Portal Canning Plant Cans 42,000 Cans Of Vegetables

Forty-two thousand cans of vegetables and fruits canned since June 11 of this year is a shining example of what community co-operation can do toward living comfortably at home.

Such is the story of the Portal community where G. T. Gard has converted families in the Portal community from doubting Thomases to devoted patrons.

Four years ago Mr. Gard began talking a community canning plant. There were those who scoffed the idea on the basis it would cost too much. Not at all discouraged, Mr. Gard, with the members of his vocational agriculture class of thirty boys, secured the permis-

Growers Are Optimistic As Market Opens Here

This morning at 9 o'clock the chant of the auctioneer will become music to the ears of thousands of tobacco growers in Bulloch county and the state of Georgia. Growers are optimistic over the prospect of receiving an average price to equal or more than they received last year.

This year the weed is slower in being brought to the market here because of the positive assurance of the government that the price level will be maintained throughout.

Statesboro Market Grows

During the twelve years since 1928 the Statesboro tobacco market has meant $5,474,789.03 to the people in Statesboro, Bulloch county and this section of the state.

The tobacco market was established here in 1928 as the result of the efforts of a group of the county's leading citizens who had faith in this section. The 36,738,775 pounds of tobacco sold during the twelve years since the first season is a constant reminder of the fruits of their faith and hard work.

The market has grown from 2,306,288 pounds sold in 1928 to 5,751,484 pounds sold in 1939. In the twelve years of the local market, only one year did the sales drop below one million pounds and that was in 1932 when only 527,504 pounds were sold for $41,055.45 at average 7.78 cents per pound. Last year was the peak year when 5,751,484 pounds sold for $751,824.85 at average 12.72 cents per pound. The highest average price per pound was reached in 1938 when 5,196,820 pounds sold for $1,009,143.69 to average 19.65 cents per pound. That also was the only year when the revenue from tobacco sales amounted to over one million dollars.

The local market has led the state for the past three years in the markets with only one set of buyers.

Four warehouses in Statesboro provide excellent facilities for selling the golden weed. Each warehouse is operated by the best men in the business. Mr. W. E. Cobb and Mr. H. P. Foxhall, Mr. R. E. Sheppard have all been here for a number of years. With their co-operation the market here has grown until it now holds an enviable place in the markets in the 1940 increase of only 2,722.7 acres as compared with the 5,200 acres in 1939.

He explained the government's intention of aiding the market by advancing money to the export tobacco companies, stating that the farmers did a fine thing when they voted for production control for the next three years. He added that with the world situation like it is, together with the tremendous carryover of last year's tobacco crop, if the government had not stepped in and expressed its intention to aid the market, this season would have been disastrous.

With reference to the prospects of two sets of buyers here, Mr. Foxhall stated that all that could possibly be done had been done and that he, Mr. Cobb and Mr. Sheppard had the assurance of the buying companies that at the proper time Statesboro would have two sets. He pointed out that the market here has now reached the capacity for one set of buyers. He complimented the business men in Statesboro for the splendid co-operation given the warehousemen in the development of the local market.

W. E. Cobb was also the guest of the club. Mr. Sheppard was invited but was unable to attend.

DR. R. J. KENNEDY IS NEW MEMBER ROTARY CLUB

Dr. Raymond J. Kennedy was initiated into the Statesboro Rotary club at its regular meeting Monday of this week. Dr. Kennedy was presented to the club with an appropriate talk by Dr. A. J. Mooney.

This Week's Sentence Sermon This is what I call the American idea...

Today Is The Day

TODAY MARKS the beginning of a new period in the year 1940.

Today it will be sold and converted into money which in turn will begin to flow into the channels of trade here in Statesboro and Bulloch County.

A note of optimism is injected into the market with the announcement made last week that the Government has succeeded in getting the co-operation of the tobacco buying companies in the attempt to maintain a fair price level during the entire tobacco selling season.

When the market opens today the merchants of Statesboro will have large stocks of merchandise for the occasion and are adjusting their prices to fit every pocketbook.

And again The Herald calls attention to and warn against the entangling of fly-by-night peddlers who will be here today and all during the tobacco season.

Statesboro has four huge tobacco warehouses, well-lighted, with well-trained warehouse forces, a well-known set of buyers, every facility to accommodate the tobacco grower.

The Herald welcomes you, the growers, farmers and visitors, to Statesboro and we wish for you a pleasant stay while with us.

