Don't Mix Cotton.

The farmers' Union of Bulloch county request farmers not to mix long and short cotton, as it ruins the sale of cotton. The man that mixes cotton does not know the damage that he is doing. It may pass the merchants' unobserved, but it cannot pass the manufacturer, for the machinery that works up the long cotton will not work up the short cotton. In spinning long cotton the sizes run from 80 to 150 and finer—that is one hundred and fifty twist to the inch. We know that the short cotton will not draw out the required fineness to take 150 twists to the inch. Hence it causes so much waste in long cotton to the manufacturer. The average waste in long cotton is 33 per cent, and only 25 per cent for Egyptian. We understand how the price of our long cotton is held down, and so many grades. The Jannovitch variety, and to some extent the Abassi, is in particular competition of sea island cotton. Not on account of their superior quality of staple, but it has less waste by eight per cent. If the farmers want a fair price for long cotton they must make a good quality of cotton. The ginner that gets mixed cotton will notify the Union and we will publish it in the county papers. We further request that any member of the Union who sees mixed cotton ginned on any gin will notify the Union.

We refer the farmers who raise long cotton to Farmers' Bulletin issued August 24th, 1909, on Sea Island Cotton, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Read that and you will be convinced of the necessity of the sea island cotton in a better quality.

The Farmers' Union hopes by this to put an end to mixing cotton. Every farmer should improve the long cotton seed and keep clean as possible, and also make your report to the government as accurate as possible.

BIG MEETING OF MELON GROWERS AT IVANHOE.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION WILL BE PERFECTED.

Savannah & Statesboro Railway Taking Initiative in Encouraging Melon Growing on Its Line.

Probably the largest meeting ever held at Ivanhoe was the one held there Monday in the interest of the melon growers shipping from stations along the line of the Savannah and Statesboro railway. An annual organization has been perfected, and meetings will be held at some point along the line once a year.

Over 500 people attended the meeting Monday. A carload of ice had been sent down for the occasion Saturday and along the line farmers added hundreds of choice melons to the cars to be used on this occasion.

After the arrival of special trains the meeting was called to order under the rustic green arbor built for the occasion. Mr. W. H. Cone, of Ivanhoe, called the meeting to order and announced the several purposes of the occasion, namely, the promotion of social intercourse between the growers, the benefits to be derived from the talks of experienced and technical agricultural speakers and the necessity for the growers forming an association for their protection and assistance in the growing and marketing of their future crops. Mr. Cone made an interesting talk and held the closest attention of his hearers.

Following Mr. Cone, Mr. D. N. Baco, Superintendent of the Savannah & Statesboro, who has been active this season in keeping the growers posted on the various markets and assisting them in shipping to profitable markets, made a short but interesting talk with reference to the advantages of cooperation and organization in the marketing of melons.

He showed from figures applicable to this season that the average return per car was about $65 to the grower; whereas, in previous years, through individual effort, the farmer had often averaged an amount below cost of production. Mr. Baco assured the melon growers that the railroad desired to be of real assistance to the farmers along the line and that the efforts of the company in this direction and the preparation for the entertainment of the growers on this occasion was made in the hope that the railway company and the farmer could get closer together and work in harmony in all matters to their mutual good.

Following Mr. Baco, Prof. J. W. Willis, district agent of the Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration work, with headquarters in Statesboro, was introduced. He spoke very interestingly on the subject of the value of seed selection, and showed very graphically the direct results obtainable from the care of the stock seed and demonstrated that crops could be improved at least one-fourth through perfecting seed cotton and corn. Mr. Willis spoke for nearly an hour and that his address was interesting was manifested by the close attention given his hearers.

Prof. E. Gentry, state agent of the work, was next introduced and entertained the growers, bearing on the growing of melons and truck in this section. Mr. Gentry is an experienced truck grower of Texas, and gave his hearers many valuable pointers in the handling of the various crops adapted to the sandy loam lands of this section.

