TO SAVE CONDEMNED MAN FROM DEATH ON GALLOWS

Loyal Wife, Mother and Sister
Fighting Desperately.

[From Atlanta Constitution.]

As the first rays of the rising sun touched the peaceful little city of LaGrange this morning, a stray beam found its way into a prison cell and fell across a cot whereon lay a man who had spent a restless night. He stirred wearily as the light fell across his face, and turned to the wall, pulling a worn blanket over his head to shut out the sun.

Presently when the sun had risen a little higher, a broader shaft of light entered the cell, and again the figure on the cot stirred uneasily. This time he turned his face toward the barred window through which the light was streaming, and, rising, he walked to the window and looked down on the peaceful scene below.

For full five minutes he stood dinking in the pure morning air and the delights of the scene. Then, with a sigh, which came from the very depths of his soul, he turned away.

Never again is he to look upon a peaceful Sunday morning sun as it rises above the horizon. For, on Friday, he is doomed to death on the gallows, which is to be seen just across the corridor from the "condemned cell," which he now occupies.

Sentenced to be hanged for having killed a man while under the influence of a powerful drug, trusting to his attorneys to secure for him a new trial, seeing this hope dashed to the ground, and at last blindly trusting to the pardon board or the governor to commute his sentence to life imprisonment, the wretched man had lived on day after day, hoping, waiting, praying for encouragement, only to be disappointed.

And now, with the fateful day only a few short hours away, he feels that the shadow of the gallows is already falling atwart his emaciated form.

On Tuesday his attorneys are to make a last appeal to the pardon board, but, discouraged by failures in other directions, the prisoner feels that this is little more than a form. He hardly dares hope lest it make the disappointment all the more bitter.

But the man who awoke him to the realization that another of his numbered days had begun, also awoke to activity three women, who, loving the condemned man better than their own lives, have not yet given up hope, who have yet to cease the fight for his life. In Chattanooga, the aged mother, putting behind her the despair which would overwhelm one who loved less, arose as if began another day's work of securing signatures to a petition to be sent to Governor Brown, asking for a clemency.

The aged woman is put forth every effort in behalf of her only son. Possessed of only moderate means when the killing took place, she has spent her every cent in attempting to save her son from the consequences of an act for which she believes he was not responsible. And for weeks she has tramped the streets of the Tennessee city, where her son has been known, telling her story hundreds and receiving, by the score, signatures to her petition. Hoping, believing, trusting that either the pardon board or Governor Brown cannot fail to heed the voices of hundreds of citizens when raised in unison with the piteous appeal of a broken-hearted mother.

And while the mother labors in Chattanooga, two other women, who love the condemned man above everything else, are in Atlanta, straining every nerve in their effort to aid in the common cause. In a modest cottage at the corner of Central and Trinity avenues, the two women arose this morning feeling that the brightness of the world outside served only to mock the darkness which hangs over them. The cottage is poorly furnished, the women plainly dressed. A tot of a girl, too young to realize the pall which hangs over her mother and aunt, toddles gaily about the plain room, while the women, in silence, prepare their modest breakfast.

The older of the two, the mother of the child and wife of the condemned man, sits at the breakfast table toying with her food without eating. Her mind, ever and anon, reverts to the barred cell in LaGrange, and the face which is peering through the bars at the liberty which he has little hope of obtaining.

Born of wealthy parents, used to the life of a Kentucky stock raiser, the wife who ran away from home to marry the man she loved, has only clung the closer to her husband since his trouble. And when money to carry on his defense was needed, she came to Atlanta and secured work in a laundry.

Unaccustomed as she was to work, her love for her husband kept her going, when hands, back and eyes ached. Each morning she leaves her child in the care of a kind neighbor and for long hours does the work that is undermining her health and making her prematurely old.

And at another laundry, the condemned man's sister, until recently a member of an opera troupe, is doing her share toward helping raise money in a last desperate effort to save the man's life. "I couldn't go on with that life, knowing that my brother was about to be hanged," she said, in explaining why she left the stage. "I felt like I must be near sister!" (meaning her brother's wife.)

