The Congressional Nominee.

The congressional nominee, Mr. Charles G. Edwards, is a young man, being now in his thirtieth year. His rise as a lawyer has been sure and steady. A few years ago he was a country boy, and now he is a congressman, for the nomination by the democratic party is proof that he will be elected in November. The transition is great, but it shows what pluck and perseverance will do. That Mr. Edwards will prove worthy of the honor conferred upon him there can be no doubt. Having lived in the country and being now a resident of the city he has an advantage not possessed by many of knowing and appreciating the needs of city and country alike.

Few men are congressmen at thirty and it may be said to be a turn of luck that he holds the position now. Yet he is not unworthy of the honor thus bestowed upon him by the congressional convention. He is the son of Hon. and Mrs. T. J. Edwards, of Doraville. Born thirty years ago, he attended the common schools of the county, later studying at Gordon institute and at the University of Georgia, where he was graduated from the law department in 1898. After practicing law while at Reidville he located in Savannah, where he has since been. He is at the present a member of the law firm of Alexander and Edwards.

Mr. Edwards is a man of ability. His rapid rise has demonstrated that his youth will not militate against him. Many of the nation's greatest statesmen were younger than he when they entered public life.

The nominee should receive the loyal support of every democrat in the district. His nomination was not unanimous, but by polling a large vote in the general election the wisdom of the convention will be vindicated.

The fair recently closed at Macon seems to have been in every way a success.

Chicago's love for the sensational is gratified now that she has the world's championship series of baseball games.

Macon tried hard by having a fair, a street car strike and small riot to equal Atlanta but she is yet behind the hot air metropolis.

The Savannah Press calls Overstreet's speech a philippic. We guess it made the wise one sit up noticed, at least.

With neither a street carnival nor home-coming for her native sons the indications are that Statesboro will spend a very quiet winter.

Though Judge Russell could not win in the gubernatorial campaign yet he got a mighty big victory in the Appellate Court judgeship.

Now Savannah is claiming that the race got along in perfect harmony there. How about that street car boycott?

Can you win? You realize that to win in anything in these days requires strength, with mind and body in tune. A man or woman with disordered digestive organs is not in shape for a day's work or a day's play. How can they expect to win? Kodol for Dyspepsia contains the digestive juices of a healthy stomach and will put your stomach in shape to perform its important function of supplying the body and brain with strength building food. Digest what you eat, relieve indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Sold by W. H. Ellis.

The Late Convention.

The recent convention to nominate a candidate for congress, was in session forty-two days and cast 501 ballots. It was on the order of the celebrated English Rump parliament, as to length of time, and took the blue ribbon so far as this country is concerned.

Everybody could see that there were some "Jake-ases" in that convention, who permitted themselves to be bossed absolutely by Jake Collins and drove around just like so many children. It was really a pitiable sight to see the country delegates held in harness for many weeks, by a man who really cared nothing for their candidate, but was simply using them to advance his own political fortunes and that of the political faction, with which he is aligned in Savannah. Jake made those fellows from the country counties vote against good men offered by the Brannen side from their own counties, and that in face of the fact, when they had sworn they would vote for a countryman in preference to a Savannah man.

Yet when Jake cracked the whip they went against their own countrymen, and voted for a city man. No such poonage has ever been known in politics and we trust will never be seen again. From the beginning of the convention when it was seen that none of the Sheppard delegates could see the justice of Mr. Brannen's claim, who had received over thirteen hundred of the popular majority of the district, and cast a vote for him, he told the convention to go ahead and take him and Sheppard out of the race and nominate some man. They refused to do so and kept men away from their businesses for weeks, and kept a man in the race who had received a minority of the votes. They said they wanted to refer it back to the people, yet when the final test came, and it was offered to them to take it before the people in the regular election in November, they then refused to do it. They refused to nominate any man from the country, and every man from the city unless he was a People's League man. The country was disgusted with their conduct and the people of Savannah became disgusted and on the last day of the convention, men were betting their money that Brannen would carry Savannah. When the supporters of Mr. Brannen could not nominate a man from the country nor from the city, then it was that one of the Tattall delegates broke through the fence, and then Mr. Edwards was nominated.

Savannah's factional politics were brought into the convention, and the welfare of the democracy, was made subservient to the interests of Jake Collins who wants to be Mayor, and of those who stand with him in city politics. This was mean in Jake and his Savannah delegates, but the action of the delegates from the country counties that went for Sheppard shows that they prefer to be dominated and controlled by city bosses, rather than help any man from the country. They turned their backs upon their own citizens in order to do homage to the city bosses. When it became apparent to them that there was no chance for Sheppard, and they knew there was none, then they should have voted for some good man from the country.

