The News

Published at Statesboro, Ga.
TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.
By The Statesboro News Publishing Co.

Senator La Follette has referred to the Railroad Rate law as "a piece of legislative chicanery." Now a Chicago attorney claims to have discovered in it a "Standard Oil Joker."

Deaton provides for corporal punishment in the schools by prescribing the use of the rattan on the hand, and the Atlanta Journal suggests that enough men are in sight to swell the enrollment to 100.

Nicholas Longworth, representative in Congress from Ohio, may be pardoned for saying things, observes the Boston Transcript, when the papers of his own State insist on referring to his wife as Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

The physician that attended Mr. Field in his last illness has presented a bill for $25,000, something like $20,000 a day. It is not often that one sees such a grab for money; or rather one does see it only too often these days. It is one of the phases of the money mania that afflicts the age, lamented the Indianapolis News. Wealth need not be a bad thing, but it would bring, and when a certain amount has been gained it is common for man to cease struggling for more. Riches in those days consisted of a modest amount. Now men must have millions instead of hundreds of thousands.

Another evidence of an awakening in progress in China is the recent establishment of standard time as is known to the rest of the civilized world. The immediate cause was the important trade relations with Japan and the Philippines, where standard time prevails. All of China to the west of one hundred and twelve degrees and thirty minutes east longitude now occupies what is known as the seventh-hour zone east of Greenwich; all that lies east of that line in the eighth-hour zone, except that the eighth-hour zone has been stretched a little to include two treaty ports. Every coastal treaty port to China and most of the interior ports in which foreigners are interested are in the eighth-hour zone. The amusing thing about the change is that not one Chinaman in ten thousand knows that it has occurred.

Major Ronald Ross, well known for his success in dealing with tropical diseases, insisted in a recent article that the public is in no sense imbued with the scientific spirit, and that the progress of science is almost exclusively the work of individuals. The public, he declares, generally acts upon the principle of "Tennyson's" "believing where we cannot prove," and does such monstrous things as to believe in the existence of the tropics, he adds, suffer from malaria every year; and yet, although it has been scientifically demonstrated that this disease is conveyed from man to man by gnats, even so-called educated white people scoff at the discovery, and most governments failed at first to take adequate action. But finally, Major Ross believes, the world will be dominated by disciplined peoples, and the others will be set aside.

Mr. H. G. Wells, whose observations on American life and manners as they appear to the fresh perceptions of a shrewd and cultivated foreigner, continue to attract wide attention through their appearance in Harper's Weekly. The sixth paper of the series, which he calls "The Future of America," is devoted to the great and pressing question of political and business corruption. Concerning this subject, Mr. Wells remarks: "The American nation, which a few years ago seemed invincibly wedded to an extreme individualism, seemed to be, as it were, to sit on the safety valves of the economic process, and go on to the ultimate catastrophe, display itself now alert and questioning. It has aroused itself to a grave and extensive consideration of the intricate economic and political problems that close like a net about its future. The essential question for America, as for Europe, is the rescue of her land, her public service, and the whole of her great economic process from the anarchic and irresponsible control of private owners—how dangerous and horrible that control may become the railway and beer trust investigations have shown—and the organization of her social life upon the broad, clean, humane conceptions of modern science."

Georgia Cullings

Curtailed Items of Interest
Gathered at Random.

Host of Tech Students.
Five hundred and twenty-five students are now enrolled at the Tech, and more are expected daily, for, as a rule, forty to fifty boys come in during the two weeks following the opening. The average attendance last year was 495, and while the figures already show an increase over last year, President Matheson says that enough men are in sight to swell the enrollment to 1000.

Fifty Liquor Joints Knocked Out.
The total number of whiskey saloons granted license by the special committee of the Atlanta city council is 79; beer saloons, granted license 23. The houses that have been turned down are: Whiskey houses 21, beer saloons 15, wholesale houses 4.

This reduces the revenue of the city this year $3,012.50, and next year $36,500. There are now exactly 20 saloons in the city which will sell exclusively to negroes. All the others will sell exclusively to white people.

Masons to Meet in Macon.
The grand lodge of Georgia Masons will meet in one hundred and twenty-third communication in the city of Macon on Tuesday, October 30, and will be called to order by Grand Master Max Meyerhauf of Rome. The attendance will be unusually large; probably 1,200 or more delegates will be present. The past year has been one of wonderful prosperity for Masonry in Georgia. With five hundred lodges, 27,000 members and $2,000,000 in treasury, Georgia Masonry now leads every southern state except Texas.

