19-Year-Old Girl Wears Skirts for First Time.

Council Bluffs, Iowa.—Miss Frederick Adams, a pretty nineteen-year-old girl, is today wearing skirts for the first time. She has heretofore worn boy's costume and has been known as a boy. The girl, whose home is near Sioux City, walked into police headquarters here and said she was a girl. The police sergeant behind the desk rubbed his eyes, took a steady look, signalled to two patrolmen and said: "Handle him gently; it's either sunstroke or plain lunacy."

Miss Adams became indignant and repeated that she was a girl. It took short investigation to establish the fact that the caller's real name is Miss Frederick Adams. The young woman was christened Frederick in Plainfield, N. J., at the direction of her father, who died shortly before her birth. The man wished for a son, for the reason that a boy meant the winning of a large fortune which would go to him when he reached his majority; but that if a girl were born the estate would be distributed among other relatives. The child was a girl and with the object of gaining the inheritance deception was practiced. The baby girl was named Frederick and was raised as a boy.

After father died, mother took her to the farm near Council Bluffs, said the girl. "We live there yet, and I ran away. I have never been permitted to be a girl. When I was a child I wanted dolls, but my mother made me play with tin soldiers. I was turned out with boys and forced to take part in their rough games. I had to fight with my fists and play football and baseball, and when I couldn't help crying the boys called me 'sissey' and told me to go home to my mother's apron strings."

The police were puzzled, but finally decided to take her before a magistrate. In court Miss Adams repeated her story and the magistrate remanded her in care of the matron until her mother arrives from Council Bluffs. The matron found the girl in feminine attire and in her first attempt to walk she tripped in the skirt and went down on the floor.

Thomas County Negros Receive Warning.

Thomasville, Ga. Sept. 14.—Two more Thomasville negroes have received warnings lately that their presence was not desired here and they could either leave or receive twenty-five lashes. These warnings had a skull and cross bones sketched in one corner, with a picture of a darkey being whipped in the other.

It is said that both negroes preferred to skidoo instead of taking the whipping. This method is being employed to rid the town of some undesirable characters and seems to be proving effective.

Complaining of

Too Much Rain.

Mr. J. R. Adams, a prosperous farmer living at Lucetta, was in the city yesterday, and while here stated to a reporter that the farmers in his section are complaining of having too much rain. Mr. Adams said that in some fields the cotton was standing in water, and it is his opinion that the cotton will not only be affected, but picking will be greatly delayed. Considerable of the cotton is said to be laying on the ground in water.

Is Georgia, And Georgia Institutions and Men in the Lead?

Is it not true that our Minerals, Forests, Farm Products, Waterways and Waterpowers are before the eye of the world? Is it not so that our greatness is at hand? Is it not so that our cotton, peaches, agricultural products, Gold, Metals, Coal, Iron, Marble, Granite, Clays, Lumber, Naval Stores and Natural Resources places us in the lead of all? Is it not so that Georgia is a wonder, worth over a billion and a half dollars? (intrinsic value.) Is it not so that Georgia has 568 banks with a capital of about $20,000,000, and deposits $70,000,000? Nothing in the Union to compare with it. And is it not so that out of 32 Insurance Companies doing business in Georgia during 1908, and writing over $44,000,000, the Empire Life, our own Georgia Company, wrote $5,949,135? NEGRO ATTEMPTS TO ASSAULT YOUNG LADY.

FATHER MAKES SON CONFESS HIS DEED.

Black Brute Enters Room of Miss Corabel Waters and is Frightened Away by Young Lady's Screams.

Morgan Lane, a negro brute 19 years old, is in the Bulloch county jail, charged with an attempted assault on Miss Corabel Waters, step-daughter of Judge Joe Richardson, near Brooklet, at 1 o'clock Thursday morning.

That the negro was not lynched is probably due to the fact that his old father has been in the employ of Judge Richardson for over twelve years, and after citizens had caught the son the old man appeared and made the boy confess his rash act.

It was about 1 o'clock Thursday night when the negro entered Miss Waters' room, going in through a window in her bed room. The young lady was in a sleepy stupor when she discovered that the negro was in her room. His hand was then on her arm, and as she turned and twisted he put his other hand on her foot. She was fully awake by this time and finding the black brute standing over her at her bedside she was almost thrown into hysterics. She began to scream and her step-father, Judge Joe Richardson, who was in a room across the hall ran to her rescue. Her screams were so loud that neighbors were also attracted and within a short time a large crowd had gathered around the little county home and excitement prevailed.

