Corey A. Atteberry, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Atteberry, was born July 21, 1907, and died May 14, 1909. For three weeks this little boy had been sick with brights disease, day after day and night that loving father and mother sat at his bedside trying to comfort him, friends and neighbors, one and all, contributed respect and lent every helping hand but all efforts to relieve him failed and with one gap then in peaceful slumber crossed over the river of death into that land where sickness and sufferings are no more, but all is peace and love, leaving a father and mother. Oh, it was hard to give him up to see him have the last sight and fall asleep in Jesus and as we looked in his pale face for the last time and bid him good bye, our heart seemed to burst with grief, still we could not wish him back in this weary land of trouble and temptation, but try to be reconciled with the consolation that he is at rest and prepare ourselves to meet him and be ready for the summons should it come soon or late.

The funeral was conducted at Clito in the presence of a large crowd by Rev. Brantley, the Lord given and the Lord taken away, blessed is his holy name, another dear one has gone to Jesus, the angels throw on light and love forever.

Millions That Slip Through

Georgia's Hands.

Preaching diversification as a short and sure cut to prosperity in Georgia, has been a favorite occupation of the Constitution. Concrete illustrations are of help in this direction, especially when they involve sums representing a large fraction of the income from the state's regular cotton crop.

A Presque Isle (Maine) dispatch to the New York Press reflects a strong side light on what is possible in Georgia. It is an amazing story which may well be taken to heart by the farmers of the state. Here it is:

"The potato is king in Aroostook county. Fully $12,000,000 has been cleared by the farmers in that one county on the potato crop of 1908, the total shipments to market having been 15,000,000 bushels. This year every piece of land that will grow a potato has been planted, and the estimate for the 1909 crop is 30,000,000 bushels. If prices hold good, the Aroostook farmers will clear not less than $24,000,000 after keeping all the potatoes they need for home use. The price of potato land has increased 30 to 50 per cent, and the market is strong, even at such prices. The banks in the county simply are gorged with potato money. Autoplovers and disc harrows are being purchased by the farmers and fertilizer is being purchased by the railroad lot. Train after train loaded down with supplies for the potato growers, is moving up the line into Aroostook county. The prosperity is not without its drawbacks, however, because the price of farm labor has advanced to civil war rates, and the county is being overrun with automobile and piano agents. They are pleading with the wives and daughters of the farmers to insist that with fortunes made it is necessary to have music in the homes and autos on the roads."

We should like to have indicated to us one county in Georgia that clears $12,000,000 on its combined agricultural output, with the prospect of clearing the coming season a total of $24,000,000. And this is not to mention the income from just one product, as is the case with the enterprising county of Aroostook in the state of Maine.

What is possible with the soil and climate of this New England state is also more than possible with the soil and climate of the more favored state of Georgia. There could be at least thirty counties in the state capable of the activity of Aroostook with regard to the potato crop alone.

In place of which many of our farmers prefer to go in debt to raise cotton, send out of the state for their potatoes and other food supplies, and lay an annual heavy mortgage upon their one ready-money crop.

The picture of prosperity in this aggressive New England county is extremely attractive. With ordinary initiative it could be reproduced wholesale in Georgia.—Atlanta Constitution.

WOMEN WHO ARE ENVIED.

Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might be like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation of the bowels shows in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, brighten the eyes, breathe smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c., at W. H. Ellis Co's.

Japs in Hawaii at High Tension.

Honolulu, June 14.—The situation growing out of the indictment of the seventeen leaders in the strike of Japanese plantation laborers took an international turn today, when M. Negoro of the editorial staff of the Jiji, a local Japanese publication, who was taken into custody when the office of that paper raided by the authorities last Friday, made formal complaint to the Japanese foreign office at Tokio of the violations of his treaty rights.

The alleged violation, he sets forth, consists in the search of his office and the seizure of his private papers and documents without the process of law.

Territorial Sheriff William Henry admits that the search and seizure were made by force of arms and without search warrants or process of law, but contends that the papers seized contained evidence of a criminal purpose, and that the courts of the territory are open to Negoro if he is damaged.

Negoro was rearrested today with Y. Sogo, Y. Tasaka and K. Kawamura, of the editorial staffs of the Nippu and Jiji, on indictments returned by a grand jury, charging them with "conspiring by indirect, sinister and unlawful methods and means of intimidation, inciting to riot and threatened violence to prevent and hinder" Honolulu, Oahu, Ewa and Wailua plantations from carrying on their business. They were admitted to bail at $1,250 in each case. Pending the furnishing of bond or cash bail all four are in jail.

