Bulloch Oil Mill. Three Burned in Dodge Jail.

Eastman, Feb. 9.—The Dodge county jail was burned here tonight, three prominent men of the county meeting death as a result.

They had been arrested for being intoxicated on the street, and confined to jail to sober up. They were E. A. Cooper, Elbert Mullis and John Hart.

The fire was discovered about 9 o'clock but was too far advanced to be checked. Efforts to rescue the three men were unavailing and when the structure had been reduced to ashes their charred remains were found among the debris.

The jail was a small affair and very inflammable. It is not known how it caught, but many suspect that it was brought on by the unfortunate men themselves, probably in an effort to escape.

The dead men are prominently connected and the sad accident has caused a felling of horror in the community. They were the only ones in the jail.

A stranger from the North by the name of Hazleton came through this county. He was without shelter or friend, as he thought; but he met up with a man on the public highway who was his friend and one of our old Bulloch citizens, and said: "Sir, will you take me in out of the rain, tonight?" he said, "I can't give you much for my fare," I thought of what the Good Book says; in so doing we may entertain angels, and so I took him in through the night and treated him the best that I could, and 15 cents was all that he gave me for his fare. Next morning after eating his breakfast he did not thank me for what I had done for him but tried to insult me. I will advise all of my good citizens to beware of how they entertain such strangers. W. N. Driggers.

Dated at Savannah, Ga., this 10th day of February 1908. T. F. JOHNSON, Clerk.

Mrs. Hearn, who has been running a boarding house on West Main street, left on Sunday morning for Savannah where she will make her future home.

In Memoriam.

On Dec. 8th 1905, the black camel of death halted by his Master's command at the gate of Mr. C. E. Fordham and an entering the threshold bore away with him the most precious jewel of their home—Mrs. Victoria Fordham.

She was a benevolent wife, affectionate mother and friend. Surely she has trodden the golden streets and entered the pearly gates and is now in glory with her Savior. She left a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss on earth, it is but an eternal gain in heaven.

Mrs. Fordham was a good woman. We never saw her with a frown on her face, but always a pleasant smile marked her countenance. She was an industrious woman for both earthly and heavenly affairs. She was a servant of the Lord. It was her will that all around her be done well, that all of us could live and die like she has we would brighten the gates of heaven. Consider the lilies as they grow. The choicest flowers must be gathered first. This way it is in a flower garden; so it must be in God's garden. But why should life be made so short, for she was of much service. How can those loved ones make up their minds to live on earth without her, life can no longer be a pleasure to them, but it is God's way. His will be done. He doeth all things well. It is very hard to give up one who always met us with a smile and cheerful words. Those days are rather sombre and melancholy to those she leaves behind, but let's all watch and pray to meet her some sweet day as she holds outstretched arms to greet us on the other side of Jordan.

Mother thou wast mild and lovely, Gentle as the summer breeze, Pleasant as the air of evening, As it floats among the trees.

Her life was like a mountain railroad, And an engineer was brave, And she made the run successful, From the cradle to the grave.

Her Cousin.

Keep Your Eye On the Hobos.

This community is being infested right now with a number of tramps; men to all outward appearances amply able to go out and do a good day's work, going around begging.

In view of some of the experiences our neighbors have had for the past week or two, it seems to us that we had better keep a close eye on the hobos. If a man is loitering in the community who is under the band of suspicion, investigate him, and if he has no business make him pull. It is the duty of the officers to pull these impostors as vagrants and put them on the gang.

ATLANTA GETS STATE FAIR.

Macon, Ga., Feb. 14.—The state fair will be held in Atlanta next fall.

At a meeting of the Georgia State and Agriculture Society here today Atlanta was awarded the fair over Macon, these two cities being the only bidders. The vote for the fair to come to Atlanta again was 18 to 16.

The Atlanta delegation again sprung a surprise on the Central City people, putting in a bid of $47,100, which was far and away the biggest bid ever made for the state fair. Macon's bid fell short of this amount by $9,600, so that Atlanta's claim to the fair next fall was beyond dispute, when the minds of the two bids alone were considered.

