Hodges, of Bulloch, Earn Title Master Farm Family

A well balanced system of farming has been the policy of the Wade C. Hodges, of Statesboro, in Bulloch county, a Master Farm Family of 1941.

The Wade C. Hodges Named State's Master Farm Family

The family of Wade C. Hodges, Sr., of Bulloch county, who was chosen as one of six Master Farm Families by the Progressive Farmer...

There are eight children in the Hodges family, ranging in ages from 11 to 28. W. C., Jr., the fourth child, has remained on the farm...

According to Byron Dyer, Bulloch county agent, there are three outstanding things about the Hodges family. To put it in his own words, he says, "They are always willing to cooperate with anything that is progressive; they are successful in farming, and they have educated their children."

Farm Bureau Studies Nutrition's Place

Nutrition's place in every-day living to prepare for war period now will be discussed at the Farm Bureau meeting Friday evening in the court house.

Fred G. Blitch, president of the Farm Bureau, stated that it seems this war is to be won or lost on what people have to eat and that he wanted every member of the organization to know what was being done about this phase of the program.

H. G. Dasher, soil conservationist for this area, has promised Mr. Blitch, who is also a member of the board of supervisors for the Ogeechee River district, that one or more of the men to be stationed here would work with the individual farmer.

LIGHTNING STRIKES AND KILLS NEGRO. Lightning struck and killed James Bell, colored, near Foss ginery, between Statesboro and Newby, yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock.

Bell was standing under a sycamore tree, putting water in the radiator of his car, when the bolt struck him. It broke his neck and he died immediately. He was working with Linton Bland, on the estate of L. L. Clifton. He was about 30 years old.

3 Made Farm Home Alumnae Statesboro Mother Is Proud Of Son With RAF in England

One of the high spots of Farm & Home week in Athens last week was the first organization of an Alumnae association. Bulloch county had three alumnae in the association, including Mrs. R. L. (Bub) Lanier, Miss Lucille Brannen and Miss Marie Ann Blitch.

The theme of the program for the week was "Recognizing and Using All Resources, Capacities and Possibilities in Preparing For the Adjustment to Changing Conditions." Classes were given each day so that the women might choose among nutrition, clothing, home improvement and other home-making courses.

Others attending for the entire week were Mrs. J. D. Blitch, Sr., representing the Bulloch county Home Demonstration council; Miss Irma Spears, county home demonstration agent; Mrs. Dorsey Nesmith, Mrs. W. E. Brannon, Mrs. Cuyler Jones, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. D. B. Franklin, Mrs. Renner Lanier, Mrs. John T. Allen, Mrs. Gary DeLore, Mrs. John Waters, Mrs. Barney Culp and Miss Margie Durden.

Register FFA Spends Week at St. Simons On Annual Recreation Trip

Members of the Register F. F. A. are spending the week at St. Simons Island. The trip is an annual affair, made possible by funds raised by the chapter at Register. Its chief feature is the recreation of the members in the form of swimming and fishing.

Those making the trip are Leonard Anderson, Charles McGalliard, Beverly Olliff, Calvin Key, W. J. Akerman, Jack Tillman, Eddie Bohler, Olliff Dekle, Eddie Tillman, George Thomas, Holloman, Frank Simmons, O. E. Gray, chapter advisor, and Jimmy Atwood, chief fisherman, accompanied by the boys on the trip.

Jaycee's Informal Ladies' Night Party

With informality the keynote the members of the junior chamber of commerce celebrated their annual Ladies' night with a party last Thursday night.

More than forty members and their wives and dates were present at the celebration. Hoke Brunson, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

Rotarians Hear About Gas Tax

Members of the Rotary club heard Neil W. Printup, secretary, Georgia Petroleum Industries committee, explain the gasoline tax as a fiscal measure at its regular meeting held here Monday noon.

Mr. Printup was introduced to the club by A. B. McDougald, who had charge of the program. Mr. Printup, in his talk, explained the viewpoint of the petroleum industry with reference to gasoline taxes. In doing so, he gave an outline of the principles adopted for the guidance of the petroleum industries committees.

He pointed out that over half of the motor vehicles today are used in business or occupations. "While indispensable to the farmer, the automobile is also necessary to all who must have individual transportation since mass transportation is not always available or sufficient," said Mr. Printup.

"I would seem," he continued, "that in the obtaining of additional revenue, taxes should be applied on a broad and uniform basis. While we do not question the need of additional revenue, we are forced to question the propriety of placing additional taxes on an article which is already over-taxed and which is already contributing more than its share."

