HOPE RISES FROM ASH HEAP

People of Frisco Turn Their Eyes From the Terrible Scene of Wreckage and Plan for the Future

Fire Is at Last Under Control and One-fourth of City Is Saved—Millions of Money Given.

The worst is past. It is announced now that one-fourth of the city of San Francisco has been saved, and the fire which raged for four or five days is now under control. The loss of life has been estimated at five thousand, and though it is probable that the exact number will never be known.

The insurance companies estimate their losses in the city at five hundred million dollars. They at first preferred to pay losses on all buildings on which they held policies, whether caused by fire or earthquake, but the fire losses ran up so high that it is now announced they will pay the fire losses only. It is thought that a number of the smaller insurance companies will be forced to suspend on account of the losses sustained in San Francisco.

The United States congress appropriated one million dollars for the benefit of the sufferers next day after the great calamity, and on Saturday supplemented this with another one million—making two million dollars in all. From every city and hamlet in the land comes money to aid the stricken city. Up to Sunday it was stated that at least ten million dollars had been given. John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie gave one hundred thousand dollars each; New York city gave nearly three millions. The south has done its share toward aiding the sufferers. Atlanta gave $15,000; Savannah $7,000, and Augusta, Macon and other cities gave liberally.

Every bank in the stricken city was destroyed, but it is announced that they will open in a few days and be able to meet the demands of their depositors. Their safety vaults are thought to be intact.

The extent of the loss of life and property can hardly be estimated. Before it sank into insignificance all the floods and fires in the United States combined. It was worse than the Galveston flood, the Charleston earthquake, the Johnstown flood and the Chicago and Baltimore fires combined.

Shot Him Dead.

San Francisco, April 21.—A son of T. P. Riordan, a real estate dealer, was shot and killed today a few feet from his residence. Young Riordan was on his way home and had a bottle of whiskey in his coat pocket. The soldier on duty ordered him to stop and throw it away, and when he refused the soldier immediately shot him dead.

A workman employed at the Gerson tannery was on his way home this morning when halted by a sentry. The workman explained that his wife was dying and tried to pass. The sentry shot at him, but missed, and the workman ran back to the tannery.

Pestilence Adds Horror.

Pestilence and cold add to the horrors in San Francisco. "It is impossible to establish proper sanitary conditions," says General Funston.

Stricken persons already plan to erect a greater San Francisco.

Bankers declare that they will open their institutions Monday, "even if we have to occupy tents."

Scores of Babies Are Dead.

Scores of babies have died of exposure in the camps of the refugees and half a dozen have been born there.

Dead Women Robbed of Rings by Ghouls

Sacramento, Cal., April 21.—A. J. Neve, who, at the time of the earthquake, was manager of a drug store in San Francisco, is in Sacramento. Mr. Neve said:

"The work of the villain and the ghouls was the thing that added rage to discouragement and despair. Hundreds of women were crowded into the St. Francisco hotel, it being believed it could withstand the flames. The building burned on all sides of it. The dead women were carried out and the villains cut off their fingers and put them in their pockets to secure the diamond rings."

"There was only one consolation. The men caught at this were not without question. Many of them were killed. Wherever men were found robbing dead bodies they were shot down. In the pockets of one who paid the penalty with his life were five diamond rings that had been stripped from the fingers of the dead."

The soldiers, worn down and thirsty, broke into saloons to get water or liquor to brace them up. Many of them got drunk and the result was that they shot many innocent people. That is a simple truth."

Much Sickness Feared.

Washington, April 21.—The following dispatch from Gen. Funston regarding conditions at San Francisco came to the war department at 5:40 this morning. It was sent from the naval training station:

"Fire is making no progress to the west from Van Ness avenue. West wind of considerable force now beginning. Indications now that all of the city south of Van Ness avenue and north of the bay will be destroyed. Some considerable apprehension is felt for the post of Fort Mason, but it is believed we can save it. Weather continues fine and warm; practically no suffering from cold. It will be impossible to at once establish proper sanitary conditions. Much sickness must necessarily be expected. If the city the west now standing remains intact there are many good buildings that can be used as hospitals. The water supply is encouraging. The Spring Valley water people believe they can deliver from ten to twelve million gallons daily. This with other sources not mentioned will prevent the water famine."

Many Minds Gone.

San Francisco, April 21.—The terrible strain of the last few days is beginning to tell on the people. The reaction has come and suspense over missing relatives and friends is causing illness and in some cases insanity.

At Central avenue and Oak street a man today became insane and attempted to kill his wife with a cleaver. He had to be arrested to prevent him from injuring himself or family.

Episcopal clergymen today decided to hold religious services at the different camps tomorrow.

MERCHANTS TRAINS OF RELIEF

Oakland, Cal., April 21.—The merchants of this city started two car loads of flour for San Francisco last night and two more will follow tonight.

TOMALAKS UTTERLY DESTROYED

Oakland, Cal., April 21.—A dispatch from San Rafael says: The town of Tomalake is a pile of ruins. All of the large stores are flat. The Catholic church, a new stone structure is also ruined. Many ranch houses and barns are down. Two children, Anita and Peter Couzars, were killed in a falling house.

Give Half of All

San Francisco, April 21.—Mrs. Hugh Crum, a wealthy property owner of San Francisco reported to the relief committee that all her income-bearing property had been destroyed but that she had a little money in the bank which she proposed to divide equally with the relief committee; she therefore subscribed $10,000 to the relief fund.

