Death of Mr. A. Brannen.

On Sunday morning after an illness of three or four weeks the spirit of Mr. Alexander Brannen took its flight, at his home, where he had lived for more than a half century. The deceased was in his 83d year at the time of his death and had never called a physician until his recent illness. He was a victim of dropsy, which soon carried him out after its attack.

The funeral and interment were held at Bethlehem church yesterday morning. One of the largest crowds ever seen at a funeral at this church was present to pay respects to the deceased, who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

It was preached that Elder Temple should preach the funeral sermon, but, owing to illness, he was not present, and the funeral will be preached later.

White Man Named To Succeed Negro.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—The appointment of T. K. Dunham to be postmaster at Darien to succeed Ferdinand M. Mann is the first positive act of President Taft to substantiate his oft-repeated purpose to draw the color lines in the south in so far as federal patronage is concerned. Dunham is a white man, and a highly respected citizen of McIntosh county. Mann, the incumbent, whom he will displace, is a negro.

The nomination of Dunham was sent to the senate yesterday by the president, but owing to the press of other business, it was not officially received. The senate will, however, take official cognizance of the nomination Monday, and it will be referred to the postoffice committee, with practical certainty that Dunham will be confirmed.

A singular feature of the matter is the fact that the population of Darien is decidedly off color. It has been estimated that at least three out of every five citizens of the city are negroes, and some estimates place the black proportion at even a larger figure. Darien is the seat of McIntosh county, which has been represented in the legislature for many years, at intervals, by a negro, and if there is any city on the map where the negroes have a right to claim the post office Darien is the place.

President Taft has, however, ousted a negro, which is taken here as evidence of his determination to live squarely up to the promise he made in his Atlanta speech. The Darien postoffice has been the subject of controversy for some time. Representative Edwards, of the First district, three days after Mr. Taft's inauguration, called at the white house to urge the displacement of the Darien postmaster by a white man. The president gave him no positive assurance at the time, but Mr. Edwards stated after the interview that he felt reasonably certain that a white man would be named for the Darien office.

You ought to have Kodol handy all the time. Everyone at sometime—and you can't tell when—has poor digestion, due to many different things, but mostly to eating excessively, or eating wrong kind of food. These little attacks of indigestion are what bring on other ailments, such as acute indigestion, chronic dyspepsia, and even more serious permanent illness. Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. Try it today. Sold by W. H. Ellis Co.

Dry Spell Broken.

Refreshing showing showers covered most of the county last night, bringing to an end the dry spell that has prevailed in this section for the past week or two. While there is no damage to crops caused by the drought, with the exception of oats, yet the gardens had begun to suffer pretty badly.

There was hail in some sections, but so far as could be learned last night the hail did not cause any damage.

LELA PROVED TO BE A VERY FINE PROPHET.

Told Where Lost Pocketbook Could be Found and Gets Fired.

That element of our folks who have been claiming that the age of prophecy had passed have had to take a back seat lately.

The public will remember an advertisement which appeared in the Statesboro News some two weeks ago advertising a lost pocketbook by Mr. E. C. Oliver. It was stated that the book contained some papers and about forty five dollars in cash. Mr. Oliver was sure that he lost the purse either at or between his residence and his store.

Just about the time that he had given up all hope of recovery of his purse, Lela Green his colored cook had a famous dream, and revealed it to Mr. Oliver forthwith next morning, in fact the negro servant around the place had a vision, but the revelation of Lela struck Mr. Oliver as being the most likely of the two. Lela had it revealed to her while she was in the night that the lost purse could be found in the store, on a certain table under some ready made clothing and that it contained the papers but no currency. Mr. Oliver went to the place designated by the dream and sure enough there lay the purse, in the condition set out in the dream. This was a cue, Mr. Oliver was uncertain as to whether he had a real prophet or a common thief in his home and he set out to ferret out the matter, he was not long in locating a rather lavish purchase made for cash by Lela at the Simmons Co. So armed with this information he went to her house and told her he had the information that she had stolen his money, and demanded that portion which had not been expended. Lela tumbled to the racket and made a full confession and restored to the owner all the cash except about seven or eight dollars. She was discharged from the home and will hereafter do her cooking and housekeeping elsewhere. It is not known whether an arrest will follow or not.