A LONG WAY FROM HOME

SINCE The Statesboro Schools closed in May and S. H. Sherman left for an extended tour of the state he had not heard from him until we read the Douglas Enterprise on July 25.

"S. H. Sherman, former head of the Jesup school but now at Statesboro, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman and their daughters, Betty and Margaret, drove into Washington on the next-end of an 8,000-mile auto-trailer trip which took them into the mid-west and into Canada.

"While the 8,000-mile jaunt was interesting in many respects, Mr. Sherman experienced the most unusual incident at Quebec, Canada, when he attended a meeting of the Rotary Club there.

"Mr. Sherman was seated at the speaker's table between some of Quebec's highest officials, when, as he looked around the luncheon table, he espied his good friend, Albert Way, Brunswick, Georgia, insurance agent.

"It was good to find someone I knew so well at that luncheon," declared Mr. Sherman, "as I was consoled by the fact that someone else besides me was at the meeting who didn't know what the other Rotarians were talking about because everything was spoken in French."

Our Tobacco Supplement

WITH THIS week's issue of The Bulloch Herald we give our readers and our advertisers something brand new in this section.

For the first time in the history of newspapers in Bulloch County, as far as our research has been able to reveal, we are including a supplement to the regular edition of The Bulloch Herald bound and printed on a high-grade book paper, featuring the tobacco market here.

Our supplement represents careful preparation and extreme care in make-up and printing. Before a single ad was submitted to a prospective advertiser a complete dummy was prepared showing approximately how the finished edition would appear.

All the pictures in the supplement are of local interest. All the stories are of local businesses. Because the supplement is printed on excellent paper and bound, we believe that it will remain on the tables in the homes of our readers for some time.

The publishers of The Bulloch Herald wish to thank the advertisers for their whole-hearted acceptance of our efforts to give them something new and different as a medium in which to tell their advertising stories.

Georgia's state school department, under the direction of Dr. M. D. Collins, has established a record of service and achievement which is a credit to the state superintendent and those who work with him.

As evidence of the fact he has built a professional staff and taken the schools out of politics, is the fact most of his department heads hold elective positions of importance in the national educational field.

Dr. Collins himself is national president of that Association of State School Superintendents. M. D. Mobley, state director of vocational education, is president of the National Association of Vocational Directors.

Dr. Collins and his department have done a good job and the people of Georgia should and will recognize that fact. Given a stabilized financial position, they will do an even better job.—The Atlanta Constitution.

So great is the effect of cleanliness upon man, that it extends even to his moral character. Virtue never dwells long with filth; nor do I believe there ever was a person scrupulously attentive to cleanliness, who was a consummate villain.—Rumford.

While we are indifferent to our good qualities, we keep on deceiving ourselves in regard to our faults, until we at last come to look upon them as virtues.—Rochefoucauld.

THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER WEEK TODAY, THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, WILL BE CLEAR AND PLEASANT.

FRIDAY, AUG. 9, CLEAR WITH LOCAL THUNDERSHOWERS.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, CLEAR AND PLEASANT. MOON IN FIRST QUARTER.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 11, CLEAR AND PLEASANT. MONDAY, AUGUST 12, CLEAR AND WARM.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, CLEAR AND WARM. WEDNESDAY, AUG. 14, GENERALLY CLEAR & PLEASANT.

But don't blame us if the almanac is wrong. This is the week that we have been waiting for!

There is a good feeling out there about this year's tobacco. It looks like we are going to do all right.

There are all kinds of meetings being held. Lines are being drawn. There will be much to do in the legislative race in this county before the election.

Doesn't it make you kinda sick when you read in the daily papers about the children from England being sent over to the United States for protection?

Like I understand the idea this year as it was explained by Mr. Foxhall and Mr. Cobb and Mr. Sheppard. I won't have to worry for third in optional drive. Our hats not able to pull the right off-to-map-making method that can successfully keep up with changing conditions in Europe day by day. Then, again, a spectator declares, the hen may think it's Easter and is merely producing colored designs "at random."

TRAFFIC FATALITIES IN BULLOCH DURING FIRST SIX MONTHS 1940

This county reported three traffic accident fatalities in the first six months of 1940—exactly the same number recorded in the 1930 semi-annual period.