Quarterly Convict Hire.
Convict hire for the quarter ending September 30 for felony convicts serving sentences of five years and over amounts to $86,777.85, according to the statements furnished to Comptroller General Wright by Doody H. Yancy, secretary of the prison commission.

Turner Has Highest Tax Rate.
The county of Turner will have the highest tax rate in Georgia in 1906, the county commissioners fixing the rate at $2.20 on the thousand dollars.

People owning property in Ashburn, the county seat, will pay a big tax. When the city fixes its rate, and the county and state rate is taken on, they will probably have to pay something like $300 on the thousand. The county of Turner reported Jones county led in high tax rate, with $16.20 on the thousand. As usual, state and county taxes must be paid by December 20.

Adding Machine "Lied."
In a letter to Chairman Miller of the state democratic executive committee, former chairman M. J. Yancy, of Dawson, tells of an error made by an adding machine in total of the recent state primary, which has considerable effect on the vote of Commissioner I. G. Hudson, elected Holts Smith and J. H. Estill.

The correction reveals that Senator Bacon led the ticket throughout the state instead of Commissioner Hudson, who was for Holts Smith. The new judges will not be sworn in until January 1, next, but they will draw for the various terms prior to that time so that their commissions may be issued by the governor. It is probable that this drawing will take place at the meeting every in November.

Judges Begin Work January 7.
Justices B. R. Russell, Arthur G. Powell and Ben H. Hill will sit on the new court of appeals, and in official session for the first time on January 7, 1907, will begin to transact the important judicial business for which this new court has been created. The new judges will not be sworn in until January 1, next, but they will draw for the various terms prior to that time so that their commissions may be issued by the governor. It is probable that this drawing will take place at the meeting every in November.

Even county made a stirring speech, declaring his most indignation because of the course followed by the supporters of Walter W. Sheppard, who would, in no respect, give it to the Brannen supporters.

"The most damnable thing in Georgia's political history has happened in this convention," declared Mr. Overstreet. "It is a disgrace to the state. We will not make another effort. We will accept your proposition to adjourn until the day after tomorrow in November. I hope that the republican party will rise in its might on November 6 and elect a republican to office. You deserve it, and we don't care."

So strong was Mr. Overstreet's feeling in the delivery of this speech that it was liberally interspersed with profanity.

Farmers' Union for Eleven Cents.
The Farmers' Union is making a determined stand to secure the minimum price of 11 cents per pound for cotton, fixed by the association at its last national meeting. Its officers believe the minimum price is now an assured fact and that cotton is probably worth one or two cents above.

The state union have, in their turn, adopted the resolutions the national association passed and are urging the members to hold their cotton and not put it on the market unless the minimum price is forthcoming.

Although conditions have considerably changed since the minimum price adopted by the union was passed, it is not proposed to use the limit to offset the crop deterioration. The union holds, however, that any farmer who rushes his cotton on the market at less than the 11-cent basis is committing commercial suicide.

Liquor Fight for Atlanta.
That Atlanta is to have a prohibition election in the spring of 1907 seems reasonably assured. If the wishes of the Anti-Saloon League are carried out.

At a recent meeting of the League, the subject was thoroughly thrashed over, and a resolution introduced condemning the liquor traffic, and calling for an election in the spring of 1907, was adopted. The resolution calls for a committee of five at large and three from each ward to take charge of the campaign. Nearly 300 persons were present at the meeting, and the resolutions were only adopted after considerable discussion.

Dr. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, was one of the principal speakers. He was given the closest attention and was frequently applauded. He said in part:

