Col. Lester's Death

The news of the sad death of Hon. Rufus E. Lester, as told by our news dispatches, has cast a gloom over this section of Georgia. There was no man in public life who held a warmer place in the hearts of his people than did Rufus E. Lester.

His public service, extending over a period of more than a third of a century, is absolutely without blemish. He was true to his friends and his country. There were some who doubted the advisability of continuing him longer in the public service, but this was based on his infirmities and not on any fault or blemish that had been found in the record that he made in the service of his people. His death will be mourned all over the South.

Overstreet and Clifton

Judging from present indications it is assured that both Hon. J. W. Overstreet, of Screven, and Bill Clifton, of McIntosh, will be in the race for congress to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of Col. Lester.

A telegram from Col. Clifton states this much, and it is assured that Col. Overstreet will also run. Both of these gentlemen are political war horses and they will probably go on the stump. There may be others in the race, of course, but it is now assured that both of these will be in the running, and it is needless to say the fur will fly with both of these men on the stump.

Estill in Savannah.

Since the defeat of the Citizens' club faction in Savannah on last Tuesday the question is being asked, can Estill carry Chatham? This is brought about by reason of the fact that Estill was endorsed by the Citizens' club, and that certain orators on the People's League gave utterance to some opposition to him during the recent campaign. The truth of it is, Estill is not fought by the victorious faction there as a body, while certain leaders are opposed to him simply because the other faction had endorsed him, yet the rank and file of the League are for him.

If the opposition to Estill in Chatham were united they might be able to jeopardize the county, but they are divided. One half of them are for Hoke Smith and the other, or the biggest half, are for Clark Howell. In fact it appears that all the leaders of that faction who are opposed to Estill are for Howell; men like Ferris Cann and T. Mayhew Cunningham for instance. They are against Estill for local reasons and against Hoke Smith on general principles. For instance, Cunningham is looked upon as the leader and shaper of the faction who are fighting Estill. He is a member of the firm of Lawton & Cunningham, attorneys for the Central railroad, who became famous some time ago by reason of their discharge of Hon. E. K. Overstreet because he was opposing the cause of Hoke Smith and fighting the railroads.

Estill will carry Chatham by about the same majority that he did four years ago. His plurality then was somewhere in the neighborhood of 2800.

Will There Be A Populist Ticket?

As will be seen by our news dispatches, the populist executive committee met in Atlanta last Thursday and by a vote of seven to three, ordered a conference of the populist party to be held in Atlanta on July 4th, for the purpose of putting in the field a ticket for governor and state house officers.

There is a wide difference of opinion as to what the outcome of this meeting will be. It has been claimed all the while that Hoke Smith was the candidate of the populist, or that they, in a large measure, would support him, by reason of the fact that Mr. Watson and Judge Hines had told them to do so. We believe that Mr. Smith's democratic friends believe that when Watson and Hines speak the balance happens with the populist. But it looks to us that they are not so much enthused over Hoke Smith as Hoke's friends would have us believe. Has something happened that has shaken their confidence in Hoke's sincerity and conversion? Has the exposure brought out in the Atlanta debate showing that Hoke Smith was the first man to try to disfranchise them, had the effect of shaking their confidence in them?

It looks like there is something dead up the branch. It may be that the convention on July 4th, will nominate Hoke Smith and make him their party nominee. If they do this would he accept? Or if he did accept and failed to secure the democratic nomination, would he continue in the race as the populist nominee and run the race through against the democratic nominee? These are questions that the average voter is asking himself these days.

Another State Added to the Union.

Washington, June 18.—Another state was added to the union today when President Roosevelt signed the bill admitting Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one state.

The measure also provides that Arizona and New Mexico may be admitted to statehood as the state of Arizona, provided the people of the territories vote in favor of admission on the terms submitted to them by congress.

The signing of the measure was made the occasion of an interesting ceremony. Senator Beveridge and Representative Hamilton, respectively the chairmen of the senate and house committees on territories, who have worked long and hard to bring about the enactment of the measure, were present; as also were Delegate McGuire of Oklahoma and a delegation of residents of Oklahoma.

The President used two pens in signing the measure, writing his first name "Theodore," with a solid gold pen presented by the people of Arizona, and his family name, "Roosevelt," with an eagle's quill taken from an American eagle in Oklahoma.

The Shame in Savannah

If the dispatches in the morning papers carry a truthful account of the election in Savannah then we think the time has come when the decent forces of our Georgia civilization should rise in protest against the political conditions which make possible such scenes and such methods in an election in the state.