Mr. Morgan Moore was hastily called by telegram to the bedside of his brother Mr. Bob Lanier of Atlanta, Ga., who is very ill with typhoid fever.

LITTLE GEORGIA GIRL A HEROINE

Governor Smith Asked to Seek a Carnegie Medal for Ada Price.

The heroism of little Ada Price, a 15 year old girl of Bowden, Ga., in rescuing her father from the debris of a storm, which recently passed over that section, may result in her securing a Carnegie medal. Governor Smith has received a letter from Bowden asking what steps are necessary to acquaint the Carnegie Hero Fund directors with a little girl's bravery.

In the storm, which passed near Bowden, the home of the little girl's father, Mimie Price, was totally destroyed, his wife instantly killed and Mr. Price was blown several yards away and buried beneath the wreckage. During the torrential rain that followed, Ada attempted to dig away the debris that buried her father. Securing an axe she chopped away the wood, her strokes being guided by the intermittent flashes of lightning.

Unable to dislodge a large rock that pinioned his arm, Mr. Price told his little daughter to cut off his arm with a hatchet. Instead of doing so, she persisted and finally, by an almost superhuman effort, moved the rock.

WOODS CHILDREN ON PAUPER LIST.

Application Was Made Tuesday at the Meeting of Commissioners.

Application was made Tuesday at the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners to place the three infant children of Joe Woods on the county pauper list. Mr. Jack Finch a neighbor went before the Board and made the application. His appeal was strengthened by a statement from Col. Deal, who stated from his own knowledge that the grand parents of these children were not able to care for them. Col. Deal made a feeling plea for the little orphans, whose father was in jail charged with a crime that involved his life and was in fact resting under a sentence of imprisonment for life. It was set out that the mother of these unfortunate children had battled bravely for the support of the little ones until death had overtaken her, she having burned to death some two or three months ago. It was also set out that the parents of Joe Woods in their desperate fight for the defense of their son had practically stripped themselves of every vestige of anything that could be sold and turned into cash and still the fight for his life and liberties goes on.

The Board voted six dollars per month for their support and asked that arrangements be made as soon as possible to place them in some good orphan's home. One of them is five years of age another one three and an infant of five months.

NEW TREASURER HAS BEEN SWORN IN.

Hon. Pope Brown Takes Oath of Office and Appoints Force.

Hon. J. Pope Brown, of Hawkinsville, was sworn in as state treasurer Monday afternoon, succeeding the late Robert Emory Park. The oath of office was administered by Governor Smith in the chief executive's private office. The bond of $200,000 required by the state statutes was signed Monday. The surety was furnished by the same company as that which furnished bond for the former treasurer.

The bondsmen of the late Treasurer Park were released, as the accountants appointed to examine the condition of the department reported that all of the affairs were in the best shape. All of the details of the department had been so arranged that Treasurer Brown was enabled to take immediate charge.

The former officials of the department under Treasurer Park were reappointed by Treasurer Brown and will continue in office. They are:

Assistant, Ben F. Perry.
Cashier, H. Y. Walker.
Bookkeeper, J. A. Anderson.

LIVED 122 YEARS.

Wm. Farr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 122 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlow, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters." For thirty years Kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." Georgia Corn Bread.

Efforts are constantly being made to increase the demand for cotton by extending its uses. A short time ago resolutions were passed by farmers recommending the sacking of wheat in cotton sacks. The grocers at their meeting in New Orleans recommended the same for sugar. The substitution of cotton for other material in common use for various purposes is discussed from time to time, the idea being to advance the interests of the Southern people by creating a larger demand and by this means a better price for cotton.

This is right in principle. It is right not only as applied to the South, but to every section of every country. It is right not only as applied to cotton but to every other agricultural or industrial product.

