GOV. BROWN NOT WAITING ON M'LENDON To Take Action.

Makes Appointment. Governor Also Declares That He Is Not Waiting on Any Decision From Attorney General Hart in the Case.

Gov. Brown stated Saturday that the printed story to the effect that he was waiting on a decision by Attorney General Hart and the future course of S. G. McLendon before appointing a successor to the railroad commission was erroneous. In fact he said nothing whatever stood in his way of making an appointment, or had stood in his way since the action of the legislature in depositing Mr. McLendon from office.

The Ex-Governor and His Organ.

The tone of wrath which rings in the editorials of Mr. Hoke's paper, the Atlanta Journal, indicates that the persecution of the pale sufferer of the roller-chair is not being acclimated as universally as had been expected. But who could reasonably have calculated upon the people of Georgia being hardhearted? How came any Atlanta politician to believe that the plain folks could be hoodwinked into endorsing gross injustice and cruel discrimination?

Five Senators were appointed to investigate McLendon. Presumably the five men who were selected were in sympathy with Governor Smith's act in suspending the Commissioner from office. But after meeting the persecuted man face to face and hearing him in his own defense, only one of them voted to uphold the Governor. By talking to them in the committee room, McLendon won over to his side four out of the five Senators who were to act as his judges.

This significant fact carried consternation to Mr. Hoke and his newspaper, and to the Senators who trot to Mr. Smith's house and office to get their orders. Consequently, it was decided that when the report of the committee got back to the Senate it should be railroaded through, without giving the accused Commissioner the right to be heard in his own defense.

Do the people of Georgia approve of that kind of thing? To deprive an official of his place and salary, is to take away something equivalent to property. To say nothing of the public disgrace put upon such an official, he is deprived of a source of revenue upon which he may depend for the support of his family.

Is it fair to do this without allowing the defendant to go before the jury and speak in his own behalf? Will the people of Georgia sanction such arbitrary and one-sided methods?

Governor Smith suspended McLendon for his refusal to give Atlanta jobbers special freight rates which would have enabled them to invade the territory of Macon, Savannah, Griffin, Cordele, Rome and other towns. This invasion would not have meant lower prices for the people. It would have cut out other Georgia towns from their natural territory, but nothing more. To secure for Atlanta jobbers this unfair advantage over the other towns of Georgia, Mr. Hoke Smith, as an attorney, had been paid a big fee. He lost his case before the commission, and ought to have lost it.

That started his intense dislike of Joseph M. Brown. The case upon which McLendon, Stevens and Hill passed adversely, was precisely similar to the one Lawyer Smith lost. Those three Commissioners decided it just as the same issue had been decided on three separate applications before.

Was the decision right? It certainly was, unless we claim that the Atlanta jobbers are entitled to special favors.

But if the decision was wrong, why punish only one of the three Commissioners who made it? Why single out the roller-chair invalid for sacrifice, and leave Warner Hill and Obadiah Stephens in office?

The Legislature has no moral right to try the McLendon suspension case on any other ground than named by Governor Smith.

As to the sale of the Athens bonds, there is no law against it. I think there should be. If such a law is made, and a Commissioner violates it—punish him by dismissal and otherwise.

But a thing which is not now forbidden by law ought not to be punished as a crime.

I have known Guy McLendon twenty-nine years, and I never in all that time heard anybody say that he was not as honest man. He has always and universally been regarded as a gentleman. He has been the hardest worker on the Railroad Commission. The good it has done is largely due to him. Had I been in his place I would have ruled against those Atlanta jobbers, just as he did. I would have tried to get a fair and equal reduction for all.—Watson Jefferson.

Death of Mr. Staten.

On Sunday morning at 3 o'clock at the Statesboro sanitarium Mr. James Staten breathed his last after an illness of several weeks. The deceased had been suffering with an ailment for some time for which he came to the sanitarium to have an operation performed. The physicians were doubtful of his recovery from the start. The remains were interred at Upper Mill Creek church Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Staten came here about seven years ago from Gainesville, Ga., and married a Miss Winn, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Winn, of this county. His wife survives him but there are no children.

Observer Criticizes Law Makers.

Editor Statesboro News:—The acts of our public servants are always opened to criticism, and the proceedings of the last legislature furnish food for such criticism. Two years ago, the legislature passed what it called a prohibition law. The present legislature passed what it called a prohibition law. The present legislature returned to the old order of things, by limiting the sale of beer to cities of over twenty five hundred people, which of course means the sale of liquor as it was before. A return to local option. The friends of the liquor interest were in the majority in the House and Senate.

