General M. C. Butler Dies

In A Columbia Infirmary Columbia, S. C., April 14—General Mathew Calbraith Butler of Edgfield, one of the last of the Confederate cavalry generals, died tonight at 11:40 at the local infirmary. For some weeks Gen. Butler has been ill, and has been gradually growing weaker and for several days it has been known that the end was near. Gen. Butler's death was due to a complication of diseases, induced by an old wound. He lost a leg at Bandy Station, and after recovery, continued through the war. His wound had not bothered him up to a few months ago.

After the war, Gen. Butler took a prominent part in the movement to reclaim the state to the Democratic party and aided greatly in Hampton's victory in the gubernatorial race of 1876. Gen. Butler was elected to the United States Senate and served three terms. During the Spanish-American war, Gen. Butler was a major general in the United States Army.

After the war Gen. Butler was appointed a member of the Cuban Peace Commission. He is survived by his widow and three children, Capt. M. C. Butler, Jr., U. S. A.; Dr. F. W. P. Butler, of this city; and Mrs. McNeely, wife of a naval officer. On his 75th birthday, Gen. Butler received supreme unction from the Catholic church. He died within fifty yards of the convention hall in which the secession convention met. Gen. Butler was a nephew of Commodore Perry, of the United States Navy, and but for fate might have been a distinguished officer of the United States Army instead of a Confederate leader.

Major General Matthew Calbraith Butler was born near Greenville, S. C., March 6, 1836. His father Dr. William Butler, was an assistant surgeon in the U. S. Army and his mother was the daughter of Capt. Perry, U. S. Navy, and the sister of Commodore Oliver H. Perry and Matthew Calbraith Perry. Judge A. P. Butler, U. S. Senator, and Col. Pierce M. Battler, killed at Chancellorsville while leading the Palmetto Regiment, were his uncles, his grandfather, Gen. William Butler, was a gallant officer of the Revolutionary army.

He was educated at the South Carolina College and began the practice of law in 1857. A year later he was married to Movia, daughter of Gov. J. W. Pickens. He was elected to the legislature in 1860, but resigned before the expiration of his term to enter military services as captain of a company of cavalry in Hampton's Legion. This command bore a distinguished part in the first battle of Manassas and Captain Butler was promoted Major.

He commanded the cavalry of the Legion in the withdrawal of the troops from Yorktown and was warmly commended for gallantry at Williamsburg. In August, 1862, he was promoted to the colonelcy of the 2nd South Carolina Cavalry and during the Second Manassas and Maryland campaign was favorably mentioned for gallant leadership at Monocacy Bridge and in Stewart's Chambersburg raid. He commanded the larger part of his brigade in the Dam-Explosion of December 1862 and in June, 1863 rendered gallant and conspicuous services in the battle of Brandy Station. Here he was severely wounded by a shell, losing his right foot and promotion to brigadier general followed in September. After returning to duty he succeeded Gen. Hampton in brigade command and took part in the Fall campaign of 1863 and through all the prolonged and bitter fighting of 1864.

Up to this time there is no clue as the guilty party who set fire to Mr. Robertson's barn at Hubert, Deputy Sheriff Donaldson spent some time there with the bloodhounds, but was unable to get any trace that would lead to the detection of the guilty party.

Fortune Came in Auto.

How One Farm Was Freed From a Mortgage by a Wife. "My method of adding to my income is by keeping an inn for automobile travelers," a farmer's wife who recurred to a visit of several weeks to New York City told the reporter. "Our farm is ten miles away from the nearest railroad station and it was not possible to get summer boarders. It was so difficult for me to market my butter and eggs and chickens that I didn't seem to be always wishing we could get nearer the station. It seemed to me that if we could only get where city people would be willing to come to see us, our fortune would be made. I have always been a good housekeeper, and my husband is known all through our part of the county as a good provider. Some people used to say that was the reason we never could get rid of the mortgage on the farm.

