of people are questioning the President's authority and right to make such a change. Research reveals that Thanksgiving Day has wandered all over the calendar. It began when the Pilgrims set a date "sometime in November" as the date to give thanks for the excellent crops they had harvested in the spring of 1621. In 1623 the Pilgrim festival was July 30. A few years later there was a crop failure and there was "no Thanksgiving Day" until late February. And this was in celebration of the arrival of a ship with provisions. From Pilgrim days until the Revolution, there were thanksgiving days in August and September. And some in June and July. The colonies seem to have celebrated when they chose.

And so it went. Thanksgiving Day was when there were good crops. Or when it seemed a good idea to have one.

In 1789 George Washington proclaimed the first National Thanksgiving, setting it on November 26, 1789. Then in 1795 he set it for February 19. Then until 1864 Thanksgiving Day hopped, skipped and jumped all over the calendar. It was that year that a woman kept worrying Abraham Lincoln to fix a date. He did so and selected November 26, the date Washington had first fixed.

Anyway, the new date is official only in the District of Columbia and a few other states. Our Governor usually proclaims the same date as the one set by the President.

As a matter of fact this change does not make a great deal of difference to us. Just so we find the turkey on the table with all the fixings, any day can be Thanksgiving Day for us.

"CLIPPING"

And if you don't watch out the state patrolmen will be "clipping" you for

- (1) Failure to have a headlight or tail light (if the driver, however, has an extra bulb in his car for such emergencies, his license will not be "clipped"). (2) Failure to dim or have lights properly focused. (3) Passing with insufficient clearance on hill, curve or straight-of-way. (4) Miscellaneous infractions or careless driving which includes no hand signal, illegal parking or failure to observe signs and signals. (5) Improper use of equipment, which includes defective brakes, no rear view mirror, improper tags or overloaded vehicles. Two "clips" of the same offense will mean 30-day license suspension; three "clips", a 90-day suspension and a fourth "clip" of the same offense will cause a driver to lose his license for the balance of its validity.

WE NEED A RECREATIONAL CENTER

Last week we had a long talk with the father of a pretty 16 year old daughter and a fine four year old son. We talked about the need of a recreational center for the young people of Statesboro.

Statesboro is a fast growing city but in its growing it is forgetting its young people. Sure, we know it is easy to point out the need of a recreational center, but it is not always easy to finance the cost of the things needed. However, that fact doesn't alter the need, and the need is something that should go beyond the consideration of mere cost.

Have you ever tried to learn what constitutes our traffic regulations. Do you know when you are breaking one of them. Or do you know what to do to keep from breaking one. Or do you know that we even have a traffic code. Of course as long as we are not given a ticket for breaking one, it does not make much difference whether or not we do have one.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER Today, August 24, hot. Friday, August 25, hot. Saturday, August 26, hot. Sunday, August 27, windy. Monday, August 28, windy. Tuesday, August 29, hot. (Full Moon). Wednesday, August 30, hot. But If The Almanac Is Wrong, Don't Blame Us.

Brother R. E. L. Majors writing on his leafers bench in The Claxton Enterprise last week, wrote "Henry Cavender and Henry Durrence attended the Statesboro tobacco market Tuesday and since they finally managed to get back home intact they are concocting some new excuses to go back, despite the fact that Henry had to pay the exchange on the checks out of his pocket. . . ." Now Mr. Majors if you just back the two Henrys up against a wall you will get them to break down and admit that Statesboro's got something. It is something that they may not be able to describe but they know it's here and that it has a strong pull on even old dyed-in-the-wool Evanties. And in the quiet of your mind you will admit it too.

And we are going to use some space and blow our little horn. We found in the Oconee Enterprise, Watkinsville, a poem about The Home-Town Paper and it is so good we are sounding our "A" and here we go.

"I have read the city dailies and the Magazines of worth; And the weekly publication which go All o'er the earth; I have wondered at the pictures and Other things therein, And hardly know upon which page "T would be best to begin. I like their snappy modern ways, their Wondrous stories, too; But, somehow, when I'm lonesome and I'm feeling glum and blue, I find old friends around me, and I Fairly hear them speak, When I read the home-town paper Which comes to me each week.