The city of Savannah is one of the most charming and beautiful in the south, the oldest and most aristocratic city of this commonwealth. It has been for more than a hundred years the type of refinement, of culture, of dignity, and of social and commercial honor in the south.

And yet, upon the sheer drift of factional politics, it has fallen into methods which are not only disgraceful, but are criminal in their violation both of law and of morals in the state. Such an election as that, in which money was used not only freely but with the brazen impudence of the streets, parading its political bribes under the very nose of the insulted law, buying and selling sacred ballots in the open market as if they were bananas or red herrings, is enough to make the cheek of every Georgian mantle with the shame of the spectacle.

One who stood upon the streets of Savannah during the scenes described in the dispatches of the daily papers, would have found no point of difference between the political orgies of this beautiful metropolis of the seaboard and the worst political picture made by any gang of ward heelers in the purlieus and precincts of New York or Chicago.

No matter how high the spirit of faction may have run in Savannah, no matter how keen the ambitions of candidates and their friends—even if the issues had been absolutely vital and not merely personal and factional, there could be no possible excuse for the shameful and disgraceful prostitution of the ballot in the hands of the voters of the city. There is no combination of circumstances that could ever justify such violation of the law and such prostitution of the suffrage which are supposed to conserve the liberty and the prosperity of the free men.

Of course, the men who drifted into these orgies of politics did so thoughtlessly and without due consideration of the magnitude of their offense against the law and the ballot. We have no doubt that many men who participated in these shameful scenes were men who enjoy and deserve the highest repute for probity and honor in their personal and business affairs. We have no doubt that these men would scorn to do in business or in social life anything that was beneath the high plane of the gentleman and the law-abiding citizen.

And yet, they have drifted easily and naturally, under a strange and perverted view of political exigencies and political necessities, into a series of crimes against both the ballot and the law, which are calculated to undermine every principle of morality, justice, and political honor, and ultimately the foundations of the state and of the republic.

We do not hesitate to say that if Savannah does not itself promptly react in protest and in reform against the scenes of that election, then the state of Georgia, through its judicial officers, should take such cognizance as may be necessary, and such methods as may be possible to prevent a recurrence of these shameful demoralizations.

When a beautiful, cultured city flings into the very teeth of a lofty and honorable civilization a ballot box drama that shocks and degrades the political morals of the state, it is high time that somebody on the outside should grasp the inquiry by the throat if the true and good men within the walls are paralyzed by fear or beset by apathy and indifference.

It is surely a timely and necessary appeal to the next legislature to pass with heartiness and enthusiasm the bill of the Hon. Boykin Wright, of Richmond, or some measure akin to it, that will stamp the condemnation of Georgia's representative assembly upon methods and practices that are growing more and more a stench in the nostrils of decency and the state.—Atlanta Georgian.

Savannah Thinks

It will be Brannen
Savannah, Ga., June 18.—No positive funeral arrangements for Colonel Rufus Lester have been made, but the services will take place here Monday.

J. A. Brannen, of Statesboro, is likely to take Colonel Lester's place in congress. Over the long distance telephone tonight, Brannen declined to discuss the matter, saying it was entirely too soon after Lester's death to consider who his successor is to be.

Brannen opposed Lester at the last election and has already announced for the race, Lester having declared his intention of retiring after this.

As he is going to make the race at the regular time, there is no doubt that he will run for the unexpired term. It is conceded generally that Brannen is stronger in the country counties than any one else, though Bill Clifton, of Darwin, who some time ago said he was going to run, might give him a good race.

Chatham has heretofore gone as the Citizens' Club would, but with the People's Democratic League flushed with recent victory such would probably not be in case now.

Walter Sheppard has declared his intention of running in the regular election.

Brannen now seems the probable successor, however, unless Clifton can beat him. It is not believed that any Savannah man can. The governor will have to order an election.

Governor Terrell stated over the phone last night that it was entirely too early to take up the matter of a special election to choose Colonel Lester's successor. It may be that the nominee of the coming primary may be allowed to fill the unexpired term and the next full term.—Atlanta News

Struck Lecturer a Hard Blow

R. R. Seawright Hits out When Told to Do So by Col. Dillingham

Arm Had Been Unseen a Few Minutes Before.

To say that Col. Dillingham's Plant Juice Remedies are creating excitement in this section, and are upholding their reputation as a wonder in more ways than one is starting it mildly.

Col. Dillingham's Plant Juice, the medicine which has made Col. Dillingham the large fortune which he now possesses, and which he is introducing in this state, is being sold at an enormous rate. It is sold by the druggists with the understanding that at the end of three days, if anyone who is not satisfied, he is to bring the bottle back and his money will be refunded.