Corpses Being Burned Fifteen to Trench

New York, April 21.—The Western Union received the following from its offices in the Ferry building at the foot of Market street, in San Francisco, early today:

"It is still difficult to estimate the dead, as bodies are scattered all over the city. They are burying them in trenches, and putting fifteen bodies in a ditch."

A later dispatch read: "The ferry boats are running on schedule time. There is an immense crowd around the depot here, and committees from all towns across the bay are urging people to leave Frisco and go with them to their homes, but the authorities won't let them take any baggage with them."

Wouldn't Fight Fire and Were Shot Down

San Francisco, April 21.—The headquarters of General Funston, commanding the military located at Fort Mason, on the north beach and those of Mayor Schmitz in Franklin hall at Fillmore and Bush streets, are so widely separated that there is sometimes a conflict of orders. Every effort at cooperation between the military and local authorities is being made and it is hoped that closer headquarters will be established today.

It was stated this morning that a number of men were shot on the water front last night for refusing to help fight the fire. Two men were shot in Golden Gate park last night for insulting women refugees.

Supply Depots Besieged.

San Francisco, April 21.—The situation among the people camped out was the worst this morning at Golden Gate Park, where during the early hours the hungry people besieged every place where it was thought food was stored.

In some places there was a disposition to overrun the guards. In the meantime every sort of vehicle was pressed into service by authorities, and food supplies sent to every part of the city where people were camped. Bread, milk, coffee, and even more substantial articles were dealt out in quantities amply sufficient to satisfy the hungry for the time being. Thousands of tons of provisions were brought over the bay during last night and sent to the various distributing stations in drays and automobiles.

Worst Done by Flames.

San Francisco, April 21.—There is no fire within three blocks of the ferry.

This morning at 8-90 o'clock the fire on the water front north of the ferry was under control. It had burned as far south as the Lombard street dock, where it was checked and smoldering. The ferry depot and some of the docks in that vicinity at this writing are safe.

The fire this morning at 7 o'clock was burning grain sheds on water front about one-half mile north of the ferry station, but was confined to a comparatively small area, and with the work of fireboats on the bay and the firemen on shore who are using salt water pumped from the bay.

It is believed it will be prevented from reaching the ferry building and the docks in that immediate vicinity. On North Beach the fire did not reach that part of the water front lying west of the foot of Powell street.

The fire on the water front is the only one now burning. No fires are left in the houses standing, owing to the chimneys. Forty car loads of supplies, which had been run upon the built line tracks near Meigs wharf, were reported destroyed this morning.

Roosevelt Gives $1,000

Washington April 20.—President Roosevelt this morning contributed one thousand dollars to the relief of the San Francisco sufferers. His donation was made through the Cross Society. He is deeply moved by the great catastrophe which befell the city of San Francisco, and in addition to his check of $1,000 has issued an appeal to the entire country for aid for the devastated city. The President himself has received many telegrams offering assistance and many of the rulers of foreign nations have wired him expressing great sympathy for the people of California on the great disaster.

Grand City Will Rise.

New York, April 21.—In spite of the staggering property losses involved in the destruction of San Francisco by earthquake, the New Yorkers who have large interests at stake in that city and California residents here said without hesitation yesterday that San Francisco would be rebuilt as speedily as possible; that the city would rise from its ashes on grander lines than those of its past, and that it would be a safer and healthier city.

Hon. J. H. Estill Talks to People of Lumpkin

Lumpkin, Ga., April 17.—To a very large audience Colonel J. H. Estill spoke yesterday for about forty minutes during the noon recess of the superior court. He was introduced by G. W. Pugh, who is one of the solid business men of Lumpkin. In his introduction Mr. Pugh said the people no doubt had assembled to hear a political speech, they would hear a sensible business address. Colonel Estill was warmly applauded during his entire speech.

His speech was on the same general lines of those at other places but he especially called attention to one of the charges thrown at him by Hon. Hoke Smith at Homerville last Thursday.

Mr. Smith said at Homerville that I had never said it was wrong to run for office on my check book. In answer to this insinuation, I would say that, as I shall not be permitted the appointive offices of the state for the purpose of getting active political workers, and as I have no corporation or other to pay the legitimate campaign expenses, I necessarily have to use my check book. I therefore dismiss his insinuation as one of the little things said to injure me with unthinking people."

Hon. Clark Howell Speaks At Swainsboro.

Swainsboro, Ga., April 17.—The new court house here could not accommodate the vast crowd of Emanuel voters who gathered at Swainsboro yesterday to hear Clark Howell discuss the campaign issues. They came from every direction and with them were many from neighboring counties. Burke, Tattnall, Toombs and others. They filled the building to overflowing, packed and jammed, with men standing wherever they could find standing room, refused to accommodate more, and had to remain outside.

Mr. Howell was given an ovation from the moment of his arrival. He was met at the train this morning by a crowd of between 200 and 300 citizens of Emanuel county's leading farmers and business men. They surrounded the depot and stood upon wagons and platforms to greet him, and welcome him as he came from the train.

The big crowd at the depot was accompanied by a brass band brought here from Savannah by citizens of Swainsboro for the occasion, and some lively music added to the already overflowing enthusiasm.

May Divide District.

We understand that there is a move on foot to divide the 45th district and make two out of it. This is one of the largest districts in the county, and the people of a large portion of it believe that it will be a source of convenience to the majority of the residents of the district to divide it. At present the court ground is located at Parish. Now it is proposed to have one court ground at Metter and the other at Palaski or Register. The commercial importance of these towns, as well as the general interest of the district at large, seems to demand the change.

Children Bitten by Mad Dog.