Gambling manipulators have forced up the price of wheat. The matter of a few cents a bushel in the price of wheat, or a cent additional on the price of a loaf of bread, may seem a small one. But thousands of people all over the country, who find it difficult to make both ends meet, will be unable to do so with the price of bread increased. The family which had an income just large enough to supply its actual wants with bread at the old price, must fall below this condition with the price of bread advanced, and go part hungry. If it was right to cast about for means to increase the consumption of cotton that the cotton growers might be benefited, how much more ready people should be to adopt some means to increase the demands for wheat, that bread might become cheaper and the bread eaters of the country be benefited.

The price of bread may be decreased by adopting substitutes for flour, which would decrease the demand for wheat. Such substitutes can be adopted, not only as a makeshift, but because they are superior to flour, at least as a variation. In Ireland and northern Europe the working people eat principally potatoes and rye bread, and these produce sturdy races of people. In Asiatic countries the people subsist largely on rice, and there are no stronger, healthier people than Japanese or Chinese coolies. Bread made of flour is not a necessity, and if by using substitutes the wheat gamblers should be brought to grief and the cost of bread reduced, great good would have been accomplished.

The South can furnish a substitute for flour bread that is better than the flour bread itself. This is corn bread. This assertion will be received with doubt by some people, but it is true nevertheless. There isn't any kind of bread anywhere more wholesome and palatable than corn bread, properly made.

This is not generally known. Bread made out of corn grown in northern latitudes is unfit to eat. It is even dangerous, since eating it constantly will produce pellagra. Corn bread to be good must be made out of the Southern corn, that has been fully matured before the process of ripening has been checked by frost. Then it must be properly ground. "Waterground" was the old term, because in olden time corn was ground on water mills, which ground the grain slowly, rolling it out from between the revolving stones ground meal which had not been heated in the grinding.

Bread baked out of such meal is fit to eat before a king. There is none better. It is better than the best bread made out of flour can be, and it is incomparably superior to the commercial flour. The South is in a position to snap her fingers at the wheat gamblers and break every wheat corner that may be organized, if our people would exploit the excellencies of corn bread.

Northern firms put up breakfast foods made out of oats and other inferior substances, and these are consumed in large quantities because they are persistently advertised. Why not do the same in regard to Southern water ground meal?

It would open up a new source of wealth to the South, and prevent corners in wheat and keep the price of bread made out of flour within proper bounds.—Augusta Herald.

The Horse Came Back.

Quite a stir was occasioned in Statesboro some weeks ago over the levy of an execution on a certain horse, the circumstances being about as follows:

Some time ago Rev. J. C. Webb, carrier on R. F. D. route No. 6 from Statesboro, traded with D. C. Mous for a horse. Mous had been financially embarrassed for some time and it was issued against him. One afternoon Deputy Sheriff C. E. Donaldson met Mr. Webb coming in with the mail off the route and levied on the horse, but permitted Webb to drive into town with the mail. When he arrived at the postoffice he gave an account of his troubles to Mr. O. C. Parker, a brother carrier, who had likewise just driven in from route No. 4, and it was suggested that the only thing to do was for Parker to jump into the buggy and run the horse out of town, while Mr. Webb entertained the officer in another direction. The officer chasing Parker and the horse created a mild sensation at the time, but Mr. Parker proved too many for the officer and succeeded in getting the horse out of reach. For many weeks the officers have had an eye on the horse and Tuesday morning deputies Donaldson and Perry Anderson found the animal at Hagan in the hands of Mr. J. A. Hall, a liveyman of that place. The horse was levied on and brought back, and along with it came Mr. Hall with a trover action against Mr. Webb for his horse and a warrant for cheating and swindling.

Mr. Hall succeeded in getting his horse back and levied a charge of about seventeen dollars on Mr. Webb for expenses of same, which was paid.

Deputy Sheriff Charlie Driggers, of Tattall county, came over yesterday and placed Mr. Webb under arrest. A cash bond of $50 was given for his appearance at the Tattall county court.