R. R. Seawright whose arm was restored to use by Dillingham's Plant Juice in such a short time, purchased one bottle of this great new remedy, and came yesterday to tell The Simmonses Co., what it had done for him. He said: "For the past eight months I have been unable to sleep, my paralytic being bought on by a blow on the head, which so destroyed my nerves that insomnia was the result. I took three doses of this Plant Juice medicine and obtained the first sound healthy night's rest I have had for months. I feel better already."

Among others who were benefited by Plant Juice Remedies are the following:
Dr. H. Y. Terrell of Albany, Ga., had been deaf for number of years. He was made to hear at a distance of 60 feet in a short time.

R. Richard had had a paralyzed arm for two years. Its use was restored to him after two applications.

W. R. Morris a man who had been deaf for twenty years was made to hear distinctly by two applications.

A rather laughable occurrence took place during Col. Dillingham's advertising campaign. R. R. Seawright had had a paralyzed arm for a number of months. He came to the platform and told Col. Dillingham that he did not think he could benefit him. Dillingham smiled, and announced to the audience what had been said, and then, after having the sleeve rolled up, and exposing the useless member, started his treatment. The arm had been hanging limply at the side of little use to the owner, when he came to the platform, and in about three minutes Col. Dillingham stepped back and requested Mr. Seawright to rise from his seat. He did so and Col. Dillingham said: "Let's see you hit me." The instructions were followed so literally that Col. Dillingham received a blow which staggered him. A smile of intense surprise and delight overspread the face of the man who but a moment before could hardly have raised the arm with which he dealt the blow, and the audience was carried off their feet with enthusiasm, and cheered Dillingham again and again. Mr. Seawright insisted upon shaking hands with Col. Dillingham with the arm that had a short time before been useless. Mr. Seawright had had a paralyzed arm for two years, and was able to use it once more after he had treated it with less than one bottle of Plant Juice Remedies.

Last week Mrs. Franklin held up her right arm and said: "I have come here to tell you about this wonderful liniment and what it has done for me. I have had rheumatism in my arm for the year so badly that I could not raise it. I obtain a bottle of Dillingham's Plant Juice Liniment and taking it home, used it three or four times. This morning to my amazement, I could raise my arm above my head, as you see me now. I wish to make this announcement before all these people, and will tell anyone who calls that this is the truth."

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs
"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis.

If, as it is alleged, there is a "blind tiger" in town, it should be run to cover. One negro has just finished a chair-gang sentence for selling whiskey, and if there is another one at it, he should be pinched, also. Our public highways are badly in need of repairs, and this "tiger" business opens the way to other labor on our roads.

"A Marriage at Shiloh."

The marriage last week of Miss Pardee Smith, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith, to Mr. Dan Davis of Statesboro, was an event of much interest to their many friends. It took place at eleven o'clock at her home which was simply and attractively decorated with white roses and ferns. The bride and groom entered the parlor and the marriage service was performed by the Rev. J. S. Jordan, pastor of the Reidsville and Shiloh church. The wedding march was played by her sister, Miss Sarah. After the ceremony all adjourned to the dining room, where a lovely repast was served. The bride wore a traveling gown, a pretty eon suit of dark blue silk over a lace blouse. Her hat was a dark blue chip, with shaded blue roses. There was several guests from Reidsville and other cities. Mr. Davis and his bride left that afternoon for his home in Statesboro. The wedding gifts were beautiful and useful.—Tattnall Journal

Convict Ready With His Gun
Waynesboro, Ga., June 14.—News has just reached the city of the killing of Marshal Morris and the serious wounding of J. J. Pope of Midville.

The shooting was done by Shelly Wilson, an escaped convict who had been at large for the last three years, last night in an attempt to arrest him at his home. Mr. Morris, who was the marshal of Midville, assisted by Mr. Pope, went out to the negro's house, and as Morris went around the house to see if Wilson was home the negro opened fire on him from the kitchen, shooting Morris through the heart and killing instantly. Pope then ran around to aid Morris and he was shot three times, twice in the stomach and once in the hand.

The deputy sheriff has gone to the scene of the tragedy. The negro has not yet been captured.

The Very Best Remedy for Bowel Trouble.
Mr. M. F. Borroughs, an old and well-known resident of Bluffton, Ind., says: "I regard Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as the very best remedy for bowel trouble. I make this statement after having used the remedy in my family for several years. I am never without it." This remedy is almost sure to be needed before the summer is over. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? For sale by All Druggists.

