LESTER NESSMITH

Candidate for Sheriff of Bulloch County

Lester Nessmith, in making his announcement as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Bulloch county makes the following statement:

"In seeking the vote of the people of this county, I wish to call attention to the fact that I was born in Bulloch and have had 15 years experience in serving the public. I have never before asked the good people of our county for any office or favor and I believe I promise a better county in which to live. I am 35 years of age and am allied with no special man or faction of men, and will appreciate your vote and influence."—Adv.

Stampless Letters

From 1947 to 1952 stamps were not available, but their use was not obligatory, and covers of the period are sometimes classified as "stampless" to distinguish them from those of the earlier group. The practice of sending letters unpaid continued to some extent until about November, 1950, when it was announced that all unpaid letters would be sent direct to the dead letter office.

Pickles Deficient in Vitamin C

Rich in flavor, poor in vitamins. That's the latest report on the pickle from the state college of agriculture at Athens. Tests of many common kinds of homemade pickles and relishes show that they contain very little Vitamin C, much less than the fresh vegetables from which they were made. So pickles cannot take the place of fresh or canned fruits and vegetables in the diet.

Dutch Kasten Unusual Among Antiques in U. S.

The Dutch kas, or kasten, was a furniture form brought from the Low Countries. It is unique among American antique pieces in that it was solely by craftsmen of Holland or of descent from people of the same racial strain and, in consequence, was confined to the sections where the Dutch settled. There were New York, western Long Island, the Hudson River valley and some parts of New Jersey, such as the Hackensack valley.

Always large and imposing, the kas was used for storing linens and other household possessions. It was in favor from the Seventeenth through the Eighteenth centuries, says "American Collector." Any made afterward would be of rural origin and rank as survival pieces. In construction and decorative details these kasten consistently show the solidity characteristic of Dutch craftsmanship. If made of walnut, the decoration was achieved by painting and applied molding in geometric shapes. When of soft wood, such as pine, oak or red gum, they were generally painted with a decorative finish and often inlaid. Invariably they were provided with bold, bulbous, front feet and an ample, not to say heavy, overhanging cornice.

Scotch Travel

In southwest Scotland is Dumfriesshire, with its many lakes and lochs. In Ayrshire, along the Firth of Clyde, the tourist finds golf, fishing and yachting. Between the flat east coast of Scotland and the rocky, picturesque west coast with its fascinating western isles, lie the central highlands of Scotland, beloved by the angler, rambler and motorist. A Scotsman will tell you that his native land is worth seeing at any time of the year. If you have been to Edinburgh on a cold day in January, to see Arthur's Seat and Edinburgh castle wreathed in curling mist, you may well agree; likewise if you have taken a small steamer through some of the lochs on a sunny morning in July. No one ever complains of idle moments in Scotland, with a host of abbeys and castles to explore, and dozens of highland gatherings, local games and curious old customs to observe.

Eye Judgment

In olden days, when most of the Indian tribes were at war, villages were pitched in a horseshoe formation for protection. The pitching of the teepees was the work of the men of the tribes, but the Indian women judged by eye the distance between teepees. It was invariably the same, so true was their judgment, writes the correspondent to the Washington Star. In the center of the horseshoe of tents three sacred teepees were placed. One of these belonged to the medicine man of the tribe. It was decorated with symbolic and sacred signs. No one was allowed to enter the medicine man's teepee or lodge without invitation.

Bulloch County Negro School News

The Willow Hill School building, recently constructed by local community aid and W. P. A. labor, provides rooms for Groups A, B, C, D. Plans are being completed for the construction of a shop to house the Vocational Agriculture and Home Economics Department.

The fact that the new building could not be occupied at an earlier date has not hampered the progress of the teaching staff to any degree. Charts, maps, seat-work, and many other teaching materials provided for progressive education have been much in evidence to lead the children in the acquisition of knowledge. Community singing, folk dancing, creative art, and physical education afford pupil participation daily.