J. H. Morrison New SHS Head

John H. Morrison was elected head of the city schools of Statesboro, it was announced here Saturday afternoon of last week by F. T. Lanier, chairman of the local education board. He will succeed S. H. Sherman, who resigned last week to go to Dublin, Russia.

Mr. Morrison has been head of the school at Thomas for the past nine years. Before that he was head of the school of Sylk. He received his education at Emory university and the University of Georgia.

Mr. Morrison and Mrs. Morrison will be in Statesboro this week-end to make arrangements for living quarters. They have four children—Beth, who is a recreation director in Atlanta and Maletta; Haygood, who is in the naval Reserve at Northwestern university; Frank, who will enter the service next fall; and Anne, who will be a senior at the high school.

Watson Is Named Clerk of Statesboro

J. G. Watson was named clerk of the city of Statesboro and clerk of the city council at a meeting of the city council held here Friday night.

Watson succeeds Glenn Bland, who handed in his resignation to the city council Tuesday night of last week. Mr. Watson will assume his duties Sept. 15. He is now assistant secretary and treasurer of the Statesboro Production Credit association.

For fourteen years he was associated with the Sea Island bank and for many years was cashier. In 1935 he became assistant secretary of the Statesboro Production Credit association.

Tobacco Season to Close Here Tomorrow After Fourteen Days

It was announced this week that the local tobacco season will come to a close tomorrow (Friday). The market opened here Aug. 5 and upon closing will have operated for fourteen days.

Fine Tribute Paid Pittmans By Friends In This Section

With all the majestic beauty of "Twelve Oaks," the Pittman home overlooked a scene Friday evening combining the beauty, the sentiment and the ardent admiration of Southern folk for their favorite heroes. Statesboro people gathered at an "Appreciation Party" planned and executed by admirers of Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, whose services at the Georgia Teachers College are concluded at the end of the present summer session.

The party, as its name implies, had no other purpose than to lay at the feet of the retiring principal of the Bulloch Times, what was quite the most impressive and an accolade commensurate to his achievements. The "appreciation gift" was a silver service in the Chantilly pattern. Hinton Booth introduced representative members of the various clubs.

D. B. Turner gave a tribute for the chamber of commerce; Alfred Dorman spoke for the Rotary club; Josh Lanier, for the junior chamber of commerce; Miss E. E. McCroan, one of the earliest trustees for the college. Mr. Ernest Brannen, for the parent-teacher association, and Judge J. E. McCroan, one of the earliest trustees for the college. Following the warm and eloquent praise of his fellow citizens and the presentation of the handsome service, Dr. Pittman rose and faced his friends, and with his voice choking with emotion, he addressed them: "For twenty years I am truly thankful. For the lovely party given here to-night I am thankful too. I know that what has been said here tonight has come from the hearts of these people and is not just idle talk."

"Probably many of you are wondering just what I am going to do, now that I am leaving the college. To tell you the truth, I'm not sure what I'm going to do. But I do know this, for the past thirty years I have lived near good fishing and I have never taken time to go fishing. I intend now to catch up on my fishing. I believe that if I had taken time off and learned how to fish I might have been more successful fishing for men."

"I'm behind with my handshaking. I'm going to catch up on that. I'm going all over the coastal empire shaking hands."

"I'm behind with my reading. Why just the other day I was awfully embarrassed to have a book presented to me which they had taken from our own college library and it was a book of arrangements with various committees co-operating to make the occasion a memorable one."

Our Master Farm Family

ANNOUNCEMENT was made last week from Athens that six families of the Empire State had been named as Georgia's 1941 Master Farm Families.

One of those families is one of Bulloch County's leading families—the Wade C. Hodges.

Wade C. Hodges, Mrs. Wade C. Hodges, and their eight children—four boys and four girls—make Bulloch and this section wonderful representatives in the highest accolade of agriculture in Georgia.

Mr. Hodges began farming forty years ago. For twenty-seven years he has been living on the place where he and his family now reside.

Twenty-seven years ago his farm lands consisted of 127 acres. Today his home centers 1,400 acres which he owns. He rents 1,800 more and of the 3,200 acres he farms, 1,400 are in cultivation.

With a balanced program the key to his success, Mr. Hodges has 225 acres in cotton, five acres in tobacco, 600 acres of corn, 150 head of beef cattle, including a registered Hereford bull, and eighty-five brood cows, 250 head of hogs, 100 sheep, large flocks of turkeys and chickens.

Believing in tractor farming, Mr. Hodges still keeps eighteen head of work stock.

This Master Farmer is active in farm organizations, being a member of the Farm Bureau, a member of the State Cotton Co-Op Board, and has served on all the co-operative organization's boards in the county.

