New Witness In Thaw Case. New York, July 24.—Much speculation was caused at the district attorney's office late this afternoon by the appearance there of a new witness in the Thaw case, whose identity none of the officials concerned would make known.

She was a woman past forty years of age. She came to the criminal courts building in company with P. L. Bergoff, the detective whom Stanford White employed when he is said to have feared injury from Thaw.

The detective and the woman went to the office of Assistant District Attorney Turnbull, where they were closeted for an hour, a stenographer being in attendance.

A great deal of attention seemed to be paid to the woman, and her appearance so late in the day was taken to mean that she had something of importance to contribute to the district attorney's case.

When she went out, she was escorted not only by Bergoff, who came with her, but by a policeman attached to the district attorney's staff.

Try a little Kodol for Dyspepsia after your meals. See the effect it will produce on your general feeling by digestion your food and helping your stomach to get itself into shape. Many stomachs are overworked to the point where they refuse to go further. Kodol digests your food and gives your stomach the rest it needs while its reconstructive properties get the stomach back into working order. Kodol relieves flatulence, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, burn, belching, etc. Sold by all druggists.

Let the Men Hug the Men. Macon, July 24.—Binding Rufus Burnett over to a higher court at yesterday's police machine as the result of some one's raising a row at the Second Baptist church did not half way settle the differences which have been brooding in this locality, and today the court aired a remark accredited to the pastor which got Usher Spikes and a church-gear, T. J. Bartlett into a difficulty.

In announcing a revival, Rev. J. B. Phillips was accredited with the statement: "Let's all have an old-time revival. The men hug the men and the women hug the women."

At this Bartlett is accused of having laughed so much that Spikes had to remind him that services were in progress.

When the case was called this morning several witnesses were present, among them being two lady members of the congregation. All gave Bartlett the best side of the affair, and he was allowed to go. Somebody went to Solicitor General Brunson with the affair, and bagful of his gathered in the past month will probably be let loose within a short time.

A British Blue Book recently issues some interesting figures of the expansion of the British Empire. In 1881 the total area of the empire was reported as approximately 8,500,000 square miles. No important additions were made during the next 20 years, but during that last decade the territorial acquisition has increased the total area to about 11,900,000 square miles, or nearly four times the area of the United States. This is more than one-fifth of the land surface of the globe. During the same time (1881-1900) the population of Great Britain and its dependencies has increased by 25 per cent. The population of the territories has increased from about 239,000 to about 397,000. The total commerce, import and export, of all these people amounts to about £60,000,000 annually. The total annual expenditure for maintenance cost £10,000,000 and the debt amount to £165,000,000. An extensive establishment

By WILLIAM S. BIRGE.

"There is an imp of the perverse," Aberneth went on, his words rattling like dry leaves in his parched throat. "an imp of the perverse, which is more hard in human affairs than his humanity in general would be willing to acknowledge."

"It is the logical basis of all tragedy, the prompter of all suicide, the demon of all that is terribly inexplicable, as well as of all that is absurdly comical in human action. In its play it is comedy, and you laugh in its serious moods it is tragedy. It is often so original, so motiveless, so apparently put of mere whim, that

I did not love her; did not even respect her; wedded her, nevertheless, not because I willed to wed her involuntarily, but because, with an uncontrollable perversity, I was impelled to wed her against my will. A paradox, to be sure—but then man is a paradox, the one wing of which is human, and the other devil. So paradox let it be. She stung the limp of the perverse, the latent devil in me, into horrible activities; and, for the Crime Under Arrest.

A Tokio dispatch says: A Japanese woman has been arrested at Osaka for the wholesale murder of infants. Over twenty babies were killed by the woman, who narrowly escaped lynching after being arrested.

What makes a New York murder a public calamity, remarks the Santha Journal, is the persuasion of the New York papers that one of the murders is especially interesting to the rest of the country.

News Editorial Causes Results in Savannah.

On Friday The Statesboro News printed an editorial protesting against the open saloon together with the Sunday excursion. In the editorial we expressed the opinion that as much as the cheap Sunday excursion carried the open Sunday saloon to every man's door, that it was every man's business who had a boy to be ruined to take a hand in putting a stop to one or both. Copies of this issue were mailed to the authorities in Savannah, also to the railroad officials, and for the first time this year we are informed that on Sunday it was some trouble for a "hay seed" to get loose in the city. True, there were some open saloons, which will be placed on docks, but in most cases they were closed tight as a wedge.

The police committee put it up to the police to either close the saloons or get off the force. We regret, however, that there are a number of that committee who have not entered into the spirit of the move, but the Sunday open saloon and the Sunday cheap excursion is doomed to a finish.

As stated in our Friday's issue, they are the biggest menace to law and order that confronts the people of this section of Georgia. The cheap excursions haul these people into the city by the train loads and empty them into the jaws of an open saloon running wide open in defiance to God and law. They tank up on mean whiskey and as the railroads say, they shoot and throw each other off the trains to the extent that the damage to the railroads cost more than the excursion money is worth.