J. M. Elliott, the man sentenced to be hanged Friday, shot and instantly killed G. L. Rivers, of LaGrange, on September 1, 1908. Was under influence of cocaine and morphine at the time, it is said. He had been addicted to the use of these drugs for several years and he was insanely jealous of his wife, formerly Miss Ida L. Burdon, daughter of a wealthy stock raiser of Kentucky.

Elliott was tried and sentenced to be hanged on December 18, 1908. On a motion for a new trial, a respite to August 31, 1909, was granted, and later this was extended to September 10. Attorneys for the defense have been denied a new trial by the supreme court and are expecting to make a last appeal to pardon board on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. J. Elliott, mother of the condemned man, is now in Chattanooga, securing signatures to a petition which will be presented to the board, while Flossie Elliott and Mrs. Ida Elliott, his sister and wife, are employed in local laundries, earning their own livelihood and at the same time earning money with which to defray the expense of the litigation.

KILLS HIS STEPPAUGHTER; WOUNDS DIVORCED WIFE.

After His Capture, Man Declares That He Expects Lynching.

Troy, Ala., Sept. 3.—Chased across two counties by sheriffs, several deputies and a large posse of citizens, with the certainty of being lynched if captured by the latter, William Stevenson, who this morning shot and killed his stepdaughter, Miss Gertrude Vann and seriously wounded his divorced wife near Grady, Montgomery county, was captured one mile south of Troy this afternoon and lodged in jail here.

Upon advice that a mob of considerable numbers was nearing Troy at 8 o'clock tonight Sheriff Carroll called upon Governor Coker for military protection and the Troy Rifles were immediately ordered in their armory, with orders to assist the sheriff in protecting the prisoner.

Sheriff Tatum, of Crenshaw county, advised Sheriff Carroll by wire that it was very probable that the body of men marching to Troy is the posse which this morning joined in the chase for Stevenson and he is of the opinion that the men will be satisfied when they learn that Stevenson is safely in jail.

Stevenson admits the shooting and said it was the result of family troubles. He told the sheriff that he knew he would be lynched if taken back and tried near the scene of his double crime.

This morning Stevenson stole a shot gun and went to Mrs. Stevenson's home where he sought reconciliation. Being denied an interview by his divorced wife he opened fire, the first shot taking effect in Mrs. Stevenson's right side and completely severing her arm. The second load of shot struck Miss Vann in the abdomen, producing almost instant death.

About thirty members of the posse from Montgomery and Crenshaw counties, heavily armed, arrived here at 11 o'clock to-night. They appeared to be satisfied when informed that Stevenson was safely behind the bars. It is not now thought that there will be any attempt at lynching.

I HAVE PROOF OF FINDING POLE, DECLARES COOK.

American Explorer Makes That Statement At Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, Sept. 4.—Dr. Fredrick A. Cook, the American explorer, returning to civilization from his discovery of the North Pole, came into Copenhagen harbor at 10 o'clock this morning on board the steamer Hans Egede, from Greenland.

Dr. Cook was standing on the bridge of the vessel, which flew the American flag at her mizzen mast. Crown Prince Christian, of Denmark; Maurice Egan, the American minister; the Danish minister of commerce, and committee representing public bodies, boarded the Hans Egede and welcomed Dr. Cook in the name of the nation and the city.

Dr. Cook was escorted ashore by Prince Christian. The explorer was cheered by great crowds. An immense throng followed through the streets to the Meteorological institute, where he made a brief speech.

Dr. Cook said he left at the North Pole an American flag and a box containing documents, including a brief account of his trip and certain observations and data to bear out his claim.

TIMES-DEMOCRAT ON COTTON CROP

Loss, in Some Districts Has Been Very Great.

