SENTENCE SERMON

The motives of the best actions will not bear too strict an inquiry. It is allowed that the cause of most actions, good or bad, may be resolved into the love of ourselves; but the self-love of some men inclines them to please others, and the self-love of others is wholly employed in pleasing themselves.

THE VOICE OF YOUTH IS LOUD!

YOUNG PEOPLE oft-times see things clearer than and in a different light from older people. They go direct to the heart of a thing. No beating about the bush and hemming and hawing, like their elders.

And when something comes along that directly affects them they go into action.

Students of the University of Georgia, at Athens, are upset. Upset because they have been given reason to believe that after December their one, two and three years in college will have been spent to a large degree in vain.

On Wednesday last week, 1,000 students of the University went to the State Capitol in Atlanta to protest to the Governor of Georgia. They went in student-owned cars, in cars loaned by citizens of Athens and in taxicabs. They made an orderly march on the Capitol. It was not a rowdy demonstration, but it was direct and forceful and one of the people of Georgia should long remember. The boys and girls conducted the demonstration in the manner of youth—banners, placards, effigies and all the trimmings conceived by youthful imaginative minds.

It all came about when, as a result of Governor Eugene Talmadge's recent political manipulations of the University System, the University of Georgia was dropped from the Southern University Conference—a hint of worse blows to come.

There's no doubt that when the committee of the Southern Association of Colleges meets in December they will take the same action and drop Georgia from the Southern accredited list.

That action will amount to a slap in the face of every boy and girl in the State attending one of the sixteen units of the System. Your boy and girl here in Bulloch County and Statesboro who attends the Georgia Teachers College will feel it.

And they had nothing to do with it! By a series of manipulations and maneuvers, a part of which began in our own community here in Statesboro, Governor Talmadge has destroyed the work of a century and a half of labor. He has fixed things so that a degree earned by your boy or girl from the University will not be recognized by any other colleges in the land. And until the University is re-accredited, its instruction will not be recognized by any of the other schools. Its effectiveness will be impaired to such a degree that no one will want to send his children to school there.

Teachers and professional men trained there will lose much of their prestige. And in spite of all this our Governor still maintains that he is right in saying, "Georgians do not care to remain in any association that in any way condones or tolerates the idea of social equality between the negroes and the whites."

And his words are hurled back into his face when 1,000 students say: "The Governor has often expressed himself as believing that racial equality has been taught on the University of Georgia campus and other campuses. We, as students of the University, feel that we know the facts and should know if such things had been advocated and practiced. We honestly state to the Governor and to the state that no racial equality has been taught, advocated or practiced on this or any other campus."

The voice of these students is loud. And it is a sincere cry. They are fighting for their rights. They are fighting for the life of their University.

For their right to take their high place in American education which a diploma from the University of Georgia should entitle them to.

And every man and woman in Georgia loving his children should give them "all-out aid."

WHEN MEN appreciate boys, their own and those of his neighbor, and goes out of their way to show it, then there can't be much wrong with a

On Wednesday night a group of men played host to the members of the Statesboro High School football team. More than thirty boys, who like to be called "Blue Devils," their fighting name, were guests at a steak supper given for them.

The Blue Devils this year are attracting the largest crowds to their football games in the history of the high school. It has been estimated that an average of 1,000 see them play each Friday night.

Under Coach George ("Red") Tyson, these boys have developed into a real football team and at the same time real sportsmen, with a wholesome respect for the rules of the game and the precepts of sportsmanship. They deserve the support of the community to which they belong and will in a short time become a part.

They have five more games to play before the season closes.

You can't all give them a steak supper but you can go to see them play and give them your cheers.

Along the Sidelines

That run of Henry Pike's last Friday night will long be remembered by the local fans. It was a honey.

And that passing combination, Bo Hagan to Henry Pike, was working all right.

The boys don't have the "big-head" over their 95 points in four games. Coach Tyson seems to be keeping a check on them. Which is smooth-running eleven in about two minutes.

Friday nights game receipts came out an even $200.

The Athletic association paid off its two big notes and gave all those $50 collateral notes back to their more than ninety makers on Monday of this week.

While the school year is almost at its end, the football season is still in full swing. The football field will be turned over to the Statesboro High School. With the team playing should be away out in the clear with some money to concentrate on equipment or in some other worthwhile school project.

Home Agent Says Apples Can Play Big Part In Diet

"Cook who have a mind to serve apples will find this a good year to do it," says Miss Irma Spears, county home demonstration agent.

"Apples used liberally can make a real contribution to the diet," say home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"To get the most food value from an apple, eat it raw with the peel on. That way you get its vitamin C value intact."

For good cooked apple dishes, the U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists suggest the following three rules:

No. 1—Buy the apple that suits your needs. Some apples should never be cooked. And of those good for cooking, some are best for baking, some for pies, and some for general use.

No. 2—Use little or no water in cooking. The apple itself is over 80 per cent. water and much of the water is in the form of pectin, which is a natural thickener. If you use too much water, the pectin will be washed out and the apples will be watery.