"The children and I had all but persuaded him to sell out and move to the village when our eldest daughter suggested opening an inn for the automobilists, who were passing, stopping for water and other little things. My two daughters set to work and brightened up the house and yards. They put out a sign at the front crossing and the property of Jim Foster to furnish meals and lodgings for small parties.

"Then, since they soon began to come, and they have been increasing in size and number ever since. At first there were only two rooms in which we could accommodate those who came to stay, but now we have five, and as my children have married off, three more have become available.

"Yes, both my daughters have married since we turned our farmhouse into an inn four years ago, and during the last year both sons married also. That leaves me alone with a nice little inn, which my husband and I look after for the present.

"From the first our object in keeping the inn has been to brighten our home and add to the value of the farm. The house is old fashioned, and besides the kitchen there are eight rooms. They were very bare when we began to take in automobilists, but now, thanks to the money that we have left with us, there are not many farmhouses in this part of the country where you would find more books and more comfortable furniture than those of the boys took a course at the agricultural college of Cornell university, and the other could have done the same thing in Boston. As soon as we finished there last summer he took a job that was waiting for him, and they got married. He is now in the electric, and he wired our house and put in electric lights almost two years ago. That is one of the conveniences we would not have had if we hadn't opened the inn.

"We don't pretend to give our visitors anything fancy to eat—just the things that grow on the farm well cooked and served. My niece has studied domestic science, so she knows how to cook by the new methods, while I can do about as well as the next one with my old ways.

"You mustn't think we have had things all our own way. Several farmers who live near the road have come to stop with us instead of going to neighboring inns. Besides, we haven't tried to change our house very much, only to freshen it up and make it more comfortable.

"I have found that what folks want when they come to the country is good country eating. That is what we give them at our inn, plenty of it and with fresh, clean linen and china that is washed and polished until it shines. We no longer have a mortgage on the farm, and we have money in bank."

Easily Adjustable Shelves. The illustration shows an excellent way of supporting shelves. The upright supports are grooved so they fit them crosswise at intervals of three-quarters of an inch to one inch. A good sized hand rip saw makes these grooves with accuracy. A flat strip bent into a Z shape, with right angles, shown at the right in the figure. One such strip is put into a groove at each end at the desired height and the shelf laid upon them. This is the most satisfactory method of supporting shelves known, inasmuch as the shelves are adjustable, the supports, iron strips, can never fall out unless the shelf is removed, and it permits of smaller differences of adjustment than any other kind of adjustable shelf. It is excellent for storehouse, storeroom, workshop, pantry or cupboard.

In average corn the "hundred bushels a day" husker must husk a row between eight and nine miles long every day, and that is going some.

A POULTRY DEPARTMENT.

About two years ago the Iowa Agricultural college officials, believing that the poultry interests of the state had not been receiving the attention that they should, considering their economic importance to the state, established a poultry department and placed an expert in charge. Thus early very definite and gratifying results are being secured.

SOME ECONOMIES?

There are some economies which are practiced by ever thrifty housekeepers that are open to criticism. Among these may be mentioned the devotion of hours a week, more or less, to the darning and patching of socks and stockings that may be bought at from 10 to 25 cents per pair; the using of good butter, sugar, flour and eggs to save a mess of over-sour cream which when mixed and made into cookies or cake can hardly be better than second rate in quality, if not actually poor enough to justify dumping the whole mess into the garbage pail; the economizing of a dollar a week in the wages of a hired girl when the food wasted and the dishes broken as a result of incompetence and carelessness and the wear and strain on the housewife's nerves and patience would come to more than this amount.

AGRICULTURE IN ALASKA.

At the time of the purchase of Alaska from Russia by Uncle Sam its value was placed at $2,000,000. It being rated as a bleak and barren region, having little value apart from its worth as a fur bearing country. This opinion prevailed until a few years ago, when vast deposits of gold were discovered, which are still yielding immense annual revenues. More recently the country has been found to possess still other resources. A representative of the United States department of agriculture, as a result of experiments he has conducted in the Yukon valley, reports that he has been able to raise oats, barley and winter wheat of as good weight and yield as are secured in the States and the harder vegetables. Experiments in stock raising show that the Galleyway cattle seem to be admirably adapted to the rigorous climate and to give excellent financial returns.