This august body also reduced the tax on the sale of cigarettes, thereby showing that they thought more of Basil Duke and the others who control the tobacco trust than they did of the boys of the state, who are being killed by the thousands every year in Georgia. When it came to Coca-Cola they stood by the people who are coining millions out of the sacrifice of the men and women and children, who are the slaves of this drug or narcotic. One gentleman in the Senate rose up and said in a loud voice, why not stand by Mr. Candler, who owns the secret of this drug, and who is erecting great buildings in the state? In other words, let thousands of women and children become abject slaves to the coca-cola habit, just so Mr. Candler can pile up millions at their expense. Don't tax his stuff, put the taxes on the poor. That was the gentleman's logic. And they refused to tax him only in a very light way. Another thing, the people for years have demanded an income tax. The United States Supreme Court went back on their decision of a hundred years and held the tax to be unconstitutional. A Republican president, house and senate, sent the question as provided by law to the state legislatures for decision. It came up in the present assembly of Georgia, and was stabbed in the house of its supposed friends. The men there were afraid no doubt of the powers higher up. Mr. Morgan and other millionaires own the Southern Railway, and you must not thus offend Mr. Morgan—you might lose your job as general or special counsel.

And the Georgia legislature refused to give Congress the right to levy an income tax. War might come, the millionaires will get out of the tax, and the great common people must pay it in stamp taxes. The whiskey trust, the cigarette trust, the coca-cola trust, and the multi-millionaires of the North must be protected—they are building great buildings by sapping the manhood and womanhood of the country. Don't say anything about it however, you might bring on a panic. Take your medicine like little men.

We will gin your green seed for 30cts and your black seed for 50cts. Bulloch Oil Mill.

Anybody can hit a cripple, and kick a poor man's dog. That is about all the Legislature did. And Hoke Smith says we must have another one like it next year, with a Governor to match. Go it, boots, if you think there is rest for the weary between hades and the iron works.

The cotton growers of the South, through the Farmers Union, have formed an association for the pooling of interests which is expected to control largely the marketing of that product this year, and co-operative storehouses are on foot.

Farmers to Grow Wheat.

One of the topics discussed at the meeting of the Farmers Union was the question of growing wheat. It developed that already some two or three hundred acres had been pledged, which together with what others pledges will be made will insure us the wheat mill. "This is along the right line, there is no reason why the farmers of Bulloch county cannot raise as much wheat as they want to, this climate and soil is adapted as well to the growing of wheat as it is to cotton. The writer has tried them both side by side and knows what he is talking about. When the farmer learns to raise all his supplies of every description he will then be the most independent citizen on earth.

A False Alarm.

In another column will be found a resolution passed by the Farmers' Union at their meeting at the Agricultural school auditorium Saturday. The resolution goes on record as favoring good roads, but condemns the proposed automobile highway.

The members of the Farmers' Union, representing a very large percentage of our farmers and composed of a hundred of Bulloch's best citizens have allowed themselves to be deceived by a lot of wind-jumping that has been going on around Statesboro for the past two weeks. They have been made to believe that the road commissioners were about to rob them of a large portion of the road funds and expend it for the benefit of a few who are not citizens of this county. Believing this, as they seem to have done, their action in the matter on Saturday is the natural result.

The News is free to confess that he has never seen any danger lurking around from the source about which so much has been said and printed. We are informed that our road forces are busy building and grading roads and laying sand beds on the public roads of this county, regardless of what direction said roads lead. True they have been working for some months on the public roads in the Court House district, starting as they did two or three years ago the second round that will finally reach all over the county. In the beginning of the public road work the thing has got to be started somewhere; it cannot be started directly in front of every man's door at the same moment, and what is being done here would be done in any county in Georgia—start in the center and work toward the edges. This is what is being done, no more and no less.

The editor of this paper is as little interested in good roads from a personal standpoint as any man in the county. We have neither an autocar or an ox cart; we have none at all, and as far as our cases are concerned it would make little difference whether we had any roads at all or not, and the same might be said of the fellow who has raised all this fuss about "Automobile Highways". It makes no difference with him whether it's an "automobile highway" or an ox team pike; they all look alike to him.