Atlanta's bid was divided as follows: Premiums, $12,000; races, $10,000; bonus, $5,000; advertising, $8,000; other attractions, $18,500; total, $47,100.

The bid of Macon was: Premiums, $20,000; bonus, $5,000; races and other features, $12,500; total, $37,500.

Last year Atlanta got the fair with a bid of $28,500 and it was not thought that the amount would be so largely increased, so that Macon was taken by surprise.

Another fact which led to the bid of the Atlanta fair association being accepted was the success of the state fair held there last fall. It was shown by the committee which came from Atlanta to present her bid that the attendance was twice as large as that of any previous fair, and that the exhibition was in every way superior to anything else that had been undertaken under the auspices of the state agricultural society.

The Atlanta delegation is confident that the fair this fall will be larger and better and more successful in every way than the one last year, and the announcement that the Georgia State and Agriculture Society here today Atlanta was awarded the fair over Macon, these two cities out will be hailed with enthusiasm in the Georgia capital.

The members of the State Agricultural society will get behind the fair and do everything possible to assist the Atlanta fair association in making the fair one that will draw many thousands of visitors.

While Macon would have liked very much to have secured the fair, the Central City will co-operate with the Georgia State and Agriculture Society, realizing that Atlanta won out because she presented the best bid.

Col. Corey Makes Statement. Col. E. A. Corey called at the News office on yesterday and requested that we place him straight before the public. He says there were some details in the account of his losing the $500 that might leave him in an awkward light.

He has sacrificed his home in order that Mr. Brown should be fully reimbursed for his loss. He had made arrangements for another party to take the property and give Mr. Brown the money, but Mr. Brown saw it was a bargain and having an opportunity to sell his own, preferred the property to the money.

Mr. Corey states that it was a bitter pill to sacrifice his home, but rather than any one should lose a single, solitary nickel on him, he walked out penniless, which is, in his opinion, one of the best tests of honesty that we know of.

Mr. Corey states that he has no idea who got his money; there were a number of people in the office on Saturday afternoon, either of which may have had an opportunity to have gotten it. He says the report that they got drunk on his own liquor was untrue, that the liquor belonged to Allen Brown who paid $4.00 for two and one-half gallons. Mr. Corey says that he and liquor have been divorced from this out, and that another drop shall ever go down his throat. His friends hope that it may turn out that he will come across the money which has been lost or stolen, but the chances for this are considered pretty slim.

Carter Case Argued. Col. H. B. Strange went up to Atlanta on Monday and appeared before the Prison Commission to argue the petition of Jim Carter now under sentence of death.

The petition asked that Carter's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. He is sentenced to be hanged here on next Friday and a refusal of the Prison Board to interfere will end it all, except what Sheriff Kendrick will do to him next Friday and that will be a plenty. While no decision was announced by the board, yet it is believed that Carter's sentence will be commuted.

Carpenters Walk Out. There are again some strained relations between the local contractors and the carpenters' union.

It seems that the men had been granted ten hours' pay for nine hours' work during the winter months. The contractors have served their men with notice that on March 1st, when the days are longer, ten hours would be expected during the summer months.

To this the union demurred. At a meeting a few nights ago the contractors were invited before them and a set of resolutions was presented setting forth the position of the union. These resolutions set forth that they would refuse to put in more than nine hours at the present scale of wages, which the contractors say is ten hours pay for nine hours' time.

It was also stated that they would not work on a job where a negro was employed in the same capacity that they were. They also refuse to work on a job where a non-union man works. In the case one of this class is employed he will be given an opportunity to join the union. If he refuses then he or the union one must walk.

It was rumored that several of the union men had already quit work in anticipation of their places being filled by non-union men. It was also rumored yesterday that one or more of the contractors had conceded the demands of the union, and that the men who were working for these contractors would go back to work.

In the meantime the carpenters' union has formed a company and will take out license as contractors for three or four of their number.

Just what the outcome of the present strained relations between contractors and workmen will be is hard to say.

Killed By Train.

