Write or Call on Me at Stillmore. GEO. M. BRINSON, Stillmore, Ga.

The Charge of the Georgia Eight.

At the Battle of Manassas, July 21, 1861.

The rising sun shines gaily On proud Manassas heights; Six hundred gallant Georgians Are ready for the fight.

Each heart beat high and holy As with measured steps they go For they stand between their friends And the invading foe.

The battle rages fiercely—Has raged since break of day—And Sherman's fatal battery With corpses strewn the way.

And Beauregard with thrilling voice As in the trumpet's call—'Forward, brave comrades, to the charge! That victory must fall.'

Six hundred gallant Georgians! With quickened step they go. And fearlessly they follow Their leader, brave Barlow.

Oh, Georgia's ancient chivalry, Sweep onward in your might! Your cause is just, your arm is strong. Oh, God, defend the right!

The setting sun sinks slowly On the glory battle-field—On the ghastly field of battle—The six hundred—where are they?

Five deep round Sherman's battery They lie at set of sun. But the battery is taken, And the red field is won.

Sixty of the six hundred Stand round their leader now, And death's eternal shadow clouds His vainly laureled brow.

Oh, Georgia's glorious chivalry! The loved ones and the brave—They poured their blood like water And died that they might save!

And Beauregard, the conqueror, Look on the noble dead, 'Uncovered, I salute, The Georgia Eight,' he said.

When history shall reckon Of this day's deeds the fame, O—those shall be the glory?—O—those shall be the shame?—O—those who stood of Maryland.

School Opens Well.

The fall term of the Statesboro institute opened yesterday morning with an attendance of nearly 200 pupils.

It is expected that the school will continue to grow from day to day. Profs. Seckinger and DeLoach have surrounded themselves with an efficient set of teachers, and there is no reason why this term should not be a profitable one for all concerned.

THREE JURORS CURED Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala. relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama.

While there I ate some fresh meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. Homer Parker has returned from Macon, where he was a student of Mercer University for the summer season.

Fearful Odds Against Him. Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O.

The Christian Tent Meeting.

State Evangelist W. J. Cooke of the Christian church is holding a tent meeting in our town. His tent is pitched near the court house.

Everyone is cordially invited to come and enjoy the services which begin at 8 o'clock promptly each night.

Mr. Cooke says that he comes to our town to be a benefit to all our people who come within the circles of his influence and with love to all who are trying to build up the cause of Christ.

Russia Meets At Peace.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—Russia will not listen to any suggestion of peace now or in the near future.

While the news from the front is of the gloomiest character and there is good reason to fear even worse to come, Russia means to fight until Japan is whipped, or until the end of her resources for men or money is reached.

The news that Liao Yang has been abandoned; that Stackelburg has been cut off and probably destroyed, and that Kurapatkin himself is confronted by difficulties which seem to be almost insurmountable, are received with grim fatalism.

Since assurance have been given of another line of railway, connecting Swainsboro with Savannah via Statesboro and the road, Savannah and Statesboro road, Swainsboro has started on a building boom.—Telephone.

BEFORE DAY CLUB IN TATTLING.

Lyons, Ga., Sept. 4.—It has recently come to light that there has been a 'Before Day Club' about fourteen miles from this place, though the club was not known by that name.

The 'lodge' was in one of the public buildings. Both men and women were eligible to membership. Among the oaths taken is one which is said required any member who might be chosen by lot to kill any white man, burn his house or do him any other act of violence which the club might deem a sufficient punishment for wrongs, real or imaginary, which he might have done any member to carry out the order.

When his case was up before the lodge and the committee was drawn to kill him a messenger was sent to Lyons to ask a negro named Stephens if they should kill him.

Gave Up to the Sheriff.

On Monday Messrs Wesley Waters, Henry and Perry Barnes came in and surrendered to Sheriff Kendrick on the charge of beating Sebastian McBride to death near Portal about two weeks ago.

The defendants all entered a demand for a trial, and the time was set for the 22nd. We understand that they claim to be able to establish the fact that they are innocent of the crime of which they are charged.

A bond in the amount of $500.00 was given for their appearance at the preliminary trial.

Expense Will Not Stop Trial. (Atlanta Journal.) 'My decision in the Statesboro affair will depend entirely on the opinion of the adjutant general.

