Who's standing in the way of Georgia's progress now?

Not every man who aims at high places is one who is fitted to the great and nobler work of the age. Many will be raised to high positions, who can never rise to the level of the age, who can never reach the summit of the mountain. It is not every man who can understand his own position, who can grasp his own destiny, who can see the world as it is, who can see the work of God as it is.