News has reached here of the death of Fletcher Copeland, colored, who was run over by a train on the Atlantic Coast line near Jacksonville some days ago. Copeland will be remembered as the negro who furnished his Winchester rifle Sunday last year in Whiteville, a suburb of Statesboro; he was arrested, jumped his bond, was hunted down and caught in Florida, brought back here and acquitted some time ago.

Doesn't Believe Grand Jury Will Indict Them.

The superior court grand jury will meet tomorrow for the purpose of investigating the charges growing out of the tragedies of last Friday afternoon.

Charges against five persons, who are alleged to have participated in the shooting will be investigated. Those who are charged with murder are Tim McBride, James McBride, James Lane and "Sapp" and "Snatch" Dyer is charged with committing a murderous assault.

Judge Twigg of Twiggs & Oliver was asked last night whether he would demand a speedy trial for the McBrides and Lane in the event true bills are returned against them by the grand jury. "I don't believe it will be necessary for us to ask for a trial. I don't believe there will ever be one," he replied. "I don't know how any grand jury can indict these people and I do not believe this grand jury will do so."

He was asked what he would do in the event a bill is found against them or any of them. He said Judge Cann has assured him that a trial will be had as soon as the defense wishes it.—Savannah News.

Communication

Statesboro, Ga., Feb. 14, 1906.

Editor Statesboro News,

Dear Sir: As the political pot is beginning to boil, and as we will have to name our candidates for the legislature in our next primary election, and as there are certain principles that the people, or at least a majority of the people, of this state seem to be agreed upon, I think it highly important that when a candidate offers himself for the legislature, that the people should know how such candidate will vote upon a bill which has for its purpose the enactment of these principles into law. Each candidate should be made to state in a public letter to the people how he stands upon these questions. We have heretofore been voting for men to fill this high office without even knowing their personal convictions.

If they are our servants, and they are, we should advise them upon these questions and let them know what the people want done.

The questions I refer to are about as follows:

1. How do you stand on the bill to prohibit free passes?

2. Will you support a bill requiring all foreign corporations to incorporate in Georgia?

3. Will you support a bill to prorogue the school tax fund between the white and colored children of this state in proportion to the amount of taxes paid by each?

4. Will you support a bill to regulate child labor in the cotton mills of this state?

5. Will you support a bill to elect the railroad commissioners of this state by the people?

I am fully convinced that a large majority of the people of this state desire the above principles enacted into law. Now, in order to do this we must elect men who will pledge themselves to support such bills that may come before the legislature that will enact said principles into law.

I simply make these suggestions in order that the voters of this county may think over these matters. It is not my purpose to enter into a discussion of these principles through the papers, but I think our people should think over these things and give the matter their direction as they see fit.

Yours respectfully,

H. B. STRANGE.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for re-election to the Lower House of the General Assembly of Georgia, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. I fully appreciate the support given me in the past and will do my best to merit the same in the approaching primary.

Respectfully,

J. J. E. ANDERSON.

A Great Meeting.

The twenty-seventh state convention of the Georgia Young Men's Christian Association will be held at Americus February 17-20, 1906. Reduced rates have been secured on the railroads and free entertainment will be provided.

The state committee through the columns of this paper extends a cordial invitation to the young men of this community to be represented and to participate in the discussions relating to definite religious work among men and boys. Pastors of churches and their Christian workers who are interested in the young men of the respective towns are invited to attend.

Among the strong speakers to be present may be mentioned Mr. George J. Fisher, physical instructor of the international committee, New York, with his charts and diagrams, showing the remarkable growth of his department, Monday night will be given over to a stereoscopic exhibition of the many points of interest in connection with association work. Other speakers will be Mr. H. F. Williams of Nashville, Tenn., Maj. E. W. Halford, Mr. C. L. Gates field secretary of the international committee, Atlanta, and many of the strongest workers of the Young Men's Christian Association of Georgia.

The convention will open with a banquet on Saturday night, 17th instant, where after dinner speeches will be made by several of the delegates. Social features will be prominent throughout the convention.

There will be a meeting for men only on Sunday, conducted by one of the ablest speakers in the country.

The music of the convention will be in charge of Prof. E. H. McNeil, a chorus leader of ability, assisted by the celebrated Piedmont quartet of Atlanta, which will favor the convention with their stirring and inspiring melodies.