Mrs. Hodges is active in farm women organizations, having been the president of the Home Demonstration Club council and president of the county P.-T.-A. Council.

With eight children, three have finished college, two are now in college one in high school, one in grammar school, and one is at home after a year in the agricultural college.

Mr. Hodges and his family became the fourth Bulloch County family to be awarded the state's highest agriculture award. Other Bulloch Counties who have been awarded this honor are W. H. Smith (1929), C. B. Gay (1934) and John H. Brannen (1938). This county is the only county in the state to have four Master Farmers.

Bulloch County is proud of the Hodges and its other Master Farmers. It is families like theirs that make this county the banner county, "Where Nature Smiles and Progress has the Right-of-Way."

We congratulate you, Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, and members of your family.

Freedom Is Made of Simple Stuff

WHAT PROMISES to become a newspaper classic appeared recently in the Louisville-Courier-Journal. It is a piece written by Hazel Parker, a young lady on that paper's staff. She called it "Freedom Is Made of Simple Stuff."

"Freedom! What is it? We all know it is something given to us and guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, but if we were called upon to define it, we would be unable to do so, except in rather vague terms. Miss Parker, however, has come closer to telling us what Freedom is in the following:

"FROM THE archives of broken peace we are bringing out old words and dusting them off for use again as shining lanterns to lead us through the darkness of another war."

"Words like freedom, justice and truth—all of them hard to define, none of them used more frequently than freedom."

"You cannot say what freedom is, perhaps, in a single sentence. It is not necessary to define it. It is enough to point to it."

"Freedom is a man lifting a gate latch at dusk and sitting for a while on the porch, smoking his pipe, before he goes to bed."

"It is the evidence of an argument outside an election poll; it is the righteous anger of the pulpits."

"It is the warm laughter of a girl on a park bench."

"It is the rush of a train over the continent and the unfraternal faces of people looking out the windows."

"It is all the howdys in the world, and all the hells."

"It is Westbrook Pegler telling Roosevelt how to raise his children; it is Roosevelt letting them raise themselves."

"It is Lindbergh's appealing voice raised above a thousand hisses."

"It is Dorothy Thompson asking for war; it is Gen. Hugh Johnson asking her to keep quiet."

"It is you trying to remember the words to 'Star Spangled Banner.'"

"It is the sea breaking on wide sands somewhere and the shoulders of a mountain supporting the sky."

"It is the air you fill your lungs with and the dirt that is your garden."

"It is a man cursing all cops."

"It is the abiding apprehension at the sound of approaching footsteps outside your closed door."

"It is your hot resentment of intrigue the tilt of your chin and the tightening of your lips sometimes."

"It is all the things you do and want to keep on doing."

"It is all the things you feel and cannot help feeling."

"Freedom—it is you."

Gold In Them Thar---Hogs

THE QUESTION of grub and the getting thereof very definitely suggests a return to the profiteering days of World War I. If this be true, the average is going to have to pay a mighty premium as a result of Uncle Sam's decision not to take any more lip from Hitler.

For instance, four pounds of lard in March cost 29 cents. Today that lard will bring 47 cents, although only five months have elapsed. Old-time fatback in March was 6 1/2 cents, whereas by August it had climbed to 12 1/2 cents.

At the same time, the producer is getting his cut. Hogs in March brought 6 cents, today they are nearer 11 cents per pound. If they keep on, a grunt will be worth about 10 cents.

If the farmer, wholesaler and retailer are all getting their cut, the man left on the limb is the average laborer, the man of the street, the clerk, the barber, the baker and the candlestick-maker. To meet the increase they must hike their prices, and that is speeding toward inflation, good and proper.

It is true that there is a greater demand for food nowadays for the very simple physical fact that soldiers, exercising as they never did in civilian life, eat more. Multiply this by a million men and you have a sizeable increase in food consumption.

With this greater demand, there comes a deater price. Multiply this by a million civilians and their families and you have a sizeable increase in the drain upon the old pocketbook. In other words, the old cotton sock experiences a deflation.

The only answer, it seems, is that there is a price to pay for national defense. But that price is worth it, when it means the preservation of the American way of living—Gainesville Eagle.

MORE SMALL FARMS

CENSUS FIGURES show that in respect to size, there was, from 1930 to 1940, a marked increase in the number of small farms—those under ten acres. This was especially the case in New England, in many of the eastern and Southern states. Many farms in the west and South, however, have been consolidated.

MILK SETS RECORD AN ALL-TIME record of milk production on United States farms has been set during the first six months of 1941. Production was about 5 per cent greater than for the first half of 1940 and amounted to nearly sixty billion pounds for the half-year. For the years 1935 to 1939 the average for the first six months was nearly fifty-four billion pounds.