Brooklet School Busy

The Brooklet School was bustling with activity December 8, the date scheduled for the county study group meeting. The county teachers manifested keen interest in the informal discussion of improved teaching technique and classroom organization and management, based on the persistent problems in accordance with the state program. A wealth of illustrative material was displayed to serve as a guide to progressive teaching. The teachers actively engaged in learning Christmas games and song, which, they in turn, will use as playground and classroom activities. The group adjourned and assembled on the campus for the basketball game and barbecue. Pope's Academy, the contesting team, proved too powerful for our girls. The game ended with a 19-10 score in favor of Pope's Academy. Plans are being made for a gay school and community holiday season. In addition the traditional Christmas tree, the pupils of Group A are making surprise gifts for their parents. Talent and hobby clubs have also been organized as a part of the activity program. As a definite tie-up with the community, the school is sponsoring monthly vesper services to go into effect the fourth Sunday in January.

LOWELL MALLARD SHERIFF

CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Statesboro, Ga., Dec. 12th, 1939.

Dear Voter:

This is my personal appeal to you for both your vote and support in my campaign for RE-ELECTION to the office of sheriff. I am completing my FIRST TERM in this office. I am deeply grateful for the honor already bestowed upon me; and I hope that you will elect me for a SECOND TERM so that I may faithfully and efficiently serve you for an ENDORSEMENT TERM in this important office.

I am making an earnest effort to see every voter in person and to personally solicit his or her aid in this race. However, because of the short time existing in which to do this, there may be some whom I shall not see; and I shall appreciate your accepting this as an invitation from me for your help. I promise to the people a continuation of prompt and courteous attention to their affairs and the business transacted in this office.

Respectfully Yours, L. M. Mallard

SOLICITOR "SHORTY" IS SHARP SHOOTER

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 12.—Bagging bucks without buckshot is easy for E. E. (Shorty) Andrews, assistant solicitor general of Fulton County.

Andrews pulled out a borrowed revolver on a recent hunting trip to Florida and bagged a buck before he reached his bird hunting territory. As the prospector drove toward a hunting lodge near Ocala a big buck bounded out and stopped for a look at Andrews auto.

Andrews hurriedly borrowed a revolver from Deputy Sheriff A. O. (Omlas) Derrick and fired. The buck leaped into the air and fell dead. The bullet had ploughed through the spine just behind the shoulder.

Eighth Grade Takes Trip

In connection with our study of communication, the eighth grade decided that certain trips would help us understand the study much better. We visited the telephone office, telephone office, post office in Statesboro. In Mr. Turner's office he explained everything and answered all questions. He prints fifteen hundred papers an hour. The telephone office was very interesting. We all like the telephone. It takes thirty-five cents to send a ten word telegram. In the post office we learned that many people have boxes, and the rent is fifteen cents a month. In last place that we visited was the Telephone Exchange. The thing we liked most was the switchboard. There are seven hundred fifty telephones in Bulloch county. Then the manager took us down to the drug store and set us up. We enjoyed it very much.

We feel that this was a very beneficial and worthwhile trip.

Commerce Teacher Attends Convention

The Southern Business Education Association held its annual convention recently in Jacksonville, Florida. The theme of the convention this year was "Improvement of Business Education in the South."

A number of excellent speakers were heard, some of whom were: Paul S. Larnox, New York University, New York; E. J. Nichols, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts; Benjamin R. Haynes, University of Tennessee, Knoxville; and many others. The one address of most interest was that of Dean William S. Taylor, University of Kentucky, Lexington. His subject was "The European Scene, from a Year of Close Observation." He discussed the educational opportunities of youth in various European countries. The system of education in England was one of the most interesting systems discussed.

Miss Weaver, Commerce teacher in the Laboratory school, attended this convention of which she is a member. She was especially interested in talking with Mr. J. D. Copeland, University of Florida, Gainesville, and Miss Laura Payne, Tuscaloosa, Alabama. Their work is in a laboratory school similar to our own.

Portal School News

The A section of the second grade grade has its room decorated for Christmas. The pupils have been making cloth animals for five of the poor little children who may not get a Christmas present. The A section of the fourth grade is having a spelling contest. It seems that the girls will be the winner.