Was Poisoned By Bite Of A Negro.

Atlanta, Sept. 6.—J. N. Porter, a well-known planter of Dougherty county, died today at the Baptist Tabernacle Infirmary here of blood poisoning, which is said to have been caused by the bite of a negro.

No special attention was paid to the wound at the time, but soon after began to suffer from the swelling of his thumb. He went to Albany for treatment and then came here.

Georgians Salute No Negro Officers.

Gainsville, Va. Sept. 5.—Considerable feelings developed today at Gen. Grant's camp between soldiers of the First Georgia Infantry, from Savannah, the First South Carolina Infantry, and the First Texas Infantry, on the one part, and a Connecticut colored regiment, on the other.

Republicans Won Vermont Election.

White River Junction, Vt. Sept. 6.—Returns received at midnight indicate that the republicans in today's state election elected the head of their ticket, Chas. J. Bell, by a plurality equal, if not greater, than returned by William W. Stickney when he was elected governor in 1900.

With the exception of the three northern counties, where local issues affected the normal vote, the complexion of the legislature was practically unchanged.

The Statesboro 'Mob.' It is passing strange that while so much criticism is being heaped upon Captain Hitch for the course pursued by him at Statesboro, so little reference is being made to the horrible crime committed by the bands incarnate who were taken out and killed by a band of citizens of an outraged community.

Sad Death at Star. On Tuesday of this week Mrs. Jas. Brannen, Jr., died at their home near Star in this county.

Aged Lady Passes Away.

On last Friday at her home near Harville, Mrs. Caroline Denmark passed peacefully into the Great Beyond.

Railroad Meeting. According to agreement, the committee appointed by the meeting last week, met here yesterday to agree on what was best to be done in the matter of the building of the Statesboro & Northern Railway.

Mr. Cecil Gabbett gave the committee much valuable information as to cost, construction, etc. Mr. G. S. Johnston was elected to prepare the new charter and will do so at once.

Mr. Epps was assassinated in the public road, two miles from home and eight miles from Tallahassee.

Before Day Club Claimed a Victim.

Tallahassee, Fla. 5.—During the taking of testimony before the coroner's jury in the case of N. W. Epps, a prominent and prosperous planter, who was shot to death Saturday night near Bradfordville, Isum Edwards, Jr., the negro who did the shooting, acknowledged that a 'Before Day Club' had been organized in the county and that a number of prominent white men had been picked out to suffer death.

It is reported that emblems of death have been found on the trees in several plantations of the best citizens of that section of country. It is supposed that they were placed there by members of the 'Before Day Club.'

Mr. Epps was riding along in a buggy and was shot from behind, the charge entering the spinal column, tearing away the base of the brain and killing him instantly.

He was a peaceful, inoffensive citizen, aged about sixty years. He was a great grandson of Thomas Jefferson and served in the Continental army.—A wife, four daughters and on son survive him.

For twelve years he was superintendent of a hotel and had recently been re-nominated for the same office.

The Scuppernon.

No fruit is more luxuriant, or grown to greater perfection in the southern half of Georgia than the scuppernon grape. We have often thought that it ought to be made more remunerative than it is, because it is a sure crop, and makes a delicious wine.

We are glad to learn that the United States department of agriculture is investigating the scuppernon grape with view to determining the best varieties, methods of culture, pruning, training, etc., as well as the uses to which the fruit can be put.

In this connection, the viticulturist of the bureau of plant industry, who has the work in charge, will be glad to receive reports on such vines from persons who know of their existence, stating the facts regarding them and the points of special merit that have been observed in them.

Correspondence regarding such vines should be addressed to George C. Husmann, Viticulturist, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The department will, upon application, furnish special mailing boxes and trunks with specimens of choice varieties can be forwarded to the viticulturist for examination, without cost to the sender.—Macon Telegraph.

Mr. B. J. Atwood, of Excelesior, was in the city on Tuesday.

DAVIS' PLURALITY LESS THAN 40,000.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 6.—Late returns tonight from the state election yesterday show that while the unopposed democratic nominees for state offices received 85 per cent. of the total votes, the plurality for Governor Davis, democrat, will be less than 4,000 and may drop to 8,000.