Now, if the railroads have stopped to count the cost, isn't it about time that the people who furnish the grind for these agencies of hell and damnation to stop and ask what it costs them? How many boys have been started on the road to ruin in the Sunday open saloon? How many of these boys are carried in on the cheap Sunday excursion? The open saloon on the Sabbath day tells the boy who passes through its doors that God is a mockery and that the law of the land in which he lives is a failure.

A Savannah dispatch to the Augusta Chronicle states that the country papers in the Savannah territory have raised such a protest against these agencies, for ruin, that both the railroads and the city authorities are considering the abolition of both. Now we do not know what other paper has entered its protest. But The Statesboro News is among that number, and we hope to see the press take it up. It is a matter that concerns us all. It was preached from the pulpit out at the union meeting at Friendship church this week and we expect to see it done from every pulpit in the territory that is so much affected by this curse until it is stopped. Let the press and the pulpit take hold of this curse and the day will soon arrive when it will be stopped.

Down with the cheap Sunday excursion and the open Sunday bar rooms in Savannah.

Our good friend, E. W. Nance, went down on the Sunday excursion to Savannah on Sunday, got too much Sunday open bar-room booze, slapped a man's face in the union station just before time for the train to leave for home, and was induced by a gentleman with brass buttons on his coat to remain over night in the city. Mr. Nance was the guest of the city itself on Sunday night.

Watson Didn't Come Back

It has been heralded over the state that on Saturday, at his home in Thomson, Hon. Thomas E. Watson would announce in a speech that he was back in the Democratic party.

To those who hoped that Mr. Watson was in earnest and had returned to the Democratic party as a Democrat, the speech was a dismal failure. To those who hoped that he would get just enough in to help some friend in this election, the speech might be what was desired.

Mr. Watson stated that he expected to vote in this Democratic primary, but still retained his convictions as a populist and would pledge himself no further than the election for governor this year. He made it plain that he did not expect to remain in the party after he casts his vote for Hoke Smith. The desire to vote for Hoke Smith has had the effect of causing him to do what he has said for fourteen years that he never expected to do. He will vote in the primary one time and then walk out again.

The meeting was a failure in point of attendance. The papers favorable to Mr. Watson and Hoke Smith say that there was a crowd of four hundred people there, nearly all of whom were from a distance. They call special attention to the fact that very few of the people of Thomson or of McDuffie county turned out at all. The papers that are not so favorable to these gentlemen say that the crowd actually numbered about 100. It is said that "Big" Jim Smith will not only carry McDuffie but about a dozen others in that section of the state.

Chased by Bloodhounds and Flew Lacerated.

Pensacola, Fla., July 27.—John Cook and Harry Lyman, two Americans, and Vender Kever-shult, a German, have arrived here after tramping all the way from the Jackson Lumber operations at Lockhart, Ala., and are exhibiting evidences on their bodies of unusual brutality.

Their bodies are marked with lacerations and bruises, some of them as large as a finger, and their clothing torn by the fierce attacks of bloodhounds which had trailed and caught them. One of the men gave the following account of their experience at the lumber camp, against which charges of poisoning have been preferred:

"We tried to escape last Saturday night, but they put the bloodhounds on us and we were trailed down and captured, and taken back to the camps."

"What did they do with us?" replied Lyman in answer to a question. "Well, look at my arms and back. They answer the question. We were given forty lashes each and taken back. The bloodhounds would have torn me to pieces, but I fought for my life and saved myself by a hard fight. Here, look at my coat; you can see where the fangs of the animal sunk as he made a jump for my throat and missed me. Our second attempt to escape was more successful, and we came on to Pensacola to report the matter."

Will Build Handsome Store

Mr. P. R. McElveen, of the McElveen Investment Company, of Aroola, was in the city, Saturday, and awarded the contract for a handsome brick store house to be erected at Aroola. The contract was awarded to Contractor L. R. Blackburn, of this place, and work will begin at once. The cost of the building, it is said, will be somewhere in the neighborhood of three thousand dollars. The building will be 85x70 feet, two stories high, and will be finished up in the most modern style. As soon as the building is ready for occupancy it will be filled with one of the most complete lines of general merchandise to be found in this section.

A Word to Cotton Planters.

The Atlanta Freight Bureau contended for three years before the Georgia Railroad Commission for a reduction of 88 per cent on 8,000 articles of freight handled by Atlanta merchants, running through classes 1 to 8, and from A. to H., to Savannah and return to Atlanta. They stopped at class H. The next class is J. They asked for no reduction on class J Cotton in class J.

Stick a pin right there! The Atlanta Freight Bureau employed Hon. Hoke Smith to urge and argue their cause—Atlanta's cause for reduction for Atlanta to and from the sea. They did not, nor do they now, ask for any reduction for any competing point from that point to the sea.

The Railroad Commission declined to give Atlanta what she asked for, and gave us a reason that it would close up every wholesale house south of Atlanta in this State, except possibly in Macon, and it would have badly handicapped Macon.

Failing to get the whip handle on the balance of the State, the Atlanta Freight Bureau put its attorney in the field for Governor, and he declares that if he is elected he will remove from office those commissioners who turned down the Atlanta demand.

