Bullets Do Deadly Work.

Fatal End to Long Standing Feud Between Young Men In Laston District.

Jack Ellis Lies Dead and Two Others Are Seriously Wounded as a Result of Genetal Shooting Affray.

On Sunday night about nine o'clock the air in the vicinity of Mr. Edmund Brannen's gin house rang with the sound of a fusillade of bullets, and as a result, Jack, the young son of Mr. Abram Ellis living near by, is dead, and Conley Barnes is in the hospital in Savannah suffering from several painful and probably fatal wounds in the body. Erastus Brannen is also suffering from a slight wound in the knee.

The circumstances as far as we have been able to get them are about as follows, while the stories told by the different parties of the affair, yet they all tally pretty well, except as to who fired first; this will probably never be known: On Sunday afternoon Messrs. Jack Ellis, Conley Barnes and Lester Olliff called at the home of Mr. W. H. Hollingsworth and remained there until about nine o'clock, when all three in a buggy started home via of Mr. Edmund Brannen's, where the shooting occurred.

They say that early in the evening, about dark, Messrs. James and Erastus Brannen and another young man named Nick Aldred passed the Hollingsworth home where they were visiting, and that when at a point at a cross road some two hours afterwards, they drove into the buggy driven by the Brannen brothers and Aldred, looking wheels with it before they saw it. The young men who had rode in the buggy were out on the ground, and they say without a word of warning young Erastus Brannen began to shoot into the crowd in the buggy that had driven up, inflicting a deadly wound in young Ellis the first shot, the ball striking him in the side, passing through his spinal column and lodging in the hip. Young Ellis, who was also armed, made an attempt to fire his pistol but it is reported that the wound had so paralyzed him that he was unable to pull the trigger. He started to reel and had not been caught by Barnes he would have fallen out of the buggy. Holding to him with one hand and wrenching his pistol out of his hand with the other, Barnes returned the fire that was raining into them like so much hail, wounding young Erastus Brannen in the knee. Ellis was taken to his home a few miles distant and died yesterday morning about nine o'clock from the effects of the wound received at the gin house the night before.

Mr. Jas. A. Brannen, father of the young man accused of participating in the shooting, was in the city yesterday afternoon, and in an interview with a News reporter stated that there had been lots of devilment committed in the neighborhood for the past several months, that these boys who were with young Ellis had made it a business to pass his home and shoot off their pistols, shoot at his dogs and at any other object that presented itself. He says that this conduct was carried to the excess on the previous Sunday night, and had he done his duty he would have shot them in protection of his home. He says his information from his sons is to stay sober too. Whisky is a good thing in its place, and its place is not altogether in hell as some fanatics have said. It was made for a good purpose, and its abuse is where it comes in at. We have it out from under the nose of the rising generation, and in order to get it a man has got to send off and wait a day or two before it comes; this, it seems to us, removes largely the temptation for men to drink to excess.

Some men hurt the cause they advocate by trying to overdo the job, and we believe the present effort has a tendency in that direction. Many a man who is a dry man under present conditions will not follow you in the extremes that you propose to lead him.

Unwise Legislation.

We are informed that a petition has been presented to the city council of Statesboro, asking them to put a prohibitory tax on the expenses companies and railroad companies from bringing any whisky into Statesboro. The News doubts that the city council will spend many minutes to its consideration. We have such confidence in the good judgement of that body that we believe the measure will meet its just defeat in short order.

The News has always stood for temperance and in the battles to rid this town of blind tigers and dispensaries, etc., we have shown ourselves with those who didn't want a bar room stock in front of their door, but in this instance we have to dissent. There is such a thing as pushing anything too far. The trouble with most people is they are unable to tell the line where conservatism stops and fanaticism begins. We remember that one of the arguments used in the dispensary campaign was: "If you have got to have whisky, why can you send off and get it by express; we are not trying to deprive you of your rights, etc., etc."

Legislation of this kind has assumed shape in other places from time to time. There is a case pending in the supreme court now from Lawrenceville. It was declared unconstitutional by the superior court and was carried to the supreme court by the town. We believe that it is as unwise as a case in the supreme court. Under the present system the country is fairly well ridden of whisky. True, there is occasionally a case where you see a fellow under its influence, but these cases are so seldom as to be a subject of special comment. A drunk man is really a sight that is seldom seen in this town. True, some people will have it—and have it they will as long as cane skimmings and corn will sour and ferment.

In our opinion the whisky problem is solved here as best it possibly can be and any further legislation on it, especially on the line indicated by the petition now before council, will be dangerous. These people will go a long way with you on temperance, but the word prohibition causes them to balk, and many a man who will help you keep the cross road bar rooms and dispensaries voted out of your midst will not go with you to the extent to shut every avenue of obtaining it at all.

We take the position that every man ought to keep a little whisky in his house, and that he ought to use it in moderation. It is a good thing in its place, and its place is not altogether in hell as some fanatics have said. It was made for a good purpose, and its abuse is where it comes in at. We have it out from under the nose of the rising generation, and in order to get it a man has got to send off and wait a day or two before it comes; this, it seems to us, removes largely the temptation for men to drink to excess.

Stillmore Defeats Statesboro

On last Friday the Statesboro baseball team went up to Stillmore to play George Brinson's crack nine, and the result is they caught it where Billie wore the beads on the neck.

The boys say they went up against a tough proposition in the person of Stillmore, the French pitcher from Augusta. George Brinson don't sleep all the time, especially when he thinks he is going up against the best amateur base ball team in Georgia, and he went up to Augusta and employed the best league battery that money would get.

The game is said to have been a pretty one, and the score of three for Stillmore and two for Statesboro showed that the boys did some first class work. The home boys made several inexcusable errors that enabled Stillmore to earn her three runs, and to this is ascribed the defeat, as much as to the good work of the crack pitcher for Stillmore.