In Benton county, the home of United States Senator J. H. Berry, the contest between Davis and Myers may cause a count to determine the result. Governor Davis has lost heavily in Franklin, Lafayette, Independence, Little River and Laurens counties.

Ship your cotton to T. S. Hayward & Co. Savannah, Ga. They are experienced handlers of both upland and sea island cotton, and guarantee the highest market prices. Liberal advances will be made on consignments. Give them a trial.

Change In Schedule.

Effective Sunday Sept. 11th the following change in schedule of S. & S. trains will take effect: No. 88 daily leave Statesboro at 6:20 a. m., arrive Savannah 8:40 a. m. No. 87 leave Savannah 3 p. m., arrive Statesboro 5:20.

Mr. B. J. Atwood, of Excelesior, was in the city on Tuesday.

THE STATESBORO (INCORPORATED.)

Entered at the post office at Statesboro as 2nd class mail matter

Published Tuesdays and Fridays by THE STATESBORO NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY.

The bad negroes must go to the gang, and the good ones must be protected.

Now for business. We have all had our little say and let us be quiet awhile.

Statesboro is moving ahead with ten thousand bales of cotton to come this season, and electric lights and water works completed puts us to the front.

Work is a wonderful tonic; we forget our troubles and other people's business when we are at work attending to our own.

The best thing for Tom Watson is the very liberal free advertising in the Press, but the best thing for the country is for them to quit—right now.

The cotton picker is the hero of the hour now. The nimble fingers that will pull five hundred millions of dollars out of the cotton fields this season are the wheels of prosperity.

What Ruined Him.

Many a man has been ruined by too much success and having riches to come to him. It is a weakness of human nature to want to obtain riches, and the more he gets the more he wants.

In a most interesting way it shows with facts, figures and timely illustrations the growth of the cotton mill industry now operating in the Southland that will appertain to every southerner's pride as well as to that of a very large colony in the north having large financial interests in the cotton mills of this section.

The desire for wealth and money has warped and seared many a man's conscience who arrives at the point where he gets to be insincere and case hardened, and the older he gets, the meaner he gets and the greater the desire for wealth, and when he lies down on his bed of death and reaches out his bony fingers and whispers more money, the world is glad he is dead, and there is none to mourn at his funeral.

The Jap-Russe War.

The earth has a new world power. Out of the far East has arisen a new nation to be reckoned with in the future. No longer will Japan be overlooked and forgotten in the great questions that will hereafter arise in the progress and life of nations.

THE BURNING OF THE BRUTES.

Yes it was bad. No doubt the fire was bad, And regret chained their consciences, if such they had, When bound they were to await the anxious flames, While all around the people cursed their names.

Yes, it was bad. 'Tis hard to die at last, Without some hopes—assurances of rest, But when a mob burns one at the stake, 'Tis seldom that Sweet Pity don't awake!

Yes, it was bad. We can't but say 'twas bad, For Law's supreme and mobs are always mad— But what of the man who lost his life? What of his children and his wife?

What of the tortures that they stood, As black fiends shed their innocent blood? What of the touch and hell-frothed breath? Of the brute whose crime was worse than death?

What of the pains that the Hodges felt, As the cries reached hearts that fire can't melt? What of the children and the wife, Who paid such a price for this thing called life?

What of the innocent babe who begged, That its life be spared? Of the family dragged Through the sticks and trash and grass and loam, What of the ties of that happy home?

Yes, what of the crime of the burly brute Who robs the land of its good repute? Who robs a home of its all? Say I, In some swift way the brute should die?

South's Cotton Mills.

A special edition of "Cotton" just issued by the Cotton Publishing company, of Atlanta, is one that reflects much credit, not only the publishers but to Atlanta as well. Of some 150 pages, the contents include a world of statistics and information the wonderful progress of the south that is certain to make it one of the most important books of reference issued for a long time.

In a most interesting way it shows with facts, figures and timely illustrations the growth of the cotton mill industry now operating in the Southland that will appertain to every southerner's pride as well as to that of a very large colony in the north having large financial interests in the cotton mills of this section.