Stick another pin there! Now the candidate of the Atlanta Freight Bureau is going over the State declaring that Atlanta also wants to get similar reductions to those asked for by herself for all other points in Georgia.

Then why did they not say so in their several petitions asked for and urged during those three years? Why did Hoke Smith say so in some one of his arguments before the commission? But this is not all. It is not the half of it to the cotton planters. Why did they ask for reductions from class 1 to 8, and from A. to H. and stop at H. when J. came next? Was it because cotton is in class J?

Let the cotton planters echo the question, and let them demand an answer—plain and unequivocal without evasion or subterfuge, without trick of speech and without the art of demagoguery. There has been enough of misleading generalities, enough of the wolf cry of "ring," enough of deception and shams. The time has come when the web they have woven should be stripped before the eyes of every voter and the naked truth comes out.

It is time to appeal to reason, and to banish prejudice and passion. If a man steals your purse you want to brain him with a bludgeon. If he steals your reason and makes you blindly follow him, you are a far more injured citizen. Be watchful, therefore, and do not let any politician obsess you, and take possession of your mind. Know the truth and follow it.—Macon Telegraph.

WHEN YOU THINK OF HARDWARE, THINK OF RAINES.

Miss Eva Olliff left Saturday for Adahelle and Claxton, where she will visit for some time.

Mrs. S. F. Olliff will leave tomorrow for White Springs, Fla., for a two weeks' stay.

Mr. Hamp Edwards, one of the prominent citizens of the good old county of Bryan, was with us last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Yarbrough of Savannah spent several days of the past week visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. A. G. Hedleston.

Statesboro experienced another ice famine on Sunday. The day was pretty warm but we sweated it out.

Lot of white clipped oats just received at Porter, Franklin & Co's.

Mr. W. H. Rushing, of the Sink Hole district, brought to the city yesterday several open bolls of sea island cotton. This is the first reported.

Mr. J. M. Fordham has bought out the grocery business of Mr. J. C. Webb, on west Main street, and solicits a share of your business. Mr. Fordham will, no doubt, carry a good line of goods and give general satisfaction to all.

Everything good to eat, new and fresh at Porter, Franklin & Co's.

Mr. A. J. Jones has just returned from a trip to Emanuel county. He says the crops are fine in that section, with only a few exceptions. They have not had as much rain as we have had.

We keep the best Elgin butter and cream cheese on ice.

Porter, Franklin & Co.

Rev. W. M. Hurey requests us to state that he will be at Emmit Grove church on the second Sunday in August to begin meeting.

We carry a new and up-to-date line of stationery.

Porter, Franklin & Co.

The open cotton boll has become quite a common affair now. The next question is: Who will bring in the first bale and get that brand new $20 gold piece offered by the Bank of Statesboro. If it doesn't go this week it ought to.

Rev. J. S. McLeMore is down from Macon spending a few days with old friends in and near the city.

Mr. W. T. Smith has a twenty-acre field of the prettiest short cotton that we ever saw grow in Bulloch county. If it gets a good season there is plenty of it that will make two bales to the acre.

Call on Porter, Franklin & Co. for feed supplies.

WANTED—A good house keeper apply at post office.

Try a sample of our new flour. Porter, Franklin & Co.

Miss Bertha Green, formerly of Statesboro but now of Baxley, arrived yesterday morning to spend the week with Mrs. C. M. Cumming.

Our Roller King flour is the best on the market; try some of it. Porter, Franklin & Co.

Mr. J. F. NeSmith, living out on route No. 4, brought to the News office yesterday a fine specimen of sweet potatoes. It was the best we have seen this season.

Mrs. W. H. Aldred, after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Donaldson, has returned to her home in Adria.

We are now running our own dray and will make prompt deliveries. Porter, Franklin & Co.

Miss Nellie Averitt has returned from Athens, where she has been for the past six weeks attending the University of Georgia.

The Best Calf Food.

Separated milk as a food for calves, when fed direct from the machine, makes a wonderful milk food. Careful experiments show that practically as good calves can be raised on separated milk, direct from the machine, as can be raised on milk from the cow. The butter fat lost in the removal of the cream, is replaced by linseed meal, corn meal, or flour or polars.

Special Crop for Profit.
It is not a bad plan for any farmer to have some specially selected fruit trees, if he is too short of help. Among the things to be suggested is a small area in some kind of fruit which will afford a profit in the majority of seasons, and every now and then comes a year when a fruit crop is worth a handsome sum.

The Poultry Industry.
The hen has come to the front with extraordinary strides in our domestic and commercial economy. The demand for fresh eggs and choice table poultry is increasing faster than the supply. The commercial poultry people who buy their seed, still find in them a good profit. The farm poultry raiser has vast advantages as an actual producer. The improved breeds, so easily done, and provide good poultry houses. He can give them range, which is essential to health and growth. He can raise them with the minimum use of any commercial commodity. The run on the farm and commercial markets is so great that the poultry raiser is not without a market. They destroy insects and weed seeds and make their living with a little extra corn or summer feed. A market is always ready.