"Events are rapidly shaping themselves toward a culmination, which can have no other issue but a prohibition election in Atlanta. I recently went to the city hall for the purpose of appearing before council with a view of interposing objection for cause to the removal of certain liquor licenses, and was barred from a hearing. I went to that meeting especially to oppose the license to the Bluthenthal & Bickert company on the ground that they conducted a disreputable whiskey business and the citizens of Atlanta had decided license. I was prepared with documentary evidence to show and prove to the council that Bluthenthal & Bickert had been conducting a disreputable whiskey business. First, that their record was tainted with charges of fraud against the revenue laws, of which fact the police commission was cognizant. Second, that they were shown in the South Carolina dispensary investigation to have corrupted one of the dispensary officials by bribery. Third, I was prepared to show that Bluthenthal & Bickert were denouncing Devereux and Peters streets with connections of whiskey, so called. I had the certified statement of Mr. McCandless that their whiskey which was submitted to him as state chemist without his knowing whose product it was and that he pronounced it in his own words 'artificial,' made of 'Coloquintida' and 'caraway' essence. Fourth, I was prepared to show that Bluthenthal & Bickert were the real proprietors of the dives and disreputable negro saloons in Atlanta which were constantly demanded should be put out of business. That they were in the business of fostering and spreading these 'dives' in Atlanta."

Exchange Closes Its Doors.
Trusted Telegraph Operator for Concern Solid Cotton Indiscriminately. Thinking the Atlanta Stock and Cotton Exchange had $600 to its credit with Campbell & Co., Cincinnati, Joseph Thompson discovered his company was indebted $1,800 to that company, and the doors of the exchange were closed.

not a better or truer man in the hands of the first district. The Brannen side of the house look upon the man who was formerly a populist as a good democrat as anybody. They trust them as far as they do anybody; they have wiped out all of the old feeling, but it seems that such is not the case with Jake and his bunch. The Sheppard change seems to be a gunning for populists. They are afraid some man who once voted the populist ticket might slip into office. Jake's opinion of the average populist (now a democrat) is like his opinion of the average countryman—none of them have sense enough to do anything but vote sick fellows like himself into office.

We do not know that Mr. Sheppard would go to the extent of proscription as to the former populists that his floor leader did last Saturday night, but neither he nor any of his delegation raised a voice in opposition to his words. He probably represents a crowd on this line.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns. By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without infection and about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and cures and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save your time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

One Cold and Another. The season's first cold may be slight—may yield to early treatment, but the next cold will hang on longer; it will be more troublesome, too. Unnecessary to take chances on that second one. Scott's Emulsion is a preventive as well as a cure. Take when colds abound and you'll have no cold. Take it when the cold is contracted and it checks inflammation, heals the membranes of the throat and lungs and drives the cold out.

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and Love

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

A detailed black and white illustration of a woman's face, looking slightly to the right. Her hair is styled in an elaborate, wavy pattern. The face is enclosed within a circular frame, which is further embellished with a decorative wreath of leaves and flowers. The overall style is reminiscent of early 20th-century magazine advertisements.

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill-health, painful or irregular periods, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin its use.

My Mrs. F. Brown, Vice-President of Mothers' Club, 31 Cedar Terrace, Hoquiam, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Plinkham—

"For nine years I dragged through a miserable existence, suffering with inflammation and female weakness. I once gave a statement by a woman suffering as I was, but who was helped by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I determined to try a stable Compound, and I determined to try it. At the end of three months I was a different person. I could not remember about it, but my husband fell in love with me all over again. I felt like Plinkham's Vegetable Compound. I felt like a new woman. I am sure it will wonderfully suffering women. I have been helped by it."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacements, inflammation or irritation, the bearing-down feeling, indigestion, constipation, indigestion, or nervous prostration, can be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

HANDS RAW WITH ECZEMA.

Suffered Ten Years—Spread to Body and Limbs—Cured by the Cuticure Remedy.

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. At first it would break out only in winter. Then it began to spread. I had three good doctors to do all they could, but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Resolvent, and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out. The Cuticura was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, together with the Ointment, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle I was entirely well. I had a good appetite and was healthier than I ever was. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to get Cuticura Resolvent. It will cure you quicker than all the doctors in the State could cure you." Mrs. L. E. Fain, Speers Ferry, Va., May 10, 1938.

What Causes Pear.

Attention has been called to the investigation of Dr. C. S. Hall, President of Clark University, on the things that most arouse fear. Taking the average man as his basis, he has counted out 236 classes of objects dreaded by 1,707 individuals. Thunder and lightning were the ones creating the greatest alarm and anxiety. And yet, as pointed out by one of the electrical journals, a thunderstorm might compare with Mr. John Bright's express trains as the safest thing on earth to be afraid of. Records have been carefully kept of accidents and deaths from lightning stroke or thunderbolt, and they are apparently on the decline, the period of 1899-1902 showing only 193 deaths a year for the whole United States. On the other hand, 200 people are drowned in New York City every year, 150 are burned or scalded to death, and 100 die from the failure of various kinds. It is the rarest thing in the world, literally, for any of Greater New York citizens to be killed by lightning, and yet when a thunderstorm invades this region most of the three million inhabitants are decidedly fearful and uncomfortable. The "article at right" explains the reason of immunity from accident by lightning; the modern city is infinitely safer than the open country.—Green's Fruit Grower.