Hall says that Webb turned up at his place in Hagan a few weeks ago, claiming to be an itinerant horse trader from Emanuel county, and guaranteed the horse to be good property. He seemed rather anxious to drive a quick trade, and when questioned stated positively that to his personal knowledge there were no papers against the animal, notwithstanding the fact that he was running him with an execution hot on his trail. The matter will probably be threshed out in the courts.

Attention Rural Letter Carriers.

Manassas, May 12, 1909.—The Rural Letter Carriers association of the First Congressional District will meet at Statesboro, Ga., May 31st, 1909. All carriers are urged to attend as business of much importance will be transacted. We will prepare for you, so be sure to come. Respectfully,

First District Rural Letter Carriers Association.

There isn't any guess work about Kodak. We do not say to you that it may or might cure your dyspepsia—we say it will. We know it will, because it is made to digest food you eat, and when your food digests you can't have indigestion—your stomach fails to digest your food. Heartburn, sour risings, belching, dull, heavy feeling and such things are all caused by indigestion. Kodak stops them by digesting all the food you eat. A tablespoonful of Kodak digests 24 pounds of food. It is a pleasant, palatable, liquid combination of natural digestive juices and vegetable acids. Sold by W. H. Ellis Co.

Decision in Finch Case Held up.

AN APPEAL MADE FOR AN AUTO TRAMPIKE.

A Plea Was Made Before the County Commissioners For It.

Col. Deal made a plea before the County Board of Commissioners Tuesday to encourage the construction of an automobile turnpike through the county, from the Bryan county line on the Savannah road via Statesboro to the Jenkins county line in the direction of Millen. It was set out that the automobile was here to stay and that movements were on foot to construct a highway of this kind between Savannah and Augusta and Col. Deal thought it would be good for it to come this way. He stated that he did not possess an automobile and doubted that he ever would, but an automobilist.

The road would not only be fine for automobiles to run over but equalling at 7:30 over the S. A. & A. as well for other vehicles. Mr. Deal set out the fact that the county already a large portion of the other special train will bring work was completed and it would send crowds from Statesboro take only a few intervening special Claxton.

The afternoon there will be a large crowd in the matinees, and other amusements but took it under consideration, contests at the park.

A large crowd is expected here this occasion.

POULTRY NOTES

PRAIRIE SCHOONER BARN.

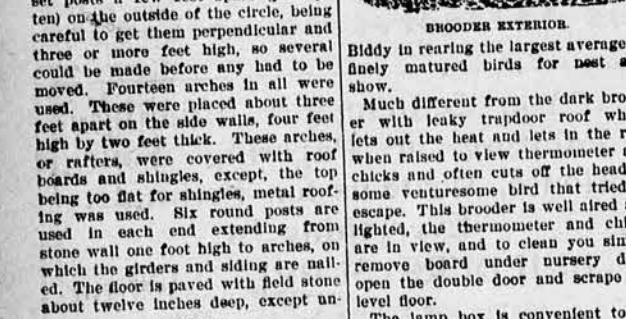

A Farmer's Original and Practical Plan For a Horse Home.

An agriculturist in Dowagiac, Mich., has made plans for a prairie schooner barn, and he states that the barn has proved satisfactory to him. He built his ten years ago. He calls it a prairie schooner barn because it is mostly roof and has no beam or post in the roof and has no beam or post in the roof and has no beam or post in the roof.

deep, each board bent to shape as it nailed to the others, using plenty of nails and giving plenty of lap over each joint. The arches form a half circle, and in building them the owner drew a half circle on the ground and set posts a few feet apart (perhaps ten on the outside of the circle, being careful to get them perpendicular and three or more feet high, so no wind could be made before any had to be moved. Fourteen arches in all were used. These were placed about three feet apart on the side walls, four feet high by two feet thick. These arches, or rafters, were covered with roof boards and shingles, except the top being too fat for shingles, metal roofing was used. Six round posts are used in each end, extending from stone wall one foot high to arches, on which the girders and siding are nailed. The floor is paved with field stone about twelve inches deep, except an

BROODER HOUSE.
Biddy in rearing the largest average of fully matured birds for meat and show.