M. Negoro is preparing to bring court proceedings against the territory for $500,000 damages. While no disturbance or disorder of any kind has occurred thus far, the city is full of striking Japanese, and the tension is so great that orders were issued for the full force of police to remain at the police station tonight ready for any emergency.

Quite an addition to our town has just been made. This is in the shape of a public well, which has been needed for a number of years. The well is centrally located, and will be of great convenience for the town as well as country people coming here to do their shopping.

A large crowd of young folks expect to make trip to Tybee on Tuesday, the 23d, on the special train which will leave Register that morning at 8 o'clock. This train is being run by the R. & G. Ry., but special permission has been granted for tickets to be sold at Register. No stops will be made between Register and Savannah and a very pleasant time is expected by those who contemplate going from here.

Obituary.

It is with much grief and sorrow I write the obituary of our dear brother

S. J. HAGINS,

on the morning of April 22, 1909. The angel of death entered his home and claimed as its own and bore away on its pinion the noble spirit of our dear Brother J. Hagins, which leaves his stay on earth 32 years, 10 months and 8 days, to meet face to face with his God whom we recognize as ours and believe to be the only Redeemer. He died after a lingering illness and much intense suffering. In his last hours he softly sang in a mellow voice

"Happy day, happy day,
When Jesus washed my sins away."

He easily fell asleep in the arms of Jesus. His death was not unexpected to us, although every means of medical skill together with the utmost care and watchfulness of both family and kind friends were exercised during the entire period of his illness. Yet, God, with all his sufficient power and infinite wisdom saw fit to take him from the trial and temptations of this world where sin is ever present, therefore, let us mourn not for his absence, but strive the harder to perform our duties of life in a befitting manner and entertain bright hopes of a happy meeting in the glorious beyond.

It was hard to see him snatched off in the bloom of manhood but God's will must be done not ours. He was a loving christian, being a member of Missionary Baptist Church. Yes, he is gone never more to return and we should look up in humble confidence to the giver of all good; and strive to enter in at the straight gates and let faithfulness mark each page of our history. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

He leaves a faithful wife and two small children, an aged mother, brothers and sisters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss.

He was laid to rest in the Union Baptist cemetery in the presence of many relatives and friends. His pastor Rev. J. B. Dixon, conducted services, speaking sweet words of comfort and hope to the bereft ones. In his services they sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in their home
That never can be filled.

God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love has given,
And though the body slumber here
The soul is safe in Heaven.

His sister in marriage
Mary Teston.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the heart or kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the heart or kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by W. H. Ellis Co.

What Is Said of It Among
State House Officials.

Atlanta, June 14.—Governor-Elect Brown's plan for the prompt payment of school teachers enunciated in his speech at Elberton, was extensively discussed by state officials and other prominent Georgians at the capital. The proposed constitutional amendment authorizing a bond issue, the same to be retired at an early date from the revenues arising from the increase in taxable values, met with much favor. All agreed that the present condition was a disgrace to the state, and that an immediate remedy should be found if possible.

State School Commissioner Jerome Pound said:
"I heartily endorse Mr. Brown's plan. I favor anything that will give our teachers their money when it is due, and place them on the same level with other state employees. A way out of the present situation, which is so unjust to the teaching force and entails upon them financial losses they can, less than almost any other class of officials, afford to bear, should be found by the next legislature."

While not committing himself to any one plan, Comptroller General Wright believes that a remedy can and should be found. He named three alternative plans besides the one favored by Mr. Brown, each of which might be found feasible, and which, he said, would not reverse the policy established by the constitution makers of 1877 adverse to any increase in the state's bonded indebtedness. They are:

First. The revenue derived from the near beer tax, amounting to about $240,000 for the current year, which is still unused as the proposed purchase of a prison farm has been given over for the present, might be applied to the creation of a fund for the payment of teachers. This would meet the requirements and bring the payment of teachers up to the date on which their salaries fall due from two to three years.

Second. The legislature might enact that the increase in revenue, derived from the annual increase in taxable values, might be applied to the creation of a fund for the prompt payment of teachers. As the taxable wealth of the state is bound to increase rapidly in value, the increase in 1907 alone having been $70,000,000, meaning an addition to the state's revenue of $35,000, Mr. Wright thinks this plan would afford relief almost as soon as Mr. Brown's, which could not be put into operation earlier than 1911.