Sergeant C. H. Jones, commanding officer of the state patrol district headquarters in Swainsboro, said eighteen other counties had a "no change" status.

Throughout the state as a whole there was a 7 per cent. drop in traffic deaths. Major Lon Sullivan, public safety commissioner, said. At the end of June this year, 319 fatalities were reported, and at the end of the same period last year 343 had been reported.

Inability to obtain cotton which has been ginned properly and which is smooth in preparation has made it difficult for cotton mills to meet buyer requirements.

Next year's AAA program will continue emphasis on soil conservation.

Active in the drive for prevention of accidents is the Farm Security Administration, with field men working with all families on the farm security program to reduce accidents on farms.

More than twenty-five out of every 100 ginners are using extra-tractor-feeders to improve the grade of lint cotton in the southeastern states.

All's Fair . . .

This week our column will be dedicated to our trippers or members of Statesboro society who are bitten by the travel bug.

Alfred Merle Dorman is back from her trans-continental trek and the map marked to show her route looks like a graph measuring a stock market on a spree. Alfred Merle says that her group hit the place they wanted most to see. At Treasure Island off San Francisco they enjoyed watching Johnny Weissmuller at Billy Rose's aquaduct. They went to a show at Carthy Circle where the premieres are held and were thrilled to have Charles Farrell, of the Farrell Gaylor team, come in and sit down near them. At a boxing match they saw Bill Robinson dragged onto the mat after the bout for a spot of tap dancing, and on the same night saw Fred Allen and Jack Haley. They also saw Clark Gable, the Ritz brothers and Chester Morris—and what burned up their perspiring columnist for three weeks of their trip they had to wear coats. Alfred Merle says that the ride along the coast from California to Washington state was lovely, the blue Pacific on one side of the highway and towering red woods on the other. Up at Lake Louise, that superbly beautiful lake in Canada, they saw two men feeding a bear and they rushed up to enjoy this bit of wild life but their interest in the bears soon waned when they discovered that the man feeding the bears was Henry Fonda. In Minneapolis they went to a rodeo and featured there was our Saturday night idol, Gene Autry, and she says he's no drug store cowboy.

As we interviewed Mary Sue Akins, who with her Bobbie Smith, Margaret Remington and Dot Remington, have returned from a visit to New York City and the World's fair, we were forced to realize that Statesboro people have a way of winning recognition wherever they go. Tommy Dorsey dedicated a number to Miss Mary Sue Akins, Statesboro, Ga. The occasion was Mary Sue's birthday and the other girls in the party had sent in the request—and gave Mary Sue a pleasant birthday surprise.

Naive remark: Billy Waller in his family before boarding a bus for Key West where he and his sister, Betty, will visit for several weeks. "I wonder if there'll be a place to go in swimming." . . . And Eunice Johnson raving about the Northbeach at Tybee Friday and Saturday. As the island began to be submerged apparently Eunice says she wasn't excited at all and wouldn't have missed it for anything. However, when they got back and she told Pete to get in the bath tub he rolled up, and said, "I don't want to drown this morning."

Card from Corrine Pafford places her on an Indian reservation in the Great Smokies . . . And "A. K." Amason is settled in a lovely white brick bungalow on North Decatur road about three-quarters of a mile from Emory university—and, girls, in case you're going up the bus two bedrooms. A. K. was thrilled so soon after her arrival there that Mrs. Cone (Sara Franklin's mother) came in with a bowl of lovely flowers . . .

As ever, JANE.

Would a GASOLINE PIPE LINE in Georgia Help You or HURT YOU?

Of course it would hurt the railroads! Of course it would hurt railroad employees! But the question is, would it hurt YOU? Would it hurt your schools, your counties, your cities, your merchants, your ports, your highways? The answer is YES.

The question arises because the Southeastern Pipe Line Company (owned by two large oil companies dominated by the Mellon millions of Pittsburgh and the Daves millions of Chicago) has demanded the right to condemn private property to put such a line through Georgia, and the Supreme Court has denied it. Now the pipe line is about to ask the Legislature of Georgia to give this power, not only to the Southeastern but to any other gasoline pipe line company that may come.

Will gasoline pipe lines reduce the price you pay for gasoline? Answer: No—according to the sworn testimony of company officials at public hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and according to the whole history of the industry. Any saving in transportation cost is just that much profit made by the gasoline pipe line companies for their owners—the oil companies.

