A POULTRY DEPARTMENT.

About two years ago the Iowa Agricultural college officials, believing that the poultry interests of the state had not been receiving the attention that they should, considering their economic importance to the state, established a poultry department and placed an expert in charge. Thus early very definite and gratifying results are being secured. An accurate record which has been kept on the hens in the experimental flock shows that during the first year one of them laid 240 eggs, while the same hen has produced 304 eggs in the first 264 days of her second year. At 20 cents a dozen the year's product of this one hen yielded a net profit of $3 after deducting $1.20 for feed and care. While some of the other hens have made so good a showing, the records all are making in egg production are exceptional. The bill of fare for the day consists of a breakfast of corn which is covered with four or five inches of litter and has to be dug out, at noon a feed of wheat and oats which has to be worked for in the same way, and at night a warm mash of ground grain, vegetables and seasoning fed in troughs. Fresh water and milk are given daily, while a supply of charcoal, grits, oyster shell and meat scraps is accessible. In view of the fact that the poultry products of the country are worth annually between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000, this recognition of the importance of the industry by state agricultural colleges is not out of place.

SOME ECONOMIES?

There are some economies which are practiced by even thrifty housekeepers that are open to criticism. Among these may be mentioned the devotion of hours a week, more or less, to the darning and patching of socks and stockings that may be bought at 10 to 25 cents per pair; the using of good butter, sugar, flour and eggs to save a mess of overcooked cream which when mixed and made into cookies or cake can hardly be better than second rate in quality. If not actually poor enough to justify dumping the whole mess into the garbage pail; the economizing of a dollar a week in the wages of a hired girl when the food wasted and the dishes broken as a result of incompetence and carelessness and the wear and strain on the housewife's nerves and patience would come to more than this amount. Outside the house John may be guilty of even worse attempts at economy—he may begrudge the wages asked by a competent hired man and as a result have broken machinery, stock injured and countless vexations, besides may forego $1 repairs on his harness and have a twenty dollar runaway; may shave $4 from the expense of his seed corn or grain and fall down to the tune of $50 or $60 at harvest or husking time. It is clear from the case cited that there are economies, so called, both within and outside the house, that are not economies at all, but cases of mismanagement.

AGRICULTURE IN ALASKA.

At the time of the purchase of Alaska from Russia by Uncle Sam its value was placed at $2,000,000. It is believed as a bleak and barren region, having little value apart from its worth as a fur bearing country. This opinion prevailed until a few years ago, when vast deposits of gold were discovered, which are still yielding immense annual revenues. More recently the country has been found to possess still other resources. A representative of the United States department of agriculture, as a result of experiments he has conducted in the Yukon valley, reports that he has been able to raise oats, barley and winter wheat of as good weight and yield as are secured in the States and the harder vegetables. Experiments in stock raising show that the Galloway cattle seem to be admirably adapted to the rigorous climate and to give excellent financial returns.

TREES POISONED.

An investigation into the causes of the death of a good many trees in orchards in some sections of Colorado has led the state college horticulturists to the conclusion that the trees in question have died as a result of arsenical poisoning, the supposition being that the poison has been absorbed into the system of the tree through its roots. This points to a further inquiry contrary to the generally accepted opinion—namely, that arsenicals are soluble, settle into the soil and in such form are taken up into the tree through the root system. Should this supposition prove with further investigation to be well established it will mean that the poor fruit grower, having escaped the nightmares induced by worms, scabs and scales, is to have his peace of mind disturbed by a new menace.

In Memoriam.

On March 6th, 1909, Mrs. Joe Woods, the wife of one Mr. Joe Woods who was burned to death accidentally, still lingers in our memory, but God in his all wise wisdom saw fit to take from our midst our dear loved one, one whom we hated so bad to give up, but God saw fit to pick the choicest flower in the garden and so it is the case with us today, we some how rest assured that she is safe in the arms of Jesus, it seems as though she is not dead but is just asleep, we think we hear her in each breath of the soft wind that blows and as she was always seen with a smile on her face, she was never seen with a frown on her face towards anyone, our dear loved one suffered the horrible death of being burned to death, but God knows best and his precious will must be done.

It sure grieves our poor heart to know that she should so hard for her dear husband to be at her bedside and the hand of fate prevailed against him and had to sit down and his dear wife be buried and him not present and oh, we know it was so hard, we are satisfied she is watching her husband and dear loved from those windows while they are on this distant shore and we think she will know them when they get there and meet them at the door. Sure it seems as she is not gone, but sure she is gone forever to that beautiful city not made with hands and she leaves a husband and three small children to mourn her absence and a host of friends and relatives.