Much different from the dark brooder with leaky tin roof which lets out the heat and lets in the rain when raised to view thermometer and chicks and often cuts off the head of some venturesome bird that tried to escape. This brooder is well aired and lighted, the thermometer and chicks are in view, and to clean you simply remove board under nursery door, open the double door and scrape the level floor.

The lamp box is convenient to attend lamp; the flame is in view; the lamp and box are never overheated, as surplus heat passes through a screen into nursery.

The interior is divided by a movable partition (1) into nursery (1) and sun parlor (2) or scratch floor.

Thus the house has two temperatures, and the one level floor makes it easy to heat and clean, and chicks are not cramped by falling down steps.

The hove (2) and partition (3) can be easily removed to make a first class roost coop.

Heat is applied by a lamp which fits into a hood in the lamp box (7) and passes through pipe (4) into a doughnut shaped radiator in top of hove (2). White smoke passes through pipe (5) to chimney (6), which rests on top of lamp box.

Hence there is no smoke inside, no hot floors to lame chicks, no hot drum under hove to roast them and make them crowd.

The hove (twenty-two inches in diameter, ten inches high), skirted with felt, is all free space underneath, is warmed with top heat as in nature, has plenty of air, and the chicks are crowded into no corners. Ventilator slides (12) control air in the brooder. A slide in top of hove or regulator working on a damper adjusts the heat to the needs of the chicks, the air shaft passing through the radiator cooling it and making a circulation.

The hove and parts may be used independently. The brooder is three feet wide, six feet long, three feet front and two feet rear and will accommodate seventy-five chicks for best results.

DON'TS.
Don't feed rotten vegetables. They cause ptomaine poison and bring indigestion.

Don't wait till your birds are half dead with lice before you dust the crawlers.

Don't think when your birds are scored by a woman judge that sex decides intellect.

Don't use artificial heat in your poultry house nor bother heating the drinking water.

Don't let snow drift in nor make them sleep in cold air currents and eat snow for water.

Don't parade your failures before others nor print your bank account in the newspapers.

Don't keep at the business if it means debt after debt nor if you don't have a good living yet.

Don't expect to get big prices until you advertise and your stock gives you a good name.

Don't follow the judge all around the show. He'll know you're a sucker from the word go.

Don't feed musty grain. It causes the disease called "mold," which brings suffering untold.

Don't forget that high priced shells are often first prize sells. A hot air advertisement often covers a multitude of culls.

Mexican Timber.
According to data in the duty consular and trade reports, there are from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 acres of first class timber in Mexico. The heaviest stands of pine and oak are found in the states of Chihuahua, Durango, Jalisco, Michoacan and Guerrero and are said to compare favorably with similar stands in this country as regards quality, diameter and length of clear body. In addition to the open pine stands there are said to occur some twenty-five varieties of hard wood not well known to the lumber markets. Descriptive notes are given of the wood of many of the varieties, together with data on the timber industry, transportation development, rating and prices of wood, cost of logging and manufacturing and statistics of the lumber trade with the United States for the years 1905 and 1906 and a list of wholesale prices of American lumber f. o. b. THE STATESBORO NEWS.

$1.00 A YEAR. STATESBORO, GA., SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1909 VOL. 9 NO 33

BROOKLET HIGH SCHOOL CLOSED.

LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE.

Judge Norwood, the Speaker.
One of Best Schools in the County

The spring term of the Brooklet academy closed yesterday. A large crowd was present, though there were a number of other school closings within short distances. The school building could not hold all the people who came out to witness the closing exercises, which consisted of dialogues, recitations, etc.

Judge Thomas M. Norwood, of Savannah, was the orator of the day. He was introduced by Prof. Herndon, principal of the school. Judge Norwood spoke for more than one hour, directing his remarks mostly to the young people present.

After the speaking was over a sumptuous dinner was spread.

The Brooklet school has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best schools in the county, and the term just ended was one of the most successful ones they have ever had.