Sharpening Hen's Teeth.
As all who raise poultry know the portion of the hen's anatomy answering to teeth is the gizzard, it is therefore important that material be provided which will enable the gizzard to do its duty fully. One veteran poultryman says he would as soon think of trying to raise fowls without grain as without a gizzard. He is very near right. While all sorts of things are recommended for grit, we believe that there should be considerable mixture here as well as in the food. A neighboring florist will give us all of the broken flower pots we will cart away, and these are broken in still smaller pieces and mixed with short bits of stone and irregular pieces of gravel, broken china, and with the hard portions of clam and oyster shells. All of this mass is placed in a box protected from soil as much as possible and situated where the fowls can get it at any time. We go to considerable trouble to keep it clean and free from dirt so that the fowls can pick out the pieces they want as they please.—Indianapolis News.

Seed Corn From Growing Grain.
The experiment station of Ohio furnishes valuable information in a bulletin on the selection of corn for seed, the selection being made during the growing of the plant in the field, which ought to have the careful attention of growers of corn everywhere. Taking Dent corn for the purpose, it is as follows: Vigor of plants, twenty points; position of ear, five points; weight of ear, five points; length of ear, five points; length of cob, five points; size of germ, ten points. Very important is the note which gives the qualifications of a plant growing under less than normal stand; plants lying upon the ground or badly broken; plants diseased; plants maturing too late or too early. To select seed corn from such plants is fatal to the following crop. The vigor of the plant is indicated by the circumference of the stalk below the ear; by its upward growth and by its leaf development and freedom from disease. The ideal position of the ear is based on the habit of growth and vigor of plant as well as size, shape, color and position of the ear. The growers everywhere should profit by these points, which will mean decidedly improved crops.—Indianapolis News.

Orchard Cultivation.
Referring to the fact that many trees die while yet in their prime, a writer asserts that it is simply a matter of starvation—oil exhaustion. The land has produced the trees, also foliage and fruit, year after year, for a period of ten, twenty, thirty, forty or fifty years, often called upon to produce a cereal crop as well, and in many cases with little or no return of fertilizing elements to the soil aside from the which nature supplies. What wonder that the soil has become poverty stricken, and is no longer able to bear the strain? No reasonable man should expect the tree to produce more than one crop a year, for a generation, and in regard to cereal crops there are a few who do, yet here seem to expect to gather the crop from generation to generation without making any return to the soil. If we cultivate the land during the summer to retain the moisture for the use of the trees, and in August

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS

For Blackened Saucepans.
A hint as to an easy method of preventing the blackening of saucepans may not come amiss at this time, when so many are planning their annual sojourn at shore or mountain resorts where gas stoves are so often a nuisance. Before the start, the utensil rub over with fat and afterwards wash with hot water and soda.

Fireless Cooking.
Fireless cookers are now on the market, and it is hoped that American women will be quick to see the advantage of this invention, which is used largely in Germany, and is being introduced into the United States Army. The cooker is simply a chest, thirty-six inches long and twenty-seven inches deep. It is lined with thick felt and is fitted with granite cooking utensils, with the lightest covers. There are two compartments, and an entire dinner can be cooked at the same time. The food is brought to the boiling point, put in the chest with the lid closed, and the chest is closed, and the housekeeper goes to her club or shopping with an easy mind.

The Way to Raise Colts.
Rearing a filly which is just as good as she looks, can scarcely be done except by a genuine lover of horseflesh. Stella, the subject of the article, was foaled April 4, 1905, and was a large colt at birth. Her sire is a well bred and well built Percheron, whose colts are greatly in request at good prices, and his sire was an imported horse, whose colts were never sold for less than $100. The youngster had no serious setbacks and never ceased to grow as long as it was healthy. She was a baby to the whole family, petted and caressed and fed salt and sugar from our hands, yet she never contracted a disease, and she proved a good mother. Stella being her first colt. Disinfectants and Deodorants.
I have frequently been obliged to treat a hasty retreat from a house plagued for a contagious disease because the mother, who is the housekeeper, goes to her club or shopping with an easy mind. I have seen a woman using a strong solution, supposed to be a disinfectant, in the kitchen, and the work of a sickroom, that she had taken off all the paint down to the wood. It may be well to point out that the disinfectant is not a family and a deodorant, while a disinfectant kills germs, a deodorant destroys odors, and has no power to kill germs. A deodorant is something needed, but it must not be used with the idea that it is a germicide also. Charcoal is a good example of a deodorant, and it has been used for centuries. The odoriferous has both deodorizing and disinfecting power. Many of the so-called disinfectants are very weak in germicidal power, and the simply destroy odors. Cleanliness is the foremost agency in destroying disease germs. It should be constantly practiced from the beginning to the end of the illness. The mere act of cleansing destroys many germs, while scrubbing and mopping remove many more. The disinfectant is a rather better profit than cattle raising, except where one has registered stock; and the chances of realizing a profit from the sale of a small unless one shows them a very expensive advertising for women farmers. Good quality of goods, and good prices and are always in demand. Breeding from vicious parents will rarely give the sort of thing that is wanted. The breeding from trotting stock will not produce the sort of horses which farmers and others, who need real race horses, want. Study the sort of horse you can sell and when the colts arrive take good care of them.—Sara A. Little, Clyde, N. Y.