Peacefully be thy silent slumber, Peaceful in thy silent grave, So low thou no more will join our numbers.
No more our sorrows know, Yet again we hope to meet thee, When the day of life is over, And in Heaven with joy to greet thee, Where no farewell tears are shed.

Flour Will go to $10

Barrel, Say Millers.
Chicago, April 16.—Flour, which is now quoted at $7 a barrel, will go still higher, possibly to $9 or $10 a barrel, according to Chicago millers men, as a result of the wheat shortage. They declare that this shortage is the result of small supply and not of a corner.

"There is a wheat shortage in this country, but we have an abundance as compared to foreign wheat-growing nations," said C. W. Dilworth, Chicago manager of the Washburn-Crosby Company, today. "If wheat goes up any higher the price of flour will have to go up, too. It is now at $7 a barrel, which is actually 15 cents below cost. Flour must rise 5 cents for every cent the grain climbs. This is because there are five bushels to a barrel of flour."

Sultan's Throne Shaken by

Advance of Rebel Hordes.

Berlin, April 17.—The Lokal Anzeiger today publishes a dispatch from a special correspondent at Saloniki, traveled down from Uskub with Enver Bey and Hafiz Hakki Bey, respectively the Turkish military attaches at Berlin and Vienna. He says:

Each attaché says he is returning to serve his country. The committee of union and progress holds fast to the constitution. The liberal union with the assistance of reactionaries, acted illegally and interrupted parliament against Kaimil Pasha, in which the Sultan also participated. Mukhtar Pasha, a corps commander, was enticed to the palace and made a prisoner. "The legal status is sure to be restored with the utmost energy. The opposition movement began at Saloniki."

"Many troops are now enroute to Constantinople, and all the cavalry and artillery regiments are joining the committee." Continuing the correspondent says the Albanians have abandoned their international struggle and all want to march against Constantinople. Immense enthusiasm was observed at all the railroad stations in Macedonia.

The Berlin Zeitung am Mittag publishes a dispatch from Saloniki saying that 30,000 volunteers already are marching against Constantinople and that volunteers are presenting themselves at the various barracks in large numbers for uniforms, arms and ammunition. The greatest enthusiasm prevails.

Dispatches of a soothing nature have been received from the Sultan, who is attempting to dissuade the men from marching against the capital, but the troops are firmly resolved to proceed.

A leader of the young Turks who has just arrived here from Constantinople declared today:

"The destiny of the traitorous sultan is decided. Abdul Hamid will not complete the thirty-third year of his reign; he will be deposed before the 31st day of August, the date of his accession."

Constantinople, April 17.—The news received here this morning from Asia-Minor is distinctly alarming. There is great excitement among the Mussulmans at Beirut and Erzerum, and massacres are feared.

No confirmation yet has been received here of the reported killing of two American missionaries at Adana. The latest intelligence sets forth that several hundred Armenians and Moslems were killed at Adana in the rioting and that the Armenian quarter of the town was finally overwhelmed and destroyed by flames.

Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, April 17.—The Christians of the Palas coast have been attacked by Mussulmans. Two Christian villayets have been burned and the Lazarist mission is in grave danger.

Two Americans Die

in Massacre in Turkey.

Constantinople, April 16.—Two American missionaries have been killed in the anti-Armenian outbreak at Adana, Asiatic Turkey, according to information received here from that place by telegraph this afternoon.

At midnight neither the American ambassador, Mr. Leishman, nor the British embassy had received any further news concerning the massacre or confirmation of the reported murder of American missionaries at Adana.

Consular telegrams received here report that half of the town of Adana has been burned and that the attacks upon the Armenians are extending into the vilayet. They say that the British vice-consul at Mersina, Maj. Daugherty-Wylie, who was ordered to Adana when the first advices of the massacre were received, has been wounded. Communication with the disturbed district is interrupted, however, and all reports received from there must be taken with caution. The Porte declares the disturbances are subsiding. Two additional battalions have been dispatched to Adana.

The Moslem attacks recommenced yesterday afternoon and continued throughout the night. Large numbers of Christians are said to have been killed. One report says that sixty Armenians have lost their lives and that many houses have been looted and burned.