AMOUNTS TO DISASTER. Excessive Temperatures and Parching Winds Forced Bolls to Open Prematurely—Boll Weevil Reported—Farmers and Price.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 8.—In summarizing the reports of its correspondents on the cotton crop for the month of August, the Times-Democrat will tomorrow say:

"Sharp deterioration has been the rule and the loss has been, in many districts, amounted to a disaster.

"Excessive high temperatures and parching winds have forced the bolls to open prematurely and caused the plant to shed.

"There are complaints of damage by boll weevils in some sections, but the abnormal heat, of course, minimized the ravages of all the insects.

"Picking will soon be general. Most farmers seem inclined to sell at current prices, though there is a desire to hold at least a part of the crop for an advance."

Through Hell Gate Young Girl Swims.

New York, Sept. 5.—Adeline Trapp, twenty years old, today swam nine miles through the treacherous waters of Hell Gate from the foot of East Eighty-ninth street to Classon Point, L. I. Accompanied by Miss Priscilla Higgins, a girl of about her own age, Miss Trapp swam in the wake of forty sturdy swimmers of the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps, who were holding their annual endurance test.

Fifteen of the men swimmers were forced to give up before the finish and Miss Higgins, after going most of the distance, was seized with cramps and picked up exhausted.

Miss Trapp was in better condition than most of the men at the end of the long swim today."

A Ten Cents Judgement

Most of the day Tuesday was taken up in the City Court over the trial of a case in which the verdict amounted to ten cents. A jury and two sets of attorney and the entire machinery of the Court labored all the long hours adjusting such a difference between Messrs. J. B. Kennedy plaintiff and D. L. Kennedy defendant. The suit grew out of a contract entered into by the plaintiff with the defendant to build a small house at the fish pond of the defendant, the amount of the claim was disputed, and after hearing the case the jury returned a verdict against the defendant for ten cents principal and one cent interest. Mr. Kennedy will hardly appeal the case.

PEARY FOUND POLE ALSO.

Planted Old Glory There on April 6, This Year.

YEAR BEHIND COOK'S DISCOVERY. Cook Hopes News Correct—If Peary Successful, Statements Will Coincide.

Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 6.—To Associated Press, New York: "Stars and Stripes nailed to north pole. (Signed) "Peary."

"Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 6.—To Associated Press, New York: "Pole reached. Our ship Roosevelt safe. (Signed) "Peary."

"Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 6.—To the New York Times, New York: "I have the pole April 6. Expect to arrive Chateau Bay Sept. 7. Secure contact wire for me there and arrange expedite transmission by story. (Signed) "Peary."

New York, Sept. 6.—Peary has succeeded.

From out the Arctic darkness there were flashed today these messages which stunned the scientific world and thrilled the heart of every layman. From the bleak coast of Labrador, Peary gave to the world the news that he had attained his goal in the far north, while at the same moment in far off Denmark Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, was being dined and lionized by royalty for the same achievement.

Undeniably, American grit has conquered the frozen north and there has been created a coincidence such as the world will never see again.

Two Americans have planted the flag of their country in the land of ice which man has sought to penetrate for four centuries, and each ignorant of the other's conquest, has flashed within a period of five days a laconic message of success to the waiting world.

Cook, in his first message to his countrymen, was brief and non-committal; Peary was even briefer, but specific. "Stars and Stripes nailed to the north pole," he said. That was all, but never before have so few words conveyed to a people a greater meaning or a greater patriotic satisfaction.

Five days ago on Sept. 1 Dr. Cook sent out from the Shetland Islands the first message of his success—a message which has aroused a storm of controversy around the world. Today, Robert E. Peary, lost from view in the land of ice and unheard from since August, 1908, startled the world by a similar message sent from Indian Harbor, Labrador. There was no qualification; it left no doubt. It announced unequivocally that he had reached the top of the world. Thus two flags with the stars and stripes of the United States are floating in the ice packs, proving the courage of intrepid Americans.