Farm and Garden Notes.
Every farmer should have a few Sunlight in the cow stable is worth money. Mutton is growing in favor with meat eaters. Before breeding ewes are almost a necessity. Just as likely as likely as the pig is unlikely. See to it. Hog killing is a trying time for the farmer too early. To select seed corn from such plants is fatal to the following crop. The vigor of the plant is indicated by the circumference of the stalk below the ear; by its upward growth and by its leaf development and freedom from disease. The ideal position of the ear is based on the habit of growth and vigor of plant as well as size, shape, color and position of the ear. The growers everywhere should profit by these points, which will mean decidedly improved crops.—Indianapolis News.

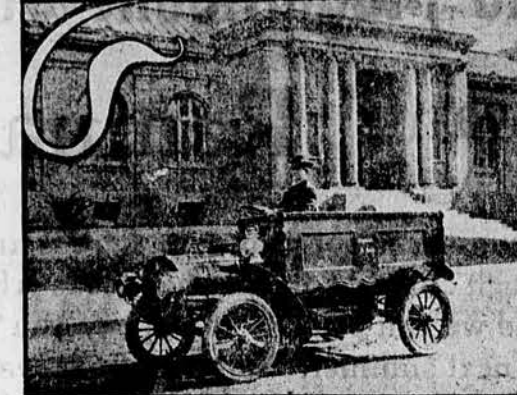

Swan Pudding—Half a box of gelatin dissolved in one pint of warm water. When cool add three-quarters pound sugar and a cup of lemon juice and beat all together with an egg beater until stiff; put it in the dish in which it is to be served, and set on ice or in a cool place. To be eaten with soft custard.

Rice With Cabbage—Boil separately well-washed cabbage in a small spring cabbage. Drain the cabbage and cut into thin pieces. Mix with the drained rice, and add an ounce of butter, salt and black pepper. A little cream and a tablespoonful of Parmesan cheese may also be added, and will be liked. Stir over the fire until quite hot. Serve with croutons of fried bread.

Honey Cake—Soften a cup of butter and mix with it two cups of strained honey, a tablespoonful of ginger, half a cup of molasses, a little of the yellow rind of lemon grated and a small quantity of flour. Dissolve a heaping teaspoonful of soda in a cup of water and strain into the mixture, then add more sifted flour until stiff enough to roll out. Bake in a sheet like gingerbread, and eat with cream or butter.

Minute Pudding—This is very cheap and very palatable. Put one quart of milk or water on the stove and heat until it boils, add one spoonful of salt. Stir flour as much, stirring constantly while adding flour. Serve with milk or cream, which nutmeg has been grated, or with a sauce made as follows: One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, four tablespoons flour, flavor with nutmeg or vanilla or if dark sauce is liked use brown sugar instead of white.

New Use For the Auto.

SAN FRANCISCO'S MORGUE CAR.

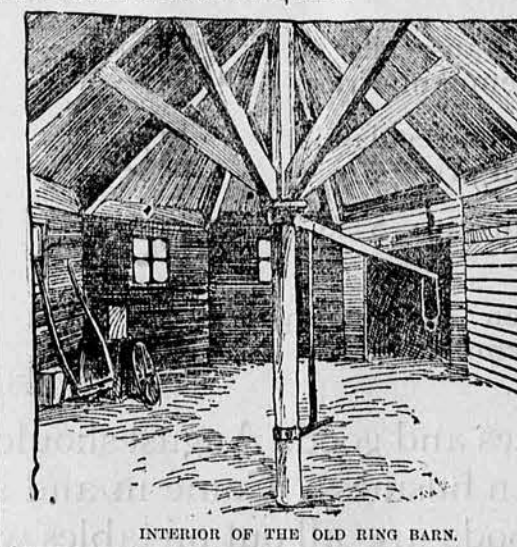

THE OLD CIRCUS SCHOOL.
Built Years Ago by John O'Brien and Bareback Riders' Practice Spot. Philadelphia has long been considered by circus people an excellent city, not only for the large audiences that their shows can attract here, but also for the fact that the city is so well situated for the practice of the circus school. The "training school" where nearly all of these entertainers received their early education in the art of "showing stunts" is still standing at the corner of Willow and Franklin streets. In Frankford, in much the same condition as when it was built many years ago by John O'Brien (better known as "Pony" O'Brien, who at that time managed one of the foremost circuses in the country. Bareback riding had just become popular, and O'Brien, seeing possibilities in the fact that the city was so well situated for the practice of the circus school, built his "Ring Barn," by which name it is still known to the residents of Frankford, in order to give his company a place to practice and to create new sensations with which to startle the amazed public the next season. During these winter months the company was paid from the proceeds of two performances given each week. The barn was arranged exactly as the regular one-ring circus of today. Animal cages lined the walls on one side of the circular building, while on the other side were a few tiers of seats for the spectators. At one end was the public's entrance and ticket office, and almost opposite, across the building was the door where the performers came into the ring, and the other end was the adjoining barn, where the stalls for the horses were located, and where tents and wagons were stored. This entrance was a small balcony for the band.