It has been held out as a great scarecrow that our road forces are to be put to work on an auto-pike—steadily at work for the next two years—to prepare it for an automobile race that is to be run in less than three months from now. Now this one of the red flags that have been waved in the face of the people and embraces about as much truth and reason as any other statement they have made.

The truth in regard to the notorious automobile road about which so much fuss has been raised is this: The Savannah Automobile club will, some time during the month of November, this year, pull off an endurance race to Atlanta. Notwithstanding the fact that the route up through Screven and Effingham counties is much nearer, but owing to the fact that Bulloch county is recognized to be the best of any in this section of the state, they have under consideration a plan to run that race through Bulloch county. There were two things, however, that stood in the way of this route, and only two. One was the repairing of Jenks bridge and the other was a deep sand bed on several miles of the route in Bryan county. These obstacles are being removed. Mr. J. H. Blitch, the owner of Jenks bridge, is putting it in shape at his own expense and the Bryan county authorities have their road forces at work on their portion of the road putting it in shape. Neither of these parties have asked for or obtained the consent of the Bulloch Times to attend to this matter and there started the row.

The famous Bulloch county pike, about which so much racket and howling has been raised, is already complete and has been so for the past two or three years. We are informed that it may possibly require a few days' surfacing with the machine and one culvert put in on the Savannah road in the Briar Patch district to make our road complete from the Bryan county line to Capps bridge via Statesboro. We submit that this little work of less than a week with a small portion of our gang is due our people in that section of the county whether there is any automobile race or not.

The race we hear so much about will not cost this county one penny if it should happen to come this way. If it wants to come this way let it come. If there is anybody who doesn't want to see it let him turn his face to the wall while the procession moves by. We are sure if he does so no one will shed any tears. God gave each of us a pair of eyes; some can see more than others; some can discover a mouse in a room when there is only a molehill; others think they see an elephant when in fact there is only a mouse; others mistake the bray of a jackass for the roar of a lion.

Gentlemen, sit steady in the boat. There is no immediate danger of the men whom you placed confidence in with your ballots, running away with the road funds. These men are doing what any other set of men would do; they are doing the very best they can do. They have constructed more than one hundred miles of the best clay roads in the state and they are building right on. Be patient. They will get to you as soon as they can, auto race or no auto race. Don't be deceived by the ranting of a man who has nothing else to do. It's an old saying and a true one, that "An idle brain is the devil's workshop." The man who has started this fuss has no interest in any of the affairs except his own private ends. He has been before the people with his troubles and lost out; he has tasted defeat by losing every ballot he cast in the last election, and now he comes up and tries to impose the motives of the men that a majority of the people of this county had sufficient confidence in to trust him with their affairs.

The man who is raising this fuss has found employment for the first time since he carried the county so overwhelmingly for Hoke Smith and Kluch Overstreet last year.

There is one consolation about this awakening and one only that we can see, that the newly discovered trouble has moved his greatness to crawl down from off the Court House fence, where he has been roosting so ostentatiously since the early spring. It will be refreshing to learn that the strain on the top railing under the old walnut tree and vicinity has at last obtained relief, even if it is to be only temporary. He has roosted on it so long and so regularly that it has become warped a bit but to the extent that it is only a question of a few more repairs that the railing will have to be replaced at equally as great an expense to the County as the week's work proposed on the Savannah road in the Briar Patch District.

Letter From Seth.

I think probably that I shall take a journey in a few days on the coast. I have not been very sick but my flesh runs from me by degrees, to my great sorrow. A year ago I had a very respectable portion of fat; at present my sharp bones poke out their heads, threatening to pierce the skin. As to health, people get sick here in Bulloch—sometimes very sick, and sometimes they actually die—in fact they have all died or will die whether they stay here or not. If there is any place where they do not get sick and die on this earth I have not heard of it. Sometimes we have malarial fever during summer and autumn, but the impression in the up country that down here is a place where frogs croak around slimy pools, from whence death dealing miasmas rise and slay victims, without anything to make it desirable or hateful, is far removed from truth and deserves the rebuke which I am pleased to give it.

A ounce of experience is worth a pound of theory; so to test the matter I will put the preachers in Bulloch against an equal number of preachers from the mountains, and if they do not eat as much chicken and preach as many dry sermons as any others, then I will admit that Bulloch is a very sickly place.