"It isn't much for beauty, And print it sometimes blurred; But there's the news about the folks, And things which have occurred. And it tells how Ben Slocum has cut His crop of wheat; And also the harvest apples are mighty Good and sweet; How Deacon Pitkin's youngest girl has Gone away to school. It hints that nights are bad for corn, Because they're rather cool. A smile always curls my lips, and I Can feel my cheek Glow warm when reading what it says About old friends, each week.

"In whispering tones it breathes to me A message drear and sad— How this or that old pal of mine has Slipped and turned out bad. Mixed in with sociables and things Which tell of wholesome fun, I find the names of those for whom Life's sands have ceased to run. And, so I say, and have no fear that You will disagree, The greatest source of news on earth, For common folks like me, Is when I greet old friends anew, and With them sit and speak. As I read the home-town-paper which Comes to me each week.

FIVE YEARS AGO (Thursday, August 23, 1934)

One of the important real estate transactions of recent weeks consummated Monday when S. W. Lewis, local Ford representative, became owner of the building on North Main Street which has housed his business from its inception 15 years or longer ago.

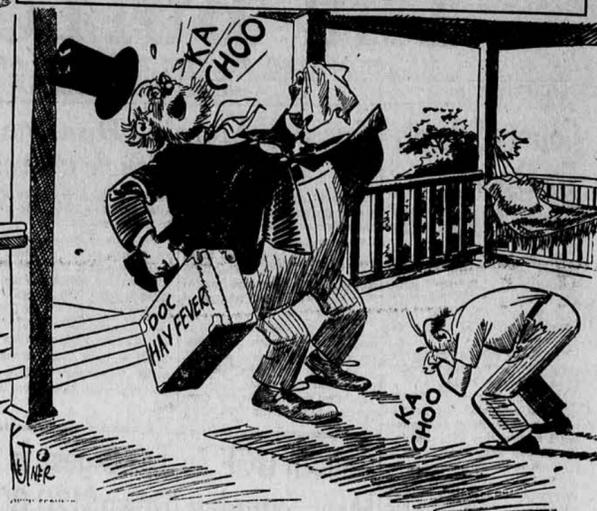

Mrs. D. L. Deal of the Statesboro High School faculty, was guest at the luncheon Tuesday of the Chamber of Commerce and delighted those present with a forceful discussion of the subject, "The New Deal In Education."

When Statesboro's tobacco market closed Tuesday at noon, total first sales for the season had reached exactly 1,649,574 pounds, a figure in excess of the most sanguine forecasts at the outset of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Kennedy announce the birth of a daughter August 19th. She has been named June Proctor. Mrs. Kennedy was formerly Miss Mercielle Proctor.

A marriage of much interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Louie Hughes to Dr. Samuel J. Crouch; the wedding taking place Thursday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride on Savannah Avenue.

Know Statesboro

With the county schools opening in September there is interest shown in the financial condition of the county public school system.

SAFE MATERNITY

PERHAPS NO greater strides have been made in medical science than those in developing the safeguards and techniques which now are available to expectant motherhood. However, in view of the continued high annual maternal mortality rate through out the nation, as well as of the many thousands of serious illnesses directly attributable to maternity, it is evident that more than science is required if these tragic and largely avoidable casualties are to be reduced. The missing link in an otherwise strong chain of defense is intelligent interest and cooperation on the part of the expectant mother.

TOO OFTEN THE attitude is assumed that the family physician needs to be called only when the birth of the baby is imminent. Delay of this kind does not permit the doctor to surround his patient with the protective supervision and advice to which every prospective mother is entitled and without which the hazards of reproduction are unnecessarily great.

PREPARATIONS FOR the baby's birth should start as soon as the expectancy is realized. Visits to the physician at least once a month until the seventh, every two weeks during the eighth, and each week during the ninth are desirable for the checks-up necessary in pregnancy. This supervision enables the doctor to detect conditions which, when uncorrected, are the most frequent causes of serious maternal illness and death.