On Tuesday Mr. Woods came to town and brought his little girl who had been bitten by a mad dog. The dog which was a pointer puppy, had gone mad in the yard and bit three of Mr. Woods' children and two of Mrs. Laura Jackson's children before it was killed.

In the effort to kill the dog Mr. Woods also was bitten but the skin was not broken in the bite that he sustained and he is hopeful that he may escape. A petition was circulated raising a fund to send the children to the institute in Atlanta for the treatment of Hydrophobia. An appeal was also made before the grand jury, then in session, to recommend that the county commissioners appropriate a sufficient sum to supplement the popular subscription sufficient to send the children on to the institute. This the grand

Post Master's Salary Raised.

Post Master D. B. Rigdon received notice a few days ago that his salary would be increased from $1,500, as now, to $1,700 per annum commencing July 1st. He has also received notice that his daughter, Miss Sallie, has been appointed money order and registry clerk, on a salary of $40 per month. The salary is based on the receipts of the post office for the quarter ending March 31st, which was the largest ever known in the history of the Statesboro post office. With the salary raised to $1,700, we believe that the Statesboro post office pays a bigger salary than any other post office in the First congressional district outside of the city of Savannah.

It does you harm—causes belching, sour stomach flatulence, etc. When the stomach fails a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after each meal will digest what you eat and make the stomach sweet. Kodol is a thorough digestant and will afford relief from any disorder due to imperfect digestion or mal-assimilation. Sold by W. H. Ellis.

Annual Meeting

To the sister churches and pastors of the Lower Canoochee and Lotts Creek associations: Dear brethren and sisters, our annual eight-days meeting will commence next Sunday at 11 o'clock and close on the 1st Sunday night in May. We cordially invite you to meet with us in our devotion to God. Elders Barwick, Lamb and Whitley will be present and preach for us during the meeting. We expect, of course, the people of Statesboro, and invite them to attend. Our only desire as a church is to worship and praise God. M. F. STUBBS, Pastor.

Superior Court In Session

The Spring term of the superior court has been in session during the week. Judge B. T. Rawlings, presiding, and Col. Alf Harrington, solicitor general, on hand to protect the interest of the state. The Grand Jury was organized by the election of Hon. Madison Warren as foreman and W. H. Blitch as secretary, and W. J. Wilson, bailiff. The Court got down to business and the first two days were given up to the civil docket.

ESTILL AND MORGAN MET BIG RECEPTION

The South Georgia Candidate Made to Feel That Bulloch County Would Again Stand True to Him In the Race for the Governorship.

When "Plain Dick Russell" finished his speech Monday afternoon it was conceded that he got just such a reception as was never before accorded to a candidate for political office in Bulloch county, and it was predicted that no other man would get such a one again soon, but these men were shown only two days later that even a greater one was in store for Col. J. H. Estill and Hon. Thos. S. Morgan, of Savannah.

Col. Estill addressed the voters of Bulloch county at the noon hour of court. He was introduced by Hon. R. Lee Moore, mayor of the city, in one of the prettiest little speeches that has been heard here in some time. Col. Moore, being an enthusiastic supporter of the south Georgia candidate made, in a few words, an eloquent appeal for Col. Estill.

Dr. I. S. L. Miller, another enthusiastic Estill man, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Col. Estill made a plain business talk for about thirty minutes. While he makes no pretensions of being an orator, yet his speech was a happy surprise to his friends here. Col. Estill is a plain, unpretentious, modest and successful business man. He brought to bear on the large crowd, who packed the court house to suffocation almost, that what the great State of Georgia needed was a man who would look after its varied interests in a plain business-like manner. The government of a state of such importance as ours is a purely business matter, and not the place to be dominated by the hot air speller and the demagogue. Col. Estill favored a better roads movement. He congratulated our county on the rapid strides she has made along this line and predicted that in the near future, whether we get better roads or not, the trolley lines will interpenetrate this section from one end of the state to the other. He thought that this, with equitable freight rates, would largely solve the railroad question.

He took a square stand against tampering with our election laws. He was in favor of repealing the 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution of the United States, which gave to the negro the right to vote, but inasmuch as that would have to be done by the congress of the United States, he was opposed until then of the adoption of any fraudulent subterfuge to get around something that was not in our way. The white primary had settled the negro question in politics. He believed that in a very few years the negroes would—be gone from among us. He pointed to the fact that they are leaving this state now in droves, following the sawmill and turpentine interests into Alabama and Mississippi, and would eventually become extinct. He said that so much had this already proven true that today we are facing a problem in the matter of farm labor never before known in this county, and the farmer would be compelled to look to other help than the negro to till his farm, for the black man is passing from us, and if we would let him alone he would go to better rural schools and a great many other matters of a purely business nature, and he was given a round of applause that shook the crowded building from foundation to dome.

At the conclusion of Col. Estill's address Col. J. A. Brannen, introduced Col. Thomas S. Morgan, Jr., who spoke for about one hour. While the people were prepared to hear a good speech, yet they were surprised at the genuine eloquence that marked every utterance of his appeal for south Georgia and home. He pointed out the fact that the end of the state had not been represented in the gubernatorial chair in the past 80 years, and he hoped for the time to come when there would no longer be a Mason and Dixon line extending across the state of Georgia. He hoped to see the hour come when a man living south of Macon could have some hope of filling the highest office in the gift of the people of his native state. He saw in the present situation, with five candidates in the race from north Georgia, and only one from south Georgia, a ray of hope, and if we were not successful in capturing that which we have not enjoyed in eighty years, it would be the fault of our own people. He paid a high tribute to the ability and integrity of Col. Estill, and hoped that our own people would not desert their own candidate and run off after demagogues who come down here every two and four years and slap the people on the back and tell them to come up to Atlanta and find the latch string on the outside of the door. Col. Morgan said that the latch string only staid on the outside while the campaign was in progress. As soon as the election was over and the suckers had been caught the latch string would be pulled on the inside, and the average south Georgia cracker, if he should ever get up to Atlanta, would have lots of trouble finding the latch string.