The B section of the Fourth grade has been collecting pictures for health booklets which they will begin next week. The A section of the third grade received the hookworm list and were glad that only three had positive reports. They will receive their treatment Wednesday, December 13.

Since the B section of the fifth grade is planning to study about the War Between the States, the pupils are very much interested in the picture "Gone With the Wind." Harold Beasley donated a map to our room which makes it very easy to keep up with the foreign affairs of today.

The members of the sixth grade are planning a very interesting Christmas program. They hope that many parents will attend. Last Monday, December 11th, Miss Jane Franseth showed pictures on the mosquito and the teeth to the entire school. The pupils not only enjoyed this very much, but also gained valuable information which will help them to promote better health in the community.

Our school is very proud of the fact that we made greater improvement in the eradication of hookworm in 1939 than we have made since the clinic started. On Tuesday, December 5 Portal girls and boys basketball teams played the Pembroke teams. The girls' score was 23 to 18 in favor of Portal. The boys' game ended in a tie. When the tie was broken, Pembroke was leading 23-21.

Ogeechee School News

Christmas trees have been brought into the rooms and all the grades are busy getting them decorated.

The first grade has made a Christmas scene for their cabinet. It has Santa Claus riding over the snow to a little house on it. They are reading about Spot and Little Mew in their reading book.

The second grade has been making candles, stars, and many other things for their tree. They are beginning to work on their program which will be given the last day of school.

The third grade went to toyland this week. While they were visiting, Mrs. Strickland gave them some candy. Some of the pupils bought presents while they were in town. They all had a very nice time.

The fourth and fifth grade gave a program Monday. They invited the sixth grade to be their guests. All reported to have enjoyed the program very much.

The sixth grade has about completed the staining of the windows. The windows look as if they might belong to some historic church of long ago. The sixth grade room will be used as the church in the play to be given Friday night.

The seventh and eighth grades are practicing for the Parents-Teachers Association program to be given next Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The chorus has been practicing, and several of the children have been given their parts. It is hoped that all members of the P.T. A. will come and bring guests with them. The public is cordially invited to attend.

A LAST WORD FROM WILLIAM H. CROUSE

Candidate For Ordinary Of Bulloch County Primary Tuesday, December 19

Since entering this race my opponent has sought diligently to disqualify me for this position solely on the ground that I have given thirty-five years unselfishly for the moral and spiritual uplift of our people.

Strange argument indeed! And to be offered under the cloak of Christianity and a feigned interest in the cause of the Almighty!!

No explanation can be given—no defense can be made that will erase from the minds of the voters the very definite issue of 1932 and the renewed assurance of the year 1936. Eight years with a fat job in the Court House seems to have a bad effect on the memory.

But the voters of Bulloch County have not forgotten. It has been insinuated that, if elected, I will neglect the duties of the office.

My friends will readily understand that this is nothing but a "political trick" intended to prejudice the voters against me. They know, and my opponent knows, that, if elected, I will give the most faithful and personal attention to this office. This insinuation is unfair and I ask my good friends in Statesboro, who have known me so long, to see to it that this insinuation does not cost me any votes in this race.

I have published the following definite pledges:

- 1. I will conduct the affairs of the office in a courteous, honest, impartial manner, in the interest of all the people, and I will not at any time neglect my duty as your servant nor sacrifice the interests of those whom I am called to serve.
2. I will consider it my sacred duty to take care of the interests of the people at all times, rather than to seek my own financial gain, and I will avoid adding any unnecessary costs in the settling of matters which must pass through the channels of the Ordinary's office.
3. I will strive to be especially kind and helpful to our aged and unfortunate and give to them every assistance possible.
4. Under no consideration will I try to retain this office for a long number of years.
And, without any thought of criticism, I make this additional pledge:
5. I will not be out of the office one half the time my opponent has been out during his service to attend public gatherings.

My father was a staunch, died-in-the wool Democrat. He always voted "regular," no matter who the candidate nor what the issue. I was a good size boy before I learned that heaven was prepared for anyone except Democrats. Complaining one day that our party had not been true to their campaign promises, he told that "Campaign promises are made to get in on, not to keep after the election."