Unknown Friends.
There are many people who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hesitated about giving a testimonial of their experience for publication. These people, however, are none the less friends of this remedy. They have done much toward making it a household word by their personal recommendation to friends and neighbors. It is a good medicine to have in the home and it is widely known for its cures of diarrhoea and all forms of bowel trouble. For sale by All Druggists.

LITTLE BOY KILLS ANOTHER

Denmarks Place in Bay District.

On last Saturday there was an awful tragedy at the home of Mr. W. J. Denmark, in the Bay District. It came about in this way: Two of his grandchildren, two boys, one eleven and the other ten years of age, were playing with a loaded gun. One of them, Paul, who was the junior, was lying on the bed while Lester was playing "shooting" with what he thought was an empty gun. He placed the muzzle near Paul's head and pulled the trigger. The load went off and literally tore little Paul's head into fragments. There was nothing left of his skull except a mass of scattered matter. Of course it killed him instantly. The act, while entirely accidental, has thrown a sad gloom over the entire neighborhood.

Mr. Denmark was in the city one day this week and gave us the details of the terrible tragedy, in which one of his grandsons was blown into eternity in the twinkling of an eye.

McLendon-Jones
The young folks of Pembroke, Register and Stillson are interested in the approaching marriage of Mr. J. G. Jones of Pembroke to Miss Esther McLendon of Pembroke, which will occur at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McLendon, near Pembroke, July 14th, in the afternoon. Cards are out for the happy event and the relatives and admirers of the contracting parties to witness the tying of the knot which will be officiated over by Rev. J. H. Smith. The bridegroom-to-be is one of Bulloch's rising young farmers. The bride-to-be is one of Bulloch's fairest and most accomplished young women of which this county is noted. She is possessed of many accomplishments.

GUYTON VISITED BY A SEVERE STORM.

Fences and Trees Levelled and Houses Unroofed.

Tuesday afternoon a severe windstorm, accompanied by rain, struck the town of Guyton, doing considerable damage to property. No injuries to persons are reported. During the hardest part of the blow fences were laid low, and houses partially unroofed. The wires of the Southern Bell Telephone company were broken as the result of a tree falling across them. Some of the public roads were blocked by trees.

The storm came on very suddenly and lasted only ten minutes.

Hon. Mark Johnson Here.
On Monday night, Hon. Mark Johnson, candidate for state school commissioner against Hon. W. B. Merritt, the present incumbent, saved the air in the court house for one and a-half hours. Mr. Johnson's coming was heralded. He reached the city on a late afternoon train, sent a few handbills hurriedly over town that did not thoroughly explain the hour he was to speak and at 9 o'clock a few citizens strolled into the court house to see what was doing and found a candidate for a state house office making a speech. When Mr. Johnson opened he had thirteen hearers and when he finished he had an audience of eighteen.

His theme and plan is to give to the negro that part of the school fund that he contributes to the treasury and no more. He charges that this is already the law and that Prof. Merritt refuses to comply with it. Several of his hearers were impressed with his talk and say they will support him. He was unfortunate in not having a larger crowd to hear him.

Dropped Baby Into Stream.
Mr. Adolphus Sills, living in the 40th district, had what you might call a hair-raising experience, on Sunday afternoon, and one that he will not forget soon.

He had started across the creek at the Oliver Finch mill bridge on the Bay Gulf, in the buggy, with a baby in his arms. Just as his mule reached the top of the bridge it was found that the swollen water had floated the plank on the bridge loose. His mule became frightened and started to back the buggy off the bridge into the creek. Realizing the danger of this Mr. Sills set the baby on the buggy seat and jumped out to take hold of the mule at the bridge and pacify him if possible. In the skirmish with the mule the baby was spilled into the creek, falling into fifteen feet of water. Mr. Sills jumped in after his child and its failure to rise to the top made it necessary for him to dive for it. He went down after it but failed to locate it. Thinking that possibly by this time the little fellow had risen to the surface he came up and a survey of the surroundings showed that it had not. Back down he went the second time in search of his child in a watery grave. After feeling around on the bottom he finally located it lying on the bottom of the creek several feet below where it had fallen in. The little one was brought up and, after hard work, was restored to life again.

What added to the horrors of the situation, when Mr. Sills jumped in the creek he had every reason to expect that the mule and buggy would come on in right on top of himself and child. If this had been done the probability is that all would have been lost, but fortunately the mule stood still.

How to Break Up a Cold.
It may be a surprise to many to learn that a severe cold can be completely broken up in one or two days' time. The first symptoms of a cold are a dry, loud cough, a profuse watery discharge from the nose, and a thin, watery coating on the tongue. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken every hour on the first appearance of these symptoms, it counteracts the effect of the cold and restores the system of a healthy condition within a day or two.