When Miss Waters began to scream the negro made a dash through the window he had entered and disappeared in the darkness. The young lady, it seems, however, recognized Lane when he was standing over the bed and told Judge Richardson that it was Lane who had entered the room. A search for the negro was at once begun, and at the same time parties came to Statesboro to notify the Sheriff. Deputy Sheriff Albert Kendrick was found at the jail and he went to Brooklet early Thursday morning, going through the country. When he arrived at the scene citizens had caught the negro and he was turned over to the deputy sheriff, who brought him to Statesboro where he is now safe in jail.

There were some, it is said, who were in favor of taking the law into their own hands and lynching the negro, but cooler heads were opposed to such a course. The old father of the young buck, who has been with Mr. Richardson for over twelve years, pleaded with the crowd not to lynch his son. The negro denied his guilt until his father came up and made him confess it.

Miss Waters is said to be on the verge of nervous prostration and is suffering a great deal from her fearful fright.

NEGROES ARE ALARMED, BUT WITHOUT OCCASION.

Only Insurance Regarding Recently Enacted Law.

The negroes of Georgia are much stirred up over the law passed by the general assembly at its recent session, and approved by Governor Brown, which prohibits any fraternal, social, benevolent or similar organization from using the name, emblems or insignia of another similar organization already in existence.

As a result of ignorance as to the real meaning and intent of this law, it is said in many sections of the state negro societies are afraid to meet in their lodge rooms, and will not wear badges of any kind for fear of arrest and prosecution.

The truth of the matter is the law in no sense interferes with any negro or other society, except that they shall not use the name and emblems belonging to another society previously organized.

The negro societies may select any name or emblems they wish, just so long as they are not the names or nearly like the names of other societies, and the law will protect them in the use of such names and emblems just as it protects those now organized.

The truth is only two or three orders are in any way affected, namely: the negro Knights of Pythias, negro Elks and negro Odd Fellows. These orders will have to change their names because they are clearly infringements of the names of white orders of the same name, previously organized.

TWO LIVES SAVED BY OPERATOR

BULLOCK MAN TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF AND A CHILD

Freeman, Alleged Former Lunatic, Seated Himself on Atlantic Coast Line Track and Held Nephew, While Train Approached—Operator Strong Hero of Occasion.

Two lives were saved this morning at the Savannah junction of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company when Operator S. T. Strong of the Coast Line, stationed at the junction, flagged a train which would probably have run over Marshall G. Freeman, aged 50 years, an alleged lunatic, and his little nephew, Raiford Simmons, 6 years of age, whom the uncle is said to have held on the track that they both might die.

Mr. Strong succeeded in getting the pair off the track and he and Section Foreman H. A. Gordon, and the latter's gang of several negroes watched them until the arrival of Chief Special Agent G. S. Godbold of the Coast Line and Deputy Sheriff L. K. Meldrim, who arrested the man and took the boy in charge. Mr. Godbold went before Ordinary McAlpin and swore out a writ of lunacy and Freeman was taken to the Chatham county jail. His little nephew was also taken along and is being detained.

Shortly before Mr. Strong was due to go off duty at 7 o'clock at the junction he saw the figures of the man and the boy on the track about 200 yards from the telegraph station. The former was holding the latter on the track. A train was due to pass. The operator threw the red board and rushed out and succeeded in clearing the track. Then he sent a message to Dispatcher E. P. McLean and the latter phoned Mr. Godbold, who went to the scene with Mr. Meldrim after having telephoned Mr. Gordon to hold the pair.

In the meantime Mr. Gordon feared to advance on the crazed man, who repeatedly said "we are both going to my dead mother," lest he might get away. He got one of his section hands to steal the boy and take him by a roundabout route through the woods, a mile and a half distant.

Freeman kept moving down the track, and the foreman and hands followed. At the four mile post Freeman stopped and backed up against the post, and at this juncture Special Agent Godbold and Deputy Meldrim came up. Freeman took to his heels but was caught a short distance away by Mr. Gordon and Mr. Meldrim. The prisoner resisted but he was weak for want of food and was easily taken. He could give no explanation of who he was or where he lived, or how he happened to be out in the woods and the fields with his little nephew. The boy gave the names of both, saying that his uncle lived at one time with his wife, about five miles from Statesboro. He said his uncle was in the state asylum about six months ago. His own father, he said, was named Sam Collins, his mother Mrs. Annie Collins, and his home about a mile and a half from Parish station, near Dover, on the Coast Line. The pair had stopped several days near Thunderbolt, said the boy. The boy apparently is a step-son of Collins, whose name he gave as his brother.