Maynard did the pitching for Statesboro, and did the best work of his life, but the few errors in the field cost us the game. Four hits were scored on each pitcher, going to show that their work was about equal. It is probable that another game will be played between the two teams some time in the near future.

The Salve That Penetrates DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve penetrates the pores of the skin, and by its antiseptic, rubefacient and healing influence it subdues inflammation and cures Boils, Burns, Ulcers, Eczema, Tetter, Ring Worm and all skin diseases. A specific for blinde, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles. The original and genuine Witch Hazel Salve is made by Dr. J. C. DeWitt & Co. and sold by W. H. Ellis.

Sincerely trusting to have your acceptance of this invitation at an early date, I beg to remain, Yours very truly, J. S. Cone, Com. J. S. Cone Camp, U. C. V.

Decoration Day.

On this day, and on the fourth of July, everybody feels that he would like, above everything else, to be a soldier; and, perhaps, some of the girls wish that they, too, could join our nation's warriors.

I remember how, when I was a very small child, I longed to speakable to be a soldier. The fact that I was a girl was a grief to me because it prevented me from ever realizing my cherished ambition. I would often play soldier with a paper cap and a wooden sword, but of course that was when I was a very small child. Still, you know I did become a soldier when I enlisted to fight for King Jesus under the banner of cavalry. To be a soldier means sacrifice and hardships, as well as glory. We do not decorate the graves of our dead soldiers and honor their memory merely because they were a uniform or carried a shining gun, or beat a drum or sang patriotic songs. No, we honor them because they sacrificed and fought for their country. My dear father has lived now three quarters of a century and I remember well how often he has told us the hardships he suffered, how hungry, thirsty, cold and weary he would get, but he did not give up, but fought to the end of the war.

You and I, soldiers of King Jehovah, will not receive the crown from his hands merely for singing the songs of the Kingdom. No, but if we are grateful to the end, for doing our Master's bidding at home or away in big things and small, till God will say it is enough, come higher! Then we will forget about the weariness, the loneliness and the difficulties of the way and will rejoice greatly that we did not give in, but lived and died at our post. May it be so with each one of us.

Mrs. T. H. Whitaker.

Farm Improvement.

Do you know that you can add much to the value of your farm by giving some attention to planting trees around your place like peaches, and have you a nice grove of oaks and other trees?

To see a farm house out in the fields with no trees around it, gives the place a cold and cheerless aspect, and the visitor and traveler is not impressed with such a place. If he wanted to buy a farm he would pass by that kind of place, and hunt one that was made inviting and beautiful with trees and orchard, and a lawn of green grass, and where the yard fences were painted and kept in fine shape.

A Russian correspondent, on returning from Manchuria, declared that the Japs were not really good fighters, and that they owed most of their success to Russian blunders. Had the Russians faced a German army, he declares, they would now be trying to defend Siberia.

The fact that the world owes every man a living does not seem to deter the world in the least from repudiating the debt when the creditor hasn't got the backing of the necessary "pull" and "push" to make good the collection. The world always was a faith-buster, anyway.

The New York Tribune quotes with approval a Berlin physician who says: "Out of 1000 girls who played the piano before the age of 12 I found 6000 cases of nervous diseases; whereas of the same number who did not play I found but 100 cases. The piano should never be used by a child before the age of 16, and only two hours a day at the maximum."

The Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce has prepared a statement of the consumption of various drinks in the principal cities of the world. While the total is naturally rather formidable, there is much difference of taste manifested by different countries in selecting the drinks to which they give the preference, the Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal comments. Of the non-alcoholic drinks, coffee holds the first place.

Get into the American spirit, admonishes the Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal. Learn the value of an hour. Do not allow a solitary one of the precious hours to slip unutilized. If you are at work, work hard and reap the reward; if not at work, pick up a good, substantial book and add to your learning; if you are not reading a substantial book, take some physical exercise and benefit your health. But do not lie around and kill time. Stir yourself today—this morning.

The Milwaukee bank president who has embezzled $1,500,000 is not altogether bad: in his last address as president of the American Bankers' association he made "a sturdy plea for the highest standard of honor in financial dealings." Also, he was "noted for his high regard for the maxims of Benjamin Franklin." That he was distinguished for the purity of his private life goes without saying, asserts the New York American. Let him among who has never stolen a million-and-a-half dollars cast the first stone.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, addressing a student convention at New Haven, Conn., declared that Americans are a lawless people and that this is the greatest menace the nation has to face. He added: "What the country needs is no more wealth, we have wealth enough; it is not more commercial prosperity, we have an abundance of that; and it is not principally better intelligence, for we are very smart; but it is an earnest and loving obedience to law. We boast of our independence and think that means to go our own way, and we go that way. The black as well as the white, the rich as well as the poor, the educated as well as the ignorant, need it, for I believe the worst forms of law-breaking are not among the poor and ignorant, but among the rich and educated."

Unions Cannot Coerce Labor. The Massachusetts supreme court has handed down a decision holding that the attempt to force all laborers to combine in a union is against the policy of the law because it aims at a monopoly of the labor market.

GEORGIA LABOR FEDERATION.

Hold Annual Convention in Atlanta With Most of Delegates Present.

Nearly one hundred delegates from various sections of Georgia, with as many visitors, met at the hall of the Atlanta Federation of Trades Wednesday morning in the seventh annual convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor.

The meeting was called to order by J. B. Hewitt, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

Mayor James G. Woodward, who has been an active member of the Atlanta Federation since its organization, delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the city of Atlanta.

Sam D. Jones, president of the Atlanta State works, delivered a short address to the federation, in which he stated he was the friend of the laboring man, and hoped that a large majority of the people were in thorough sympathy with organized labor.