Col. Morgan's address was the most eloquent appeal that we have ever heard delivered to a Bulloch county crowd. His eloquence and logic awayed the great crowd who faced him, and in a manner that showed that the Estill movement was something to deal with in Bulloch. At the conclusion of his address there was such cheering and enthusiasm as has never marked such an occasion before. Men rushed over each other to shake the hands of Col. Estill and Col. Morgan and assured him that old Bulloch would again be found true to him as in the past.

The hour for opening court having already arrived, Judge Rawlings was in the stand vainly rapping for order, but for fifteen minutes the demonstration continued and the Judge, failing in bringing the house to order, sat and smiled at the scene being enacted before him. It looked like a pity to break it up—even if he could.

One noticeable feature of the meeting was the presence of such a large number of prosperous and well-to-do farmers from every section of the county who had not been here at any other time during the week, came here to meet the south Georgia candidate and were for him all the time. They recognize the fact that they have in Col. Estill that which they find in no other candidate: not only a representative of their own section and pure statesman and business man of ability and integrity, but a representative of that band of brave and honored few who are fast disappearing from the pages of action; a follower of the illustrious Lee and Jackson and a man who was true to his country in its darkest hour of peril and distress. Col. Estill is an ex-Confederate soldier who was as brave as any who went to the front and shouldered his musket to protect our homes and section from an invading foe, and these men feel that perhaps he will be the last of the few brave men who went through the four bloody years of the civil war who will ask for our ballots for this high office, and they are going to rally round him in one campaign and fought him in another. He, in common with others, might have made some mistakes, but it stands to his credit after he is gone to his reward that he made a splendid governor and was always a faithful and efficient public officer.

Mr. Rucker, we believe, while supporting Hoke Smith and defending that gentleman, does not intend to vote for him. He is placed in the unenviable and ridiculous position of defending a man he cannot swallow himself.

As stated above, we will close our part of this controversy. Mr. Rucker's article calls for no reply at our hands. We have neither disposition, time or space to reply to an article which stands in its own rebuke.

Mr. Rucker Again "The Confederate Veterans Reorganized."

In this issue will be seen a two column article from the pen of Mr. Jacob Rucker. Mr. Rucker thinks he is replying to some of our articles, but in this connection we believe that the public who have read both sides of it will bear us out in saying that he is mistaken. We print this article of his simply to show the line of attack that is being made on Mr. Howell. This is a fair sample of it all over Georgia, and as fair and ably written as any of it.

Inasmuch as Mr. Rucker has failed to answer a single question put to him some time ago, we see no further excuse in continuing this controversy further and will bring to a close our part of it.

In the article in this issue an attack is made on those who are dead. Mr. Atkinson has long since passed off the stage of life's action, and any attack made on him is out of place. It is true the editor of this paper supported him in one campaign and fought him in another. He, in common with others, might have made some mistakes, but it stands to his credit after he is gone to his reward that he made a splendid governor and was always a faithful and efficient public officer.

TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.

According to the Kansas City Times, luck is a good enough thing to trust to after you've done everything else to invite success.

The town of Eden, Me., by a vote of 98 to 75, has barred "devil carts" from entry upon its streets. But the devil himself is not barred. He acquired the habit of crawling into Eden in the beginning, and has never forgotten the trick.

The New York Press remarks: "As a strictly fashionable affair the auto would seem to have lost its standing. Of late there have been many heart-burnings among the swaggers 'autoists' over the fact that they have been occasionally gazed on the road by their butcher or grocer taking his spin in his machine. Now comes the news that a Battle Creek, Mich., washerwoman has purchased a thousand-dollar auto, in which she makes her rounds every Monday morning to gather up her customers' soiled linen."

About 3,000,000 ounces of quinine are used in the United States a year, which is more than 100 tons. The whole value is toward $1,000,000. The cheapness of the stuff puts it within the reach of all victims and vest-pocket nibblers. It is contained in patent preparations, sold as liquid or soda water, fountains and dispensed in pills, powders and capsules. The call-saya cocktail is a favorite form. Some years ago a league of American quinine heads presented a resolution in the South American, fearing that it might cut off their supply of the drug.

The Hon. Henry B. Emmerson, Canadian Minister of Railways and Canals, declared recently that Canada is going to take possession of the twentieth century as the United States took the nineteenth. Her areas are beyond calculation, her mineral resources, her forests and fisheries make the possibilities of the 6,000,000 Canadians beyond conjecture. In the last ten years the country has doubled, and in the coming months of the current fiscal year it has increased $2,000,000 over the same period last year. We will pass the $200,000,000 mark this year, and you will understand what this means when I tell you that we have a per capita rate of $90 compared to $30 in the United States. We are no longer content with merely crossing the Atlantic, but we are reaching across the Pacific as well."

It is not often that a condemned murderer takes up the pen in defense of his jailers. This has been done recently by Luchini, the murderer of the Empress of Austria. The register of conduct in jail has been so good that he is allowed to possess a few books. In his cell and to read certain journals, French by preference, because, though an Italian, he has taken a fancy for learning French, and takes constant lessons in it from a prison official. Reading in one of these journals that he has features have become almost unrecognizable as a result, he became very angry, and, although warned that letters from him would not be dispatched, wrote a memorial to the Swiss government declaring that his treatment is humane, and even kind. This memorial is the Neues Wiener Tagblatt says, written not only in French, but in good French, of which at the time of his condemnation in 1898 the register knew not a word.