Marshall Freeman had on no shoes, and clothes consisting only of an old pair of pants and an old shirt. The boy wore a hat, shirt and pants but was also barefooted and had been badly bitten by mosquitoes. It is believed that the death of Freeman's mother has caused him to take to die and join her and to take the boy also.

Last evening about seven o'clock Jailer Arnold Seylen received a phone message at the county jail from Marshall Hughes at Thunderbolt, stating that a man had become violent and broken up things in a house near the old bicycle track near Thunderbolt. The marshal thought the man out of his jurisdiction and so didn't arrest him. The authorities interested in the case now think this man was Freeman, who is said to have a brother near Thunderbolt, whom he has been visiting.

Freeman was locked up in a cell at the

BITTER STRIFE OVER TAX QUESTION STIRS STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Body of Citizens Threaten to Establish New State on This Account.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The recent threat of a body of citizens in California to establish another state within California borders, because of dissatisfaction with taxation methods has attracted the attention of officials here.

The United States constitution provides that "No new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as the congress."

This constitutional provision, together with the manner in which California was carved out of other territory, are pointed to as reasons why such a threat would likely never reach a more definite form.

It is not the first time that the question of the division of California has arisen, for taxation was a problem that started such agitation as long ago as 1849.

At that time, during the constitutional convention at Monterey, there was talk of overthrowing the influence of northern California, then a territory, and so to make possible an ultimate division of the state, in case the southern part proved to be adapted to slave life.

Not long before the outbreak of the civil war there was renewed "talk" of the division of the state and there have been meetings in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara county and elsewhere at various times in a sporadic effort along this line.

YEGGMEN BLOW UP SAFE NEAR MACON.

Nitro-glycerine Used and Over $1,000 in Valuables Secured.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 18.—Yeggmens at 3:30 o'clock this morning blew open a safe in the store of E. W. Smith, within a stone's throw of the city limits, and secured approximately $700 in cash, a pistol, two diamonds valued at $300, a number of notes and mortgages and other valuable documents.

Entrance to the store was gained with blacksmith tools, and nitro-glycerine was used on the safe. A colored resident near the store heard the explosion but thought it was mule's kicking in a stable nearby.

A sheriff's posse was formed after daylight and a determined search instituted but no trace of the robbers has been gained.

Cotton Makes a Substantial Advance.

The cotton market shows a strong tendency to get up in the air. Short cotton is now selling in the local market at 12 1/2 and long cotton at 22 1/2 cents. This is a substantial increase over last week. The loss occasioned by the temporary slump the early part of last week has been more than regained.

COTTON TO SOAR SAYS DAN SULLY.

Will Reach 15 or 16 Cents. He Says After Investigation.

"Cotton will reach fifteen or sixteen cents in the next few weeks—you see if it doesn't," stated Dan Sully, breezily.

The famous operator spent Thursday at the Piedmont hotel, in Atlanta, and he talked cotton. Ever since Dan Sully cornered the market in 1904 and sent the fleecy staple soaring up to 10 1/4 cents a pound, the highest market since 1875, people have been interested in what Dan Sully has to say about it.

This time the erstwhile boss of King Cotton is in a particularly good position to know what he is talking about. Mr. Sully is just winding up a trip thru the South, in the course of which he has conferred personally with the leading experts of each section, getting their inside views and sifting, in his own keen mind, the information thus gained.

The results, stated concisely, are about thus:

"It is my candid belief," said Mr. Sully, "that the crop this year will be under 11,000,000 bales—a short crop, and a poor one, at that. The demand of the spinners is for upward of 18,500,000 bales, and the answer is high cotton. I put it at fifteen to sixteen cents, and that before many weeks are out."

Then Mr. Sully gave his reasons and they sounded thoroughly plausible, as Mr. Sully's reasons always do. They included spring drought in Texas, scorching winds in August, and the excessive and general dryness of the last three weeks.

"Mark my prediction," concluded the ex-boss of the market, "the crop is short and the price is going up."

Mr. Sully was asked concerning the story recently published in New York that he would soon begin a "bull" campaign.

"You know me," said Mr. Sully. "I never deny a printed story."