The various phases of the social, physical, educational and religious departments of the Young Men's Christian Association will be discussed and a season of great edification and inspiration is assured.

A feature of the convention will be the attendance of men from communities where there are no Associations. These men are planning to learn something from this organization which has demonstrated its ability to cope with so many problems of vital interest to men, and part of the session is arranged for their special benefit, where the possibilities of practical special effort for the young men in places too small to support a Young Men's Christian Association, will be discussed.

For further particulars address W. Woods White, chairman, or J. V. Read, state sec'y, Pryor St. and Auburn ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Those young naval cadets might be cured of their playfulness by being shipped before the mast for a few years, thinks the Portland Oregonian.

Up in St. Paul it has been decided that a kiss is not a crime but an assault. It shows what a brazen wrong climate will do, comments the Chicago Evening Post.

Steal a million dollars and you take the chances of being fined, asserts the Wichita Daily Eagle. Steal a loaf of bread for a hungry child and the chances are you will be jailed.

The woman who marries a $40 a month man that afterwards turns up as a captain of industry, remarks the Wichita Daily Eagle. Is entitled to your sympathy, if not pity, the alimony conceded.

The latest report of the Secretary of Agriculture shows that if the interest on the national debt is not taken care of, the American farmer would make a capable substitute, avers the Baltimore American.

The teacher should have positive convictions about things, but should not be stubborn. Those who do not know what to believe and doubt everything are unsatisfactory and unsafe leaders, asserts the Ohio Teacher's Journal.

A Parliamentary paper states that for six months the total expenditure connected with the relief of the poor and maintenance of lunatics in England and Wales was $35,000,000, of which $10,000,000 were for London alone.

A New Jersey Judge has decreed that he cannot prevent a woman from continuing calling up her husband by the telephone at his place of business. A man afflicted with such a suspicious wife, says the Atlanta Constitution, should make her camp at the office by having the phone taken out.

Honestly speaking, there is no Christian nation—no Christian people, declares the Florida Times-Union. The real followers of Christ are everywhere in such a hopeless minority that they are unable to engrave in public sentiment the humanitarianism that their great Leader taught.

Every morning we wake up with a new chance of life, declares Woman's Life. Be careful that with the passing hours of the new day you do not neglect, slight or despise some opportunity. The Chicago Record-Herald states that, according to statistics, women have during the past twenty-five years increased in stature two and one-half inches, while men have grown about one inch shorter.

For a century or two more men will need a stipendiary when he desires to whisper the glad word in her ear.

It looks as if the football argument would become a breezy one at Harvard, predicts the Waterbury Republican. The president of the university is openly opposed to continuing the game. An advisory committee, outside of the athletic committee of the university, is as eager to continue it under the proper restrictions, and this committee contains many eminent and influential men. When the final conference occurs to definitely determine the future of the game, the debate would undoubtedly be worth hearing, but as it will probably be held behind closed doors the interest of general public is likely to get only fragments from the leaks that are bound to appear afterwards.

A Kansas woman, Mrs. A. J. Stanley, of Lincoln, has been awarded a prize of $200 by a Boston firm for the best answer to the question, "What constitutes success?" relates the Kansas City Star. She wrote: "He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, a better place; who has, for his own sake and for the sake of others, made the sum of his days a noble one; who has, at the last, left a footprint on the path of his fellow men; who has, by his life, shown the way to a better life; who has, in the end, been remembered by his fellow men as a noble and useful life."

GEORGIA BRIEFS

Four Georgians Confirmed. The state in executive session has confirmed the following nominations of Georgia postmasters: W. Akerman, Cartersville; J. S. Garrett, Columbus; H. D. Bush, Covington; and E. P. Poche, Washington.

Boiler Explosion Kills Two Men. John Hatcher's saw mill, located on Rich Hill, Crawford county, blew up a few days ago, killing John Hatcher and Sim Wilder. Hatcher lived about one hour and Wilder four hours. Oscar Becham, a mill hand, was blown into a ditch and covered with lumber, which protected him.

