By The Tonic Route

The pills that act as a tonic, and not as a drastic purge, are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure headache, constipation, biliousness, etc. Early risers are small, easy to take and easy to get—a safe pill. Mack Hamilton, hotel clerk at Valley City, N. D. says: "Two bottles cured me of chronic constipation." Sold by W. H. Ellis.

The patrons of Sand Hill school have employed Mr. J. P. Brady as our teacher. He began his school on last Monday.

Mr. Tom H. Hendrix had the misfortune to lose a fine mule some time ago.

Best Remedy For Constipation
"The finest remedy for constipation I ever used is Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets," says Mr. E. L. Butler, of Franklin, N. Y. "They act gently and without any unpleasant effect, and leave the bowels in a perfectly natural condition." Sold by all druggists.

Stillson Is Still Booming

The bustling little city of Stillson is still forging ahead. A reporter of the News stopped over there a little while on Tuesday afternoon and the march of improvement was apparent to even the passers-by. Mr. H. B. Barnhill's handsome new $8,000.00 residence fronting the S & S depot is now nearing completion, and Mr. W. H. Proctor is erecting another nice dwelling which will cost nearly $2,000.00 on the south side of Railroad street. Messrs. Brown & Proctor, the enterprising naval stores people, are preparing to put in a large saw mill and variety of wood works. Mr. Smith has recently opened a first class wheelwright and blacksmith shop, and is doing a good business. A move is on foot to institute a Masonic lodge which will be done sometime in the near future. The town has a flourishing debating society which meets regularly and discusses the subjects of interest to the present generation.

That section of the county has furnished some of the best talent we have and it seems that the people around Stillson are still alive to the importance of keeping abreast of the times.

We also learn that there is a well developed movement on foot to organize a bank at Stillson. Mr. J. E. Brown, who, by the way, is one of Stillson's merchant princes, is at the head of the new bank movement and we predict that it will soon materialize. Dr. F. F. Floyd has recently completed one of the prettiest little drug stores in this section, and it is stocked with an up-to-date line of all that belongs in a first class drug store.

Stillson has two rural mail routes going out from that point which places her in close touch with that entire section of the county. The place is surrounded by one of the best farming sections in Georgia, whose people are noted for their prosperity. It has long been a significant fact that there were fewer mortgages recorded against the people of the 47th G. M. district than any other in the county.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
Digests what you eat.

Mr. Morgan Brown of Stillson, passed through Brooklet Tuesday en route to Statesboro. He stopped in our town a short while and cast a wistful eye at some of our beautiful resident lots.

A good size package of melon seed was delivered to our genial Dr. Lane yesterday on which was a card that read "Raise your melons and quit begging them".

The health of our community is distressingly healthful, so say the doctors.

The Colonel's Walterloo
Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Tex. nearly met his Waterloo, from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter, he says: "I was nearly dead of these complaints, and although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; so I got a box of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them. Sold and guaranteed by W. H. Ellis druggist, at 50c a bottle."

J. T. Smith, (Label for divorce in Bullch Superior Court April term 1905)
You are hereby required to be and appear at the Superior Court to be held in and for said county, on the fourth Monday in October 1905, to answer the complaint of J. T. Smith in his action for a divorce.

This March 22nd 1905.
R. F. LESTER,
Clerk Superior Court B. C.

Mr. B. L. Robertson Jr. was a pleasant caller at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hiers on Monday evening.

ALLEN OUT ON BOND

Little Girl That He Abused Has Been Called to a Better World

Our readers will remember the account of the arrest of John Allen in Tuesday's News. Since then he has given bond and been released from jail. The little girl, who, while on her dying bed was caught hold of and abused by him, has, too, been released—she was born on angel wings to a better world on Monday night. The interment was held at Bethlehem church cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

When Allen reached home and was told of the little one's death, he broke down and wept like a child. His wife has left home in fear of his assaults being renewed, and we understand has filed suit for a divorce.

It is reported that on Sunday before leaving home, he demolished the furniture in the house and broke all the dishes on the place. It is also reported that some weeks ago, when his eldest son died, he sat on the side of the bed and the lifeless body lay, and refused to allow it dressed for burial for several hours. He would pray and curse at intervals, and it is said to have actually cursed God in his ravings over the misfortune that had struck his home.

He is a man of considerable means, owns two or three of the best farms around here, and after being out to jail, nearly three hundred dollars in cash was found secured in his house, yet it is claimed that his family have continually suffered for food and clothing. He is reported to have compelled members of his family to go for weeks without even a pinch of salt in their bread.

This is the third time that his wife has quit him, and she may forgive him again, as a woman is prone to do. Yet the neighbors in the community have grown tired of his acts, and it is evident that he is destined to be regulated this time in a manner that will do him good.

A Cowardly Assault

Judging from the report of the Dublin newspapers, and those of Messrs. D. W. Davis and T. M. Bennett who were in Dublin at the time, the shooting of Mr. Carl Deal by Policeman Cowart of that city on Saturday evening, was one of the most uncalled for and cowardly assaults that we have heard of in some time.

It seems that there had been a dispute between another musical instrument and the keeper of one of Dublin's private boarding houses over a board bill. The man referred to got the officer and hunted up the two men, who, it seems, were sitting at the supper table together with a number of ladies and other members of the family at another boarding house, and the pair rushed in on the party and began firing at young Deal, wounding him in the leg. The ladies were very much frightened by the occurrence. It is said that young Deal is dangerously wounded and may die of his injuries.

He is remembered in Statesboro, where he and other members of his party stopped over for some time.

Cowart is also remembered by some of Statesboro's people who took in the big base ball excursion last summer was a year ago. He ran a twenty-five cent boarding house near the depot; his sign and price hanging over his door, but when a man went in and went through the grab game to get a mouthful to eat, he was charged fifty cents at the door as he came out. When called on for a reason for the raise in his rates as compared with his sign, he answered that there was a big crowd there and he could get any price he might charge; in other words, he was taking the advantage of the crowd to squeeze them for an extra quarter.

A man that will stoop to a mean trick like that for twenty-five cents can be depended upon to do any other kind of a mean dirty act. We notice that the city council of Dublin has stripped him of his brass buttons, and suspended him for his conduct. They are to be commended for this act.

He is a man of considerable means, owns two or three of the best farms around here, and after being out to jail, nearly three hundred dollars in cash was found secured in his house, yet it is claimed that his family have continually suffered for food and clothing. He is reported to have compelled members of his family to go for weeks without even a pinch of salt in their bread.

This is the third time that his wife has quit him, and she may forgive him again, as a woman is prone to do. Yet the neighbors in the community have grown tired of his acts, and it is evident that he is destined to be regulated this time in a manner that will do him good.