The third plan suggested is that a constitutional amendment be passed authorizing the governor to negotiate a temporary loan sufficient to meet the obligations of the state to the teachers promptly, the money to be returned to the lenders as soon as the taxes are collected. As the governor now has authority to make temporary loans amounting to $200,000, this plan, it is said, would simply increase the loan limit to $600,000, and would not add to the bonded indebtedness of the state.

MEN PART FIFTY IN DANGER.

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint." Cotton Manufacturing in the South. BIRD-MILLER TROUBLES ADJUSTED BY COMMITTEE.

Friends Take Matter in Hand and a Reconciliation
is the Result.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the hour for the trial of the charges against Messrs. Andrew J. Bird and J. R. Miller had arrived, a large crowd of witnesses and friends of the two parties had gathered in the court house, a large crowd from Metter and other parts of the county having arrived during the morning.

Efforts on the part of friends of the two parties to bring about a settlement had failed up to this time. Early in the day a proposition was made by the friends of Mr. Bird to Mr. Miller that a committee of friends take the matter in hand. This course was agreed to by Mr. Miller and Mr. J. G. Blitch was named to represent him, while Col. J. D. Kirland represented Mr. Bird. The two gentlemen failed to agree and the case was called for trial. At this moment Mr. R. Simmons took hold of the matter, reassembling the committee and demanded that a settlement of differences be made, which was soon done, and Col. Deal, who had just arose to address the mayor pro tem, calling for a roll call of witnesses, the committee walked into the court room and announced that an agreement had been reached.

Col. Deal, being already on his feet continued to address the court but suddenly switched from an aggressive fighting attitude to one of reconciliation and peace, asking the court to dismiss the charges of defendants from the charges of disorderly conduct, inasmuch as Miller had been the man who had been cut was willing to drop the matter he thought that the city could afford to do as much inasmuch as no breach of the peace had been committed that created any disturbance in the town. Dr. C. H. Parrish, acting mayor, took this view of the matter and dismissed the case, after which Messrs. Bird and Miller met and shook hands and agreed to be friends hereafter.

While there is no power delegated to the prosecutor to settle the case in which Mr. Bird was charged with assault and intent to murder, yet Mr. Miller will not appear before the Grand Jury in that case unless he is compelled to do so. He is done with it and if it should be brought up it will be by other parties which is altogether improbable, as no one else will hardly feel aggrieved sufficiently to push it. Therefore it can be considered at an end. The charge against Mr. Mitchell are also withdrawn as it is the desire of Mr. Miller to dismiss the entire affair.

To the foregoing it is added that if all the cotton mills between and including Charlotte, N. C., and Greenville, S. C., a distance of 107 miles, were strung out in line, there would be one mill to every mile. This would mean that, including the mill villages which have to go with the mills, the Southern trains would run through a solid, compact line of cotton mills from Charlotte, N. C., to Greenville, S. C., a street of cotton factories 107 miles long. This condition is not to be matched anywhere in the United States.

There is something striking and prophetic about these facts and figures.

Growth of the cotton mill industry in the South, in recent years, has been in geometrical ratio, and it is so continuing.

The fallacy of all the talk about unfavorable climatic and other conditions in the South has long ago been demonstrated by actual results.

The cotton mill has come to the cotton field, and it will continue to come until the world will finally have to look to the South for the vast bulk of the finished product it consumes. —Atlanta Constitution.

A TALE, THE HEBREW, AND THE HOLY CITY.

It is said that no Hebrew will enter Rome through the shattered Arch of Titus for by so doing they are reminded of the destruction of their loved Jerusalem, for in the broken panels of the arch are discernable the spoils of the second Temple, which speak to them not of liberty but of the sorrows of Judah. The intellect of man cannot portray a picture of fealty stronger or more true.

If our people were actuated by such a sentiment, and their impulses were guided by such a love for home, for Greater Georgia, where would we be today, would our money be in investment, No; a thousand times no! Would not Georgia be the Empire State of the Union, and the Empire Life the greatest company in the country? For our money invested in insurance premiums, would aid her industrial resources.

Georgians, when by your actions you show your confidence in home institutions you will have the wealthiest state in the country.