This was not father's idea of right and honor. Neither is it mine. If elected, I will faithfully fulfill every promise I have made.

The voters are even cited to the Bible in an effort to disqualify me. He refers you to I Cor. 9:14. He doesn't care a flip for that text nor what its true interpretation may be. The thing he is now interested in is to get twelve or fifteen thousand dollars more by four years more in the Ordinary's office.

I made no apology to my opponent, nor to any other man on earth, for having labored to help support myself and family. It was my right and privilege. I do not feel any remorse of conscience, nor do I believe the Almighty condemns my course. I can truly say, with Paul, "These hands of mine have ministered unto my necessities." For twelve years I have, in a small way, conducted a marble business in Statesboro to help provide for myself and those dependent upon me and to pay off the indebtedness on our humble home.

Certainly it has not become a disgrace to work. My contention in this contest is this:

- 1. The Ordinary's office now pays a handsome amount—much more than in years gone by.
2. My opponent has been honored with two terms.
3. The voters were kind enough to honor him with his second term without opposition. Aside from his entrance fee, that race did not cost him a dime.
4. In contrast with some of our county offices, the Ordinary office has netted my opponent thousands and thousands of dollars during these eight years—more than the average business man in Statesboro or the average farmer in Bulloch County has made in a life-time.
5. My opponent has, or should have, saved enough to care for him the remainder of his life.
6. It appears to me that at the end of his two terms he should have thanked the people for their goodness, gracefully step aside (as did F. I. Williams) and give some other worthy and needy man a chance.

Am I right? Or am I wrong? The voters will definitely answer this question next Tuesday.

I have not been able to see all the voters although I have done my dead-level-best. Some public gatherings I have not attended for the reason that I was not financially able. The teachers and members of the P-T. A. will understand.

Other meetings have been entirely too sad and altogether too sacred for me to even think of using them to further my interest in this race.

It has been difficult for me to bear the necessary expenses of my campaign. I am not able to furnish conveyance for those who need help to get to the polls. I trust my friends in the different districts will look after this. I can only repay you with courteous and faithful service in the office.

I beg my friends to go to the polls early and work for me. If you will do this, we will win.

On election day each voter is his own master. As an American citizen he has the right to vote his honest conviction without fear or intimidation. The voters make up the jury. To you I have presented my case. You alone can decide the issue. Let each go about this task as in the fear of Him who rides enthroned in the heavens. With your verdict I shall be satisfied, whatever that verdict may be.

THIS MIGHT BE YOUR LAST OPPORTUNITY TO HELP ME. I ASK YOU TO GIVE ME YOUR SUPPORT. (ADVERTISEMENT)

Santa Claus ice cream and individual cakes with a Christmas candle. Pictures were made of the happy group as they sang around the birthday cake. A delightful climax to the party Santa Claus himself arrived on the scene.

A. A. U. W. SINGS CAROLS AT CHRISTMAS PARTY The Collegeboro branch of the American Association of University Women met on Monday evening, December 11, at the home of Miss Maryina Trussell. Entertaining with Mrs. Trussell were Miss Mamie Jo Jones and Miss Marie Wood. A delightful Christmas party had been arranged by Miss Susie Hammaek and Miss Mary Hill Wakeford had charge of it.

Games were played and carols from several nations were sung with Mrs. Ida Cazor leading and Mrs. W. S. Hanner accompanying. Dicken's "Christmas Carol" was read delightfully to the group by Miss Manie Jo Jones. Each person present brought a gift which will be donated to charity.

At the conclusion of the program, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

BIRTHDAY PARTY Cliff Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cannon, celebrated his fourth birthday Tuesday at ternoon at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Glen Bland. About twenty-five of his playmates were invited to celebrate the happy occasion with him.

Corn was given as favors, and the children were served ice cream and cake. Adding greatly to the delight of the children was a visit from Santa Claus.

JERRY HOWARD CELEBRATES 11TH BIRTHDAY On Friday evening Mrs. Arthur Howard entertained with a prom Main street honoring her son Jerry on his 11th birthday. Fifty of his playmates observed the event with him.

Mrs. Charlie Howard assisted the hostess in entertaining and serving.