No. 3—Avoid overcooking by watching closely the progress of the apples on the stove or in the oven.

Baking Company To Award Defense Stamps

Uncle Sam will be the winner in more ways than one in a new Defense Stamp contest which the Stone Baking company has announced for its route salesmen.

Every red-blooded American is being asked by his country to do his bit—to buy Defense Savings stamps and bonds to help pay for the weapons that will insure our free American way of living.

To start off the contest, every route salesman will be given a book containing one dollar's worth of defense stamps. He is then referred in a number of ways for effecting economies in connection with his job.

There will also be rewards for safe driving. The route salesmen of the Stone Baking company as a group already enjoy a remarkable fine safety record.

Additional savings stamps will be awarded for increased sales. At the end of the contest there will be a very substantial reward in the shape of U. S. Defense Bonds for the high man of the plant.

It is Mr. Ward's belief that the equivalent of many U. S. Defense Bonds will find their way into the hands of his salesmen through this contest, and they and their families will be encouraged to extend their savings for defense.

FARM & HOME NEWS

Bulloch Farmers Find Profit In Peanuts

Farmers in the Ivanhoe community, located in the southeastern part of Bulloch county, are making money out of Jumbo peanuts.

The Jumbo peanut industry in the Ivanhoe community did not start up overnight. In 1919 the late C. G. Peoples procured some of the Virginia bunch variety, and planted a few acres.

Having to shop the entire crop to Suffolk each fall held the expansion of the new project back. But in 1933 and 1934 a Georgia peanut concern found that the product was suitable for their confectionary trade and started buying the entire crop for their plant.

These some fifty to seventy-five farmers grow from 1,250 to 1,500 tons of Jumbo peanuts each year and sell them from $65 to $105 per ton. The 1941 crop is moving

Judge Evans Tells Jury 'You Are Leaders'

In charging the October grand jury here Monday of this week, Judge T. J. Evans told the members of the jury "you are chosen as the grand jury because you are leaders and the people look to you to see that the community is run in an orderly manner."

"There are subversive forces loose in our country that would destroy our freedom, and it's up to you to see that they are destroyed," he said.

Judge Evans pointed out that religious freedom, freedom of the press in Europe are things of the past and we do not know what is going on except what the censors wish us to know.

Continuing, Judge Evans said "the greatest battles are not won on battlefields but by what we have come to know as 'fifth column'... we can't tell what the end will be but it challenges the nation's youth and this jury."

Before instructing the jury on specific points, Judge Evans related the story of Benjamin Franklin, who inaugurated the custom of opening the meetings of founders of the United States Congress in prayer. "We must depend upon a Higher Power. We must look to that Power which alone comes from Him," said Judge Evans.

He charged the jury on gambling. "You appreciate the danger attached to gambling... it should be shopped in its infancy. We are carrying a concealed weapon, Judge Evans said. "A man with a concealed gun is a potential murderer." He charged them to investigate reports of disturbance of public and divine worship and the destruction of public officers in the performance of their duties.

Work to Begin on Statesboro Airport About December 15

Work will begin on the local airport about Dec. 15, J. L. Renfro told members of the Statesboro Rotary club at its regular meeting Monday of this week.

Mr. Renfro reported that the U. S. engineers' office in Savannah has completed the estimates and that they will be ready to release for bids November 15 and that the contracts will be let on or about Dec. 1 with work to begin between Dec. 10 and 15.

He added that the contracts will be let in two parts—one for developing the area and preparing the runways for paving and the other for the paving of the runways.

The total allocation for the project is $300,000. Titles have been acquired for the necessary properties making up the airport and composite plans are being prepared to be sent to Savannah to the engineers' office. Mr. Renfro's report covered the progress made on the airport from the time it was conceived last May until Monday of this week.

The entire airport as approved will contain 604.61 acres including the existing airport. The properties to which title had to be acquired to meet the requirements of the U. S. engineers' office include 288 acres from the Holland estate, 143 acres from Mrs. Bertha Waters, fifty-five acres from Jake Strouse, eight acres from Moore Strouse and twelve acres from State Milk.

The airport club is being organized and its first meeting will be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 13. This year's production of the "Quality Street" last year.

"You Can't Take It With You" is a revelation of the private lives of the Sycamore family. Each year, more does the things he wants to do. Penny writes plays—that is, she writes the script. She has been studying the ballet for eight years, but Koloskhov, her dancing teacher, says, "Confidentially, she stinks."

Paul, with the help of DePrin—who comes to deliver the ice one day and last played the midgets, Ed played the telephone and loves to print, so in addition to the conventional furniture, the Sycamore living room contains an xylophone and a printing press.

Rheba, the colored maid, and her boy friend, Donald, call grandpa "Grandpa" and little Ed says, "Grandpa went to the corner elevator to go to work—and came down again. Grandpa was being spending his time collecting medals and going to commencement exercises at Columbia university, which is just around the corner. And is Alice's boy friend's very aristocratic mother and father shocked when they come for a visit."