Congressman L. L. Livingston made a brief address to the meeting, in which he stressed education and education labor. He deprecated the admission of ignorant immigrants into the ranks of organized labor. In part he said:

"If I were addressing a labor convention in Pittsburgh, I would have to have six interpreters to give my message to my hearers. If in Chicago it would take at least four interpreters. But thank God I am in the south amongst Americans." (Much applause and cheering.)

After the address of welcome the president of the Georgia Federation, Mr. Jerome Jones, took charge and read his report, which was received with the utmost enthusiasm. In his annual address Mr. Jones said that legislation in the interest of child labor would be pushed. He said he realized that it was a big task, but with the opposition with its great lobby, was powerful and active and is determined that Georgia shall not do this tardy act of justice to the factory child.

The afternoon session was devoted to the discussion and reading of reports from the different parts of the state. A. God, first vice president, was an "Eight Hour" smoker, tendered the delegates by the Atlanta Typographical Union Thursday night. The function was largely attended.

EDITORS CLOSE SESSION. Georgia Weekly Press Association Had Great Time at Cordele.

The Georgia Weekly Press Association closed one of the most successful conventions in the history of the association at Cordele Wednesday. Hartwell was selected as the next place of meeting.

All the old officers were re-elected, except J. W. Blvin, in whose stead C. C. McKenzie of the Cordele Sentinel was made second vice president. Mr. Blvin was made an honorary member.

President Coleman, before leaving with the party of editors for Atlantic Beach, Fla., said that the association had never been entertained at any city on such a scale of magnificence as at Cordele.

Head of State Insurance Department Roasts Alexander and Hyde. The report of Superintendent Hendricks of the New York state insurance department to Governor Higgins upon his investigation of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, was made public Wednesday night.

It is described in the title as a "preliminary report" and criticizes the management of the society as well as the new trust arrangement for voting the stock agreed upon by Thomas F. Ryan and the three trustees named by him. J. W. Alexander, president, and James H. Hyde, first vice president, respectively, whose resignations were accepted by Chairman Morton, are severely arraigned in the report. Gar E. Tappell, second vice president, is exonerated.

FRANCE FINALLY YIELDS.

Agrees to the Proposition of Germany for a Conference to Straighten Out the Moroccan Tangle.

A Paris special says: An international conference for the consideration of the affairs of Morocco is now practically assured, as the result of the celebration between Premier Rouvier and Prince Radolin, the German ambassador, and attention is now directed to defining the scope of the conference. Details are being rapidly arranged and the official report to be able to announce the plans for the conference in the course of four or five days.

This result, after the severe strain which tested the diplomatic resources of both governments, has the effect of relieving the tension, the officials of the foreign office and the diplomats of the German embassy agreeing that an amicable deal is being made.

Although the basis of the conference has not yet been settled, it is understood that the two governments substantially agree on some of the main features involved.

Germany has suspected that France had designs on the sovereignty of Morocco, but the negotiations disclosed that France had not questioned this sovereignty. Similarly, it was disclosed that France had not designed to interrupt the present territorial status quo of Morocco. This appears to have been one of Germany's chief apprehensions as any change in Morocco's status quo might involve an ultimate French protectorate similar to that over Tunisia.

With both governments favorable to the sovereignty of Morocco and to her territorial and political status quo it remains for the conference to adjust the equality of commercial rights, as Germany desires this assurance from an international conference.

Through the operation of the Anglo-French agreement. Therefore, the conference is not likely to consider changes in the political status of Morocco, but rather international reforms and commercial privileges.

A Berlin dispatch says: No adequate view of the German feeling over the Moroccan affair can be presented without making note of the general belief in naval circles that Great Britain is seeking an excuse to check the great progress which is making in the German sea armament. This belief is widely expressed among naval officers of all classes. It is their view that Great Britain would be wiser that France should suffer on land than destroy the German navy.

As a result of this feeling there is great activity in the German navy, and it has never been so ready for or perfectly ready for defense as now.

WALLACE QUITS PANAMA JOB?

Such is rumor from Colon, Arment the Department of Civil Engineering. A dispatch from Colon says: It was publicly announced that J. F. Wallace, chief engineer for the canal zone, who sailed for the United States June 16, was going home by order of Secretary Taft, for the purpose of a consultation on important matters prior to the sailing of the secretary for the Philippines, and that he was not likely to return to the isthmus until his annual report had been written and he had secured a rest.

Since the departure of Mr. Wallace, however, it has been said in influential circles that he does not intend to return to the isthmus to resume his position of chief engineer, but that he has gone home to confer with Secretary Taft on the subject of his resignation. The fact that Mr. Wallace went home, accompanied by his wife and two secretaries, seems in some quarters to lend credence to the rumor that he does not intend to return.

WORKMEN MARCHING IN STREETS OF LODS WHINNED BY BULLETS.

Eighteen persons were killed and one hundred wounded at Lodz, Russia, Wednesday night, by volleys fired by dragons and Cossacks on a procession of fifty thousand workmen that had been organized as a demonstration against the government. The workmen with thirty red flags were marching through the streets, shouting "Down with despotism."

FRIGHTFUL WRECK

Of Train Going Nearly Seventy-Five Miles an Hour.

NINETEEN IS DEAD LIST

Engine Plunged into Open Switch and Whole Train Was Demolished.

Fire Added Horror to the Catastrophe.

While traveling at the rate of over seventy miles an hour, the famous Twentieth Century Limited, the fastest long distance train in the world, ran through an open switch at the little town of Mentor, Ohio, east of Cleveland, at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night, causing one of the most horrible wrecks in the history of the Lake Shore road.

The engine was hurled into the ditch. A part of the train was crushed on top of it and the wreck was partly burned. The horrors of the wreck were doubled in the horrors of the fire.

The train was crowded, practically all accommodations being taken. It left Cleveland, it was behind time, and the greatest of speed was being made to make up the lost time.

The official list of the dead and injured as compiled by the officials of the Lake Shore company is as follows:

JOHN R. BENNETT, attorney, 31 Nassau street, New York city.