Printed on highly calendered paper, the typographical complexion proves that it was turned out by the best of beauty doctors to be found among printers. The many halftones are a great feature and the cover, designed by Mrs. Chester G. Whiting, of Raleigh, is at one time characteristic and pleasing.

Included in this valuable publication are many papers of technical interest written by authorities and also much that appeals to the layman who has not made the study of cotton a life work.

At the dawn of a new century when the hum of millions of spindles is filling the land, and vast cotton factories are springing up all over the south, it is interesting to go back and review the beginning of this industry in Dixie.

In 1818 Michael Schenck, a citizen of Lincolnton, began to construct the first cotton factory that was built south of the Potomac. This factory was erected one and a half miles east of Lincolnton, and was run by water-power, having only seventy-two spindles, and yet it was the beginning of the great factories that are turning out millions of dollars worth of the products of the fleecy staple, and more than anything else, helping the war-wasted New South to take a place at the front in the industrial world.

Michael Schenck's little factory began work in August, 1815, and proved so profitable that in 1819 he formed a partnership with John Hoke and Dr. Jas. Bivins, men of means, and the firm established the Lincoln Cotton Factory, with 3,000 spindles. "This factory was built on the south fork of the Catawba river, two and one-half miles south of Lincolnton. This factory was run with marvelous success. People came in wagons hundreds of miles to trade for 'factory spun yarn,' and was of incalculable convenience to this section, where the carding and spinning was all done at home by hand. The property was bequeathed to Mrs. Elizabeth Schenck M. Daniel, a daughter of Michael Schenck, and this property remains in the hands of the McDaniel family. The old factory buildings have long since disappeared. The McDaniel family retain relics some of the original machinery. Included among the statistics are the prices and size of cotton crops since 1781, in which year 2,888 bales made up the total output and brought 25 cents per bale, and in 1804, the biggest price paid for cotton was in 1705 and 1790, when the prices were 80 cents.

"You say the defendant offered you $50 to testify in his behalf?" "Yes, sah."

"Now repeat what he said, using his exact words."

"He said he would give me $50 if I—"

"No sah; he tuck good care dat dar were no third person round; dar was only two—us two."

"I know that, but he spoke to you in the first person, didn't he?" "I was the first person myself."

"You don't understand me. When he was talking to you did he say, I will pay you $50?"

"No sah; he didn't say nothin' 'bout you payin' me $50. Your name wasn't mentioned, 'cepting he told me ef eber I got into a scrape you was the best lawyer in San Antonio to fool de judge and de jury—in fac' you was de best in town to cover up rascality."

For a brief, breathless moment the trial was suspended.

THE NEWS.

Published at Statesboro, Ga., EVERY FRIDAY By The Statesboro News Publishing Co.

It is said that the Americans are filling all the European resorts this summer. It is equally probable that they are also filling the European pocket books.

It used to be thought that chink was the common adulterant for milk, but it is now reported to be used in salt. It is possible that there is any money in adulterating a commodity so cheap as salt asks the Philadelphia Record.

There was once a droll Yankee, says the Warm Day's Companion, who remarked on the year's day in July that if he had had the making of the month he would have called this one not after Julius Caesar, but after Nero, the Emperor who made it hot for Rome.

A London tradesman advertises thus: "Elopement by motor is now fashionable. Loving couples who would dodge stern parents by running away to be married can be supplied here at any hour of any day with smart motor and reliable driver, on the weekly payment system."

The American who has been appointed dentist to the Sultan of Morocco will have two slaves standing over him with battle axes while he is at work. Potentates can manage things this way, while we who enjoy the blessings of liberty must suffer uncomplainingly.

The Swiss Government is apparently thorough in sympathy with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. It even goes the society one better in deciding that parents shall no longer have the right to christen their children with fantastic names, says the Massachusetts Plover.

The latest report of an attempt to tax bachelors comes from a town in Indiana, says the Boston Transcript. Perhaps the Selectmen had heard of the success of the annual fine that is now imposed upon unmarried men in Madagascar, and which it said on good authority, to be the only tax in that country that is paid with alacrity.

It is declared that some of the land owners in the vicinity of Boston have spent two or three times the value of their land fighting the gypsy moths, but most people cannot afford such an outlay and the pest is fast gaining ground, says the Massachusetts Plover. A few years more of this sort of business and the Eastern States will have at hand a farming problem that will put all others out of sight.