The first news of the anti-Christian outbreak said the scene was Mersina but this was erroneous. The trouble occurred at Adana, which is about 36 miles inland from Mersina. The early reports were declared to have exaggerated and messages received here yesterday evening said only Armenians had been killed, that martial law had been proclaimed at Adana and that reinforcements of troops were being sent in from Beirut.

This latest intelligence refers to disturbances that took place after the situation was supposed to have quieted down.

Tried to Break Into

Claxton Bank.

Claxton, Ga., April 16.—An attempt to rob the Claxton bank was made last night by boring nineteen auger holes around the lock in the front door. A small piece of glass was also broken out. Blood stain and finger prints were left on the side of door. Undoubtedly it was the work of amateurs as they completely failed to even enter the building. So far there is no clew to the robbers.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y. writes:

"My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. W. H. Ellis Co.

Manager Jaekel Celebrates 50th Birthday.

Manager Gustave Jaekel of the Screen house had a birthday anniversary yesterday celebrating the fiftieth cycle of twelve months each on this sphere.

He was so busy that he hardly had time to give much attention to the dinner that was spread in honor of the event at the family table in the far end of the dining room, but he made himself a present of a new spring hat, and was called upon to explain the reason why to his numerous friends.

Mr. Jaekel was born in Berlin. His place of nativity was a hotel, and in a hotel has he lived the most of his life. It may be that this is a reason why success comes so readily to him. Since he assumed charge of the Screen house more than a month ago the business of the house has been noticeably increased. He is popular with the commercial travelers, and when he gets into the new building, which the Forest City Hotel Company is going to erect on the Screen house site Mr. Jaekel will probably be the happiest hotel manager in the country.—Savannah News.

PRAIRIE SCHOONER BARN.

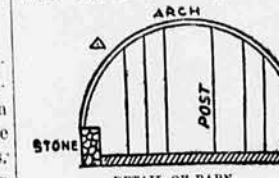

A Farmer's Original and Practical Plan For a Horse Home.

An agriculturalist in Dowagiac, Mich., has made plans for a prairie schooner barn, and he states that the barn has proved satisfactory to him. He built his ten years ago. He calls it a prairie schooner barn because it is mostly roof and has no beam or mortise in its makeup and ordinary farmer help can do all of the work. The barn is forty feet long by sixty feet wide, and the arches (which represent the bows of the prairie schooner or mover's wagon) are made of inch boards six inches wide and of any length and six boards deep, each board bent to shape as it is joined to the others, using plenty of nails and giving plenty of lap over each joint. The arches form a half circle, and in building them the owner drew a half circle on the ground and set posts a few feet apart (perhaps ten) on the outside of the circle, being careful to get them perpendicular and three or four feet high, as several could be made before any had to be moved. Fourteen arches in all were used. These were placed about three feet apart on the side walls, four or five on the end walls. These arches, or rafters, were covered with roof boards and shingles, except the top being too flat for shingles, metal roofing was used. Six round posts are used in each end extending from stone wall one foot high to arches, on which the girders and siding are nailed. The floor is paved with field stone about twelve inches deep, except one

More Money in Live Stock Than Grain.

The value of farm animals is increasing rapidly, suggesting that farmers of the west are going more and more into general farming, not depending so much on raising grain for market. The statement is made by the American Cultivator. The value of farm animals is placed at about $5,000,000,000, or one-fifth of the entire value of farm property. The value of receipts at leading market centers for about 50,000,000 head of cattle, horses, hogs and mules will total over a billion dollars, this sum of the leading markets only, and probably nearly as much more live stock is sold at the smaller markets, as it is figured that about two-fifths of the farm live stock goes to market during one year. Of the annual income from live stock, cattle make up about five-eighths, hogs one-fourth and the balance sheep, horses and swine. The great iron and steel industry is surpassed in value of exports by the shipments of meat and dairy products. The tendency of all farmers is toward increasing their production, while the country is becoming less and less an exporter of grain. The farmers are wisely securing a double profit by turning their grain into the home market and selling it as a finished product in the form of meat, butter and cheese. The United States has more dairy cows (22,244, 449) than any other country in the world, more horses, 22,000,532; more mules, 4,066,399; more swine, 57,976,361, and (except British India) more cattle, 73,340,573.

Mexican Timber.