MOREOVER, BY seeking the doctor's counsel early, essential instructions as to diet and mode of life is obtained. While the routine of living during this period is not unduly strict, inasmuch as pregnancy is a natural function, it is essential that certain fundamental rules involving foods, adequate rest, exercise, and fresh air be applied intelligently and conscientiously.

A KEENER AND more general appreciation of the need of the prospective mother's early cooperation with the doctor will greatly reduce the present high mortality rate. Its lack is the real barrier to this much desired goal.

SOCIETY

All's Fair

WE remember this week our young unfortunates — Lila Brady with a broken collar and Bobbie Holland with a broken arm. Jane Beaver very forcibly informed a young playmate before her birthday party last week that she didn't want her to give her a dress for a birthday present. "My grandmother is going to give me a dress, and I don't want no dress, I want a toy," and from all reports Jane got plenty of toys.

All absent minded people are not professors and vice versa. Last week Billy Carr cut her fingernails and Helen Rowse, Edwin Groover and Henrietta Tillman, G. C. Coleman, Jr., and Martha Wilma Simmons, Roy Hitt and Marguerite Mathews, Humith March and Effieley Waters, Ed Olliff and Maxann Foy, Tiny Ramsey and Miss Gardner, W. R. Lovett and Margaret Brown, Roger Holland and Sara Florence Rigdon, and Albert Key, Harold Waters, Charles Layton, Joe Robert Tillman, Jas. Thayer, George Deakle, Lamar Akins, Belton Braswell, J. B. Williams, Harold Waters, and Ennis Call.

The square dancing proved to be popular, but John Mooney observed that the lean ones were doing the dancing. Fred Lanier complimented the crowd as he risked sailing that oat wing collar as he poked around the ground with his nose trying to recover a match box which he was supposed to nose along to his partner.

Rumors of a "Beverly Ball" have reached me. Shades of the gay nineties will descend on us soon it appears if plans work out for a party being planned.

Heart aches and upsets on North Main as out-of-town admirer barges in on Saturday. Similarity of names in Statesboro lead to confusion sometimes. Not long ago Allen Lanier sent out fans for Mrs. Cone and Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Ellis had passing by Ulma Smith and Mrs. Billy Cone informed that they were getting new fans. Awaiting the fans they saw the porter take fans to Mrs. Selma Cone and Mrs. W. T. Smith seated in a car nearby.

As Ever.

JANE.

SUB-DEBS AND ESCORTS ON FANTASY SCAVENGER HUNT

Thursday evening the sub-deb group and their dates gathered on the porch of the lovely Donehoo home on Savannah Avenue and received weird and fantastic instructions for a Scavenger Hunt. At ten o'clock they were to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pound.

Arriving first with the coveted articles were Lenora Whiteside and Tom Forbes. Lenora received two plaques and Tom was given an ashtray and cigar holder.

weight E. C. Westbrook, cotton and tobacco specialist of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, declared. As a matter of fact, Westbrook said, this causes the cotton to be classed as rough-ginned, and the depreciation in value for such cotton more than offsets any small gain in weight. On every bale of cotton that is picked wet or green, between ten and twenty pounds of lint are left on the seed. This, in itself, is quite an item—not counting the $1 to $5 per bale the farmer loses because the cotton is rough-ginned.

United Farmers

that we have less than half the cotton acre that we had twenty years ago. "We must change our farm program by adding new sources of income. This is an old story; it has been the major theme of thinking people since the time of Henry Grady. Our progress has reached the conclusion that the small farmer cannot diversify as an individual. He must have the help and co-operation of his neighbors." Dean Chapman closed by saying "If a farmer's organization is to be permanently successful, there are several fundamental principles which must be kept in mind. One is that only farmers should be the members. Another is that most of the talking should be done by farmers. If oratory would solve farm problems, the South would be the richest section in the nation. Farmers need facts. Out-siders should be brought into the meeting to give facts, and if they are not available then they should be secured by state agencies. Organized farmers should hear both sides of every question, discuss the problem in the light of the facts available, and then determine a policy of action. This is the democratic process.