JOHN A. BRADLEY, Warren, Ohio. T. R. MORGAN, second vice president of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company, Cleveland.

C. H. WELLCAN, of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company, Cleveland. A. L. ROBERTS, of New York city, died in hospital.

A. H. HEAD, London, England, representative of the Otis Steele company, of Cleveland, died in hospital.

H. H. WRIGHT, traveling man, Chicago, died in hospital.

D. ARTHUR, traveling man, Milwaukee, died in hospital.

J. H. GIBSON, Chicago traveling man, died in hospital, Cleveland.

H. C. MERICHLING, New York. L. M. ERIKSON, manager, Keith's theater, Cleveland, killed in wreck.

TWO UNIDENTIFIED, supposed to be J. A. Johnson, of the company, first of Conkey & Johnson, Cleveland, and Henry Trine, the barber on the train.

ALLAN TYLER, engineer, Collinwood, Ohio, died in hospital.

P. J. BRANT, head brakeman, Erie, Pa., died in hospital.

N. B. WALTERS, baggage man, Hamburg, N. Y., died in hospital.

W. D. MCKEY, porter on Pullman car, died at scene of wreck.

The wrecked train was making nearly 75 miles an hour when the accident occurred, according to Fireman Aaron Gorham, of Norwalk, who, badly bruised, but otherwise unhurt, miraculously escaped death.

"We were speeding like the wind," said Gorham, "when the engine left the track. It occurred so quickly that I little knew what happened until we crashed into the open switch. I neither heard nor saw the engine after that. The engine overturned and somehow the tank managed to fall upon me, but not heavily, and I was sheltered by it."

D. C. Moon, assistant general superintendent of the Lake Shore, after investigating the cause of the wreck, made this statement Thursday:

"I have made a careful and thorough examination. The switch was open. I am satisfied that somebody, having a key, opened the switch with malicious intent. The train did not jump the track."

The scenes following the wreck were appalling. The night was dark save for the light from the blazing wreck of the coach that was crushed and splintered on top of the engine.

The reprieve was granted in order that the case may be carried to the supreme court of the United States.

WANTS MORE FIGHTING.

England Would Welcome Further Trouncing of Her Old-Time Enemy by Oyama's Forces.

A Washington special says: No assistance is expected in Washington from the London government in whatever efforts the president may initiate to bring about an immediate armistice or to prevent a clash before the convening of the Washington conference.

While the London government, as an ally of Japan, has shown itself in hearty sympathy with the president's policy, to bring the belligerents together feels that it cannot undertake to suggest an armistice at this time.

The British officials believe, according to an advance reaching this government, that Japan would be scornful of a great deal to consent to an armistice at this time and that after a great defeat on land the Russians will be more ready to discuss peace.

This, however, is by no means a difference of opinion between Washington and London. Officially the belief here is that another defeat may inspire the Russians to continue the war indefinitely. It is understood, however, that London will do nothing to hamper the president's efforts, having expressed its sympathy with his general purpose.

Despite their strong belief that it would greatly further the cause of peace if the belligerents would avoid a clash between their armies pending the Washington conference, the president and Secretary Hay are aware of the wish of the Japanese that before assenting to an armistice they receive more definite assurances regarding Russia's intentions.

DEAD MAN'S SALARY PAID.

Edward Curtis, who figures as a medical director, at $15,000 a year, resigned that position eighteen months ago. George H. Squire, who is now a director of the company, is down on the list as financial manager, at $12,000 a year, although H. R. Winthrop succeeded Mr. Squire as financial manager many months ago.

B. Loring, who is on the list as a register, with a salary of $3,500 a year, was supposed to perform the duties of the registrarship in April, 1903.

She has disputed the right of a rural mail carrier to use the road as a mail route and fired at the carrier as he passed the house. The mail carrier notified the United States marshal at Lawrence, Kan., and issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Roseberry.

BOWEN DISGRACED

Minister to Venezuela Is Dismissed by Roosevelt.

LOOMIS IS EXONERATED

Sensational Outcome of Charges of Crooked Work Brought Against Assistant Secretary of State.

Scathing Arrangement.

The dismissal of Herbert W. Bowen, for some years United States minister to Venezuela, and the exoneration of Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis, of the allegations brought against him by Bowen, are the outcome of the Bowen-Loomis controversy, which has attracted wide publicity for many months past.

This disposition of the case is made by President Roosevelt, in a letter addressed to Secretary Taft, made public Tuesday, approving Mr. Taft's report on his findings and conclusions in the case.

The president scathingly arraigns Minister Bowen, declaring that his conduct "is especially reprehensible," that Mr. Bowen asked one of his witnesses to enter the employ of a certain company for the purpose, "in plain words, of stealing documents which, he hoped, might incriminate Mr. Loomis, and that Mr. Bowen has evidently, for many months, indeed for the last two years, devoted his time to hunting up scandal and gossip until it became a monomania and caused him to show complete disloyalty to the country he represented."

The president says he had hoped to promote Mr. Bowen, as during much of his service he had done good work, but that his usefulness in the department is now at an end.

The president says he would direct that Mr. Bowen's resignation be requested, but for the fact that he would consider a resignation an admission of misconduct, and, therefore, his dismissal is ordered.

The president states that it appears from Mr. Bowen's resignation that the publication of attacks on Mr. Loomis and furnished to the press documents pending before the state department for approval and that his explanation is inaccurate and shows his "entire unfitness" for the service. Even if Mr. Loomis had been guilty, says the president, Mr. Bowen's conduct would be unpardonable. The latter quotes certain correspondence and testimony. The report of Secretary Taft on the case on which the president's action is based, is a voluminous document, reviewing the evidence taken.