The place became quite famous as a winter circus, but it was not until O'Brien "discovered" the famous "La Wando Family" that he was able to realize his dreams of daring bareback feats.

dering troupe of acrobats with a donkey, upon which they did the most wonderful tricks he had ever seen, and he straightaway made a contract with them (seven in number) and brought them up to Frankford, where, with the assistance of old man La Wando, father of the troupe, he soon had the boys drilled into doing daring feats that astonished the public and brought applause and a lot of money wherever they exhibited.

Human remains, which are believed by Mr. C. H. Brown, to be those of Saxons, were discovered at Hawk's Hill, Surrey, England.

A STEEL-LINED LOUSE.

Found by Philadelphia Police in Probable Chinese Shooting. Complete verification of the statement that members of the Warring factions in Chinatown wear coats of mail to protect them from the bullets and knife thrusts of their enemies was found recently when the police in investigating the shooting of Willie Lee, a Chinese, found an iron coat in the room of Lee's brother, who was the assassin. The coat is made after the ordinary style of a Chinaman's loose blouse and is of blue jean or heavy drilling. On the body it looks like an ordinary laundryman's working blouse but when the police picked it up they found out differently.

The garment, from hem to neck was padded with steel in the shape of plates about an inch and a half square. These do not lap like scales but are brought together, edge to edge, and held with loops of wire. The metal-coated coat might conform to the body of the wearer, but the padding was not. The padding was made of double thickness of steel plates, and the padding was made of double thickness of steel plates, and the padding was made of double thickness of steel plates.

The Hardest Blow.
An artist who has attained fame and an income was telling some friends of his early struggles. "I had spent eight weeks on the picture," he said, "and had put my very soul into it, and I was weary and my wife was hungry and in rage, the baby was sick, and I was discouraged. I hawked that picture about town desperately, only to bring it home at night. 'No one would have it.' 'I suppose that was the hardest blow of your life,' suggested a sympathetic friend. 'Oh, no, it wasn't either. I could stand that. I knew I was right. But next day I went out to answer every promising advertisement. The last on the list read, 'Disinfectant wanted.' 'I felt secure of that, so I saved it for last. But when I applied, I found that the man who wanted it was a dish-washer and he had no use for it. 'Of course I hadn't any, and he would not take me. I've never forgiven him for that awful blot to my pride.'"

Getting His Rights.
Mrs. Terry had been recently wed to a "by from home," and she proposed to have him promptly endowed with all the privileges of citizenship. "I'll give you a citizenship test," said the new husband. "What is the name of the man who was the first president of the United States?" "George Washington," said the wife. "What is the name of the man who was the first president of the United States?" "George Washington," said the wife.

How She Compromised.
"This somewhat gripping spirit," said Senator Burrows, in the House of Representatives, "reminds me of a lady who dropped in the other day at a certain bank. 'Going to the bank, my dear?' asked the teller. 'Yes, to deposit my money,' she said. 'What is the name of the man who was the first president of the United States?' 'George Washington,' said the wife. 'What is the name of the man who was the first president of the United States?' 'George Washington,' said the wife.

BACK TO PULPIT.
What Food Did For a Clergyman. A minister of Elizabethtown tells how Grape-Nuts food brought him back to his pulpit. "Some 5 years ago I had an attack of what was called La Grippe, which left me in a complete state of collapse and I suffered for some time with nervous prostration. The Union Meeting

The union meeting of the Bulloch County Baptist Association was held with Friendship Baptist church, about five miles from the city, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the past week.

There were good size crowds out each day and on Sunday there was one of the largest crowds out that was ever seen, at a similar meeting in the country. The program as published in these columns was carried out to the letter. There were many able discourses on different subjects affecting the church and its people. Revs. Cobb, Massey, McLemore, Addison, Dorsey, Hursey and Horton were on hand and took a part in the proceedings. There was a basket dinner spread in the beautiful oak grove each day. The meeting was one of the most successful the association has ever held.

C. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years

G. B. Burhans, of Charlotte Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to all suffering from kidney trouble, bladder trouble." A Druggist Compares Man To a Country

Now it has become quite the thing to say that man is like a piece of complicated machinery, but he is a great deal more than that. He is a country. Man and his internal organs compose a magnificent commonwealth in which a great number of different kinds of people dwell in harmony, all working for the common good; but when some malignant demon impels the man to put into his stomach some food that is contrary to the laws of his own commonwealth to import them, then we have revolution and civil war—and trouble to burn. And for the sake of peace and harmony, take Col. F. A. Dillingham's Plant Juice, the greatest of all digestive agents, which is Nature's cure for all trouble of the stomach.