In a sermon on "Why for the Rich," the Rev. W. A. Buckley, of the First Congregational Church, Chicago, said a moment's reflection showed how vain it was to rail at the millionaires. "The richest man in the world," he said, "is in hiding from the sheriff and the threats of the Anarchists. The most popular after-dinner speaker and the idol of the people for years, who was thought to grace the United States Senate, is now caricatured and denounced, and the Yale student who, if he ever comes to that university again they will ride him on a rail. A millionaire of New York says he never knew what trouble was in his home until he had riches; that when he and his wife were poor they were happy. The pages of the newspapers are reeking with scandals and divorce suits which have been the result of money in the hands of fools or men and women made rich by money. The great merchant prince whom men delight to honor, died, it is said, an unhappy man."

GEORGIA BRIEFS

See to Save Rawlings Boys.
A petition is being circulated in Valdosta asking the state pardon board to commute the sentences of the Rawlings boys to life imprisonment, and it is being numerously signed. There is much sympathy expressed for the boys, and a doubt in the minds of some that they had anything to do with the assassination of the Carter children.

Telephone Unchanged.
The situation in the strike of the Southern Bell Telephone company in the Georgia district shows no change. The strikers claim that nearly 80 per cent of their numbers in the southern territory are out and that their ranks are being constantly increased, while the company's representative says confidently about 347 men, in the seven districts affected, are out.

Good Report for Soldiers' Home.
For the first time since the opening of the Confederate Soldiers' home there was a full attendance of the trustees at the first quarterly meeting held the past week at that institution.

The report of the president showed that the home was in an excellent condition, being attributed to the excellent management of the superintendent. During the past quarter, eleven old soldiers were admitted, six were discharged and six died. This leaves in the home 105 old veterans.

Suit Follows Cotton Fire.
The suit of the burning of $113,135 of cotton on railroad grounds near the Atlantic coast in Columbus last November, inman & Muscogee, a Georgia corporation, against the well known cotton firm of J. M. Muscogee, a Georgia corporation, for $230,000.

It is alleged that cotton belonging to Inman & Co., to the value of $105,000, was burned, and that plaintiffs were damaged thereby in the sum of $230,000.

Charter for Branch Road.
The Georgia State of Colonial Dames in session at Savannah the past week, elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. J. J. Wilder, Savannah; first vice president, Mrs. W. L. Wilson, Savannah; second vice president, Mrs. J. R. Lamas, Augusta; honorary vice president, Mrs. Samuel Barrett, New York; Mrs. Thomas Barrett, Augusta, Mrs. R. E. Park of Atlanta and Mrs. A. C. Benning of Columbus were elected on the board of managers for three years.

Schools Receive More Money.
The Georgia State Commissioner Merritt has just sent out to the various counties of the state $140,000. This is the second disbursement of the state school funds which has been made this spring, $62,000 having been paid earlier in the week. Next week another substantial disbursement will be made to the various counties. A part of this sum will be utilized for paying up balances for the year 1905. Governor Terrell has notified Commissioner Merritt that by the middle of May, 35 per cent of the whole appropriation for the year 1906 will be available, or a total of $607,000.

Bill of Exceptions Filed.
A. Lawrence of counsel for Greene and Gaynor presented the bill of exceptions in that case to Judge Emory Speer at Columbus Saturday. Ten days time was allowed for the preparation of the bill. The bill is a most voluminous affair, making up eight large bound volumes.

Greene and Gaynor will appeal to the supreme court of the United States, and there make a last desperate fight against the sentence of Judge Emory Speer following a verdict of guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government in the Savannah harbor contracts.

Col. Sheppard in Town.

Col. W. W. Sheppard, of Savannah, spent two or three days in town this week. Col. Sheppard has a large number of personal friends here who were glad to meet him. He is a genial, clever gentleman, and has persuaded himself that he is running for Congress against Col. Brannen, though there are some doubts along that line. Col. Sheppard doubtless desires to get his name before the public for future preferment. It can be said of him after the approaching primary that he "also ran." We may be mistaken, but we believe that there is little doubt now that Col. Brannen will carry every county in the district, and that his largest majority will come from Col. Sheppard's home county, that of Chatham. But let this be as it may; we are glad to have Col. Sheppard with us, it may be that he will take to us and move up here and locate in the best town, located in the best county, in Georgia. Then as soon as he is here sufficiently long we might send him to the Georgia legislature.

In this issue appears the name of Mr. E. J. Beasley who announces himself a candidate for the office of Coroner, subject to the approaching primary election. Mr. Beasley is a good man and would make a good officer.

Human Blood Marks.
A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of W. Williams. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages, of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures hemorrhages, Chronic Coughs, Settled Colds and Bronchitis, and is the only known cure for weak lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by W. H. H. Ellis, Druggist, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

We have heard the name of Judge Joshua Everett frequently mentioned in connection with the race for representative in the approaching primary. While he has not announced as yet we learn that he has the matter under consideration. He is a strong man and should be a strong factor to deal with.

Chamberlain's Salve.
This salve is intended especially for sore nipples, burns, frost bites, chapped hands, itching piles, chronic sore eyes, granulated eye lids, old chronic sores and for diseases of the skin, such as tetter, salt rheum, ring worm, scald head, herpes, barbers' itch, scabies or itch and eczema. It has met with unparalleled success in the treatment of these diseases. Price 25 cents per box. Try it. For sale by A. H. Druggists.