Will gasoline pipe lines take big gasoline trucks off the highways? Answer: No—the pipe line would not want to consume or fill up its large storage tanks, and distribution would be made from there all Georgia, largely by truck. These trucks would not only have to move more numerous, but larger, and Georgia's roads would be even more crowded than now with huge gasoline trucks.

What result would gasoline pipe lines have on employment? Answer: The railroads now employ about 25,000 persons in Georgia. The Southeastern Pipe Line Company would employ about 100 persons. Yes, the loss in gasoline traffic to the railroads would cause at least 2,500 railway employees to be thrown out of work. Since all employees of ports, hauling companies, and small independent gasoline companies would also lose their jobs.

What result would gasoline pipe lines have on Georgia's schools? Answer: It would mean a yearly loss in trade of more than $5,000,000, which would mean 2,000 railway employees now spending their home-town merchandise. This does not include trade losses from affiliated workers, nor losses in purchases made by the railways themselves.

World gasoline pipe lines hurt Georgia's schools? Answer: Yes—the taxes paid last year by the railroads for schools educated are cut, their taxable value is cut—and reduced. Informed school authorities are, therefore, opposing gasoline pipelines.

Would other Georgia tax-revenues be cut? Answer: Yes—there would be a tremendous slash in revenue. In 1939 railroads paid in property taxes alone in Georgia $2,662,313.97. Georgia railroads are assessed at $79,047,072.00 for taxation. Gasoline pipe lines would drain them of the railroads' earnings, making them unable to pay and meet their high taxes. For this reason, nearly one hundred of Georgia's County Boards of Commissioners have passed resolutions opposing gasoline pipe lines.

Wake up, Georgians! Stop this invasion of our state before it is too late. You don't want your school term shortened and your teachers unpaid—you don't want your taxes increased—you don't want to see thousands of honest Georgians lose their jobs and your mechanics lose thousands of dollars! The pipe line companies plan to ask our legislature to change the existing law and give them the right to cross your highways—the right to take your property without your consent. Tell your candidates for the Legislature that in your interests as tax-payers and citizens you feel that the pipe line companies' request should be refused. AND DO IT NOW!

SIMPLE MEALS FOR SUMMER

Simple meals have more appeal during the summer, and they give the home-maker more free hours for a vacation right at home.

You want to feel the weather-man with refreshing chilled dishes. Crisp salads, iced beverages, jellied soups, and frozen desserts, can be prepared ahead of time and be ready to serve when the dinner bell rings.

You also want at least one hot dish, even when the mercury soars. For variety in the hot dish try serving creamed ham, veal, chicken, or seafood in the center of hot ring mold-made of rice or noodles.

Or serve the steamed food in party shells. Another idea is to use a meat mixture for stuffing such as cabbage leaves. And there'll be no end to your list of hot dishes if you use cheese, fish, or leftover meat in casserole dishes with vegetables and some starches, such as rice, noodles, or spaghetti.

Egg dishes usually require little preparation and most of them cook quickly. You might have eggs baked in individual serving dishes, an omelet, soufflé, or timbales.

Make these egg dishes a hearty main course and some cheese, lettuce, over meat, fish, or vegetables.

Fresh vegetables are included in good diet plans the year around, but the summer vegetables seem most interesting because they are so colorful. Right now many vegetables come fresh from nearby farms, and are low in price.

With so many vegetables to choose from, you may be tempted to plan an entire menu around them. For a vegetable plate you might choose fresh peas for their bright green color, roasting ears of white or yellow corn, or plump red tomatoes to broil or bake.

Snap beans and lima beans are also at their peak in most localities, and the season for yellow squash is beginning. New beets and carrots are plentiful in nearby farms, and are low in price.

Some of the less common greens suggest ways to vary summer salads. Tender young leaf lettuce is always a favorite. Romaine, chicory, endive and escarole are other salad greens to try.

In buying vegetables it's best to make a personal selection in order to get fresh, firm vegetables that are free from bruises. Those of uniform size and regular shape have less waste and are easiest to prepare.

Most vegetables are best when eaten as soon as possible after they reach the home kitchen, especially peas and corn, because they lose much of their flavor after standing only a short time.

Use the refrigerator to keep crisp. The summer fruit bowl is easy to fill with peaches, plums, grapes, apricots, cherries, and berries now on the market—in addition to the year-round bananas, apples, pears and oranges.