Be as sincere as the Hebrew in his love for Judah, and build up Georgia, by insuring with the Empire Life.

TAX NET INCOMES OF CORPORATIONS

Get Income Tax Amendment to Constitution, Urges President Taft.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Recommending legislation looking to the placing of a 2 per cent tax on the net income of corporations and also the adoption of an amendment to the constitution providing for the imposition of an income tax without an apportionment among the several states, President Taft sent to Congress a message embodying his views on the subject. This action followed a protracted special meeting of the cabinet.

In this message the President speaks of the apparent inability of Congress to agree to an inheritance tax, and as regards an income tax he refers to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Pollock vs. the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, in which the court held the tax to be unconstitutional unless apportioned according to population.

"It is," says the President, "undoubtedly a power which the government ought to have. It might be indispensable to the nation's life in great crisis."

The amendment, therefore, he declares is the only proper course. Such an amendment to the constitution, he contends, is preferable to the one proposed of reviving a law judicially declared to be unconstitutional.

The amendment which he proposes should be made to the tariff bill provides for the imposition upon all corporations and joint stock companies for profit, except national banks—otherwise taxed—saving banks and building and loan associations of an excise tax of 2 per cent of the net income of said incorporations. This, it is estimated by him, will bring an annual revenue of $25,000,000.

"This is a tax on privilege and not on property," he said, "and is within the federal power without apportionment according to population."

The President points out that another merit to the tax on corporations is that it will give to the government the stockholders and the public knowledge of the real business transactions and the gains and profits of every corporation in the country. The adoption of the amendment, he says, will make a long step "toward that supervisory control of corporations which may prevent a further abuse of power."

The message concludes: "I recommend them, first, the adoption of a joint resolution by two-thirds of both houses, proposing to the states an amendment to the constitution granting to the federal government the right to levy and collect an income tax without apportionment among the states according to population; and, second, the enactment as part of the pending revenue message, either as a substitute for or in addition to the inheritance tax, of an excise tax upon all corporations, measured by 2 per cent of their net income."

The message was referred to the Finance Committee.

Atlanta Rate Remains SAME FROM THE PORT

"Port Rate" Question Decided Yesterday in The Negative.

Atlanta, Ga., June 17.—After spending two days in executive session deliberating upon the port rate case, the railroad commission has reached a tentative decision and it was announced today that a formal opinion would be given out tomorrow morning.

The decision, it is reported on good authority, will be adverse to the equalization of rates to and from this city and the port of Savannah. The board will be divided three to two, it is said. Hillier and Candler favoring the complainants, Hill and Stephens opposing, and Chairman McLendon giving the deciding vote in the negative.

The so-called port rate case arose from an effort on the part of Atlanta wholesale merchants to have the rates on certain articles from the port of Savannah to this place reduced. They complained that the rate on specially manufactured iron products was 32 cents a hundred pounds from Savannah to Atlanta, while the rate in the opposite direction was only 13 cents. The rate on coffee was also alleged to be unfair and unjust, in that neighboring cities in other states were giving the advantage over Atlanta, which was nearer the sea than they. Leaders among the complainants were the Beck and Gregg Hardware Co. and the McCord Stewart Co. They demanded that an equal rate should be charged on the articles set up in their complaint, in either direction whether to or from the port.

The Southern and Central railroads which opposed their claim argued that the rates on all articles to or from the ports of Brunswick or Savannah were fixed on entirely bases according to the direction in which the goods traveled. The controlling elements to be considered in fixing the rates were altogether different and the rates derived from them could not be expected to be the same. The authority of the state railroad commission to make the proposed change was also expected to, on the ground that the rates in question were interstate, involving as they did the rate on coffee from New York and on special iron from Pittsburg. The fact that the goods were rebilled in Savannah and reshipped under a new bill of lading it was claimed, did not change the nature of the shipment from the interstate to intrastate.

The leading argument before the commission in behalf of the proposed change port rates was by W. A. Wimlish, of Wimlish, Watkins & Ellis, of this city. E. Mayhew Cunningham, of the firm of Lawton & Cunningham, Savannah, argued the case in behalf of the railroad. Mr. Cunningham's argument exhaustively covered the principles of rate making and of water competition. It made a deep impression and it is not unlikely that the majority of the commission, in enunciating their opinion, will follow to some extent the course of reasoning set forth in his brief.