There is a difference between fidelity and stupidity but the Sheppard delegates from the country counties could not see it. Jake evidently had them hoodwinked. No doubt Jake's liquor was fine, and the dinners that he set up to them were superb, but they should have arisen to the occasion and voted for a man from the country, and not for Adams or Charlton, as Jake made them do. The city has the office for the next two years and will continue to hold it, as long as people in the country county, and stand up to the city men, simply because they are handed a drink or a cheroot.

Everybody could read Jake's hand. It meant a city man or nobody, and it meant one of his crowd or nobody, because they were offered plenty of good Citizens Club men.

Probably E. Shearouse has learned that his candidate and his friends used just a little money and liquor during the campaign, and by the way G. used some booze himself during the convention.

The Savannah News reporters stood by Jake all right. They printed what Jake said in big head lines and overlooked what the opposition said and done. Overstreet told them in convention that their reports were false and unfair.

The Brannen men were always loyal and stood together like men, and the Sheppard forces were in chaos from the beginning because Jake took charge in the interest of himself and local friends rather than in the interest of Sheppard or the democracy of the district.

Jake can take credit for one thing, and that is the way he controlled his country delegates. They did what Jake said. Some of them had stated they never would vote for a city man, but would vote for a country candidate, but they done just opposite.

A Young Mother at 70
My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. Twenty years of intense suffering from dyspepsia had entirely disabled her, until six months ago, when she began taking electric bitters, which have completely cured her and restored the strength and activity she had in the prime of life. I write Mrs. M. L. Gilyard, of Danforth, Me. Greatest restorative medicine on the globe. Restores stomach, liver and kidney right, purifies the blood, and cures Malaria, Biliousness and weakness. Wonderful Nerve Tonic. Price 50c. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis drug store.

CONVENTION NOTES.

While the beach is strewn with dead ducks, you can see Jake's carcass there too.

The convention is dead, and several dead horses have the turf laid on their political graves.

Let Jake and Abe get back to their stores and admit that they are not as slick as they thought they were.

The Brannen men offered good men from the country and city, but none could please Jake and his bunch.

There is one consolation, however, old Jake Collins got laid out in the final round, and failed to land one of his Peoples League men.

There is one thing to commend, and that is the way the Citizens' club men stood up to Brannen, and they said they were ready to carry Chatham for him.

Nobody was big enough for Jake except he was a League man, but Jake has learned a few things, as Jake expected to clean up the country hoosers in two days.

The candidates were both lean and hungry looking before the race was over, but probably Walter has learned that a man ought to submit to the will of the majority.

The Brannen men were ready at any time to nominate some man but they were not allowed to do so, and the Sheppard crowd refused to put it before the people in the regular election. Good bye Jake.

Jake loved Walter very much, so he said, but he loved his own political hide better, and bent every nerve to put in a Peoples League man, so he could help his chances to be Mayor in January.

Everybody could read Jake's hand. It meant a city man or nobody, and it meant one of his crowd or nobody, because they were offered plenty of good Citizens Club men.

Probably E. Shearouse has learned that his candidate and his friends used just a little money and liquor during the campaign, and by the way G. used some booze himself during the convention.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save your time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

Damage to Cotton Crop in Georgia.

Atlanta, Oct. 12.—"The latest reports received at this office indicate that the total damage to the cotton crop of Georgia directly due to the recent frost will not amount to more than 50,000 bales."

This was the statement made today at the office of the Cotton

Journal. The estimated damage the first day was 50,000 bales, and the second day of the frost 25,000 bales.

It has been learned, however, that the frost of Wednesday was not as harmful as was first thought, while the frost of Thursday night did practically no damage.

BULLOCH WON FIRST PRIZE AT STATE FAIR IN ATLANTA

In Addition to the Main Prize County
Also Won First on Individual
Farm Display.

Bulloch county was awarded first prize at the state fair in Atlanta yesterday. The exhibit was the best that the judges had ever seen according to their own words. The first prize was eighteen hundred dollars. Besides this there were many smaller awards one of which was the prize for the best individual farm display. People everywhere congratulating Mr. J. R. Miller for the magnificent showing that this county made at the fair, Jamestown Fair Commission now negotiating with Mr. Miller with a view to having him take his exhibit to the great Jamestown Exposition in 1907.

The other counties were not in the running, and from the first Bulloch had them all outstripped a city block. Bartow, that won first prize last year, never had a ghost of a show to beat out Bulloch. Mr. Miller had twice as much and four times as fine stuff as the counties that were trying to beat him out of the coveted first prize.

Now, north Georgia's eyes are opened to the fact that we have the finest lands in the world. Bulloch county has at last won a name that will make her known far and wide as the finest agricultural county in the south. Old men and those who have had years of experience with farms say that the display was the best ever seen by them.

An Awful Cough Cured

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with a awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bussard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy is for sale by all Druggists.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis.

Answers Death's Call.