TREES POISONED.

An investigation into the causes of the death of a good many trees in orchards in some sections of Colorado has led the state college horticulturists to the conclusion that the trees in question have died as a result of arsenical poisoning, the supposition being that the poison has been absorbed into the system of the trees through its roots. This points to a further theory contrary to the generally accepted opinion—namely, that arsenites are soluble, settle into the soil and in such form are taken up into the trees through the root system. Should this supposition prove with further investigation to be well established it will mean that the poor fruit grower, having escaped the nightmares induced by worms, scabs and scales, is to have his peace of mind disturbed by a new menace.

In Memoriam.

On March 6th, 1909, Mrs. Joe Woods, the wife of one Mr. Joe Woods who was burned to death accidentally, still lingers in our memory, but God in his all wise wisdom saw fit to take from our midst our dear loved one, one whom we hated so bad to give up, but God saw fit to pick the choicest flower in the garden and so it is the case with us today, we some how rest assured that she is safe in the arms of Jesus, it seems as though she is not dead but is just asleep, we think we hear her in each breath of the soft wind that blows and as she was always seen with a smile on her face, she was never seen with a frown on her face towards anyone, our dear loved one suffered the horrible death of being burned to death, but God knows best and his precious will must be done.

It sure grieves our poor heart to know that she plead so hard for her dear husband to be at her bedside and the hand of fate prevailed against him and had to sit down and his dear wife be hurried and him not present and oh, we know it was so hard, we are satisfied she is watching her husband and dear loved from those windows while they are on this distant shore and we think she will know them when they get there and meet them at the door. Sure it seems as she is not gone, but sure she is gone forever to that beautiful city not made with hands and she leaves a husband and three small children to mourn her absence and a host of friends and relatives.

Sultan's Throne Shaken by

Advance of Rebel Hordes. Berlin, April 17.—The Lokal Anzeiger today publishes a dispatch from a special correspondent at Saloniki, traveled down from Uskub with Enver Bey and Hafiz Hakki Bey, respectively the Turkish military attaches at Berlin and Vienna. He says: Each attache says he is returning to serve his country. The committee of union and progress holds fast to the constitution. The liberal union with the assistance of reactionaries, acted illegally and interrupted parliament against Kaimil Pasha, in which the Sultan also participated. Mukhtar Pasha, a corps commander, was enticed to the palace and made a prisoner.

Two Americans Die

In Massacre in Turkey. Constantinople, April 16.—Two American missionaries have been killed in the anti-Armenian outbreak at Adana, Asiatic Turkey, according to information received here from that place by telegraph this afternoon. At midnight neither the American ambassador, Mr. Leishman, nor the British embassy had received any further news concerning the massacre or confirmation of the reported murder of American missionaries at Adana. Consular telegrams received here report that half of the town of Adana has been burned and that the attacks upon the Americans are extending into the night. They say that the British vice-consul at Mersina, Maj. Daugherty-Wylie, who was ordered to Adana when the first advices of the massacre were received, has been wounded. Communication with the disturbed district is interrupted, however, and all reports received from there must be taken with caution. The Porte declares the disturbances are subsiding. Two additional battalions have been dispatched to Adana. The Muslim attacks recommenced yesterday afternoon and continued throughout the night. Large numbers of Christians are said to have been killed. One report says that sixty Armenians have lost their lives and that many houses have been looted and burned. The first news of the anti-Christian outbreak said the scene was Mersina but this was erroneous. The trouble occurred at Adana, which is about 36 miles inland from Mersina. The early reports were declared to have exaggerated and messages received here yesterday evening said only Armenians had been killed, that martial law had been proclaimed at Adana and that reinforcements of troops were being sent in from Beirut. This latest intelligence refers to disturbances that took place after the situation was supposed to have quieted down.

Manager Jaekel Celebrates 50th Birthday.