Inter-County Fat Stock Show For 1940

The Fat Stock Show for Bulloch and four adjoining counties will be held in Statesboro April 11, 1940, according to a decision reached Saturday afternoon by the some 200 members of the Bulloch county chapter of the United Georgia Farmers. The representatives from the various show points held their meeting in Macon sometime ago. E. S. Pappy, manager of White Provision Company, Atlanta, introduced a resolution to include Statesboro as one of the 13 approved shows and sales. At that time the packers agreed to send their better buyers to each of these 13 shows if the date could be arranged where this would be possible. The United Georgia Farmers have already contacted the packers and chairman of the committee relative to April 11 and it has been accepted by those as the most desirable date. The plans are now being called for a third sale all in one day, W. H. Smith, president, announced. Mr. Smith appointed from the UGF the following committee to work with the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club and committees from the other counties, J. E. Hodges, chairman, J. B. Fields, John H. Brannen, C. B. Gay, Otis Holloway, W. C. Hodges, G. B. Bowen, and Cliff Bradley. He asked that the committee break itself down into the units necessary to carry out the details of the arrangements. Future Farmers, 4-H club boys and girls, and farmers are now getting cattle on feed for the show and sale. This should be one of the best shows in the state, and in all probability will be the largest show held in Georgia in 1940.

Stand Revealed In Letters To Gov. Rivers

Representative Harry S. Aiken and Senator Harvey D. Brannen have taken a firm stand opposing diversion of highway funds in answer to Governor Rivers' letter of August 19, asking how they would vote on pegging highway funds and amending the income tax law. Representative Darwin Franklin is "not so sure about the pegging or diverting gasoline or tag tax monies." Both of these proposals form the basis of the fiscal plan by which the House economy investigators said state services could be financed adequately. The text of the letters of Bulloch's three members of the General Assembly is given here in full.

Mrs. Cecil Kennedy entertained on Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter, June, on her fifth birthday. About sixty of her young friends assembled in the backyard and enjoyed games throughout the afternoon. One's method of finance must always be sound. With habits quite costly, it's real hard to save; My wife spent ten "bucks" on a permanent wave. The church came round begging. It sure made me sore! If they'd let me alone, I'd give a lot more. They have plenty of nerve! They forgot all the past! I gave them a quarter the year before last. -Lookout.

Word comes from Lannie F. Simmons today that the new 1940 Plymouth cars will be on display in his showrooms Saturday.

Mr. Simmons attended a preview of the new 1940 Plymouth cars in Atlanta this week, and he states that never in the history of the Chrysler Corporation have they produced a finer and more beautiful car than they have this year.

One of the outstanding improvements made on the 1940 Plymouth is the Twin Unit Heating and Ventilating system. This system of heating and ventilating is designed to produce the greatest possible car comfort and added safety for all seasons and climates.

Other improvements include greater riding comfort, better weight distribution, interiors are larger, roomier, and more beautiful than ever.

Mr. Simmons predicts that this year more people will own Plymouths than ever before.

CORRECTION

In our editorial entitled "The Pot Begins to Boil" on page two, we report that the grapevine has hit that B. H. Ramsey and George Johnston who were for the Solicitor of the Superior Court. This is in error. It is the Solicitor of the City Court for which the grapevine has these two candidates running.

UGF Plan To Meet Monthly

Each school community will have a community leader that will hold monthly meetings of the United Georgia Farmers, if the plans developed at Saturday afternoon's meeting are completed as outlined.

A nominating committee composed of W. R. Anderson, L. F. Martin, and Dr. R. J. Kennedy will submit to the county-wide meeting Saturday afternoon, September 2, a community chairman, who will automatically become a member of the county board of directors. The community leader will then select his committee to work with the group in his school community. One vocational teacher, county agent, or farm supervisor will be asked to meet with the community organization. The nominating committee will also suggest certain duties of the board and community leaders.

Mr. Anderson asked that members of the organization that had any suggestions to make to feel free to offer them prior to about 10 a. m. Saturday.

Experiments and experience are proving that pasture plants, as well as crops, can be fertilized profitably.