New York, October 16.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis died of pneumonia at 10:25 o'clock tonight. Mrs. Davis has made New York city her home for several years, but spent the summer in the country, returning to the city in the autumn to live usually in a hotel. Last winter while stopping at a hotel she was taken seriously ill as the result of a cold and owing to her age it was feared that she would not recover. After a few weeks' illness, however, her health was restored.

On Saturday, October 6, Mrs. Davis again caught a severe cold and her condition soon became serious. She was attended at her apartments in the Hotel Majestic by Dr. Robert H. Wythe and her daughter, Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, was hurriedly summoned from Colorado Springs.

With her ability to resist disease greatly lessened because of her age, Mrs. Davis grew worse until pneumonia developed.

Breath of Scandal

Drives Farmer Mad

Moultrie, Ga., Oct. 17.—Miner May, a successful farmer of the Robinson district of this county, killed himself this morning at 11 o'clock in his home, using a shotgun, the muzzle of which was pressed against his forehead as he pulled the trigger. He had stated to his family last night that, except leaving them alone, he would take his life and when breakfast was announced this morning he remained behind. Soon the gun was fired and his wife rushed in the room, and found him dying.

May was the father of Mrs. Norman about whom Derwood Hardwick was killed Sunday night by Virgil Norman, the woman's father-in-law.

The affair seemed to worry the man very much and probably brought on insanity.

Nothing to Fear

Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon. For sale by all Druggists.

Republicans Name Candidate

The Republican Executive Committee of the first district met in Savannah Wednesday and nominated for congress, Hon. W. R. Leaken of Savannah. The nominee is a lawyer of distinction and has held several important offices in the gift of his party. He will be remembered as the man who made the race for the same position four years ago. The consensus of opinion is that he will make a surprising race and there are those who believe that he will carry Savannah. In accepting the nomination he spoke of the injustice that had been done Mr. Brannen. The Republicans would not have put a man in the field, he said, if Mr. Brannen had been given the nomination.

Rev. Sam P. Jones

Died On Sleeper.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 15.—The Rev. Sam P. Jones, the well known evangelist of Cartersville, Ga., died early today of heart disease in a sleeping car on train No. 4, of the Rock Island Railroad, near Perry, Ark.

Mr. Jones had been conducting a most successful revival at Oklahoma City, and left there last night for his home in Georgia. He desired to attend a family reunion tomorrow, it being the fifty-ninth anniversary of his birth.

Mr. Jones and his two daughters, Mrs. Annie Pylon and Miss Julia Jones were with him when he passed away. Mr. Jones arose from his berth in the sleeper about 5 o'clock this morning and complained of nausea. He drank a glass of hot water and immediately collapsed.

Rev. Walt Holcomb, who had been associated with Mr. Jones for a number of years took the dying man in his arms and in a few minutes the evangelist breathed his last.

His body was embalmed and was sent to Cartersville this afternoon. The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. George Stuart, the Rev. J. A. Bowen of Mississippi and Rev. Walt Holcomb.

There were few better known men in Georgia than Sam Jones. He would have been 59 years old had he lived until today, having been born in Chambers county, Alabama, Oct. 16, 1847. He moved to Cartersville with his parents when he was twelve years old, and went to school, studied under tutors and in boarding schools. He was admitted to the bar in 1869, when he was 22 years old, and began his professional life with the brightest prospects of success. After a breakdown in health from nervous dyspepsia, he began drinking and soon ended his career as a lawyer.

In 1872 he attended a revival meeting, professed religion and after a probationary term became a Methodist preacher. He joined the North Georgia Conference and served various charges for eight years. At that time he became agent for the North Georgia Conference Orphanage and served in that capacity for twelve years, devoting much of his time to evangelist work throughout the country. He finally severed his connection with the conference retaining his connection with the church as a minister, and devoted the rest of his life to evangelism and to the lecture platform. He had lectured in almost every state in the Union. When not on the lecture platform he was conducting evangelistic meetings. Although for many years he spent little time at home, he retained his residence in Cartersville, where his family lived.

There were many people who differed with Mr. Jones in his methods, but there were few who did not recognize his sincerity and the great good he did. During his busy life he found time to write several books, which have attained a wide circulation. His "Sermons and Sayings," "Music Hall Sermons," "Quit Your Meanness" and "Sam Jones' Own Book" were among his read most widely publications. He was a popular lecturer on Chautauque platforms and was in demand in almost every city in the country. He was said to have been the best paid preacher and one of the best paid lecturers in the United States. He was a generous man, however, and a liberal giver to the charities, and is said to have left a small estate.

Danger From the Plague

There's grave danger from the plague of the coughs and colds that are so prevalent, unless you take Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. Mrs. George Wain, of Forest City, Me., writes: "It's a Godsend to people living in climates where coughs and colds prevail, I find it quickly ends them. It prevents pneumonia, cures lagrippe, gives wonderful relief in asthma and hay fever, and makes weak lungs strong enough to ward off consumption, coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 Guaranteed by W. H.