CAME FORTY MILES FOR AID

An Unnecessary Trip However
Mail Orders Are Filled Promptly.

The fame of the Dillingham medicines Plant Juice, Plant Juice Liniment, Plant Juice Salve and Plant Juice Soap, is fast spreading over the country. A few days ago a gentleman stepped into one of the drug-stores where the Dillingham remedies are sold and asked for two bottles of Plant Juice.

After he had been supplied he was particular to state that he had traveled forty miles from a distant point in Tattnall County for the express purpose of obtaining a supply of this one wonderful remedy. He stated that a neighbor of his who had been ailing for a long time had been in this city the earlier part of the week and obtained a bottle of Plant Juice from his druggist.

His symptoms were almost exactly his own, and the bottle had so completely cured him that he felt, no hesitancy in believing that the treatment would be good for him. He bought three bottles so that he could help his neighbors and friends.

Mr. Simmons of the Simmons Co., explained to the gentleman that he need not have gone to the trouble and expense of making so long trip, and in future an order by mail would receive the same prompt attention as personal request. Already a large number of mail orders have been received by Mr. Simmons from this immediate section and in each case shipment was made promptly.

It is suggested that where several parties desire the remedies a clubbing party can be made up, and the remittance sent under one name, to save expressage and insure prompt delivery. The mail order business is in special charge of one of the men here, and is given the promptest attention. All day Saturday Mr. Simmons and his assistant were kept busy supplying private applications for the remedies and listening to the reports from people who had used them and been benefited by this wonderful discovery.

Many who have been benefited by the use of Plant Juice and Plant Juice Liniment have voluntarily given testimony in endorsement of the wonderful discovery. No such success has ever attended the introduction of a remedy in this section of the state and a list of testimonials embracing some of the most prominent men in this and the surrounding country has been secured by the proprietors of this line of remedies.

Plant Juice Liniment continues to do its work wherever used. Another splendid horse which had been put out of business last week by a badly sprained hind leg was given vigorous and thorough treatment with Plant Juice accompanied by the proper application of the Plant Juice Liniment with the result that the animal is now at work as if nothing had ever happened to it. This is but one

The Law of Divorces

In Broad New Light
Washington D. C., April 17.—In an opinion by Justice White in the supreme court of the United States yesterday decided the case of John W. Haddock vs. Harriet Haddock, a divorce proceeding instituted in the court of New York city, in favor of the woman.

The Haddocks were married in 1868 and the husband claimed to have been an unwilling participant in the ceremony. He says in his answer to the woman's complaint that he left her immediately after the marriage rites were performed and during all the time that has intervened has seen her only three times. In 1881 he secured a divorce in the state of Connecticut, where he then resided, and in 1882 was married there to another woman.

The New York supreme court held the second marriage ceremony to be illegal, decreed the first wife to be still the legal wife and directed Haddock to pay her an annuity of $780. That finding was sustained by the decision today which held that Mrs. Haddock was without the jurisdiction of the Connecticut court. Justice White, in deciding the case, laid down the general principle that a state in which only one party to a divorce proceedings resides has no right to dissolve a marriage which all other states must respect.

Justices Harlan and Brown united in a dissenting opinion which was delivered by Justice Brown. They took the position that the Connecticut divorce is regular and is entitled to due credence in other states.

Justice Brown declared in his opinion that the court had taken a backward step in this direction. Justice Holmes also dissented from the decision of the court, but delivered an independent opinion. He said the result of the decision would be to legalize many children, but added that he would not go so far as to predict that civilization would come to an end whatever the conclusion in the case.

More of a dozen cases in which the liniment has been used effectively to this injury, and in every case effecting a permanent cure. But the real triumph over disease such as is common to mankind at this season of the year has been secured by Plant Juice. These cases are not confined to any particular class of people or disease, but reports have been made so general as to afford a settled conviction in the minds of those who have used the remedies that there is something new under the sun, and that is its value in the home is almost beyond estimation.

THE EAST MAIL

Through Rural Free Delivery it Hastens Distribution of Letters and papers.
Washington, Apr. 19th. The appropriation for the fast mail between New York and New Orleans caused considerable debate last week in Congress.

Mr. Richardson of Alabama made one of the ablest speeches for the bill. He favored it, he said, because the fast mail trains enables the people of the south and southwest to get their mail several hours earlier than they otherwise would. The appropriation he declared:

"It is a donation to the people for their interests and for the public good. Why do these railroads desire to hold it? It is an advertisement for the Southern Roads. It associates them with the power and privileges of the Government. I have thought you the figure that show that this 97 train, that gives Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Louisiana all these great benefits, actually runs and earns less than any other regular trains over this 7,000 miles of railroad. Trains stand at Atlanta and other points awaiting the arrival of train 97—the fast mail train—and at once leaves in different directions carrying mail to the people at distant points fourteen to twenty hours earlier than they would otherwise get it. As Montgomery and Mobile the same thing occurs, and yet 'factiously,' says, loudly denounced a 'subsidy' and octopus, robbing the Treasury."

The time was not long since, when there was vociferous denunciation of internal improvements. But the South, Mr. Chairman, happily is passing away from those feelings and views. Where are the gentlemen who today will stand up here and denounce Federal aid of internal improvements? Here we come before you and ask you simply and plainly that out of a bill that carries $100,000,000 there be paid the sum of $142,000 to aid the people in disseminating useful knowledge and assisting the business men of that section.