Some years ago an old and very influential preacher living not far from here said that he was the father of twenty-one children, he had been struck by lightning and still lived right on. Talk about malaria! That settles the question. Some years ago I was in Rome, Ga., and saw the sad havoc of the torrent that a week before had swept away like a cyclone every movable thing in the rich valley of Etowah river, and nearly carried Rome away. While there I saw an old mule with his right hind leg three inches shorter than the other, and some one in the crowd asked the owner, who was farmer, what caused it. "Why, he is a hillside mule, he grew to fit the land." Then we went to a blacksmith shop and he showed us some hillside plows, hillside mules and hillside floods we do not have in Bulloch county.

No section of the United States will produce a greater variety of crops, fruits and vegetables than Bulloch county. Experience proves the truth of what I say. A bale of upland or sea island cotton per acre is not an extraordinary yield.

Three hundred bushels of sweet potatoes can be easily made. Corn fifty bushels is not very uncommon, while in vegetables and melons we lead all other sections easily.

We are not dependent upon the rivers or the sea for transportation. Railroads are here in reach of all our farmers. These roads form a network of rapid and convenient transportation and travel, reaching almost everybody in the county. So Bulloch county is very rapidly becoming a railroad center, connected with all parts of the civilized world.

The work of development has only fairly begun, and our future is glorious with the rising sun of a new and greater prosperity.

Seth.

Performance Was Successful

The exhibition given by Prof. Zanton on Friday night under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy was a success. Prof. Zanton proved to be quite an artist in his line, and succeeded in winning the applause of the large audience present. Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The Agricultural School Farm.

Until recently there has been considerable criticism of the farm on the Agricultural School tract near this place, but there is noticeable dropping off in this criticism as the farm grows on while that of some of its critics is scalded by the heat.

A visit to a field of short cotton on this farm will show that it is green and growing right on, putting on fruit while the average field in the county looks like hot water had been poured over it. There is there also one of the best fields of Sea Island cotton in the county, fifteen acres that will hide a man and mule almost the field over, lapping in six foot rows and the stalks loaded down with bolls and young forms, the cotton growing and bearing fruit just like it was the first of July.

The farm will finish harvesting this week 10,000 bundles of fodder which means that they will harvest one thousand bushels of corn. A two acre field of soja beans lying along side of the public road, on the top of what is known to be the poorest sand hill in four states before the school took hold of it, it is furnishing all the feed to fatten and grow fifty head of meat hogs that are now on it, it is believed that this feed will do this bunch of hogs sixty days. The principal says it is a fine feed, he can tell the difference in the looks of the hogs even now and they have only been in four days.

When this field gives out 100 acres of peas will be ready for them besides seven acres of sweet potatoes. There is a two acre patch of artichokes, which the management are saving for the feeding of sows and pigs after Christmas. There will be enough hay and other forage raised on the place this year to do the stock at least two years to come.

There will probably be some who will sit up and take sufficient notice of this to ask. Why I thought this farm was too poor to raise anything on, besides folks have been telling me that they don't know how to farm there any way. Gentlemen if you have been deluded with this story sung into your ears, take the trouble to visit this farm and go through it, and after you come out you will give all such tales as that have been circulated against it the lie. You will find corn there that will make fifty bushels to the acre, not every acre will make this much but some of them will, it will all average good and away above the average.

A delegation of Farmers Union visitors went over the place Saturday, the County Union being in session on the premises, they went away with praises on their lips for the Agricultural School farm, the farm that has been cultivated and raised by fifteen year old Bulloch and adjoining county boys.

You will ask why it is that our crops are standing the heat while other folk's short cotton is going to pieces. The answer is this: The United States Government made a soil survey of this farm nearly two years ago and furnished the School a map, this map tells us what is the character of every inch of soil on the place, and there are seven different kinds there, on this one farm, a scientific agricultural expert, was able to take this map and tell exactly what chemicals as applied to fertilizers was adapted to these different soils, and he bought his chemicals and mixed his own goods, therefore there is to that soil just the sort of fertilizer that will hold it up under adverse conditions. That is just what the school will teach your boy, and when he leaves the school he can take your soil map which you will have when the Government completes the county survey which will be begun during the late fall, and he can tell intelligently what class of fertilizer you need for your particular soil.

The farmer should be able to know as well how to treat the ills of his fields and apply the remedies needed as does the physician by the bedside.