There is a new kind of strike down at Baline, Texas, where negroes have been employed to keep mosquitoes from the work gangs on the Southern Pacific Railroad, says the New York News. The negroes demand fifty cents a day more than they have been getting for their work. They are saying it is too onerous for less pay than $2. And no wonder it is onerous, for they say the negroes had to use clubs on the mosquitoes to knock them out. Talk about a Jersey mosquito after that!

A traveler in the Philippines writes: "You see that girl coming along the street carrying a long bamboo cylinder under her shoulder? She is refraining from the waterworks of clean drinking water. Yes, it is a big bamboo tube—surely eight feet long and twenty-two inches at least in circumference. The inside divisions have been forced out by means of a stick and the internal compartments are combined into one. It holds a lot of liquid."

The New York Herald editorially complains of the failure of the Government to keep open the highway to the sea for deep draught vessels trading to that port. It says there is only thirty feet of water in the channel at mean low tide, where there should be forty feet. Philadelphia has to be satisfied with twenty-five feet, where it should have had thirty feet years ago, and where it needs thirty-five feet. The barge-tug companies that prevent deeper approaches for New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore is contending, comments the Philadelphia Record. It is, in fact, a tax on both ports and exports, and an unnecessary burden upon every interest in the country.

GEORGIA NEWS

Spotlighted Items of Interest Gathered at Random.

Georgia Troops at Manassas. Georgia troops left Saturday on special trains for the Virginia encampment, where they went to take part in the army maneuvers at Manassas and Thoroughfare.

Woman Sues Uncle Sam. Mrs. Skeeton Napier has filed at Baconton a suit in the sum of $100,000 against the United States Government for the confiscation of the property of her father-in-law and husband by Sherman's army.

Charging Gauge of Road. The work of changing the gauge of the Harwell railway is progressing rapidly. The work of supplying the new ties is very busy job, but workmen from every section of Hart county are meeting the demand.

"Before Day Club" in Clarke. For some days there have been rumors to the effect that Clarke county had a "Before Day Club." These rumors were traced down, and it is believed that such an organization is in existence, but that since its existence has been discovered it will disband.

Captain Hitch Relieved. Captain Robert M. Hitch, who was in command of the troops at Statesboro when the negroes, Reid and Cato, were lynched, will not be at Manassas, as was announced. Captain Hitch requested to be relieved of duty at camp on the ground that he is too busy to leave Savannah now. He is desirous of reading over the testimony which was taken by the court of inquiry regarding his conduct at Statesboro, and owing to this fact asked for relief, which was granted.

Marriage License Causes Suit. P. S. Thomas, an optician, whose adopted daughter was married a few days ago, to Timothy Whately, a young man of Columbus, has formally notified the clerk of the superior court to bring suit under section 3418 of the Georgia code against Judge William Reed, Jr., ordinary of Muscogee county, for $500, alleging that the girl is a minor, being only fourteen years of age, and that the marriage license was issued without the consent of himself or his wife.

Thomas has sued out a warrant against the two Whatelys charging them with kidnaping in that they "inveigled away a minor girl under 18 years of age against the consent of her parent."

Georgia Banks in Good Shape. A Washington dispatch says: Although deeply interested to read in The Constitution the comments of the Georgia bankers upon the ability of their banks to meet the increased demand of the crop-morning season this year, a new bank from her pen will appear this fall, entitled simply, "Poems and Verses," a gathering together of the best of many years.

The Century Co. announces a goodly list of fiction for this autumn. They will be a novel by Andre Castaigne, and an unusual story, "The Gray World," by Evelyn Underhill, an English writer. Anna Douglas Sedgwick, known through "The Rescue," has written another piece of character study, "Paths of Judgment." "The Madigans" is by Miriam Michelson, whose "In the Bishop's Carriage" has been one of the season's successes; and Gouverneur Morris's new novel is entitled "Eben and Mr. Man." Carolyn Wells' "The Staying Guest" is the story of a little girl, quaint, startling and lovable. A new book by Ruth Meyers Riddle is also pronounced, "The Adventures of a Child." "The Plantation Nursery" is by Martha Coker, the tale, from personal experience, of an American family summing in Britain.