In his report Secretary Taft says that there was nothing in the transactions in which Mr. Loomis had figured, but he was not discreet. The report says that Mr. Loomis was not justified in becoming personally interested in any of the schemes attempted by Bowen, and that Mr. Loomis, with a mere nominal interest or a substantial interest. He holds, however, that Mr. Loomis has been "most cruelly slandered," commends him for the self-restraint with which he met the charges and points out that Mr. Loomis' bitter experience in this case makes it unnecessary to point out the moral that a minister cannot afford, in the country to which he is located, to make personal investments.

President Roosevelt, in his letter to Secretary Taft, quotes at length from the testimony to show that Bowen was responsible for the charges against Loomis, that he instigated and secured the publication of the attacks on Loomis by furnishing to the press copies of documents believed to reflect on the assistant secretary.

A Paris special says: The efforts to secure a diplomatic adjustment of the Franco-German controversy relative to Morocco remain without definite results.

France has not given her final response to Germany's movement for an international conference and the officials do not confirm the German press reports that France has definitely rejected the proposal for a conference.

WHY EYESIGHT FAILS

INFERIOR ARTIFICIAL LIGHT FREQUENTLY THE CAUSE.

It is one of the most common ailments of the eye, and one that is often the result of the use of inferior artificial light. The eye is a delicate organ, and it is easily injured by the use of inferior artificial light. The eye is a delicate organ, and it is easily injured by the use of inferior artificial light.

Such a condition may be caused by lack of proper food, but in our American homes it is usually due to the poor quality of the artificial light. The yellow, insufficient light of the ordinary kerosene lamp, with its smoky chimney, is about as bad for the eye as can be imagined. The flickering light from a coal gas jet is but little better, and even the electric light, brilliant as it usually is, has an unsteadiness due to variations in power, and a glare peculiarly trying to the delicate nerves of the eye.

For many years, devoted his time to hunting up scandal and gossip until it became a monomania and caused him to show complete disloyalty to the country he represented."

A Rather Premature Haste.
Judging from the manner that some of Hoke Smith's friends are hustling around here, the recent converts to reform believe in the doctrine that "the early bird catches the worm." Notwithstanding the fact that the primary is at least twelve long months in the future, they are going around, so we are informed, with a list asking people to put themselves down in black and white as favoring Mr. Smith for governor for a term that will start after Governor Turrell serves out two more years from tomorrow, when he will probably be sworn in.

It seems to us that it is the least bit premature. No one knows who will be in the race twelve months hence, or what will happen. Twelve months is a long time in the present age, but the men who are conducting Mr. Smith's campaign seem to rather have the voter pledged in a manner so that if he undertakes to buck in the future they can point their finger at him, and tell him, "you have done signed up."

It seems that there is going to be a desperate effort to land Bulloch in the Smith column, and do it real quick, sorter take the other candidates, both announced and those yet to announce, napping. They propose to come up on the blind side, so to speak. We believe it would be better to put a little more trust in the people being able to vote themselves when the time comes, than it is to have 'em sign up twelve months ahead of time. We are not apprised of the number who have actually "signed up," but we would judge that they are few in number. Our people are not given to so much "signing up," especially before the candidates get in the field.

We are also informed that the efforts to "sign up" the voter is not all they have done. We are informed that the Confederate Veterans' Re-union is to be lifted and placed boldly on the Hoke Smith band wagon. "Certain friends" of Smith here have insisted on having him selected to deliver an address before the veterans on July 20th; of course, there is to be no politics in his speech, but they propose to bring him down here as the orator of the day and parade him around as "Georgia's next governor," thereby taking advantage of the Confederate Veterans to boost their man for governor. If this is not the object of his coming, then tell us why he has not been down here talking to the boys of 61-65 before he was announced an active candidate for office. He is not only a candidate but as stated above they are actually forming a club here in his name.

If the Confederate Veterans' Re-union is to be appropriated by the politicians to boost their candidates for office through the sooner they go out of business then the better for the association. We are informed that this invitation was not extended by the veterans as the others were, but "certain Statesboro friends" of Mr. Smith [described that he be here on that occasion as the invited orator of the day. This is taking an undue advantage of the veterans, and one that we believe will be resented by every fair minded, level headed man among them. It is the intention of the association to keep it aloof from politics, but if they succeed in accomplishing this end they will have to set down hard on a lot of small bore politicians that will attempt to use them for political purposes from time to time. "Georgia's next governor" seems to be a man of good sound judgment—knows a good thing when he sees it. During the past week the mails brought us a letter from him stating: "Put me down as a subscriber for one year." One thing commendable about the Hon. Hoke Smith is that he shows a disposition to learn, and we promise him the best dollar's worth of good old fashioned democratic doctrine of the Simon pure variety that he ever had dished out to him during his entire career.

It shall be our purpose to have him sufficiently informed as to justice of the platform on which he is running that the job of the Waycross Journal to reform him and make him to fit said platform after he is elected will be a comparatively easy job. Our friend, Greer of the Journal, seems to think that the Hon. Hoke is rather a misfit on a reform platform, but says as long as he has "crawled up on our platform we will have to stick to him and try to reform him after we get him elected." Now we confess that this is sorter like taking a poor old sinner in the church and making a christian out of him afterwards. While we have little patience with that sort of religion, yet we are willing for Brother Greer to undertake the job if he likes, and after we have labored with him during the campaign, we are inclined to think that his task is not altogether a hopeless one.

But all this haste in getting not only before the people, but getting unnecessarily close to them, twelve months ahead of the primary, reminds us that a few fever-reducing doses are a necessity for the patient at this time. A temperature of 107 in the shade is too much with the primary twelve months in the future.

The Statesboro News has always stood for the very principles laid down in Hon. Hoke Smith's platform, but we confess that there are strange candidates and strange leaders at the helm now. The men who are handling the old ship are not accustomed to her machinery and we fear they will land her on the rocks. If it turns out that she weathers the storm and makes the port, and that a pirate crew is in command, it, perhaps, would be better that she be dashed into a thousand pieces on the rocks of political defeat.