With but a word from Peary the world was breathlessly for details, but until tomorrow, when he should arrive at Chateau Bay, Labrador, waiting must suffice. The first word of Peary's success reached New York at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in a dispatch to the Associated Press. It contained the bare announcement of his finding the pole. Almost simultaneously he had transmitted the news to London, repeating dramatically and simply, "Stars and Stripes nailed to the north pole." At the same time he similarly advised the governor of Newfoundland. Both the old and the new worlds were thus apprised of his great achievement practically at the same moment, and the excitement which followed attests to the high pitch of interest aroused over this climax of man's perseverance.

Copenhagen, Sept. 6.—When the report that Commander Peary had discovered the north pole reached here Dr. Cook said: "I hope the news is correct. If Peary has reached the pole his descriptions of that region will confirm mine."

Washington, Sept. 6.—Those persons who had associated with Commander Robert E. Peary here spoke of him today as a man of wonderful capacity for doing things and they instantly accepted the statement that he had discovered the north pole. They expected him to eventually win in the struggle and so it was no surprise to them when word came that he had succeeded.

Peary's attainment of the pole crowns the work of expeditions that he has led for a number of years. His last expedition was in 1906, when by means of the little Arctic steamer, Roosevelt, and by journeying on sledges he succeeded in reaching 87 degrees, 6 seconds, north latitude. This was accomplished on April 21, 1906, after a zigzag journey in the Arctic ocean, exactly two years to a day before Dr. Cook is said to have reached the pole.

After mature consideration Mr. Groover has declined the position offered him for the reason that arrangements had already been made for him to spend another year at Mercer University where he will complete his education.

Sunday Excursions Over.

Last Sunday was the last of the Sunday Tybee excursions, the season having closed on Tuesday, and, beginning with next Sunday, the regular week day schedule will be observed by the railroads operating out of here.

This will be good news to the people of this section, as the late Tybee trains worked a great hardship on the general traveling public. People who happened to be off and traveling on Sunday afternoon had a pretty hard time reaching Statesboro. Parties coming from up the road would have to suffer the annoyance of a long wait at Dover, and those coming in from Savannah had nearly as tough an experience. The Sunday afternoon's mail was not delivered until Monday morning.

People who were compelled for any reason to travel on these Sunday excursion trains were thrown up against a crowd who, as a rule, had tanked up on mean whisky at Tybee and in Savannah, where saloons are run in open violation of the law. We all have reason to feel thankful that the cheap Sunday excursion is at an end for this season at least.

Edwin Groover Offered Fine Position.

News was received here on yesterday to the effect that Master Edwin Groover had been elected to the position of Assistant Cashier of The Tattall Bank at Beidsville. Mr. Groover has a brother who has been cashier of this bank for a number of years, and the fact that the assistants place has been tendered his younger brother is quite a compliment to them both. The Tattall Bank is one of the largest, strongest and most influential banking institutions in this section of the state.

After mature consideration Mr. Groover has declined the position offered him for the reason that arrangements had already been made for him to spend another year at Mercer University where he will complete his education.

The Farmer and the Automobile.

The prejudice against automobiles is probably greater than that held against any one thing since the days when the politicians succeeded in warring the public mind to the extent that the main arm of the Central of Georgia railroad was driven from our borders.

In the old days, when ignorance was fanned into frenzy by prejudices, the position was taken on the stump and elsewhere that the "steam engine" would set the woods afire and burn up the country, and the iron wheels would run over all the cows. Thus a great railroad system, paying thousands of dollars annually in taxes, was driven to the north side of the Ogeechee river. The men who played on the public prejudice perhaps obtained temporary preferment in the way of a small office, which was their reward for "saving the people," but the generations that have lived since their day have paid for their folly a hundredfold.

A man has the right, under the law, to work out his own injury, but it's a crime to pull down hardships on the heads of your posterity.

Of all the people on earth who ought not to hold prejudice against the automobile it is the Bulloch county farmer. If it were announced today that the manufacture of automobiles would be discontinued the price of black seed cotton would drop twenty dollars a bale.