The State of Georgia recognizes the great work being done by these Schools and has set her seal of approval upon them. She has appropriated Ten Thousand Dollars a year to the support of the one located here. This will employ the best talent to be had for the benefit of the farmer's boys and girls of this and other counties of the First Congressional District.

There is absolutely no charge for tuition.

The Catalogue House And Alien Insurance.

THEIR DETERMINED INFLUENCE IN OUR DEVELOPMENT.

It is not infrequently we hear some of the best citizens discussing the plans of development for the city, yet by their action the railways have become but a right-of-way and streak of rust, and the river the drifting place for the barge and tug-out, carrying adown the stream taught but the lone fisherman.

If you would develop and make great your city and your state, you must cut out the catalogue house and alien insurance; you must keep your money working AT HOME. For every dollar's worth of goods you buy from a mail order house is but the rape of our legitimate merchant. He is one of the great strength holding together our municipality as well as commonwealth, and every dollar invested in alien insurance premiums, is depriving your community and state of so much money that could be used there.

If our Georgia insurance companies had the $75,000,000 which have been paid in premiums to alien companies in the last 20 years, to lend out in aid of our industrial and internal development, as well as to our bankers, farmers and municipalities, how much would Georgia be advanced?

And if the money sent out of the state to catalogue houses remained within our borders, how much stronger would be our merchants?

If we desire to be great and imposing, we must encourage, as well as aid with our capital, our home institutions, by buying our goods from our merchants and having all of our work done at home, and by insuring with the great Georgia Company, THE EMPIRE LIFE

Owing to the sickness of the presiding elder, the quarterly conference has been postponed from next Sunday till some later date.

Joiner Raising a Mammoth Squash.

Mr. C. B. Joiner bids fair to become the squash king of Georgia. He reports that he has a vine of the mammoth whale variety and that it has on it six large squashes, the largest of which weighs ninety pounds now and is still growing. Its mammoth size attracted Mr. Joiner's attention and he carried a pair of scales out to the field and weighed it was still on the vine.

Mr. Joiner says he has tried several messes of this vine and that they are as fine for table use as any squash he has ever tasted. He will keep an eye on this squash and when he is satisfied that it is fully matured promises to bring it to town and let the folks see what a real squash raiser he has blossomed into.

NO APPOINTMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Gov. Brown May Not Name New Railroad Commissioner Until After Thursday Next.

Another day and still no appointment to succeed S. G. McLeaden as railroad commissioner; one more day of delay and anxious waiting for the several would candidates.

It was thought that Governor Brown would make an appointment during the early part of this week. It now seems certain that he will make no appointment until after the next regular meeting of the commission, which takes place today. Some days ago he stated that he would make an appointment in time for the commission to have a full board at the next regular meeting. When he learned, however, that the meeting took place Thursday, he stated that he would not be able to make the appointment in time.

Chief, of course, among the measures which the governor signed were the general tax act and the appropriations bill. The only bill which Governor Brown vetoed was that abolishing the city court of Ashburn. Great pressure was brought upon him to cause him to veto the bill, and comparatively few persons were apparently in favor of the measure. Among the important measures which are now laws are the employers' liability bill, authorizing cities of a certain size to issue bonds to the amount of $100,000 in cases of flood.

Bring your cotton to the Oil Mill. No waiting. We can gin 50 bales a day.

This is one of the richest agricultural sections of the state and the railroad officials will do everything in their power to develop it. Professor Soule, of the State Agricultural college, will be asked to accompany the special train on its trip. Lectures will be given to the farmers along the route in scientific farming, dairying and cattle raising.

INSURANCE FOR TEETOTALERS ONLY.

Will Found Insurance Company to Take "Dry" Risks.

Atlanta, Aug. 17.—Application has been filed with Secretary of State Philip Cook by a number of prominent prohibitionists for a charter for "The Temperance Life Insurance Company of America," with a capital stock of $20,000, the purpose of which is to accept risks only upon the lives of strict "teetotalers."

The organization is intended as the nucleus of an insurance movement designed to extend throughout the United States.

Among the charter members of the company are W. A. Covington of Moultrie, who was one of the authors of Georgia's present prohibition law; J. P. Andrews, Dr. Marion McP. Hull and James K. Hines of Atlanta, and J. F. Fender of Lowndes county.