Mr. Hatcher leaves a wife and four small children. Mr. Wilder leaves a wife and three small children.

Hit Market at Wrong Time. Columbus speculators have been hit heavy by the recent slumps in cotton. It is reported that $100,000 is not an extravagant estimate of the losses of "traders" in Columbus and vicinity who went into the market at the wrong time. A good many of those who lost out were farmers. It is said that more farmers in the section have been speculating in cotton futures this season than ever before.

Roster Committee Report. A full report of the preparation of the rolls of the confederate soldiers who enlisted from Georgia during the war between the states has been submitted by the Roster Committee, headed by Governor Allen D. Canfield, superintendent of the Georgia soldier roster commission. The report, which is a comprehensive one, gives in detail the results of the labor of the commission, as well as outlining the future work.

Owing to the refusal of the secretary of war to give the commission the rolls of the confederate troops, the commission is handicapped to a considerable extent. A bill is to be introduced in congress by Georgia representatives asking permission to secure copies of the rolls in the war department.

McGregor Cues Banker Witham. Hon. E. C. McGregor of Warrenton is plaintiff in a sensational suit filed at Atlanta a few days ago against W. S. Witham, the banker, and J. P. Allen, president of the bank of Warrenton.

Major McGregor alleges that the two defendants entered into a contract through the operation of which the sum of $14,000 of the Warrenton bank's capital stock was diverted to the pockets of Mr. Witham, leaving nothing to the bank but notes of Mr. Allen.

Schools in Splendid Condition. The annual reports received from county schools in Georgia show a decided improvement in the institutions. The attendance is steadily increasing and many additional handsome school buildings have been erected. The library plan of Commissioner of Meritt for the providing of schools with books is meeting with great cooperation. Reading circles have been established in the county and the commissioner has recommended a list of books which will be studied at home as well as in the schools.

Pension Money Being Disbursed. The work of paying out the state pension fund has progressed more rapidly this year, perhaps, than ever before. Pension Commissioner J. W. Lindsay began paying out pensions on January 17, and within three weeks 101 out of 145 counties have been paid a total of more than $265,000. This leaves about $275,000 to be paid to the remaining forty-four counties, and this work will be completed by February 21, according to the schedule mapped out by the pension commissioner at the beginning of the year.

The total pension fund for 1906 was $200,000, which is $25,000 more than has ever been appropriated before. Still with this increase in the fund, the pension fund will be a deficit appropriation, which will be a deficit.

Boys Failed to Make Bond. After a commitment trial before Justice Barrett at Zebulon, Jesse and Albert Russell, the young men arrested on the charge of burning Smith Brothers' barn at Concord last December, were placed under bonds of $1,000 each to appear before superior court next April. The Russell boys failed to make bond.

According to the statement of one of the witnesses, J. M. Pogue, Jesse Russell made a full confession of the crime to him a few days ago. According to the witness the two boys went to Concord together; the younger boy waited in the field while Jesse went and fired the barn after which he returned and hid behind both wood and brush. The boys then fled. They could plainly see the animals in their frantic efforts to escape. As soon as the alarm was spread and people began to gather they left for their home at Lacey Springs. He stated that they went to the place once before in November to do the same job, but were detained on account of a smallpox patient, who had a light in the house near the barn.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR.
Twenty-Eight Coal Diggers Sent to Their Doom by Explosion in West Virginia Pit.

A Charleston, W. Va., dispatch says: At least twenty-eight miners are supposed to have met death in a terrible mine explosion in the Paroli mine of the Stewart Coaleries company near Oak Hill, Thursday. Thirty-nine men were employed in the mine, and only seven have escaped alive.

At midnight six bodies had been recovered near the mouth of the mine, and it is certain that all the others in the mine are dead.

The explosion occurred at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and was caused by a pocket of gas, which was struck in a fault in the mine. The explosion was terrific and it is thought that many of the miners were killed outright by the explosion.

The system of fans was completely wrecked by the explosion, and all the air was shut off from the mine, leaving the men who had not been killed by the explosion to smother to death.

The mine is a shelter mine about 700 feet deep and the unfortunate miners had little chance of escape.