According to data in the dairy circular and trade reports, there are from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 acres of first class timber in Mexico. The heaviest stands of pine and oak are found in the states of Chihuahua, Durango, Jalisco, Michoacan and Guerrero and are said to compare favorably with similar stands in this country as regards quality, diameter and length of clear body. In addition to the open pine stands there are said to occur some twenty-five varieties of hard wood not well known to the lumber markets. Descriptive notes are given of the wood of many of these varieties, together with data on the chicle industry, transportation development, mining and prices of wood, opium, logging and manufacturing and statistics of the lumber trade with the United States for the years 1905 and 1906 and a list of wholesale prices of American lumber in O. B. City of Mexico.

Caught Hydrophobia

From Dying Son.

Mr. J. L. Stewart, of Kellar, Ga., was in town this week enroute home from Atlanta, where he and his wife had gone to take treatment for hydrophobia. Some time ago their son was bitten by a dog which was affected with the disease, and the young man developed a vicious case of it, dying a horrible death. In his dying hours he became so violent that it was necessary to hold him by main strength, and it was during one of these convulsions that the poison was communicated to a sore on the hand of the father, and when he was lying the mother implanted a kiss on his lips. She, it seems, had a small sore on her lip, and she, too, became inoculated with the terrible disease.

Both of the parents went to Atlanta for treatment, and when they have reasons to hope that they have completely recovered.

SULTAN WAITS HIS FATE

The "Sick Man of Europe" Seems Doomed to Lose His Throne.

Constantinople, April 20.—

Sultan Abdul Hamid is waiting in his palace for whatever may befall. He has not taken flight and his grand vizier, Tewfik Pasha, has announced the Sultan will remain with his family and accept resignedly the fate that has been prepared for him and his country.

Tewfik Pasha and his Minister of War, Edhem Pasha, who sent in their resignations to the Sultan late last night, decided to withdraw them to-day and the grand vizier is spending most of the time with his majesty. Nazim Pasha still is in command of the garrison, but no preparations have been made to offer any resistance to the advance of the Saloniki troops.

The Constitutionalists' lines now envelope the city, but the commander-in-chief, Gen. Husni Pasha, is still at Hademoki, and there is little likelihood that the invading army will enter the city before to-morrow night or the following day.

It is understood that the Salonikians have submitted to the government a list of persons whose punishment is demanded for complicity. This list includes deputies, journalists and theologians. But apparently there is the utmost good feeling between the invaders and the residents of the city, many of whom to-day visited the camps of the Saloniki troops and were received hospitably by the soldiers.

Two proclamations, signed by the commanding general of the army of investment and addressed respectively to the citizens of Constantinople and the garrison, were issued to-day. They have had a reassuring effect.

That sent to the War Office for distribution to the garrison, denounced as "criminal and monstrous the acts committed under the cover of demanding that the Sheri law supersede the constitution, by bands of executioners, vile conscienceless agitators and partisans of absolutism, who deluded the soldiers and populace so that the Parliament was stained with blood, the nation plunged in mourning, and a blot made on the Ottoman army, whose honor had remained intact for the last six hundred years.

After explaining that the army of Salonikians had come to remove the strain, the proclamation formulates two demands.

"First, full reinstatement of the officers of the army and navy and that the soldiers taken an oath in the presence of the Sheikh (U) Islam to obey their superiors and not mix in politics; second, that the garrison undertake not to interfere with the measures of the punishment of the guilty persons and that the spies and others who provoked the disorders be denounced. Finally, if both demands are accepted by the land and sea forces and they show real obedience, nothing will befall the garrison."

The proclamation to the populace explains that the object of the investing army is the re-establishment of the constitution, which is in accordance with the Shri law and the punishment of the traitors to the country. It assures complete safety to the innocent and oppressed population and to foreigners, and adds that those who disguise as "Ulemas, to serve their personal ends, committed a reprehensible act and will be punished.

The Constantinople garrison is deserting to the side of the constitutionalists. It is estimated that about 4,000 men have gone over to the invading army without opposition from their officers or comrades. One party took along a battery of machine guns with horses and full ammunition wagons. None of those attempting to join the constitutionalists without arms were accepted.

At San Stefano, about eight or ten miles from the city, Col. Chahli Bey, the commander of the advance guard, received the Associated Press correspondent very cordially. He said that as yet no orders had come to him indicating when the city was to be occupied.

"We are hardly expecting trouble," said Col. Chahli, "but every disposition is being made just as though we were."