One-half of the world's supply of sea island cotton will be used during the present season in the manufacture of automobile tires alone. If it had not been for this new field for the use of sea island cotton, the producers would be today where they were a few years ago—at the mercy of the spoil cotton trust—and sea island cotton would be selling at fifteen cents a pound.

Mr. A. T. Dallas, a stockholder in six cotton mills, at LaGrange, Ga., stated to the editor of this paper in Atlanta some time ago that his syndicate, which is one of the largest in the South, had just completed a mill which would be used solely for the purpose of spinning our sea island cotton and that every thread they could spin had already been sold to the automobile manufacturers of the North and East.

True, gentlemen, it's aggravating to be driving to town over our good roads with three bales of 22-cents cotton on one mule and mow an automobile and have him shy a little. Sometimes we wish the thing would butt a stump and tear up, but there is one consolation that when you do get back square in the road and reach town you don't have to shy from your creditors. It's better for your mule to take a scare than for you to be afraid to meet the man you owe a dollar.

You may not believe it but the very thing that makes your mule stand on his hind legs is enabling you to stand square up in the face of your creditors and say "here's your money."

When we get good roads all over the country call them automobile roads if you choose, you will see the well to do farmer stay on the farm, and not scamper off to town and leave a shillies tenant to be your neighbor. The men who live in town now will seek the country, they will want the freedom and pleasure to be found where else on earth except on the farm. They will do business in town and live ten miles out, it will only be a pleasure drive for them to go home at night after a hard days work in town.

You will find the well to do people of Savannah seeking our farms, the average city resident would prize the opportunity to live on a Bulloch county farm and do business in Savannah higher than anything else. It would be a great pleasure to them to be able to own their ten and twenty acre farms along an auto highway, with a nice home on it, they would become tax payers and citizens here and every Bulloch county hillside would blossom like a rose.

Gentlemen, think once or twice before you allow your prejudice to get the better of your judgement. Remember that the fellow who would work on your prejudice only await an opportunity to bleed you for something.

They have axes to grind, and they expect to grind them at your expense.

The country savers that are agitating now are casting the same milestone around the necks of your posterity as did those of half a century ago. They feed off the fruits of your folly and your prejudices.

The Catalogue House And Alien Insurance.

THEIR DETERRENT INFLUENCE IN OUR DEVELOPMENT.

It is not infrequently we hear some of the best citizens discussing the plans of development for the city, yet by their action the railways have become but a right-of-way and streak of rust, and the river the drifting place for the bateau and dug-out, carrying adown the stream naught but the lone fisherman.

If you would develop and make great your city and your state, you must out the catalogue house and alien insurance; you must keep your money working AT HOME. For every dollar's worth of goods you buy from a mail order house is but the rape of our legitimate merchant. He is one of the great sinews holding together your municipality as well as commonwealth, and every dollar invested in alien insurance premiums, is depriving your community and state of so much money that could be used therein.

If our Georgia insurance companies had the $75,000,000 which have been paid in premiums to alien companies in the last 20 years, to lend out in aid of our industrial and internal development, as well as to our bankers, farmers and municipalities, how much would Georgia be advanced?

And if the money sent out of the state to catalogue houses remained within our borders, how much stronger would be our merchants?

If we desire to be great and imposing, we must encourage, as well as aid with our capital, our home institutions, by buying our goods from our merchants and having all of our work done at home, and by insuring with the great Georgia Company, THE EMPIRE LIFE

STATESBORO, GA. SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 11, 1909

VOL. 9 NO 14

Action of Governor Wins Hearty Plaudits.

Governor Brown has given to the people of justice and equality the right to feel proud.

He resisted the temptation of power brought to bear on him by the half of Mitchell, and in effect declared: "No matter how influential the family connections of a criminal, he must pay the penalty of his crime, just as the poorest and most friendless offender must do."

Early for Governor Joseph M. Brown! It was high time some official showed the grit to teach the wealthy and well-connected criminals that we haven't got one law for the rich and another for the poor.