Yes man is a country. The country is divided into communities or states, called organs, such as lungs, heart, liver, kidneys, etc., and each of these communities is like one of the United States in that it has a local or state government, yet all are under one central or national congress, called brain, whose messengers the nerves carry its instructions to all parts of the body. A great difference between the United States republic, however, and the commonwealth of the body is that in the body the central government supplies work and food for every one of its subjects that is sick or in distress. It does its best to make it well, and in case of this kind our local druggist, advises Dillingham's Plant Juice, which acts like a well-organized charitable or relief force, and quickly furnishes to the community in distress just the supplies that are needed to ward off suffering and enables the disarranged organs to get to work again at their proper tasks. Or if we look at the trouble as a sort of civil war, we might call Dillingham's Plant Juice remedies a band of blessed peace-makers who get the opposing parties together and settle their differences and start them working harmoniously together again just as Bishop Potter's trained band of arbitrators settle strikes and fights between employers and labor unions.

The great and important truth is it behooves you to bear in mind is that so long as your organs are at peace and working together like busy bees in a hive, to keep your system in health and good repair you, the country of man, will be the abode of all the blessings of posterity, and your entire system will glow with health and happiness.

But when through carelessness your central government of which your brain is chief executive, allows troubles to grow and civil war to devastate your community, you will lose your peace and happiness your beautiful country will go to ruin and perhaps even be devoured by the greatest enemy of all—Death itself, if you do not put a stop to the trouble with Dillingham's Plant Juice.

A druggist says it is the best preparation he has ever sold in his store to make pure rich red blood, because it contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal body-building elements of the juices of healing plants. Without a drop of mineral or poisonous matter to upset the stomach.

Plant Juice tones up and strengthens the nerves of the stomach, and enables it to obtain from the food eaten the necessary elements to create pure rich red blood, and in this way every organ in the body is strengthened and invigorated and the skin is cleared from all disfiguring eruptions.

Plant Juice can be obtained from Simmons Co., Statesboro, Ga.

Col. Saffold Here.

Hon. F. H. Saffold, candidate for judge of the Middle circuit, addressed a fairly good-sized crowd of the voters of the town in the court house Friday night. The speech was pronounced one of most eloquent appeals that has been heard in Statesboro in a long time. The speaker was given marked attention by every voter in the audience, and at the conclusion of his oration he was most heartily cheered.

Special attention was given by the speaker to Mr. Tadlock, official stenographer for Judge Rawlings, who was in the audience with notebook and pencil. Col. Saffold claimed that Mr. Tadlock had been following him down through the circuit, and especially asked that he take down all the charges that he was making against the judge of the Middle circuit.

The speaker made a strong appeal in behalf of Wiregrass Georgia having a shake at the judgeship, and thought there was no better time to start it than now. Col. Saffold was accompanied by Mrs. Saffold. A drive was made through the country to Metter, where the voters were addressed on Saturday afternoon.

Was in Poor Health for Years

Ira W. Kelly, of Mansfield, Pa. writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others. Literary Club Organized.

Several of the young people of the town met with Miss Leila Blich last week for the purpose of organizing a literary club. A club to be known as the Sidney Lanier Club was organized with about fifteen members. The purpose of this club is to study literature and literary subjects, and to cultivate and strengthen the social life of its members.

Statesboro has long been in need of a club such as this, and it supplies a long felt want and it is thought that it can do a good work here.

The members, at present, are: Misses Eva Olliff, Leila Blich, Myrtle Bland, Daisy Averitt, Mattie Lively, Kate Parker, Sadie Lee, Lillie Olliff, Messrs. Jones, Edwards, Rowan, Averitt, Cone, Parker, Lanier and Johnson.

Attention, Democrats.

A meeting of the democratic executive committee of Bulloch county is called to meet in the court house at Statesboro, at 11 o'clock, on Saturday, August 4th, 1906. A. M. Deal, Chairman Ex. Com.

W. J. Strickland Passes Away.

On Friday night at eight o'clock, at St. Joseph's hospital, where he had been taken for treatment some two or three weeks previous, Mr. W. J. Strickland died after an illness of about two months. The deceased was one of the most prominent men in this section and leaves a large family of children and friends to mourn his loss. He was, at his death, mayor of the town of Pembroke and President of the Bryan County Bank, besides being connected with a large number of other enterprises in both Bryan and Bulloch counties. Until a short time before his death he was a citizen of Stillson, Bulloch county, where he still held large real estate interests.

Mr. Strickland had been married twice, the first time to Miss Ophelia Nevils, who preceded him to the great beyond some three or four years. He was again married to Miss Jennie Lanier, of this county, who survives him and was at his bedside at the time of his death. The interment was made at Lane's church by the side of the remains of his wife, who had gone before him, on Sunday morning. Quite a number of friends from here were on hand to pay to his memory their tribute of respect.

Mr. Strickland was considered to be one of Bulloch's wealthy citizens, though it is said that he distributed quite a part of his estate among the heirs prior to his death. A few years ago he was said to be carrying $40,000 worth of insurance on his life. Just how much he had at the time of his death we are not able to estimate.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Roan of the Presbyterian church.

Olliff—Everett.

The announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Mr. J. R. Everett and Miss Leona Olliff on tomorrow evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Olliff near Adabelle.

The wedding will be of much interest to the young people of this section as the contracting parties have a large number of friends all over this section.

OBITUARY.

Our darling, Miss Josephine Roach, died at her home July 14, 1906. She was born Aug. 7, 1888, and was 18 years old. She joined the church at Sidney in 1904. She was a girl that lived a christian life and all who knew her loved her. She was the sunbeam of her home.