The melon season is also in full swing with watermelons, cantaloupes, honey balls and honeydews available. Use fruits generously in fruit cups as a first course, in salads, and for dessert.

Use the fruit alone for dessert, or use it in one of your summer specialties—ice cream or sherbert. These frozen desserts are convenient for the cook, and a delight to the family.

In planning summer meals, the beverage sometimes presents a problem. Iced beverages are usually the choice on hot days, but they should not be allowed to take the place of the daily quart of milk for the children and the pint of milk for adults. Milk itself, is refreshing when served as cold as it should be to keep safely. For variety you can make a milk shake, with chocolate syrup or sweetened fruit juice.

'GREEN HAND' AT REGISTER SCHOOL AUG. 23

"The Green Hand," first full feature-length motion picture ever to be filmed in the south with an all-southern cast, will be the least attraction of a two-hour movie program to be presented free to the people of Bulloch county at 8:15 o'clock p.m. Friday, Aug. 23, in the Register High school auditorium.

O. E. Gay, teacher of vocational agriculture at the Register school, who is in charge of arrangements for this special community program, stated that the people of Bulloch county are very fortunate in having this opportunity to view "The Green Hand," which has been in constant demand throughout the nation ever since its production in Georgia some few months ago.

The program, Mr. Gay announced, will include an educational short subject filmed in natural color, entitled "Southern Sunrise" and a cartoon comedy.

Admission is to be free and no collection of any kind will be taken, Mr. Gay declared.

"The Green Hand," adapted from the book of the same name by Dean Paul W. Chapman, of the college of agriculture, University of Georgia, is the story of a southern farm boy who is expelled from school as an incorrigible but who is reclaimed by a teacher of vocational agriculture and developed into a powerful leader.

The film had its premiere before 100 southern civic and political notables and 6,000 F. F. A. boys in Athens, Ga., and ever since then has been receiving the plaudits of educational and agricultural leaders wherever it has shown.

INSPECTION OF MILK HANDLERS The local health department is completing today an inspection of fifty-seven places in Statesboro where milk is handled.

These places inspected include drug stores, hotels, cafes, grocery stores, filling stations and all other places where milk is being sold. Joseph Clark and John Montaldo, health engineers making the inspection for the department, state they are pleased with the co-operation being given them in the observance of the city milk ordinance. They find that every handler of milk is complying with the ordinance except in a few cases where the large poster furnished by the health department indicating the grade of milk being sold is not being prominently displayed.

Mr. Clark points out that it is necessary and important that the card carrying the grade of milk for sale be posted in a conspicuous place.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Montaldo are urging that all employers of food handlers have their employees examined and blood tests made, and require the employee to secure a health certificate. This includes families hiring a cook, and all employers of food handlers. Mr. Clark points out that this is for the protection of the city of Statesboro, and that the ordinance requires such examination and possession of a health certificate.

FARM LADIES KEEP HOME RECORD

Farm wives, and the farm youth, now keep accurate records of their farming activities, said Miss Lucile Higgins, home management supervisor of the Farm Security Administration in Bulloch county.

"In the past the farmers have shied off from keeping records, but last year many kept them for the first time and found them very useful," said Miss Higgins.

"Some of the farmers thought they were keeping them for the FSA, but when they learned that the record books were for their own use to show them where they were making money or spending it unwisely, their interest quickened."

"Many of them were surprised to learn that their sales of vegetables, outside of the market, had been kept in a record book."

As a result of the knowledge gained from the record book, better farm plans have been developed and will make more money for them this year.

Storm Damage Estimated at A Million Dollars in Bulloch

With an estimated $1,000,000 loss, Statesboro and Bulloch county is still counting up the cost of the hurricane which swept inland from the sea Sunday afternoon and Sunday night, ripping roofs off homes, burning schools, breaking trees off, clogging highways and streets and causing widespread damage to crops and property.

Yesterday afternoon telegraph connections with the outside were still out. Power and lights in most of the county were restored Tuesday night. Temporary phone services were 75 per cent. cleared and the balance will be completed in about five days.

Insurance agencies here were swamped with wind and tornado damage claims from all over the county.

The storm which struck here was centered near Beaufort, S. C., where it is said the winds reached hurricane force of over 75 miles an hour.

It struck here during the middle of Sunday afternoon and continued through the night. Those who were in the county at that time reported that the wind was blowing down from the north and was very strong.