The school building was elaborately decorated with mistletoe, palmetto and bamboo.

In the center of the decorations in the rear of the stage were painted the words: "God is Our Helper."

In front of the stage, a table decorated with pink and white roses rendered a most pleasing effect. The following program was carried out:

Invocation, by Rev. W. A. Brooks.

Music.

Recitation by Annie Rogers, "Bont Trouble."

Recitation by Mattie Still, "A Day at School."

Essay, Robert Burns; by Miss Claudia Richardson.

Recitation by Juana Driggers, "The Schoolmaster's Guests."

Recitation by Pearl Lanier, "The Master's Coming."

Essay by Miss Marie Stapleton, "Love."

Recitation by Miss Josie Still, "Aunt Sophronia Taber at the Opera."

Declamation by Willie Rogers, "Beginnings to the Roman Senate."

Recitation by Miss Stella Hughes, "College Oil Cans."

Recitation by Juliette Herndon, "Kentucky."

Essay by Miss Dena Sequel Lee, "Heroism."

Presentation of prizes (grammar school).

Presentation of diploma (high school).

Music.

Literary address by Judge T. M. Norwood (of Savannah).

Dinner on campus grounds.

After the conclusion of Judge Norwood's address and the finishing of the program, quite unexpectedly to the pupils Mr. Paul B. Lewis made a beautiful little talk and presented the following prizes: For Good Attendance—Waters, Beasley, Willie Dutton, Grimes, Waters, Ralph Waters, Misses Bulah McCormick, Ruth McCormick, Annie Nevils, Ruth Beasley, Mary Slater and Bessie Maud Waters.

Misses Bulah McCormick and Mary Slater were accredited with having lost a day from school during the nine months term.

On Lessons: 4th Grade: Spelling, Bessie Maud Waters; for Reading, Bessie McCormick.

5th Grade: Spelling; Bulah McCormick; Reading, Ruth Beasley.

6th Grade: Spelling, Ralph Waters; Arithmetic, Ferris Wright.

Department: Ferris Wright.

A large number went down to Statesboro and a report a pleasant day.

A MEASURE TO ELEGIT DEMOCRATS LABEL ON BILL.

Senator M'Laurin of Mississippi Believes Bill Means Republican Defeat.

Washington, May 19.—Declaring that the provision adopted yesterday requiring the names of unskilled day workers worked hardships on thousands of retail jewelers, Mr. Beveridge protested at the opening of debate in the senate today against "undue haste," in disposing of that paragraph. The finance committee's resolution for a duty of 5 per cent ad valorem on bottle caps was adopted. The provision for a duty of 45 per cent ad valorem on imported lace making machines also was adopted. Mr. Beveridge inquired whether any such machines were made in this country and Mr. Aldrich replied: "No, but they are liable to be made."

"Then this is a duty on liability," Senator Stone declared that on that theory the senate could not put anything on the free list.

"I have great doubt," said Mr. Aldrich, "about admitting any machine into this country free of duty, as I am satisfied that the duty of mechanics in the United States will in time enable them to provide machinery of every kind. As a matter of fact lace-making machines are now being constructed in the United States which promises to fully provide this industry."

Mr. Paynter supported an amendment placing linotype type setting machines on the free list instead of continuing a duty of 30 per cent ad valorem. He said he favored this because the linotype business was a monopoly now reaching out to control the type setting machine business of the world. Their profits, he believed, had been from $50 to $100 per cent.

Mr. Paynter changed his amendment so as to provide a duty of ten per cent. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 35 to 43.

Messrs. Bristow, Borah, Brown, Burkett, Clapp, LaFollette and Nelson, republicans, voted with the democrats.

An amendment proposed by Mr. M'Laurin to put sewing machines, type writers and printing presses on the free list was rejected by a vote of 23 to 53. Mr. LaFollette voting with the democrats. Mr. M'Laurin said not a single penny of revenue is raised from these articles. During his advocacy of the free list as a means of "protection" to the consumer, Mr. Aldrich said that "it was refreshing to hear a man who has courage enough to advocate free trade with-out giving an excuse."