"Eternal rest grant her Oh Lord, and let light perpetual shine upon her."

The bereaved family have our deepest sympathy, and we hope these broken-hearted ones will look behind the cloud of sorrow and see the shining face of the heavenly Father.

Dearest Joe, thou hast left us, and our loss we deeply feel. But 'tis God that has bereft us. He can all our sorrows heal. Yet again we hope to meet thee When the day of life is fled— When in heaven with joys to greet thee Where no farewell tears are shed.

Weep not that her toils are over; Weep not that her race is run; God grant we may rest as calmly When our work, like hers, is done, Till then we yield with gladness Our sister Him to keep And rejoice in sweet assurance He giveth His loved one sleep. Peaceful be thou silent slumber, Peaceful in thy silent grave so low, Thou wilt no more join our number, Thou no more our sorrows know. Yet, again we hope to meet thee, When the day of life is fled And in heaven with joys to greet thee Where no farewell tears are shed.

A precious one from us has gone; A voice we loved is stilled; A place is vacant in thy home Which never can be filled. God in His wisdom has recalled The boon His love had given. And though the body slumbers here The soul is safe in heaven.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

STATESBORO, GA., FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1906

VOL. 6 NO. 22

BRANTLEY TO SPEAK HERE SATURDAY, AUG. 11.

Citizens Are Making Preparations for the Biggest Meeting of the Season—Brass Band Engaged.

Hon. W. G. Brantley, member of congress from the Eleventh Georgia district, will address the voters of Bulloch county at Statesboro on Saturday, August 11, at the court house at 11:00 o'clock.

Mr. Brantley is one of the most popular and best known men in public life. He is, perhaps, the ablest congressman that has been in congress from this state in many years. He is young, energetic and hard working; a man of acknowledged ability. Mr. Brantley has secured more things for his district than has any man in the Georgia delegation. He is a friend of the farming class of people, which he has proved more than once. He is the able champion of a duty on imported long staple cotton, so as to protect our home growers against the product of the pauper labor of Egypt.

Mr. Brantley is advocating the claims of Col. J. H. Estill in this race for governor because he believes him to be as good as any other man in the race, and he thinks that it is the duty of south Georgia people to stick to home folks, especially when everything is equal, as it is in this case.

Col. Brantley will be introduced by Col. R. Lee Moore, mayor of Statesboro. The ladies are cordially invited to attend this meeting. The Woodmen of the World cornet band has been engaged for this occasion and will furnish the music. The people are invited out to hear Mr. Brantley on Saturday, August 11th.

OLLIFF—EVERETT.

The marriage of Mr. Joshua Reginald Everett and Miss Leona Olliff was the most notable event of this section for many years, by reason of the prominence and wealth of the contracting parties. The betrothal service was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Hon. and Mrs. Jos. F. Olliff, at Adabelle, Ga., July 31, 1906, by Rev. T. J. Cobb.

The parlor was beautifully decorated with palms, and ferns, similar and carnations for the impressive ceremony, after which a sumptuous dinner was served.

The bride was given in a beautiful costume of white crepe-de-chene, the bodice being handsomely trimmed with applique and shirring, the skirt also being shirred. The groom was dressed in becoming black suit with white vest.

The presents were numerous, costly and admired by all. Mr. Walter W. Olliff and Miss Eva Olliff, Mr. Frank I. Williams and Lula Everett were the attendants.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. F. Olliff. She is a young lady of rare beauty and accomplishments, possessing all the qualifications and dear to every one.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bedford Everett and an ideal christian gentleman, possessing rare business ability. He is rapidly forcing himself to the front in the business world.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Asheville, Baltimore, New York and Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will be at Metter, where Mr. Everett is engaged in a wholesale and retail business. The wedding march was played by Miss Panita Olliff.

No Whitewashing Says Mr. Jordan

Atlanta, July 31.—President Harvie Jordan this morning appointed as additional members of the investigating committee which is to probe the imputed charges against officers of the Southern Cotton association the following national committee-men of the association: W. H. Seymour of Montgomery, Ala.; John P. Allison of Concord, N. C.; J. D. Smith of Marianna, Fla., all of whom have notified President Jordan that they will be present to take part in investigation tomorrow morning. Should one or two of them be detained by unforeseen circumstances the investigation will proceed without them.

President Jordan stated that his reason for increasing the investigation committee was to prevent any possible delay which might be caused by the absence of any of the members of the committee.

In replying to the criticism of an afternoon paper that President Jordan should appoint outsiders on the investigating committee or that he should have requested an outsider to appoint the committee Mr. Jordan said:

"I am guided in this matter by the constitution of the association. While the Southern Cotton association is a public organization the acts and doings of its various officials, employees and its policy is controlled entirely by the national executive committee."

The Bank of Metter,

METTER, GA.,

Is safer than the Bank of England AND YOU ASK WHY?

First—Because its management is conservative and safe, and has an enormous financial backing.

Second—Because the deposits in the Bank of Metter are insured against loss just as your home is insured against fire.

And there are many other reasons.