We are not sure that the much despised "mercenaries" are limited to only one candidate in this race. It may turn out that they are playing us like the shrewd fellow played heads and tails: "Heads I win, and tails you lose."

Out Grew Our Associates.
On last Wednesday morning at Cordele the question was sprung in the Georgia Weekly Association as to the eligibility of the semi-weekly papers, and the constitution and By-laws soon made it plain that seven of us were not members of the association, for the reason that we had outgrown the scope of the association which was organized for the strictly weekly papers. In the discussion that followed, in which the constitution was amended so as to take us in, it developed that there were only seven twice-a-week papers known to exist in the state, and to the surprise of many, all seven of these were located in South Georgia. There is not a twice-a-week paper north of Macon that we know of; of course, we have no reference to the twice-a-week issues sent out by the dailies in the cities.

The papers that have grown from a once-a-week, and for whose benefit the constitution of the association had to be amended, are the following: the Statesboro News, the Vienna Progress, the Dublin Courier, the Waycross Journal, the Valdosta Times and the Fitzgerald Enterprise; the latter three time a week.

Forty Years Ago.

Mr. Editor: On Sunday the 11th inst., I attended services at Macedonia church. It being children's day a large crowd was present, and after listening to an excellent sermon by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Brantley, the good ladies of the community spread an excellent and bountiful dinner to which the whole crowd was invited. There was biscuit, ham, chicken, cake, pies of various kinds and quantities—good, better and best.

While eating a thought flashed into my mind as to where I was forty years ago. On the 11th day of June just at that hour of the day, I was paroled from Camp Chase Ohio, where I had been held a prisoner of war for more than nine months, suffering with hunger and cold, almost beyond endurance. There was a great contrast between the dinner I ate that day and the one before me now. Several of my regiment were with me, Math Miller as one, who can testify to what I say. As we were released we were given two days rations, which consisted of eight hard tacks and a very small piece of bacon for each fellow. When we reached the suburbs of the city we concluded to sit down and take one square meal; we ate nearly all the two days rations and quit hungry.

As my mind fits back over these forty years it seems as but a dream of last night, but is a reality. Many changes have taken place, some of which brings sorrow and sadness. Many of my comrades have left the stage of action, and other dear ones lay beneath the sod to await the summons to meet the Judge in the air to receive their reward. I was then a single man—reached home without clothes or any thing else except, what I called my own; I cared but little for any one or anything else except something to eat and drink. Today my children and grand children are here and there, and by the help of the kind Providence I have had plenty to eat and wear, with many kind friends for which I am grateful.

And then there are other changes long cotton sold for thirty cents a yard, short cotton for fifteen to twenty cents, while corn sold for about two dollars. Good farming land then sold for from fifty cents to a dollar per acre, today the same quality of land sells for from ten to one hundred dollars per acre, while the corn produce sells for less than half of what it did then. In view of these things it is strange, but true, that taxes get higher and higher as the years roll on. There is something dead up the branch; there is something dead up the branch; less than forty years ago the state of Georgia merged from under military and republican rule, but the thing gets worse every year. Oh, what a change!

Thirty years ago every man's word was good, but now you scarcely know who to trust. Speculation has been multiplied, and the greed for money and office is rampant until it is truly fearful. Thirty years ago the people put out candidates for office, but now they put themselves out and the people have to choose as best they can from these self-made candidates. It was then an honor for a man to be placed in office, but now, as a rule, it is money, whiskey or some other questionable means that put him there, and thus he is robbed of the honor which naturally belongs to the office. There is too much money in office these days. I, for one, am tired of reading of the self-made candidates of Georgia. You can scarcely pick up a secular paper these days without coming in contact with the announcements of some candidate who has been moved on and changes come—some for better and some for worse, but I am inclined to believe the worse has the majority, sometimes I fear we are going to the bad. We read of the rise and fall of nations. If this greed for money and office continues to increase, it will soon reach the climax and this nation will soon be cursed of God as some other nations have been for their idolatrous work; idolatry is not confined to the worship of images, we can adore property or office or anything else until it will become a stench in the nostrils of Almighty God.

But let us take courage, for there are still a number who do not bow to these things. Yes, many christians still live and it is for their sake the good Lord has spared us this long.

W. H. Ellis.

CALLS ANSWERED PROMPTLY
Day and Night

CITY OF CORDELE
Crisp County, Georgia.
The editor of the News left on last Tuesday morning for Cordele to attend the 10th annual session of the Georgia Weekly Press Association armed and equipped with a first class appetite and an empty stomach. We had attended these gatherings before and had prepared ourselves for what we knew was to come.

A distinguished brother of the press stated in a speech delivered while in the Magic City that when he stepped off the train he thought that he was either in Atlanta, New York or Chicago, but soon learned that he was in Cordele. That was about the proper way to express our nice impression of the place on first sight. But when we saw Walter Coleman, of the Cedar town Standard, and Folsom of the Tattnall Journal, we knew that it was the meeting of the Weekly Press Association that we had run up against.

The meeting was the most successful in the in the history of the association, and the manner in which "the boys" were entertained put all previous records to the bad. The keys of the city were handed to us, and we were informed that our money would not pass current in Cordele. Whenever we offered it at a soda water stand, or anywhere else, it was pushed back to us across the counter and we were told: "your money is no good; your drinks have already been paid for."

We were taken in charge by Judge M. T. Lanier, who, by the way, is an old Bulloch county citizen who has been in Cordele for fifteen years, and seems to be doing well. His handsome residence is located in the very center of the city and is one of the best in Cordele. Mr. Lanier conducts a large furniture store. He was eager to hear the news from "the old home" and, to our surprise, was about as well posted on Bulloch county and Bulloch county people as if he had been away from here only a few months.