Discussed by Baptist and Methodist Ministers in Atlanta—Some Terms Resolutions Passed.

Both the Methodist and Baptist ministers of Atlanta held interesting sessions of their ministerial associations Monday morning. The Baptists held theirs at the First Baptist church and discussed with considerable animation the recent race riot in Atlanta. The Methodists met deeply into the liquor fight and showed a desire to have not only a local, but a general state prohibition election.

The Baptist ministers had a thorough and god-inspired but also a somewhat discussion of the race issue and the causes leading up to the Atlanta riot. They expressed the belief that the best leaders of both races are large enough to solve the situation. There was the expressed belief of the majority present that the colored race was by no means entitled to blame for riotous conditions, and that the white people are largely to blame for the work of the hater and help the colored race to get out of conditions which are alike unbearable to the best element of both races.

The resolutions adopted at the meeting of the two denominations were: "Among the chronic and general influences liable to arouse racial antagonism at any time is the irresponsible attention being given to the whites and blacks, due to the following:

"1. The illiterate class, or uneducated, or mis-educated class, from which the criminal negroes come, is very large. The illiterate portion of the blacks is actually larger than that of the whites. In 1905, for example, there was in 1905, in a word, it is about four millions. These millions of the whites view with increasing alarm.

"2. Race hatred is intensified by the work of the unscrupulously brutal and devilish nature of some of the crimes committed by the negroes and because these are directed against helpless white women and unprotected girls.

"3. The lack of sufficient rural police force and the feeling of their inferiority because of that fact which sometimes amounts to a state of terror in some homes far removed from legal protection.

"4. The recent unwillingness of a certain element of negroes to cooperate with the officers of the law in capturing the guilty members of their race with a view to their reform before the public mind.

"5. Social contact between whites and blacks in the barracks. The collision where whites and blacks drink together at the same bar is the source of dangerous contact, and the cause of the unmanageable class of whites and the lower and most depraved class of blacks.

"The local and temporary causes of the riot in Atlanta may be stated as follows:

"1. The late Saturday night orgy in the congested part of the city.

"2. Attacks by negro boys on white boys, as some allege, or the thousand hating of negro boys by white boys, as others maintain.

"3. The excitement arising in the hearts of other persons by witnessing these scenes induced in part by liquor and much more by the feeling of resentment against the whole group because of a recent report of increased rape in or near Atlanta.

"4. Increased excitement brought about by the crying of sensational exploiters on black outrages published by one of our newspapers.

"5. The indifference and probable slowness and inefficiency of the law force.

"6. The temporary indifference of the times of the day and many of the active defense of members of a race which had so severely tried their patience and excited their indignation."

AFRICAN PRISON IS FREED.

Request of Delegation of Negro Gymnasts Complied With.

Freed from his cage in the main house of the New York Zoological park, Ota Benga, the "last African," returned to the park grounds.

Ota Benga was taken from a cage after a delegation of negro clergy and his declaration that his imprisonment was an insult to his race.

The delegation, which included Samuel P. Verner, an African pioneer, who of him two years ago in the hands of a foreign collector, and the Rev. Dr. T. J. Gamble, president of the tribe of the New York Zoological park.

"I've lived up at a feast. You brought him from the cannibals with a bit of calico and a string of beads."

STRIKERS AND POLICE FIGHT

Two Men Killed in Pitch Battle—A Dozen Wounded.