HOGS LIKE CORN CORN IS A universal hog-feeding crop and should always be used to a greater or lesser extent in developing the swine feeding program, says the Agricultural Extension Service. Incidentally, the 1941 estimated production of corn in Georgia has been placed at 44,979,000 bushels.

PASTURE SOILS WELL-DRAINED lowlands make the best permanent pastures. Like other crops, pasture plants require fertile soil for their maximum growth and little can be expected when worn-out soils are seeded.

In some sections, E. D. Alexander, extension agronomist, points out that it will be necessary to depend upon the uplands for grazing.

THINGS REALLY POPPED in Statesboro the first of August. Mayor Cone's death on July 30 marked the beginning of the turn-over of the city council. First, Councilman Hook was made mayor and J. B. Johnson was elected councilman to fill Dr. Hook's place. Then Councilman John Everett Phifer and Mrs. Morris was elected to fill his place. The council is now stands as follows: Dr. H. F. Hook, mayor; J. Gilbert Cone, Glenn Jennings, and J. B. Johnson, Thad Morris and Lannie F. Simmons, councilmen. And Glenn Bland, city clerk, resigned and J. G. (Joe) Watson is named to succeed him.

SOMETIMES WE HAVE A fair to "mediary size job getting enough news fit to print" in our front page. We have to go out just make news, then again, like this month, plenty happens and makes it easy.

Finally, this little girl (the person telling us the story did not give us the girl's name) just up and said, "Now, let's talk about me. That's the way we heard it... We wish someone would give us the real low-down. Did it really happen?"

RAW VEGETABLE JUICES Raw vegetable juices are not only likely to have a high bacterial content, but they also contain many disease germs, Hygela, the health magazine, warns.

Pasteurization or modern process of canning juices destroys bacteria and harmful disease germs and thus makes the juice safe for consumption.

THE NATIONAL DEFENSE act is a tax on beer, think of it not only as a beverage of moderation—think of it as a taxpayer, with its total tax bill in state and nation of over $1,000,000 a day.

FOUR RULES FOR DENTAL HEALTH

The dental health of the whole family can be assured if mothers improve by including in the diet all food essentials, and by the reduction of highly refined carbohydrates.

Rule No. 1: Eat the proper food for general health and for dental health. Most health authorities agree that dental health can be improved by including in the diet all food essentials, and by the reduction of highly refined carbohydrates.

Rule No. 2: Perform faithfully the tasks of mouth hygiene. This should be brushed regularly and thoroughly for appearance's sake, for real cleanliness, and to help prevent decay. Children should brush teeth after every meal.

Rule No. 3: Keep semi-annual appointments for examination by a professional dentist. It is needed to establish and maintain a healthy mouth condition. We do not hesitate to hurry to the dentist for a check-up.

Rule No. 4: (The special responsibility of mothers) Keep the child on the dental pathway. The baby teeth must be carefully brushed to prevent the formation of the permanent teeth. Particular caution must be taken to preserve the first permanent molars.

M. E. Boyd.

The announcement follows the report that tarpon and other big game fish are being caught around Savannah.

Mr. Day states that the Viola, formerly a private yacht, will take out parties in search of tarpon, marlin, blue fish, channel bass and other big game fish. He pointed out that Capt. Boyd is well known in this section for his knowledge of the coastal waters and of the habits of the finny tribe.

Fisherman, said Mr. Day, may write for full information and bookings of the Viola.

Aggressive plans for rendering service to women in their rising trend toward home baking were completed at the eighty-second annual convention of the Rumford Chemical Works, Rumford, R. I., from which Jack M. Rayls, the Rumford baking powder representative of this territory, including Statesboro, recently attended.

Mr. Rayls, on returning, stated that the keynote of the merchandising plan for the balance of 1941 is the renewed determination to use newspaper advertising. They are now using more than 800 newspapers.

The sales convention featured the contrast of the ancient eighteenth century coach and the big air transport. Always associated with pioneering, Rumford was the first baking powder, as it is today the only calcium phosphate baking powder with national distribution.

Nevils News

By MISS MAUDE WHITE

The annual picnic to be held by the Nevils Vacation Readers' club has been postponed until a later date, because of the spread of infantile paralysis. Although there are no cases of this disease in the immediate community as has been reported, but there are a few cases in the county. Children were given permission to come to the school building on Wednesday also to check book if they or their parents wished to avoid group meetings. This club has been very successful in spite of working under such extreme adverse circumstances this summer. The enrollment reached 105 members. Approximately 200 books were put into circulation each week. The meetings were held regularly each Saturday afternoon. The club will continue to meet until school opens.