This train expedites the delivery of mail from twelve to twenty hours. Collaterally, it carries its benefits a hundred miles from the trunk line, which is paid. It is of great advantage to the towns a hundred miles away from the trunk line. It makes free rural delivery this fast mail reaches thousands of the masses of the people and gives them the benefit of their papers and letters many hours in advance.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.
"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of a gripe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Egleston of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, using the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by liberal use soon completely knocked out the gripe." Sold by All Druggists.

Statesboro, Ga., April 23, '06.
Editor News:—I used to be a little prejudiced against strange men, but those coming from other sections and getting the choicest schools and among us—but that is all wiped out now. I will tell you how.

I have had the superlative pleasure of spending a day with three of them, viz: Professors Bowen of Stillson, Burroughs of Enal and Blackley of Sam. I was perfectly delighted with their schools. I think our worthy and efficient commissioner did well in getting them among us. I also visited Prof. Rushing's school. He is assisted by his competent wife. They have an excellent school.

Well, Mr. Editor, you know we had a fine time Friday at the closing of a fine time Friday at the closing of Prof. Willie Woodrum's school, Bush-Via: Professors Bowen of Stillson and Woodrum are Bulloch county boys. I am so proud of them. God's richest blessings rest upon our faithful commissioner, teachers, parents, children and all.

PETITION FOR INCORPORATION

STATE OF GEORGIA—Bulloch County. To the Superior Court of Said County: The petition of J. A. Brannen and J. W. Donelson, residents of said county, respectfully shows:

Part 1. That they desire for themselves, their associates, and successors, to be incorporated under the name and style of Brannen & Donelson.

Part 2. That the term for which petitioners ask to be incorporated is twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the end of that time.

Part 3. The capital stock of the corporation is to be two thousand dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each. Petitioners ask, however, the privilege of increasing said capital stock from time to time, not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of ten thousand dollars.

Part 4. The whole of said capital stock of two thousand dollars has already been actually paid in.

Part 5. The object of the proposed corporation is pecuniary profit and gain to its stockholders. Petitioners desire to carry on a retail general merchandise business, and to deal in dry goods, hats, boots, shoes, notions, groceries, canned goods and hardware; buying and selling for cash or on credit all such articles and things as are usually embraced in a general merchandise business, and all such articles and things as may be profitably handled in connection therewith. Petitioners also desire to handle any and all grades of commercial fertilizers, huggies, wagons, roadcarts, and harness, and also to buy and sell livestock, mules, horses, cows, etc., and to act as general or special agent for other persons or companies in selling or handling any article or class of articles appropriate to the business herein set out, and to make contracts to act as such general or special agent, and to exercise the usual powers and to do all other necessary and proper acts which pertain to, or may be connected with, the business herein set out, and to have the authority to take mortgages, deeds and liens to really insure for the business herein set out, and to buy and sell all farm products.

Part 6. The principal office and place of business of the proposed corporation will be in the town of Pulaski, said county.

Part 7. That there shall be no personal liability upon the stockholders of the said corporation beyond the amount of their unpaid subscription. WHEREFORE, Petitioners pray to be made a body corporate under the name and style aforesaid; entitled to the rights, privileges and immunities, and subject to the liability, fixed by law.

J. A. Brannen, J. W. Donelson, Clerk of Superior Court of Said County.

I, R. F. Lester, Clerk, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing petition has been filed with me on the 14th day of April, 1906, and that the same is now filed in my office. Given under my hand and seal of office, this 14th day of April 1906. R. F. Lester, C. S. C. B. C.

Editor News:—I used to be a little prejudiced against strange men, but those coming from other sections and getting the choicest schools and among us—but that is all wiped out now. I will tell you how.

I have had the superlative pleasure of spending a day with three of them, viz: Professors Bowen of Stillson, Burroughs of Enal and Blackley of Sam. I was perfectly delighted with their schools. I think our worthy and efficient commissioner did well in getting them among us. I also visited Prof. Rushing's school. He is assisted by his competent wife. They have an excellent school.

The Attention
Of the People of the County is called to the fact that the FAMOUS $3,000
GERMAN COACH
STALLION, ALWIGO,
Is now owned by a Company of Citizens of this County, and is kept by
C. T. McLEMORE, at His Stables in Statesboro.

It is no more trouble or expense to raise a Colt worth from $500 to $500 than it is to raise one worth $125, provided you have an available FIRST CLASS Stallion. Our Stallion is a registered German Coach Horse, noted the world over for their good sense, quiet disposition, graceful movement, rapid maturity and best all-round general purpose horse known to breeders.

TERMS: $25 for living Colt. Note to be given when mare is in foal. After service if mare is traded, Service Fee, $25, becomes due and is payable at once. See this horse, think over the matter and raise you a fine Colt. The gentleman taking stock in this horse do not expect to make money out of him; but if they can come out even and by their effort start a movement among the people of the County to raise their own Stock instead of purchasing the same at high prices from other states they will have accomplished their object.

Judge J. K. Hines, of Atlanta, has been attending court this week.

Mr. T. J. Hendly, now of the blooming young city of Lyons was among those who came over to court this week.

Col. L. J. Cowart, of Lyons, was over this week. We observed that the colonel had thrown to the four winds the Hoke Smith button that he has been displaying on the lapel of his coat. He is admirer of the invincible Dick Russell now.

Mr. Lafayette Groover, living two miles from town, reports the first corn tassels of the season. The corn was planted on the 14th of February in the garden and is now in full tassel.

Judge M. E. Cannon, of the 1575th district, called in on Monday to renew his subscription. Judge Cannon is justice of the peace in his district and says that the civil case that has been placed on the docket in that district was last March a year ago. There had been one warrant issued since then, but the case was settled. This is a fine showing for the prosperity and morals of that good section of Bulloch.