In the Hoke Smith administration, a "well-connected" forger and swindler, whose depredations amounted to more than $80,000, got a full pardon—Mr. Smith being such a flabby snob that he did not have backbone enough to resist certain members of the kid-glove element of Augusta.

Thank God! We've found a man, at last.

Mitchell, deliberately, cautiously and elaborately made every preparation to commit the most heinous of all crimes—the ruin of a woman. And in this case, the woman stood in such relation to Mitchell that the mere lustful glance in his heart was a most monstrous crime.

But he always "stood well," his people were all respectable, influential people, and they had always suffered anguish and mortification, and Mitchell was in poor health, and had already been severely punished, and to work out his sentence would endanger his life, etc., etc., etc.

All this sickening twaddle came before Governor Brown in the Mitchell case, just as similar cases and such came before Gov. Brown in the Tom Alexander case.

In the one instance, our chief executive acted the spineless snob; in the other, the stern, impartial judge.

Hurray for Joe Brown! It's the first time I've said it, but I say it now.

It is as much a duty to praise when praise is deserved, as to censure where censure is justly merited.—Tom Watson, in Jeffersonian.

Governor Brown does not "think small" gives immunity from punishment—American Times Recorder.

Little Joe Brown seems to be too polite than his predecessor. When a supplicant said, "Pardon me, governor," Hoke always said, "Certainly, sir"—Savannah Herald.

It looks as if Governor Brown days to office long enough, he will make a few influential convicts to write out their sentences.—Rome Tribune Herald.

Details Joe Brown is that sort of governor who hews to the line and lets the chips fall where they may.—Columbus Ledger.

Governor Brown is right when he announces that he intends enforcing the law without fear or favor, the same law for the rich and poor and for great and small.

The humblest prisoner in the penitentiary is entitled to as much consideration at the hands of the chief executive as the richest, or the one of one of best family, and that is just what he will get at the hands of Governor Brown.

—Athens Banner.

Little Ugly Joe has again immortalized himself in the eyes of the moral and law-abiding citizens of Georgia, and elsewhere, by his decision in the noted Mitchell case from Thomas.—Tomboroan.

Farmers Gather at Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 6.—The fifth annual convention of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union will begin tomorrow morning. Delegates from all the cotton producing States are in attendance and cotton will be the principal topic of discussion.

The Farmers' Union is a secret society with all the secret and ritualistic work of any lodge. It is composed of farmers, and has for its main object the elimination of the cotton factor and middle man and the marketing of the crop directly from the producer to the manufacturer.

Already the union has numerous warehouses and if the plans of its leaders are carried out, many more will be erected during the coming year, and a strong effort will be made to get into the union every cotton grower in the south. Then, not only will the middle man's profit be saved to the grower, but the market can be controlled, for with all American cotton held in union warehouses it can be sold only when the price is satisfactory.

The idea in brief is to make the Farmers' Union to the cotton grower what the tobacco pool is to the tobacco producers.

The session Tuesday will be the only one open to the public, although the union will continue its meeting for several days. During the executive session the price is fixed for the ensuing year and members are not supposed to sell for less. Already the officers have sold a part of this year's cotton to English manufacturers.

NIGHT ON BALD MOUNTAIN.
On a lonely night Alex. Benton, of Fort Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor tortured by asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later it cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe it's the greatest throat and lung cure on earth. Coughs, colds, croup, hemorrhages and sore lungs are surely cured by it. Best for hay fever, grip and whooping cough. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. W. H. Hollinsworth and is a young lady who numbers her friends by the score, who heartily extend congratulations.

HARRIMAN SUCCEUMBS

Railroad Magnate Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Edward H. Harriman, the greatest organizer of railroads the world has ever known, met the only lasting defeat of his active life at the hands of death. Secluded in his magnificent home on Tower Hill, surrounded by members of his family, physicians and nurses he succumbed to an intestinal disorder after a fight against disease which will rank for sheer grit with his remarkable struggles in the financial world. Mr. Harriman died peacefully and almost to the end his brilliant mind retained its integrity. After a lapse on Sunday he sank steadily and soon after the noon hour Thursday there came a relapse which marked the approach of the end.