Mr. M'Laurin declared that the pending tariff measure should be labeled "a bill to elect a democratic house of representatives at the next election."

Senator Clapp appealed to the senator from Mississippi to join low tariff revisionists without introducing free trade suggestions, saying that if that were done by all who believe in revising the tariff downward something of use could be accomplished. He said the pending sections with a duty of 30 per cent ad valorem was a reduction of 15 per cent compared with the existing law.

An amendment by Mr. Newland to reduce the duty on sewing machines from 30 to 20 per cent ad valorem was rejected by a vote of 29 to 43, senators Beveridge, Bristow, Brown, Clapp, Cummings, Dooliver and LaFollette voting with the democrats.

DEFINITION OF NEAR BEER BY COURT OF APPEALS.

Depends on City's Charter Whether Sellers Can be Punished.

Atlanta, Ga., May 18.—In the headnotes to a decision in two cases considered together, the state court of appeals today laid down some rules with regard to the sale of near beer which will prove of interest to practically every community in the state. In its opinion the court presents for the first time a judicial definition of near beer as follows:

"Near beer is a term now of general currency in this state and perhaps elsewhere, used to designate any and all of that class of malt liquors which contain so little alcohol that they will not produce intoxication, even though drunk to excess. It includes all malt liquors which are not in the purview of the general prohibition law."

Hereafter everyone interested should have no difficulty in determining just what "near beer" is. One of the cases decided in this composite opinion is that of Campbell vs. the City of Thomasville. Campbell is a Confederate veteran who was convicted of violating the ordinance of Thomasville regulating the sale of near beer. The court of appeals confirms the decision of the lower court because it holds the ordinance is within the city's charter rights and must be obeyed even by a Confederate veteran who is exempted from the city license.

Jones, of Waycross, is also a Confederate veteran. He, it was charged, violated the Waycross ordinance regulating the sale of near beer, under very similar conditions as those described in the Thomasville case, and was convicted and sentenced. But the court of appeals reversed the lower court in this case because it holds that the Waycross ordinance exceeds the charter powers of that city and is therefore invalid. The moral is that when a city proceeds to adopt a near beer ordinance, it must consult its charter and come within its terms.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least a few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days, only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the stomach, nor stimulate the heart or kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by W. H. Ellis.

TODAY WILL BE A GREAT ONE IN STATESBORO.

Large Crowds Expected to Attend Contests of High Schools.

Today will be a great one in Statesboro. Representatives of the accredited high schools of the first congressional district will meet here next contest for the awards offered by the school board. The exercises will be held in the auditorium of the Statesboro Institute and admission will be given by tickets.

A special train will arrive this morning at 7:30 over the S. & A. & Ry. from Vidalia, bringing a large delegation of people. Another special train will bring good sized crowds from Swainsboro and Claxton.

In the afternoon there will be a ball game between Statesboro and Swainsboro, and other amusements and contests at the ball park.

A large crowd is expected here for this occasion.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS CORPS OF ASSISTANT TEACHERS.

Professor Renfro, Will Not Serve—Principal Will Be Elected Later.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Statesboro Institute held on Wednesday night the faculty for the fall term of the Statesboro Institute was selected, with the exception of a principal. This selection has been deferred until the next meeting. The Board were anxious to retain Prof. Renfro, but he has made up his mind to enter upon the practice of law and did not apply again.

The assistants elected are as follows:

Miss Mattie Lively.
Miss Maud Atkins, Asst. Prin.
Miss Norma Alexander.
Miss Lizzie Lasseter.
Miss Olive Smith.
Miss Lella Smith.
Miss Louise Fisher.
Miss Belle Jones, Expression.
Miss Ruth Kennedy, Music.
Miss Lois Jackson, Brenwood Ga.
Miss Sallie Zettrower.

LATER.

The Board of Trustees met yesterday afternoon after the above had been put in type and elected Prof. H. H. Ezzard, of Dalton, Ga., Principal for another year.