Mr. J. C. Webb, Jr., of Garfield, brought down a fine load of bacou and hams this week and called in and renewed his subscription for another twelve months.

Mrs. E. B. Seckinger, of Mobile, Ala., is visiting at the home of her father, Eld. M. F. Stubbs.

Rev. Mr. Rosser, of Atlanta, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Durance.

The condition of Mr. W. L. Kennedy, who has been ill during the past two or three weeks, is unchanged.

Mr. J. E. Winski has been dangerously sick at his home about five miles from town for the past week or two.

Master Frank McCoy's condition is still very critical.

Mr. J. H. Roberts has been quite sick during this week.

Sick headache results from a derangement of the stomach and liver. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Sold by All Druggists.

L. R. Lanier Seriously Shot
On Monday night Mr. L. R. Lanier, of near Portal, was seriously wounded from a gun shot in the hands of a negro by the name of John Cunningham. It seems that the negro had deserted his wife, who lived on Mr. Lanier's place. He came back and raised a row with his wife and Mr. Lanier, in order to stop the disturbance on his farm, ordered Cunningham to leave, when the latter turned on him and shot him. While the wound is not fatal, yet it is very painful. A posse has been scouring the woods for the negro since that time but he had not been apprehended at last accounts.

FOR SALE.

Death of Dr. Edward W. Lane.
Dr. Edward W. Lane, who died at the home of his son, Dr. R. Y. Lane, on Winthrop street, April 15th, was a descendant of a famous old South-Irish family, who came to America from Queenstown, Cork county, Ireland, in 1783. Dr. Lane, the grandfather of the subject of this sketch, joined a colony from North Carolina, came to Georgia and settled in Emanuel county, crossing the Ogeechee river from the point where Milken now is. At the home made by Dr. Lane, Dr. E. W. Lane, their eldest son, was born on the 28th day of July, 1823. This portion of Georgia was very sparsely settled then, and Dr. Lane well remembers the building of the Central railroad.

In 1848 he was married to Miss Caroline Lane, a descendant of the North Carolina Huguenots. Eight children were born to them, six of whom survive: Dr. John L. Lane, of Brooklet; Dr. R. Y. Lane, of Metter; Mrs. Annie Branson, of Durdenville; Mrs. Susie Kemp, of McLeods, and Mrs. Fannie Johnson, of Summit.

Dr. Lane graduated from the Oglethorpe Medical college at Savannah in 1857, and then took a course at the University of Louisville, Ky., where he received a diploma the following year, 1858. He came back to his home county and took up the practice of medicine, and no physician in that country was more successful or more generally beloved than Dr. Lane. His friends, not satisfied to let him lead a private life, elected him to the Georgia senate in 1860, where he served them faithfully and well.

The death of his beloved wife on March 12, 1861, seemed to have ended his aspirations as to a public career, and he retired from the practice of medicine after her death, and lived a quiet, peaceful life on his farm. But in the quietude of his family life he was ever alive to public welfare and enterprise. He was a strong advocate of a new county for Milken, and held to no old foggy ideas as to cutting up the counties.

Since the marriage of his daughters he has made his home with his son, Dr. R. Y. Lane, and moved with him to Milken only a few months ago.

Dr. Lane has been in a very feeble condition for some time, but was bright and cheerful to the last, and faced death with the calm of a veteran, and undaunted bravery that has characterized his whole life.

He was probably one of the oldest of the old in the state, having joined a lodge on Taylor's creek in his early life, when there was no means of transportation, and an attendant, upon a meeting entailed several days journey on horseback.

Dr. Lane was a man of remarkable intelligence, broad-minded and conservative, nothing grovelingly low or mean ever came near his head or heart. He enjoyed a wide popularity, and will be sorely missed by his friends and relatives.

The funeral services were conducted at the residence of his son, Dr. R. Y. Lane, by Rev. F. P. Singleton, who paid a beautiful tribute to the life just spent, and said he had only seen a few of the latest pages turned, but had learned to love and admire the character of the man.

The interment took place at the family burying ground with Masonic honors.

With loving hearts and tearful eyes we say farewell to this grand old man, and hope the world will see more like him.

Dr. Lane is survived by one sister and one brother, Mrs. Annie Clifton of Bulloch county, and R. Y. Lane, president Merchants' Bank, Valdosta, Milken News.

To Have Re-Union.
The Confederate veterans of the county are planning for another re-union. The time and place has not been selected as yet. It has been suggested that, in event that it is held at Statesboro, a fund be raised and a magnificent banquet dinner be spread at the Hotel to the Veterans and their wives, admitting also the widows of Confederate veterans; that this spread be made as sumptuous as it is possible to make it, and that the balance of the crowd can be taken care of at a basket dinner in the grove at the park where the speaking will be made. The reason for this is that in the big crowds that swarm around these places the veterans, whose benefit the occasion is intended for, are often pushed aside by young men who rush up to the table and cut them out.

The above plan has a number of supporters around here.

Business Methods in Farming.
Thousands of farmers in the more opulent agricultural region of the country still conduct their farms in a haphazard way, but everywhere the advance and necessity of the business spirit are being recognized. The West has been warned, for example, that the fertilizer problem of the East and the South will have to be met before many decades unless the soils are put under better rotations and economy of land is being practiced. It is now generally accepted as a truism that the better the business man the agriculturist of today becomes, the more profitable will be found that occupation which once was described by a keen, though not wholly wise farmer, in the statement that "farmers ain't all keepin' books, by a long shot."—Boston Globe.