Manager Gustave Jaekel of the Screen house had a birthday anniversary yesterday celebrating the fiftieth cycle of twelve months each on this sphere.

He was so busy that he hardly had time to give much attention to the dinner that was spread in honor of the event at the family table in the far end of the dining room, but he made himself a present of a new spring hat, and was called upon to explain the reason why to his numerous friends.

Mr. Jaekel was born in Berlin. His place of nativity was a hotel, and in a hotel has he lived the most of his life. It may be that this is a reason why success comes so readily to him. Since he assumed charge of the Screen more than a month ago the business of the house has been noticeably increased. He is popular with the commercial travelers, and when he gets into the new building, which the Forest City Hotel Company is going to erect on the Screen house site Mr. Jaekel will probably be the happiest hotel manager in the country.—Savannah News.

The bride is a worthy and popular daughter of Ellingham who is admired by all who know her. The groom is a popular and highly respected young business man of Sylvania, and has many friends here who will join the Telephone in congratulations to them both and in best wishes for a bright and happy future.—Savannah Telephone.

Mr. Rackley was formerly a citizen of Statesboro, having been associated with his brother, Mr. W. J. Rackley, in the grocery business for some time, and made many friends here who join with the future welfare and happiness of the young bride and groom.

Farm and Garden

PRAIRIE SCHOONER BARN.

A Farmer's Original and Practical Plan For a Horse Home.

An agriculturalist in Dowagiac, Mich., has made plans for a prairie schooner barn, and he states that the barn has proved satisfactory to him. He built his ten years ago. He calls it a prairie schooner barn because it is mostly roof and has no beam or mortise in its makeup and ordinary farmer help can do all of the work. The barn is forty feet long by sixty feet wide, and the arches (which represent the bows of the prairie schooner or mover's wagon) are made of inch boards six inches wide and of any length and six boards deep, each board bent to shape as it is angled to the others, using plenty of nails and giving plenty of lap over each joint. The arches form a half circle, and in building them the owner drew a half circle on the ground and set posts a few feet apart (perhaps ten) on the outside of the circle, being careful to get them perpendicular and three or more feet high, and several could be made before any had to be moved. Fourteen arches in all were used. These were placed about three feet apart on the side walls, four feet high by two feet thick. These arches, from Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. It is silver-plated, very pretty and positively prevents all dripping of tea or coffee. The Doctor sends it, with his new tea book on "Health Coffee" simply to introduce this clever substitute for real coffee. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee is gaining its great popularity because of: First, its exquisite taste and flavor; second, its absolute healthiness; third, its economy—1½ lbs. is fourth, its convenience. No tedious 20 to 30 minutes boiling. "Made in a minute" says Dr. Shoop. Try it at your grocer's, for a pleasant surprise. Sold by Gillis & Smith.

More Money in Live Stock Than Grain.

The value of farm products is increasing rapidly, suggesting that farmers of the west are going more and more into general farming, not depending so much on raising grain for market. The statement is made by the American Cultivator. The value of farm animals is placed at about $5,000,000,000, or one-fifth of the entire value of farm property. The value of receipts at leading market centers for about 50,000,000 head of cattle, horses, hogs and mules will do up about a billion dollars, this total well over the value of grain. The value of the great iron and steel industry is surpassed in value of exports by the shipments of meat and lines of animal products is toward increase, while the country is becoming less and less an exporter of grain. The farmers are wisely securing a double profit by turning their grain into the home market and selling it as a finished product in the form of meat, butter and cheese. The United States has more dairy cows (22,244,449) than any other country in the world, more horses, 23,000,532; more mules, 4,066,399; more swine, 57,976,301, and (except British India) more cattle, 73,246,573.

Mexican Timber.