The last speaker, but by no means the least, was Prof. J. P. Campbell, of the department of agriculture with headquarters at Washington. He has charge of demonstration work in the southeastern territory and spoke on behalf of the government. He is a Georgian by birth and married a Bulloch county girl. Mr. Campbell spoke on farming in general and entertained the growers in excellent style by his familiarity with the ups and downs of the farmer's life, and his sound sense in the handling of the various problems that arise. He spoke at length of the proper methods of educating the young and making out of them such men and women as would rise on the farm to a higher life and to love it in preference to the cramped and unsatisfactory life of the town and city. Mr. Campbell made one of the most interesting addresses of the day.

At noon a beautiful basket dinner was spread and the scene was much enriched by the cutting of several hundred red and luscious watermelons which had been on ice for forty-eight hours.

After dinner the growers met in a business session, and practically all present, upward of thirty-five growers, took preliminary steps to the formation of an association, designed to decide upon the best method of culture and marketing of next year's crop. A later date was decided upon for a meeting at which time the association will be permanently organized and line of work outlined.

Near the close of the meeting a resolution was offered and adopted extending to Messrs. Willis, Gentry and Campbell the sincere appreciation of the growers for their talks and assistance given at the meeting. Thanks and due appreciation were also extended to the officials of the Savannah & Statesboro Railway, who had been active in assisting the farmers along the line in the handling of this year's crop and in arranging for so pleasant and profitable a gathering of the growers and their families.

Delightful music was furnished throughout the day by the Guyton band, and the occasion will long be remembered as one of the most enjoyable ever held along the line of the Savannah & Statesboro.

It can be safely said that a great deal of attention will be given to the raising of melons in that section of the country in the future. There was a prize of $5.00 offered by the railway for the largest melon. This was won by S. A. Williams, of Olney, the melon weighing fifty-two pounds.

The following resolutions were

GOVERNOR DENIED RIGHT SUSPEND COMMISSIONERS

Without Dissenting Vote Senate Passed by Substitute the Irwin Bill.

Atlanta, Ga., July 20.—Without a dissenting vote, the senate today passed by substitute the Irwin bill, taking away from the governor the right to suspend members of the railroad commission. The bill places railroad commissioners on the same plane of independence with other elective officials of the state. The vote 29 to 0 in favor of the substitute bill.

Senator Burwell, who has been classed as the Hoke Smith leader of the senate, but who is a fair-minded man and seems to have seen a new light in the evidence in the McLendon hearing on the governor's message, both spoke and voted for the measure. He said that it was not proper that an elected official of the state, holding a position of a judicial character, should be kept continually trembling in his place by such a rod as the suspension power held in the hands of the chief executive.

Senator Slater, of the first, also made a strong speech in behalf of the measure. He declared that such a law should never have been on the statute book. The railroad commission might as well be abolished altogether as to be kept subject to the whim of an autocratic governor, who might remove its members for any old cause or for no cause at all, if they happen to disagree with him politically. The people of Georgia wanted an independent commission, the senator said, and no commissioner could be independent under the present law without endangering his position, when such a governor as Hoke Smith occupied the executive chair.

The original bill as introduced by Senator Irwin provided for a change in the mode of selecting commissioners and for their reduction to three. The substitute reported by the committee simply repeals the law giving the governor the right of suspension and does not go any further. It follows:

"A bill to be entitled, An act to repeal section 2185 of volume 2, of the revised code of 1885 and, for other purposes.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, that, from and after the passage of this act, section 2185 of Volume 2 of the code of 1885, be and the same is hereby repealed.

"Section 2. Be it further enacted, that all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act be and the same are hereby repealed."

Resolved: That we tender our sincere thanks to Messrs. Willis, Gentry & Campbell, government experts for their instructions and valuable addresses and we hereby extend to them our invitation to visit us again whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Resolved, further: That our thanks are due and we hereby extend to Supt. Baco of the S. & S. Ry. for his personal and untiring efforts to market our melons this season, also for his splendid and appreciated courtesy in providing for our instruction and enjoyment on this occasion.