Two men were killed and a dozen wounded in a conflict between the mill hands and provincial police at a small mill in Buckingham, Quaker, Mill, where President Belknap of the mill workers' union and leader of the strikers, and Xavier Terry, mill hand. Five of the wounded all vines should be collected and destroyed, harvesting the bugs may be collected from the vines, or from the plants between the rows of vines. The bugs may be taken under leaves, in the earth, clouds or boards, or wherever they can find a covering. All eggs laid in autumn, after the vines are cut, should also be destroyed. The bugs will twice a day. The bug will leave the melon or cucumber squashed, hence a few squashes will be destroyed. Also, the bugs will sap them. Kerosene oil may be used. An eight per cent kerosene emulsion may injure plants. The bugs are not so strong enough (several parts to 100 parts water). It is important to kill as many bugs as possible, after the vines are cut, and the sure way is by spraying the vines. When spraying the vines should be used, as the kerosene water must be intimately mixed with the vines. It should be used for a minute, as it may cover the vines with too much kerosene. Spray the vines lightly, not too much, the bugs will be killed. The bugs from the bugs from their coverings can then be destroyed. It is stated before, everything is done in moving on to Philadelphia Record.

Some Points For the Care of the Horses. The horse should be taken to the doors of the team saws a day and bathe the parts with water. It is not only a human duty, but will prevent gallers.

Horses, like people, should eat before feeding, not after. The horse should be prevented from getting in both hooves and the horse will take time to clean his hooves. It is not a bad thing to take a thorough cleaning, and it will be pleasing to you and the Stock people. The horse will rather than it forced upon them in their irregular intervals. Keep where horses come.

Whether your horses are easy or difficult to catch, pasture, does not depend on the breed of the animal, but on the master. A horse that is such a taste of oats, a lump of some other great waiting for the horse's master. The horse does not hesitate to obey the sun. It is all right to brush the horse's sides and back, but the horse's legs are not to be brushed. Every careful farmer's extremities will amount to the animals are compelled to do the horse's master's bidding. It is essential to sound feed and a horse and what is the animal for without these.

Rated the dollars principle of riding is never to be ment of a horse unless conveyed to him, by a delicate touch of the hand. The intelligence that you are about motion of him. This applying, stopping, turning, but every motion of the horse is conveyed to him. It is so to be almost automatic.—Indianapolis News.

Practical Advice on Horses.
A noted French horseman the following in an agricultural journal of Paris regarding the care of horses.

"Three meals are necessary, with an interval of five hours between to keep the horse in good health. Two hours to digest; half an hour, and because it takes it should be given when the horse is at work. It should be a full meal, then should rest and able to feed at leisure. There should be a return of the horse to his getting his evening meal."

"Too much food at night will do harm. The horse should be allowed by voracious feeding to be colic and indigestion. It is given to the horse the woodwork of his 'refreshers' at odd times. Remember that the horse is a creature of habit. In work time, whether his work is done. A horse should not be ridden or driven at night. The principle that it ought to be over more than half an hour a year and not to be driven at night. It is a bad habit, and it is called for a special regime to take the excessive protein that has taken place."

Mica Axle Grease

Makes the Load Lighter

ounce of grease is sometimes the only difference between hard work and easy work. You know you can't afford to lose a day's teaming. Mica Axle Grease is the lubricant you can afford? Mica Axle Grease is the most economical lubricant, because it alone possesses high lubricating power, great adhesive power, and long-wearing quality. Hence, the most profitable use of your outfit is to be had only when Mica Axle Grease is used.

Mica Axle Grease contains powdered mica. This forms a hard surface on the axle, and reduces friction, while a properly prepared mineral grease forms an effective cushioning between axle and box. Mica Axle Grease wears best and longest—one greasing does for a week's teaming. Mica Axle Grease saves horse power—consequently saves feed. Mica Axle Grease is the best lubricant in the world—use it and draw a double load. If your dealer does not keep Mica Axle Grease we will tell you one who does.

Plans for Georgia's

Agricultural Schools.

Atlanta, Oct. 15.—The district agricultural schools for Georgia, authorized by the last session of the General Assembly, are awakening great interest among the people of the state and in educational circles in other parts of the country.

The general educational board has offered Governor Terrell the necessary funds to defray the expenses incident to organizing the district boards, inspecting sites and organizing schools. The department of agriculture at Washington has offered to aid the schools in every way possible. Secretary Wilson has detailed W. G. Smith of the bureau of soils to inspect the soils of the state, particularly of the lands offered the schools in the several districts.

During the next three months he will visit all of the proposed sites and be able to report the results of his investigations to the several boards. With his help it is hoped to so locate the eleven schools as to cover all the characteristic soil and climatic conditions of the state.