According to data in the dairy consular and trade reports, there are now 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 acres of first class timber in Mexico. The heaviest stands of pine and oak are found in the states of Chihuahua, Durango, Jalisco, Michoacan and Guerrero and are said to compare favorably with similar stands in this country as regards quality, diameter and length of clear body. In addition to the open pine stands there are said to occur some twenty-five varieties of hard wood not well known to the lumber markets. Descriptive notes are given of the wood of many of these varieties, together with data on the lumber industry, transportation developments, raising and prices of wood, opponents, logging and manufacturing and statistics of the lumber trade with the United States for the years 1905 and 1906 and a list of wholesale prices of American lumber in O. B. City of Mexico.

Caught Hydrophobia

From Dying Son.

Mr. J. L. Stewart, of Kellar, Ga., was in town this week enroute home from Atlanta, where he and his wife had gone to take treatment for hydrophobia. Some time ago their son was bitten by a dog which was affected with the disease, and the young man developed a vicious case of it, dying a horrible death. In his dying hours he became so violent that it was necessary to hold him by main strength, and it was during one of these convulsions that the poison was communicated to a sore on the hand of the father, and when her son was lying the mother implorred a kiss on his lips. She, it seems, had a small sore on her lip, and she, too, became inoculated with the terrible disease.

Both of the parents went to Atlanta for treatment, and when they saw reasons to hope that they have completely recovered.

SULTAN WAITS HIS FATE

The "Sick Man of Europe" Seems Doomed to Lose His Throne.

Constantinople, April 20.—Sultan Abdul Hamid is waiting in his palace for whatever may befall. He has not taken flight and his grand vizier, Tewfik Pasha, has announced the Sultan will remain with his family and accept resignedly the fate that has been prepared for him and his country.

Tewfik Pasha and his Minister of War, Edham Pasha, who sent in their resignations to the Sultan late last night, decided to withdraw them to-day and the grand vizier is spending most of the time with his majesty. Nazim Pasha still is in command of the garrison, but no preparations have been made to offer any resistance to the advance of the Saloniki troops.

The Constitutionalists' lines now envelope the city, but the commander-in-chief, Gen. Husni Pasha, is still at Hademoki, and there is little likelihood that the invading army will enter the city before to-morrow night or the following day.

It is understood that the Salonians have submitted to the government a list of persons whose punishment is demanded for complicity. This list includes deputies, journalists and theologians. But apparently there is the utmost good feeling between the invaders and the residents of the city, many of whom to-day visited the camps of the Saloniki troops and were received hospitably by the soldiers.

Two proclamations, signed by the commanding general of the army of investment and addressed respectively to the citizens of Constantinople and the garrison, were issued to-day. They have had a reassuring effect.

That sent to the War Office for distribution to the garrison, denounced as "criminal and monstrous the acts committed under the cover of demanding that the Sheri law supersede the constitution, by hands of executioners, vile conscienceless agitators and partisans of absolutism, who deluded the soldiers and populace so that the Parliament was stained with blood, the nation plunged in mourning, and a blot made on the Ottoman army, whose honor had remained intact for the last six hundred years.

After explaining that the army of Salonikians had come to remove the strain, the proclamation formulates two demands.

"First, full reinstatement of the officers of the army and navy and that the soldiers taken an oath in the presence of the Sheik (Ul Islam) to obey their superiors and not mix in politics; second, that the garrison undertake not to interfere with the measures of the punishment of the guilty persons and that the spies and others who provoked the disorders be denounced. Finally, if both demands are accepted by the land and sea forces and they show real obedience, nothing will befall the garrison."

The proclamation to the populace explains that the object of the investing army is the re-establishment of the constitution, which is in accordance with the Shri law and the punishment of the traitors to the country. It assures complete safety to the innocent and oppressed population and to foreigners, and adds that Finch Indicted in the United States Court.

The grand jury in the United States court, recently empanelled, have returned an indictment against Mr. D. C. Finch on a charge of retailing whiskey without obtaining a license.

It seems that the others in that neck of the woods who have been retailing had taken the precaution to provide themselves with revenue license but Mr. D. C. Finch had not availed himself of this protection, and Uncle Sam, seeing so much about local trials for retailing liquor, took the matter up and found that Mr. Finch had not complied and, therefore, indicted him.