Unanimously passed this July 19, 1909.

C. H. Cone, Secretary.

SOUTH IS ON BIGGEST BOOM.

Bradstreet Men Here for Meeting Report Prosperity.

The South is on the boom! A business boom, a great big, progressive, permanent boom—and here is the proof.

This is what the district superintendents of Bradstreet's southeastern division have to say about it—and no body of men is qualified to speak with more authority on the subject. They are in Atlanta now, at their annual three days' convention, held at the division headquarters in the Empire building.

Says C. W. Hendley, superintendent of the Jacksonville district: "The Fourth National Bank of Jacksonville has just been organized, with a capital of $400,000, the shares selling at $125. A company capitalized at $2,000,000 is now being organized to develop water power on the Suwannee river. Trade in all lines is far in excess of 1908, and business for this year will far surpass that of any previous year."

W. W. Barnes, of Augusta—"Building permits show a big increase. Two of the Augusta banks have new quarters under construction. Trade conditions are back to normal. The cotton crop conditions in middle Georgia are at present all that could be desired. While much smaller than that of last year it is expected to bring in fully as much money. The big crop of corn already made will keep a lot of this money here that has formerly gone out of this section. Trade is fine and prospects very bright."

F. Crook Whatley, Mobile, Ala.—"Marked improvement in July trade over that of last year, saw mills are resuming operation. Bank clearings are away up. Trade in groceries and dry goods better than usual for summer season. Shaded tobacco growing meeting with great success, with prospects for a big increase in acreage for next year."

John L. Wray, Chattanooga—"Dealing in coal and mineral lands are much stimulated by the presence in Chattanooga of many English capitalists, trades involving millions of dollars now pending. This is claimed by authorities to be the beginning of the most profitable mining enterprises ever started in the South."

J. A. Gorham, Birmingham—"Conditions in all lines are improving, and a feeling of optimism exists throughout the section. The iron market is strong and manufactures are preparing for constantly increasing demands. New capital is seeking investment. It is believed that the section of which Birmingham is the center is but just beginning its true era of prosperity. Atlanta is great city, but—'Oh, you Birmingham!'"

F. W. Renssler, Charleston, S. C.—"A wave of prosperity is sweeping over the entire city. New enterprises are seeking franchises. Two new modern type cotton presses and warehouses are being constructed. Better railroad connections with the coal fields are being built. Shipments from truck farms in the vicinity of Charleston amount for the past season to 12,000 cars."

E. C. Myers, Savannah—"Trade is improving in a satisfactory manner, and the present outlook for the cotton crop, with prices like they are now, induces the anticipation of good times in the fall. Wholesale and retail trade shows considerable improvement over the same period last year, and there is a general optimistic feeling in the air."

George A. Follis, Tampa, Fla.—"Tampa has quite overcome the hard times caused by the panic of 1907, and is making gains along all lines. As the recognized center of the cigar industry, Tampa is putting out a large volume than ever before. Building is active and the railroads are pushing improvements to completion. Trade is brisk and collections are good."

George M. Williams, Montgomery—"Business in this section continues to improve and the most conservative business men believe that an average cotton crop will regain all the ground lost in the recent panic. At this time the cotton crop is in fair condition, and farmers are more optimistic now than at any previous time this year. In wholesale lines, trade is light, but improving steadily, a large number of fall orders being booked. Money is easy and can be secured at lower rates than for several years."

Church Constituted.

A Primitive church was constituted at Claxton last Saturday by Elders A. W. Patterson, M. Stubbs, of Statesboro; Crouse, Kennedy, of Collins, and Screws, of Arline. The church was constituted with five members and after the ceremonies four more members were added.

Successful Meeting at Metter.

One of the most successful meetings in the history of the Metter Primitive church, which was in session last week, came to a close last Sunday, and as a result fourteen additions were made to the church.
