ARE WE DEVELOPING?

Is Georgia, And Georgia Institutions and Men in the Lead?

Is it not true that our Minerals, Forests, Farm Products, Waterways and Waterpowers are before the eye of the world?
 Is it not so that our greatness is at hand?
 Is it not so that our cotton, peaches, agricultural products, Gold, Metals, Coal, Iron, Marble, Granite, Clays, Lumber, Naval Stores and Natural Resources places us in the lead of all?
 Is it not so that Georgia is a wonder, worth over a billion and a half dollars (intrinsic value).
 Is it not so that Georgia has 568 banks with a capital of about $20,000,000, and deposits $70,000,000? Nothing in the Union to compare with it.
 And is it not so that out of 52 Insurance Companies doing business in Georgia during 1908, and writing over $44,000,000, the Empire Life, our own Georgia Company, wrote $5,949,137. You can figure what per cent. of the whole is represented in this magnificent showing.

BITTER STRIFE OVER TAX QUESTION STIRS STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Body of Citizens Threaten to Establish New State on This Account.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The recent threat of a body of citizens in California to establish another state within California borders, because of dissatisfaction with taxation methods has attracted the attention of officials here.

The United States constitution provides that "No new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as the congress."

This constitutional provision, together with the manner in which California was carved out of other territory, are pointed to as reasons why such a threat would likely never reach a more definite form.

It is not the first time that the question of the division of California has arisen, for taxation was a problem that started such agitation as long ago as 1849.

At that time, during the constitutional convention at Monterey, there was talk of overthrowing the influence of northern California, then a territory, and so to make possible an ultimate division of the state, in case the southern part proved to be adapted to slave life.

Not long before the outbreak of the civil war there was renewed "talk" of the division of the state and there have been meetings in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara county and elsewhere at various times in a sporadic effort along this line.

YEGGMEN BLOW UP SAFE NEAR MACON.

Nitro-glycerine Used and Over $1,000 in Valuables Secured.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 18.—Yeggmens at 3:30 o'clock this morning blew open a safe in the store of E. W. Smith, within a stone's throw of the city limits, and secured approximately $700 in cash, a pistol, two diamonds valued at $300, a number of notes and mortgages and other valuable documents.

Entrance to the store was gained with blacksmith tools, and nitro-glycerine was used on the safe. A colored resident near the store heard the explosion but thought it was mml's kicking in a stable nearby.

A sheriff's posse was formed after daylight and a determined search instituted but no trace of the robbers has been gained.

Cotton Makes a Substantial Advance.

The cotton market shows a strong tendency to get up in the air. Short cotton is now selling in the local market at 12 1/2 and long cotton at 22 1/2 cents. This is a substantial increase over last week. The loss occasioned by the temporary slump the early part of last week has been more than regained.

COTTON TO SOAR SAYS DAN SULLY.

Will Reach 15 or 16 Cents. He Says After Investigation.

"Cotton will reach fifteen or sixteen cents in the next few weeks—you see if it doesn't," stated Dan Sully, breezily.

The famous operator spent Thursday at the Piedmont hotel, in Atlanta, and he talked cotton. Ever since Dan Sully cornered the market in 1904 and sent the fleecy staple soaring up to 10 1/4 cents a pound, the highest market since 1875, people have been interested in what Dan Sully has to say about it.

This time the erstwhile boss of King Cotton is in a particularly good position to know what he is talking about. Mr. Sully is just winding up a trip thru the South, in the course of which he has conferred personally with the leading experts of each section, getting their inside views and sifting, in his own keen mind, the information thus gained.

The results, stated concisely, are about thus: "It is my candid belief," said Mr. Sully, "that the crop this year will be under 11,000,000 bales—a short crop, and a poor one, at that. The demand of the spinners is for upward of 18,500,000 bales, and the answer is high cotton. I put it at fifteen to sixteen cents, and that before many weeks are out."

Then Mr. Sully gave his reasons and they sounded thoroughly plausible, as Mr. Sully's reasons always do. They included spring drought in Texas, scorching winds in August, and the excessive and general dryness of the last three weeks.

"Mark my prediction," concluded the ex-boss of the market, "the crop is short and the price is going up."

Mr. Sully was asked concerning the story recently published in New York that he would soon begin a "bull" campaign.

"You know me," said Mr. Sully. "I never deny a printed story."

MOORE MAY ENTER RACE.

Hon. John P. Moore May Run For Judge Atlantic Circuit.

Hon. John P. Moore, one of the leading lawyers and citizens of Tatnall county, was here Monday. Recently there have been numerous reports that he would make the race for judge of the Atlantic Circuit. Mr. Moore stated that he was being strongly urged by his friends and members of the bar and that he felt inclined to make the race.

"I don't care about making any definite announcement at this time," said Mr. Moore, "but you may say that I am giving the matter serious thought. The honor of being judge of the superior court is one most desired by attorneys of our state, and I must say that the idea appeals to me very strongly. When I have talked to the people more and learned their real desires in the matter I will make definite announcement as to whether I will make the race or not."—Savannah Press.