His wife, two daughters, the Misses Mary and Carol, and his sons, who have been constantly with him, assembled at the bedside and a carriage was hastily dispatched for Mrs. Simons, whose home is here in Arden, three miles from the Tower Hill mansion.

The exact time of his death is known only in that limited circle of relatives and associates who had so effectually shielded Mr. Harriman from all outside annoyances during his last illness. The time was given to the world as 3.35 p. m., but Mrs. Mary Simons, sister of the dead man, said that the end had come at 1.30, more than two hours previous. Whether this apparent discrepancy has any bearing on the current belief that every effort was made to lessen the influence of the financier's death on the New York stock market is problematical. But it is significant that the time of his death as officially announced was just 35 minutes after the trading had ceased on the exchange.

Driving hurriedly up the mountain-side Mrs. Simons entered the great silent house in time to be present at her brother's death. She joined the wife and children, who, with Dr. W. G. Lyle of New York, and Dr. Orlando Harriman, a brother, and the nurses, formed a group at the bedside.

NIGHT ON BALD MOUNTAIN.

On a lonely night Alex. Benton, of Fort Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor tortured by asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later it cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe it's the greatest throat and lung cure on earth. Coughs, colds, croup, hemorrhages and sore lungs are surely cured by it. Best for hay fever, grip and whooping cough. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

The two explorers upon whom the world's eye has been fixed during the past few days are busy preparing for their return to the United States. Cook in Copenhagen, announced that he had definitely arranged to sail next Thursday for New York. Peary, according to reports, was still delayed in Battle Harbor, Labrador—probably either awaiting the completion of repairs to the Roosevelt or the arrival of coal.

Dr. Cook appeared the other day at a high official function. The University of Copenhagen conferred upon him the degree of Sc. D. (Doctor of Science) thereby recognizing, it was pointed out by his friends, in an important official manner his claim to the discovery of the Pole. Dr. Cook has cancelled his engagement to lecture before the geographical society of Brussels and will reach New York about September 20 or 21.

Captain Donald Amundsen will probably accompany him.

Dr. Cook's plan to send a ship from Copenhagen to Greenland to bring back to civilization his two Eskimo companions on his exploration trip will not be carried out until next year, as British officials have informed him that it is now too late in the season for a trip to Etah. The expedition, it is stated, will start early next spring.

In scientific circles, both in America and abroad, the prevailing inclination seems to be to await direct word from both explorers before arriving at a conclusion as to their respective achievements, and although a beligerent attitude was still preserved in the two camps, open hostilities were largely suspended.

Herbert T. Bridgman, Peary's chief backer, reached Sidney, C. B. and Mrs. Peary, who will also meet the explorer at Sydney, left Portland on her way northeast.

Both expect to greet Commander Peary on Saturday, although the long and thus far unexplained delay at Battle Harbor may make necessary a change in their plans.

BARRETT RENAMED HEAD OF FARMERS.

Unanimously Elected as President for 4th Term of National Organization.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 9.—The principal business transacted Thursday morning in the convention of the Farmers' Cooperative and Educational Union was the election of officers, the result being as follows:

President, Charles S. Barrett, Union City, Ga.; vice president, J. E. Montgomery, Gleason, Tenn.; secretary-treasurer, R. H. McClellough, Bebee, Ark.; executive committee, S. L. Wilson, Mississippi; W. A. Morris, Alabama; A. C. Schuford, North Carolina; John Grady, Kentucky; O. L. Dornblazer, Texas.

Practically all of the officers were chosen without opposition, and President Barrett was unanimously reelected. The executive committee immediately outlined a policy to the convention which received strict attention. The reception of fraternal delegates was made a special order of business for the afternoon.

Among the most important reports of committees to be received during the afternoon is that of the committee on cooperation.