Blue and Brown Armies Ready to Begin the Game of War. The strength of each maneuver camp at Gainesville, Va., was doubled Sunday by the arrival of 12,000 militiamen.

The fire originated in the Olney Flinnie grocery from any unknown cause, completely destroying the stock and building of the firm. Adjoining buildings and stocks were also greatly damaged.

Cannot Remove Sheriff. In Case Kendrick is to Blame, Governor Cannot Punish. It has developed that even though the court of inquiry, or any other court, civil or military, should place the whole blame of the Statesboro lynchings on the shoulders of Sheriff Kendrick of Bulloch county, Governor Terrell is not authorized under the law to remove him from office.

RUSSIANS FALLING BACK. Kuropatkin's Formidable Lines at Liao-Yang are Badly Broken. TOWN IS EVACUATED. Retreat is Reported as Being in Progress—Greatest Conflict in World's History in Point of Numbers Engaged.

Excitement in St. Petersburg. The news of the occupation of Liao-Yang and the withdrawal of the Russian army to the right bank of the Taitse river reached only a small section of the people of St. Petersburg at a late hour Thursday night and caused intense excitement and disappointment. The majority of the inhabitants retired to rest, believing that Russian arms had again been successful and that the Japanese attacks had been repelled. Ugly suspicions, however, had been sown during the day, owing to the absence of news telegrams from Liao-Yang, leading to the belief that the communications had been cut by General Kuropatkin.

Thursday's news from the seat of war closed with the receipt of two dispatches, giving information of a most significant character as bearing on the domination of Manchuria at the close of the present campaign. The first came from the Associated Press correspondent at St. Petersburg, filed there at 10:15 p. m., and said that General Kuropatkin had withdrawn his whole army to the north bank of the Taitse river, so as to meet General Kuropatkin's banking movement. The inference drawn from this dispatch was that Liao-Yang had been evacuated, that city lying on the left or south bank of the river. Nothing to confirm this was received until several hours later, when a dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent at St. Petersburg, dated September 2, and timed at 1:35 a. m., Friday morning, said that news of the evacuation of Liao-Yang and the withdrawal of the Russian army to the right bank of the Taitse river had caused intense excitement.

The second dispatch which may have a significant bearing on the campaign is that filed at Mukden at 9:27 p. m. Thursday, saying that the train service between Mukden and Liao-Yang was interrupted and it may mean the cutting of railroad communication which would deprive General Kuropatkin of a ready opportunity to retreat to his more northern base at Mukden. As pointed out in the St. Petersburg dispatch the Mukden correspondent does not mention whether the telegraphic communications are open.

The Japanese minister at Washington received the following dispatch from Tokio Thursday night: "According to telegraphic advices received at headquarters this afternoon, our army corps on the left, by force and repeated assaults, took possession of the heights which the enemy's right occupied. Thereupon all the enemy south of Liao-Yang began retreat. The Japanese army is now pressing Kuropatkin isolated. A dispatch sent out from Mukden dated at 9:27 p. m. Thursday, was as follows: 'The train service between Mukden and Liao-Yang is interrupted. The roads are impassable. The Japanese left began pressing the Russians toward Tatsiao at dawn this (Friday) morning. The Japanese right is engaged in the neighborhood of Heiyngtai. The Japanese casualties since August 29, are officially estimated at ten thousand. EXCESSIVE RATES ALLEGED. HAVE MONEY IN PLENTY. Cotton Mills in Augusta Terribly Filled with Unemployed Hands. Reports from all parts of Georgia are to the effect that the banks throughout the State were never in better condition to meet any coming demands for moving crops, than they are at the present time, notwithstanding the report of Comptroller of the Currency Ridgeley to the contrary. More than this, the bank officials in all parts of the state say that the demand this year will not be nearly as great as last year because the farmers and planters have considerable ready money. HITCH CAN'T ATTEND. Captain Will Not Accompany Troops to Manassas Manuvers. Captain R. M. Hitch, of the Oglethorpe Light Infantry, will not go to Manassas for the maneuvers. Captain Hitch announced his company that on account of his duties in connection with the court of inquiry that it would be impossible for him to go with the company to Manassas.