Twenty years ago he was a partner with the late Jefferson Parish in the Club House district in a general store.
We are also indebted to our old friend, Mr. R. J. Dekle, formerly of Metter, for courtesies shown us. He, together with his brother, is conducting an extensive buggy and wagon business in Cordele. Mr. Dekle married one of Bulloch's fairest daughters only a short time since, viz, Miss Daisy Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berrien Cobb, of the upper section of this county.

We are also indebted to Doctors McArthur for many courtesies shown us, among which was a drive over the city. There are two brothers of those, one a medical doctor and the other a dentist; one of them is the proprietor of the prettiest drug store in the city. They are Wilkenson county people and, like those we have here, are numbered among the best people in the city. They both asked about Elders Patterson, Stubbs and Temples of this county. They are old fashioned Primitive Baptists and have recently built one of the prettiest little houses of worship in the city.

Rev. Sam W. Small, editor of the Brunswick Journal, delivered an address to the editors and people of Cordele. It was pronounced one of the best efforts of his life, and was applauded quite liberally. While there were no politics in the speech was regarded as a Clark

The First National Bank of Statesboro, Ga.
Examined by the U. S. Government.
Capital Stock, $25,000.00

Every facility for transacting a general banking business. Accounts of individuals, firms and corporations solicited. All business entrusted to us will be carefully attended to. We pay interest on time deposits and handle for our customers all foreign items at par. Small deposits regularly made will soon net you a snug sum. Small deposits are appreciated, and such depositors treated with the same courtesy and consideration accorded larger ones. We ask for a share of the public patronage. Give us a trial and you will think more of us.

Howell speech, inasmuch as the Rev. Small ridiculed the position and platform of the Hon. Hoke Smith, putting both to shame. He took the position that the great state of Georgia was the best governed of any state in the union, and the cry of the small bore politician who wanted to slip into the gubernatorial chair or some other position, claiming that the state was going to the bad, and, unless he got elected, ruination was our portion, was simply the shriek of the demagogue who hoped to get into office by that kind of tactics. The speech brought out an expression from the majority of the newspaper men and others who were on hand, and the general opinion was that Clark Howell would sweep the state in the gubernatorial race. The impression seemed that Hoke Smith was bigger at the start than he would ever be again; he was making an effort to lead a crowd who are refusing to follow his lead. The general opinion was that as the race now stands Clark Howell will carry at least one hundred counties in Georgia.

We had with us a large sprinkling of the politicians of the state, both great and small, among them being Hon. Joe Hill Hall, a possible candidate for governor; Hon. Manning Youmans, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, and about forty representatives and senators from that section of the state. Last but not least, was our own Alf. Harrington of the adjoining "state of Emanuel."

The editors and their ladies were given a banquet at the Swanee hotel on Thursday night, and until long after midnight y editor sat with his No. 10's pushed under the mahogany that groaned beneath its load of things both good to eat and drink.
Cordele is "the Chicago of South Georgia," a bustling young city of 6000 people, located in the very heart of the finest section of the state, blessed with almost unlimited railroad facilities, four independent lines of railroads tapping the city and going out in many directions. It is the dinner point for four passenger trains. Two on the Seaboard Air line and two on the G. S. & F. All four of these trains leave there at 1:55 each day. There are about twice as many mercantile establishments as there is in Statesboro, the same number of banks—three. There seemed to be a neat house of worship to accommodate all the denominations known to exist in this section, and while none of them are brick, yet they are modern and up-to-date. A large magnificent hotel overlooks the city, "The Swanee," where the editors made their headquarters. Cordele has a large number of wholesale houses, a number of manufacturing plants, and altogether one of the best towns in Georgia.

Cordele is to be the county seat of the new county of Crisp, that is they hope to be, and from all indications we believe that their ambition will be gratified. They are certainly entitled to one of the eight which will be created by the approaching general assembly. They propose to split the county of Dooley half in two and form Crisp county, named in honor of the late Speaker Chas. F. Crisp, with Cordele as its capital.

Cuban Diarrhoea.
U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have but little more effect than much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon as will be seen by the following certificate from "Mrs. Minnie Jacobs of Houston, Texas": "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors but they did him no good. Our neighbors who will testify, I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by Druggists.

Notice to Rural Carriers
The Rural Mail Carriers Association of Bulloch county met in Statesboro Saturday, June 24th, and elected a delegate to the state convention, which will be held in Atlanta on July 4th.
Mr. Geo. De Brosse was elected as a delegate to the convention, we must send a report to this convention and we urge the co-operation of all carriers.
Our secretary has forwarded letters to each carrier who has routes in Bulloch county, explaining what we wish them to do, some of these carriers have responded. We earnestly request that those who have not responded to these letters do so at once, so as to enable us to make a creditable showing for our county association. Please write at once so your letter will not be later than Thursday night, June 29, reaching Statesboro. Address your letters to our secretary.

Judge J. W. Rountree had his hands full last Sunday making folks happy. Early in the morning he started out to spend the day with Mr. Frank Deal, whose son was to marry in the afternoon. H. Campbell and Miss Maggie Abance were made man and wife.
In the afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kate Bland, Mr. Milton Deal and Miss Alma Bland were united in marriage. The News wishes for both of the happy young couples many years of happy wedded life.

Big Real Estate Transfer.

On Saturday last Messrs Olliff & Smith purchased the large double brick stores of the Olliff Investment Company, on South Main street, just south of the store of Messrs J. W. Olliff & Co. The building is the one used by Mr. Olliff for his buggy and wagon department and also by the Statesboro Furniture Company, with the armory of the Statesboro Volunteers on the second floor. The price paid was $3700.00. It is one of the best pieces of property in the city and thought to be well worth the price paid for it. It is understood that the purchasers will use part of the building in connection with their own business and the present tenants will remain undisturbed.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret, that for cuts, burns, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Sore Eyes, Bolls, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklin's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at W. H. Ellis' drug store.

NOTICE

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HAVE BIG DAY.