MOORE MAY ENTER RACE.

Hon. John P. Moore May Run For Judge Atlantic Circuit.

Hon. John P. Moore, one of the leading lawyers and citizens of Tatnall county, was here Monday. Recently there have been numerous reports that he would make the race for judge of the Atlantic Circuit. Mr. Moore stated that he was being strongly urged by his friends and members of the bar and that he felt inclined to make the race.

"I don't care about making any definite announcement at this time," said Mr. Moore, "but you may say that I am giving the matter serious thought. The honor of being judge of the superior court is one most desired by attorneys of our state, and I must say that the idea appeals to me very strongly. When I have talked to the people more and learned their real desires in the matter I will make definite announcement as to whether I will make the race or not."—Savannah Press.

OPINION OF BRYAN SCORED BY BAILY.

Lower Revenue on Raw Products and Finished Material.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 18.—Before a large and enthusiastic audience, United States Senator J. W. Bailey tonight replied to an address delivered in this city last Tuesday by William J. Bryan on "Democracy and the Tariff." Mr. Bryan declared for free raw material and reduced rates on manufactured goods and severely arraigned the Texas Democratic platform of 1896 which denounced this doctrine. Senator Bailey contended tonight on both raw material and manufactured articles.

In his speech Senator Bailey ascribed the authorship of the Texas Democratic platform of 1896 which was attacked by Mr. Bryan to former United States Senator John H. Reagan, and defended the declaration which arraigned the Wilson bill for admitting raw materials free of duty while manufactured articles were protected by heavy duties. He declared that the Texas platform was in harmony with the tariff plank of the national Democratic platform of 1896 when Mr. Bryan was a candidate.

Taking up the four reasons advanced by Mr. Bryan in favor of free raw material, Senator Bailey made reply to each in detail.

Senator Bailey discussed the binding force of platforms and declared himself a strict party man, but declared his Texas constituents had declared against free raw materials and he had always publicly opposed it, hence he obeys his constituents and his own conscience and disregarded this plank of the national platform.

Hot Air Damages Journal.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18.—Hot air came near burning up the Atlanta Journal "Fire, fire! The Journal is burning up," was the cry which went up from the crowd of newsmen who had congregated in the street for their regular noon edition of the paper, which for some cause or other was late.

A double alarm was turned in and soon Broad street was crowded with fire engines and hook and ladder companies.

A large crowd of interesting spectators also congregated. On their arrival, the firemen quickly mounted to the top of the building, the part where most of the hot air is generated and begun work. They found that the heated air in one of the flues had set fire to the fourth floor and the roof.

Axes were brought and the burning part was quickly cut away and the troublesome flues removed. When inquiries were made of the fire department later as to the cause of the fire, the answer given was:

"Hot air!" The fire was put out with little difficulty and only a small amount of damage was done.

COURT'S DECISION ON VETS' LICENSE

Confederate Veterans With Free License Must Conform to City Laws.

Judge Ellis yesterday ruled that confederate veterans operating near beer saloons without having secured a permit from the city are liable to fine, notwithstanding the fact that they are not required to pay a license. He held in brief that a confederate veteran must conform to the rules and regulations governing all other applicants for permits to run near beer saloons, with the exception of paying the license.

The case in which his ruling was made was that of W. W. McNeinch, who was several months ago fined by Recorder Broyles for operating a near beer saloon without a permit. McNeinch's defense was that he was a confederate veteran he could operate without a paid license or permit. The recorder ruled differently, whereupon McNeinch appealed. Judge Ellis upheld the recorder's decision.

In brief, Judge Ellis ruled that all persons desiring to operate near beer saloons must register and obtain a permit. He held, however, that it is not within the power of the municipality to refuse to a confederate veteran a permit, provided he wishes to conduct his business at a proper place. This cannot be construed, however, to give veterans the right to conduct such a business anywhere they may see fit. For, if it was so construed, this would give them a right to run a saloon next to a church, school house or in other places which would work to the detriment of the community. A confederate veteran, ruled the court, must qualify in every respect as an ordinary citizen, save in the payment of a license. In case a permit was refused a veteran solely on the ground of non-payment of license, the court ruled that should the veteran do business in spite of this refusal, he would not be amenable to arrest or fine.

McNeinch was recently arrested for a second time on this same charge, and Recorder Broyles dismissed the case pending Judge Ellis' action on the one before him.—Atlanta Constitution.