At the request of the governor Prof. Crosby, education expert of the department of agriculture at Washington, and Prof. Stewart, professor of secondary education at the university of Georgia, have come to the capital and have been preparing for the past week a course of study for the eleven schools. These gentlemen have finished the main curriculum. Their report was read to Governor Terrell, Chancellor Barrow, Hon. H. H. Perry, Commissioner Merritt and Assistant Commissioner Rodgers on yesterday, and met with the most hearty endorsement and approval.

PLAN OF THE SCHOOL.

The course of study will embrace four years of study, the first year being a review of the common school studies, followed by three years of high school work. Each year the pupils will have work in English, mathematics, history, science, and special classes in some phase of agriculture. Twenty-two periods of forty minutes each of classroom work will be required of each pupil. Three periods of three hours each will be required in the shops, laboratories and farm plots. Each pupil will nine hours a week of the necessary work on the school farm, for which he will receive compensation to be credited on his board. In this way the academic work and the practical work will be carried on jointly and so correlated as to produce the trained, skilled farmer.

By the plan of co-operative work and remuneration the student's expenses will be reduced to about $50 for the nine months. During the three summer months and off days students will be permitted to earn additional funds towards their expenses.

The schools will be planned so as not to interfere with the local common school, but to give more advanced training to the youth of the entire district. While the county in which the school is located will necessarily receive the greatest financial and social returns, the school will be in no sense local, the attendance from each county being so limited by the board of trustees as to give every county equal advantages.

In addition to the regular nine months' term, special meetings for adult farmers, and farm tests will be made in all parts of the district with the help of the State College of Agriculture. The schools will begin with incomes of $5,000 each, derived from the state inspection fees. This fund will enable the several boards to secure competent and skilled teachers and leave some money for annual improvement of the school plant.

THE CORPS OF TEACHERS.

It is thought that the schools will need at the beginning one teacher with farm experience and agricultural training in wood, iron and machinery in general, with special preparation in literary studies and one science specialist.

Prof. Crosby stated to the Governor that he considered that Georgia, though recent legislation, had planned the most complete and comprehensive system of agricultural education of any state in the Union. With nature study and school gardens for the common schools reaching the youth that go back to the farms or, in many cases, serving as teachers for the rural schools; with the Central Agricultural College, liberally supported, closely associated with the station and university, training men for the lower schools, the station and larger farm operations, the state would soon enjoy more bountiful crops, happier farm homes and the most intelligent farmers of the South. The state has but to be patient, liberal and zealous.

PLANS OF BUILDINGS.

The Governor has employed one of the leading architects of the state to draw plans for the district school grounds and buildings. This architect has held several conferences during the week, and hopes to have the preliminary plans completed within the next ten days. It is proposed to construct only main academic building and part of the boys' dormitory at first, leaving the girls' dormitory and small buildings to be erected with the help of the students.

The trustees of the several districts need from ten to twenty thousand dollars, in addition to the 200 acres of land, to erect the necessary buildings. No investment that a county can make will secure so rich a return through the long years to come as that which secures the establishment of the district school within its borders. The state does not go backward, but each year these school will grow in usefulness and influence. Any county could well afford to invest $20,000 or $40,000 to secure the school; the money would come back to the people in a hundred ways, material and spiritual.

Appointments.

Elder Fred W. Keene of North Berwick, Maine, and Morgan Brown, of Cordoba, will fill the following appointments: Sunday Oct. 14, 8 p. m. Palaski; Monday Oct. 15, 11 a. m. the Lake; Tuesday Oct. 16, 11 a. m. Rosemary; Tuesday Oct. 16, 8 p. m. Graymont; Wednesday Oct. 17, a. m. Canoechee; Thursday Oct. 18, 11 a. m. Danger From the Plague.

There's grave danger from the plague of the coughs and colds that are so prevalent, unless you take Dr. King's New Discovery for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and all the ailments where coughs and colds prevail. I find it quickly cures whooping cough, prevents pneumonia, cures laryngitis, gives wonderful relief in asthma and hay fever, and makes weak lungs strong enough to ward off consumption, coughs and colds. See and know. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis' drug store. Trial bottle free.

LOST.

On October the fifth, the day of the circus, in Ellis' drug store, a signet ring with the letter "M" engraved on it. Return to A. F. Mikell and receive reward.

STRAYED.

One Cow and two yearlings left my place last Monday week. Cow yellow with short horns; one yearling, yellow and white spotted. Finder please notify me. W. L. Hodges, R. F. D. No. 2, Statesboro, Ga.