Large Crowd Out to Attend the Annual Convention On Wednesday.

On Wednesday Statesboro was filled with a crowd of at least three thousand people who came to attend the annual meeting of the Bulloch County Sunday School Convention.

Dr. John I. Lane, marshal of the day, formed the different schools in line in front of the court house, and the long string of little ones marching down West Main street to Brannen Park was a scene that made a magnificent showing for the Sunday schools of Bulloch county. President Booth of the association had active charge of carrying out the program, which was carried out to the very letter.

The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. S. W. DuBoise of the Statesboro Presbyterian church, following was an eloquent address by Dr. S. R. Belk, of Augusta, which was pronounced the best that had ever been delivered in Statesboro. Dr. Belk had the close attention of the large crowd from first to last, and all classes were loud in complimenting his address as the best they ever heard.

At noon a bountiful repast was spread under the shade of the black gum grove, and all were fed as long as they would eat. Immediately after the noon hour the election of officers for another year was held, and the following officers were elected:

W. C. Parker, President; W. A. Hodges, second, vice-president; Hinton Booth, Secretary; John I. Lane, marshal of the day.

Statesboro was selected as the place to hold the next annual meeting of the convention. The following is the program that was carried out:

MORNING.

Opening song, "Hail Happy Greetings"—by Corinth Sunday school.

Prayer, by Rev. George W. Matthews.

Song, "Bringing In the Sheaves"—by all the schools.

Address of welcome—by Rev. S. W. DuBoise.

Song, "Meet Me There"—by all the schools.

Address—by Rev. S. R. Belk.

Song, "To the Harvest Field"—Chorus of 100 voices.

Roll call of schools, with two minutes response from each school.

Song, "Rescue the Perishing"—by all the schools.

Dinner.

AFTERNOON.

Business session of the convention.

Special songs by the schools: Bethel New Hope West Main Corinth Langston's Chapel Clito Brooklet Friendship Statesboro Baptist Enterprise Statesboro Methodist Fellowship Doxology, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." Benediction—Rev. G. G. N. MacDonald.

Just What Everyone Should Do. Mr. J. T. Barber of Irwinville, Ga., always keeps a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand ready for instant use. Attacks of colic, cholera morbus and diarrhoea come on so suddenly that there is no time to hunt a Doctor or go to the store for medicine. Mr. Barber says: "I have tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which is one of the best medicines I ever saw. I keep a bottle of it in my room as I have had several attacks of colic and it has proved to be the best medicine I have used." Sold by all Druggists.

Two Men Killed at Waynesboro Monday

Waynesboro, Ga., June 28.—A fierce fight took place here today at 12:20 o'clock when D. Curtis and B. Shrammack were killed and John D. Hill shot twice through the abdomen.

There had been trouble between the parties for some time, and all of them coming to Waynesboro today the trouble culminated in the killing.

Doxier Hill, brother of John D. Hill, is charged with killing both Curtis and Shrammack and Curtis is said to be the one who shot John D. Hill.

Eye witnesses differ about the matter, but agree that Curtis, the dead man, fired the first shot. Curtis and the Hills were all prominent farmers of Burke county. Shrammack is from Augusta and was a partner of Curtis.

The town is all excitement and more trouble may come later. The Hills have given themselves up to the sheriff. The cause of the trouble is of long standing and concerns work hands, plantation lines, and other matters.

HOKE SMITH AND THE RAILROADS

The Atlanta Journal is making much ado because the Georgia and the Central railroads both refused a special train to haul people to the opening speech of Hon. Hoke Smith at Madison on yesterday. The Journal is convinced that this is an act of hostility to Mr. Smith and shows that the railroads are going to fight him in his race for governor.

On the other hand the railroads answer that it is not their custom to run special excursion trains to political meetings, and the Georgia road also stated that it had already engaged every available coach that they could spare from the regular trains, to take an excursion from Athens to Charleston on yesterday. They stated that they would try and get extra coaches and attach to their regular morning trains sufficient to carry all who cared to go to Madison that day. But the Journal is so satisfied that the railroads are "agin" Hoke Smith, until they are hard to satisfy that they are acting in good faith.

Now The News is not a supporter of Mr. Hoke Smith, or any other candidate for governor at the present time, but it seems to us that the railroads would be acting very foolish if they allowed their political views to get in the way of their business.

If it is the policy of the railroads to do the excursion business we believe they ought to have hauled every body who wanted to go, black, white, brown, yellow or any body else; let em go and hear. If Mr. Smith is armed with a just cause the people will get it and flock to his standard. On the other hand if he is playing the demagogue and trying to play the anti-corruption racket in order to get votes, then, they will catch on to him and give him a wide berth.

The election is twelve months off, and the very things that Mr. Smith stands for may not be an issue when the primary meets. The legislature is in session and will pass on them before you can do so at the primary, and we are inclined to believe that many of them will be enacted into law.

Erasmus Brannen Gives Up.

On Tuesday morning Erasmus Brannen drove into town accompanied by his father and surrendered to Sheriff Hendrick. He is charged with the murder of Jack Ellis on Sunday night, an account of which appeared in Tuesday's issue of the News.

Mr. Brannen has employed the following well known attorneys to defend him: Brannen & Booth, R. Lee Moore, G. S. Johnston and Deal & Lanier. As far as can be ascertained no counsel has been engaged to prosecute Brannen.

Mr. Abe Ellis, the father of the victim of the shooting, was in the city one day this week, but if he has employed counsel we have not heard of it. As soon as this is done, then an agreement will be reached when the preliminary is to be held.

Young Brannen is guarded during the day by a special deputy and looked up at night. After the preliminary, if he is committed, Brannen will probably ask the judge of the superior court to allow bail.

Barnes was getting along very nicely when last heard from. Dr. Holland assisted by Dr. Lively extracted two bullets from his leg on Tuesday.