Mrs. Slaton Lanier, of Savannah, was visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapleton Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Burned announced the birth of a son on Monday, Aug. 9.

Miss Maude White, who was attending summer school at G. T. Collegeboro, this term, was carried to the Bulloch County hospital for an operation for appendicitis Monday morning. Miss White had an attack of appendicitis Saturday night, and upon the recommendation of Dr. Stapleton, she was carried to the hospital Monday morning.

STORING VEGETABLES Elmo Ragsdale, extension horticulturist, calls attention to the fact that there are many places for storage of vegetables. Among them are basements, cellars, pits and caves, banks or mounds, and trenches in the field. Important factors in the storage of many vegetables are control of light, temperature, ventilation, and moisture.

Ed Martin writes of World War II in letter to Herald Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last week we received a letter from Ed Martin, a Statesboro boy, now in the Military police at Charleston, S. C. Believing that people are interested in what Ed has to say, we are publishing the letter in full. We feel sure that Ed will not mind.

Dear Leodel: Please excuse a scratchy two-bit pen. I shall try to write you a few lines. I wish you were here to help me engage the English sailors in conversation. Two English subchasers are here for repairs.

Our English cousins are quite interesting to talk with. Piece by piece, I put together some real facts by learning of different Englishmen's stories and experiences. The saddest was a 19-year-old Scotchman. He is from Glasgow.

This boy was one of 300,000 who was fleeing from France when he reached Dunkirk Beach. He had a strong will to live. Back home he had a widowed mother, brothers and sisters he loved more than himself. Most of the Germans who were in hot pursuit of fleeing Englishmen were wiped out.

It was Stuka dive bombers that played havoc, not German land forces. Dead Germans and English were falling everywhere. This boy hid behind a sand dune on Dunkirk Beach. No German traveling on foot got nearer than 400 yards of the breaking waters of the beach. The last German on land fled the water 400 yards of the beach.

They were anchored in the channel were all kinds of boats to the rescue. Tugs, sailboats, tramps, transport, passenger, sweepers, ladders, fishing and warships.

But the men had to wade far out to reach row boats or motor launches. Their ships were anchored in the deep water. This 19-year-old boy said he would be his life he moved down 2,000 Germans from behind his sand dune. The boy was a good machine-gunner. The Germans were so sure of themselves they were foolish enough to think they could win. Air force alone could crush all English on Dunkirk. The German air force never overestimated themselves. But the boys of dead Germans proved the boys on land underestimated the English.

This 19-year-old boy, after killing 2,000 of the last Germans on land, dashed for the water. It was his fifth day and night on Dunkirk. Twenty transports and other kinds of ships were in the particular convoy this boy was to join.

The skies by now were black with German dive bombers. No English aloves were there. It would have been too bad for the few RAF if they had dared come near. Dashing into the water to wade to a motor launch, a bomb fell. Schrapnel took the boy's head. He was killed in France. Have you thought about how much acreage to devote to winter cover crops for next year? Right now is the time to start thinking about it. If seed is needed, they need to be secured early. Also best results will be obtained if a good job is done. Then, too, every extra acre planted in cover crops will be doing that much more for the land through increasing and holding the fertility.

The English are all confident. They told me the English would slowly but surely defeat Hitler. The English are not gullible. They need Churchill's pep to keep their morale firm against Hitler's false peace talk. A boy from London said the people are not gullible and if Churchill was gullible enough to listen to any Hitler lies, he (Churchill) would be killed tomorrow.

The only peace the English want is a peace they can get from a crushed, defeated Germany. They heard them talk, it's a battle to the last man; a battle till England is in ruins rather than do as France did.

England never let France down. The French felt safe and secure, in a little world all their own, behind the Maginot line. The French were good soldiers. They were killed to sleep by their own politicians in a sense of false luxury and security. Yes sir! France wanted ease and luxury. They wanted a 40-hour week. They wanted a John L. Lewis, a New Deal government. They wanted to eat their cake and have it, too. They had labor trouble, inside political selfishness. They fought among themselves even when the enemy were upon their shores.

We are eating our cake now in the U. S. A. "God, U. S. A. and England, save our cake!" was evidently France's attitude. Ungrateful France has fallen. I once heard Bro. Coalsen preach a sermon. He convinced me then that the great cause caused more suffering and sin than any word in the English language.

When I think of France, I Ninety per cent of the time, Bro. Coalsen knows what he's talking about.

Yours sincerely, ED MARTIN.