The one ironclad rule of the new company will be to accept no "risk" who touch intoxicants in any shape, form or quantity, at any time, or under any circumstances.

It is proposed to open offices in Atlanta and begin at once the work of getting subscriptions to the company's capital stock. This work will be in charge of J. W. Barwick, who states that the company is to be patterned after the old line life insurance companies of the North and East.

The promoters of the company assert that by following their strict rules they will be able greatly to reduce the cost of insurance to policy holders. They based this upon the assertion that the longevity of total abstainers is 25 per cent. more than among those who use alcohol even in moderate quantities. They also say the movement will put the temperance cause upon a substantial business basis.

TWO WHITE MEN HELD FOR ASSAULT ON GIRL.

Sheriff Tells of Confession and Lynching is Threatened.

Cartersville, Ga., Aug. 15.—Two white men, Dink Worthington and his nephew, Jack Worthington, were placed in jail here to-day, charged with criminal assault upon a young white girl. According to the sheriff, both men have confessed.

The assault occurred in the northern part of Bartow county Wednesday. Excitement in the neighborhood of the crime is at fever heat and threats of lynching have reached the sheriff.

Both men were captured after an exciting chase by Sheriff Smith and his deputies. They are held without bail and will be tried next month. Residents of the Euaharie neighborhood make no secret that unless they are legally executed they will be lynched.

It is said the men took the girl for a buggy ride and stopped at the Macedonia Church, where they attacked her repeatedly. They then took her home, threatening death if she told on them. Her story was learned after her physical appearance aroused the suspicions of her family.

DISPENSARY GETS BLACK EYE IN CAROLINA.

The Recent Elections Give the State, Save Five Counties to the Drys. Booze Doomed.

Reports received by the Augusta Chronicle up to 3 o'clock on Tuesday from the dispensary elections in South Carolina indicate almost a complete victory for the prohibitionists. Of the 21 dispensary counties voting on the question of wet or dry at least 15 appear to have declared for the abolition of their dispensary systems, and in one other the result is still much in doubt, Florence county being evenly divided with 734 for and 734 against the dispensary, with 5 boxes to be heard from.

Five of the counties have voted to retain their liquor systems by more or less large majorities. These are Aiken, Beaufort, Charleston, Georgetown and Richland. Charleston gives her dispensary the banner vote of the entire state, the result there being 1,830 wet and 305 dry, with four boxes to be heard from.

The largest majority for prohibition was given by Orangeburg county, there being 1,475 dry to 302 wet. The greatest change in public sentiment seems to have appeared in that county. In Springfield, one of Orangeburg's most thriving towns, the vote was 20 wet and 126 dry. This town has heretofore been considered a dispensary stronghold.

In Aiken county, the result was close, as was expected. A total of 2,500 votes out of a registration of 4,500 was predicted, but that prediction seems to have been discounted by at least 200. It was expected also that Aiken county would vote to retain the dispensary and the very close result causes no surprise.

In all the 21 counties in which elections were held the vote was very light. The elections passed off quietly in all of them so far as could be ascertained. At many points the women and children took part in the day's events, serving refreshments and singing at some of the voting precincts, but such does not appear to have been so general as was expected.

The results in South Carolina yesterday are considered to indicate the doom of the county dispensary systems in the state. If the figures given are declared to be the official results (and of course, some may be found incorrect when the official count is made) it means that but five or six counties out of the forty-two in South Carolina will have dispensaries. This will give an overwhelming prohibition majority in the state. It has been forecasted all along that with such a balance in favor of prohibition South Carolina will line up with the dry states in the South.

Farmer's Union Rally.

A Farmers' Union rally was held yesterday near Lower Mill Creek church, a number of local unions having joined in for this purpose. Col. Alfred Herrington was the orator of the day, a basket dinner and other refreshments were spread. A large crowd was out and though the day was a very warm one everybody reports a pleasant time.

Barn Burned.

On Tuesday morning the barn of Mr. J. W. Forbes was destroyed by fire at their home near Middle-ground Church. It seems that Mrs. Forbes had gone out to the barn to clean up some hen's nest, she stuck fire to one and expected to throw some water on it if it became dangerous, a gust of wind got into it and the flames soon communicated to the barn, setting it afire. A buggy wagon and some feed was destroyed with the barn, the latter being the property of Mr. Chas. Akins.

Bring your cotton to the Oil Mill. No waiting. We can gin 50 bales a day.