Most of the miners caught in the mine are Hungarians or negroes, who had little experience in mining. They were not expecting the pocket of gas, which was nearly always discovered in mine faults in the Kanawha region.

DEATH CLAIMS MAJOR THOMAS.
President of N. C. and St. Louis Railway Passes Away at Nashville.

Major John W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, died at his home in Nashville, Tenn., Monday morning, aged 76. Major Thomas was one of the best known railroad men in the country.

He was a native of Nashville, and entered the railroad service in November, 1858. From November, 1858, to January, 1863, he was agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, Chattanooga and St. Louis.

He was general manager and, from September, 1884, to January 1, 1899, president and general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, which time he has been president.

Heart failure was the direct cause of Major Thomas' death. He leaves a wife and one son, John W. Thomas, Jr., general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway.

The explosion occurred at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and was caused by a pocket of gas, which was struck in a fault in the mine. The explosion was terrific and it is thought that many of the miners were killed outright by the explosion.

The system of fans was completely wrecked by the explosion, and all the air was shut off from the mine, leaving the men who had not been killed by the explosion to smother to death.

The mine is a shelter mine about 700 feet deep and the unfortunate miners had little chance of escape.

Most of the miners caught in the mine are Hungarians or negroes, who had little experience in mining. They were not expecting the pocket of gas, which was nearly always discovered in mine faults in the Kanawha region.

JUG TRADE A SPECIALTY.

Story from Paris Tells of Some of Count Castellan's Crazy and Sensational Propensities as the King of Spendthrifts.

A Paris special says: Count Boni and his family are striving by every means in their power to induce the countess to withdraw her suit. They know that if Jay Gould's daughter pushes her suit Count Boni will be left practically penniless.

Even if Count Boni effects a reconciliation with the countess, his income will be so cut down as to practically extinguish one of the greatest sources that even prodigal Paris has ever known.

Of all the American investments in Old World titles, Anna Gould's has probably been the most costly.

Reduced to cold figures, the price of her title has been approximately $15,000,000 for the eleven years of her ownership. The equivalent of four weeks of President Roosevelt's salary for a year.

Recently Frank Work, the New York millionaire, and his daughter had a dispute that led Mrs. Roche to leave his home because for a time she spent about $350 a day, one-sixth of the daily expenditures of the count.

Furthermore, Mr. Work permitted his daughter's extravagances for only a few weeks, while George Gould's title brother-in-law has had the record $20,000,000 for the eleven years of his married life.

The count has smilingly spent $4 for a cherry and cheerfully given enough to pay the bonded indebtedness of a small city for a piece of bric-a-brac. He has made for himself a reputation as a spender that caused other capitalists to write about him, and he has inflamed the Parisian populace more than once so that he has had to pounce the city by great gifts to charity.

One of his little follies was a vaudeville performance given at Auvent when, for $50 guests, he presented an all-star bill of no account which cost him less than $500.

Eclipse! That has been the one idea of the count from the moment he got his hands on the Gould fortune. He waited for others to give fates or to buy jewels or antiques until he might eclipse them, and generally he has succeeded. He has lived to hear his praises sung, and the countess paid the cost.

For his world-famed mansion on the Avenue Bois de Boulogne, known as the "Red Palace," Boni spent more money than he can accurately tell. He ruled the location so well that he paid $740,000 for the land alone, and before he got through he had produced a palace that any king in Europe might envy.

Bought $150,000 of equipment and employed the outside Montmartre for the service of the president of France; bought $60,000 of cabinet; bought $200,000 of antique cabinet; bought cherries at $4.00 per cherry; purchased mantelpiece for $50,000; purchased necklace at $100,000, half of which he gave his wife; spent a fortune monthly on clothes; built the Little Trianon at $150,000.

More than a hundred homeseekers arrived in Atlanta a few days ago over the Southern railway from Chicago. These homeseekers were for the most part farmers from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and the north-west. The entire party consisted of 100 persons, and they were taken to Savannah and Jacksonville, from which places the party will break up for the purpose of visiting many sections of the wire grass and the fruit country.