It will take two or more hours for a full discussion of this report inasmuch as the launching of a national farmers' institute, which calls for the establishment of a big college, is proposed. It is announced that if the convention fails to adopt the report as to the institute, the Georgia division will set to work at once on the same.

The greatest of secrecy prevails as to the minimum price to be held for cotton this year though almost all the discussion centers around fifteen cents. The convention will hardly complete its work tonight and will go over until Friday afternoon. More than half of the committee have yet to report and several of them are of great importance.

Death of Mr. Mosely.
E. C. Mosely, a well-to-do farmer living near Statesboro died very suddenly at his home on Wednesday night. It is said that while Mr. Mosely was sitting in a chair apparently in good health he laid back without a murmur and died. He was about sixty years of age, and leaves a widow of a few weeks, besides several children by his first wife. He was one of the largest men in the county, weighing about 300 pounds. The cause of his death is said to have been heart failure.

The burial occurred at Macedonia church on Thursday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. O. Darsey.

Mr. Mosely was a familiar figure on the streets of Statesboro and we will miss him from our midst.

A NIGHT RIDER'S RAID.
The worst night riders are calomel croton oil or aloes pills. They raid your bed to rob you of rest. Not so with Dr. King's New Life Pills. They never distress or inconvenience, but always cleanse the system, curing colds, headache, constipation, malaria, etc., at W. H.

THE TWO THINGS

NECESSARY TO POSSESS A BANK ACCOUNT

The first, is the Desire or Inclination. Everyone has a wish for money—it is human nature, for it takes money to possess the comforts and necessities of life.

The second requirement is One Dollar or more. The first deposit need not be large, and after the first money is deposited, you have a bank account.

CONFERS DEGREE ON DR. COOK

The two explorers upon whom the world's eye has been fixed during the past few days are busy preparing for their return to the United States. Cook in Copenhagen, announced that he had definitely arranged to sail next Thursday for New York. Peary, according to reports, was still delayed in Battle Harbor, Labrador—probably either awaiting the completion of repairs to the Roosevelt or the arrival of coal.

Both expect to greet Commander Peary on Saturday, although the long and thus far unexplained delay at Battle Harbor may make necessary a change in their plans.

Sydney, C. B., Sept. 10.—Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic Club, who is to meet Commander Peary, arrived here this evening.

Mr. Bridgman denied that he had sent any communication to Prof. Helm of Dresden, but said that it was perfectly evident that Commander Peary and Harry Whitney were together for several days and that it would be a reasonable deduction that Whitney had informed Peary of Cook's claims, and that Peary would gather all available testimony to refute the claim, having heard the Eskimos' stories that Cook

"had not been out of sight of land."

With regard to the offer of the United States coast and geodetic survey to arbitrate the controversy, Mr. Bridgman said:

"I know that Commander Peary will be perfectly satisfied to abide by its verdict. Peary has a commission from the survey to take certain observations and data, and will submit his results to that board."

"Cook's two witnesses," continued Mr. Bridgman, "are from 16 to 20 years of age. The six Eskimos who declined to go returned with Cook's letters to his wife, John R. Bradley and Rudolph Francke, dated Cape Thomas Hubbard, Commander Peary, in a series of conversations with the natives found that the letters were not written where dated."

Hanson Pays Tribute to Harriman.

Major J. F. Hanson, president of the Central of Georgia Railway, last night issued the following appreciation of E. H. Harriman:

"Mr. Harriman was the greatest factor in this country's great affairs. He had reached an eminence as a railroad financier and railroad developer unequalled in the world's history. He was an upbuilder in the best sense of the term. His ability impressed itself upon all men who came in contact with him. He was very popular with those through whom his policies were executed, and all of the men about him were very fond of him. Those who had served him longest loved him best. Like all great men, he was very simple. His manner was genial, and assuring to the subordinates of his great system of railroads. He had a heart streak of humor in him. I have never met a man who was so satisfactory to do business with. I was very fond of him, and feel that in his death I have suffered a great personal loss."