OPINION OF BRYAN SCORED BY BAILY.

Lower Revenue on Raw Products and Finished Material.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 18.—Before a large and enthusiastic audience, United States Senator J. W. Bailey tonight replied to an address delivered in this city last Tuesday by William J. Bryan on "Democracy and the Tariff."

In his speech Senator Bailey assented to the authorship of the Texas Democratic platform of 1896 which was attacked by Mr. Bryan to former United States Senator John H. Reagan, and defended the declaration which arraigned the Wilson bill for admitting raw materials free of duty while manufactured articles were protected by heavy duties. He declared that the Texas platform was in harmony with the tariff plank of the national Democratic platform of 1896 when Mr. Bryan was a candidate.

Taking up the four reasons advanced by Mr. Bryan in favor of free raw material, Senator Bailey made reply to each in detail. Senator Bailey discussed the binding force of platforms and declared himself a strict party man, but declared his Texas constituents had declared against free raw materials and he had always publicly opposed it, hence he obeys his constituents and his own conscience and disregarded this plank of the national platform.

In brief, Judge Ellis ruled that all persons desiring to operate near beer saloons must register and obtain a permit. He held, however, that it is not within the power of the municipality to refuse to a confederate veteran a permit, provided he wishes to conduct his business at a proper place. This cannot be construed, however, to give veterans the right to conduct such a business anywhere they may see fit. For, if it was so construed, this would give them a right to run a saloon next to a church, school house or in other places which would work to the detriment of the community.

A confederate veteran, ruled the court, must qualify in every respect as an ordinary citizen, save in the payment of a license. In case a permit was refused a veteran solely on the ground of non-payment of license, the court ruled that should the veteran do business in spite of this refusal, he would not be amenable to arrest or fine.

McNinch was recently arrested for a second time on this same charge, and Recorder Broyles dismissed the case pending Judge Ellis' action on the one before him.—Atlanta Constitution.

Hot Air Damages Journal. Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18.—Hot air came near burning up the Atlanta Journal "Fire, fire! The Journal is burnin' up," was the cry which went up from the crowd of newsmen who had congregated in the street for their regular noon edition of the paper, which for some cause or other was late.

A double alarm was turned in and soon Broad street was crowded with fire engines and hook and ladder companies.

A large crowd of interesting spectators also congregated. On their arrival, the firemen quickly mounted to the top of the building, the part where most of the hot air is generated and begun work. They found that the heated air in one of the flues had set fire to the fourth floor and the roof.

Axes were brought and the burning part was quickly cut away and the troublesome flues removed. When inquiries were made of the fire department later as to the cause of the fire, the answer given was: "Hot air!"

The fire was put out with little difficulty and only a small amount of damage was done.

COURT'S DECISION ON VETS' LICENSE

Confederate Veterans With Free License Must Conform to City Laws.

Judge Ellis yesterday ruled that confederate veterans operating near beer saloons without having secured a permit from the city are liable to fine, notwithstanding the fact that they are not required to pay a license. He held in brief that a confederate veteran must conform to the rules and regulations governing all other applicants for permits to run near beer saloons, with the exception of paying the license.

The case in which his ruling was made was that of W. W. McNinch, who was several months ago fined by Recorder Broyles for operating a near beer saloon without a permit. McNinch's defense was that he was a confederate veteran he could operate without a paid license or permit. The recorder ruled differently, whereupon McNinch appealed. Judge Ellis upheld the recorder's decision.

In brief, Judge Ellis ruled that all persons desiring to operate near beer saloons must register and obtain a permit. He held, however, that it is not within the power of the municipality to refuse to a confederate veteran a permit, provided he wishes to conduct his business at a proper place. This cannot be construed, however, to give veterans the right to conduct such a business anywhere they may see fit. For, if it was so construed, this would give them a right to run a saloon next to a church, school house or in other places which would work to the detriment of the community.

Booker Washington on the Negro.

From the Mason News.

Booker T. Washington, who is writing a series of articles in The Outlook on the negro, tells from his experience of the negro's life in slavery, and his story of the conditions in the south before the war is not at all in keeping with the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" view of it.

Among other things Washington says:

"There was a very great difference between the life of the slaves on the small plantations in the uplands and upon the big plantations along the coast. To illustrate, the plantation upon which I was born, in Franklin county, had, as I remember, only six slaves. My master and his sons all worked together side by side with his slaves. In this way we all grew up together, very much like members of one big family."

Slaves upon the larger plantations came less in contact with their owners and were less fortunately situated, but they had their compensations.

"On some of the larger estates in Alabama and Mississippi, which were far removed from the influence of the city, and sometimes in the midst of the wilderness, master and slaves frequently lived together under conditions truly patriarchal," says Washington. "But on such plantations was, as a rule, no overseer."

The following paragraph, as coming from the pen of a former slave, is chiefly interesting, not because it is new, but because of coming from such a source:

"The negro in exile from his native land neither pined away nor grew bitter. On the contrary, as soon as he was able to adjust himself to the conditions of his new life, his naturally cheerful and affectionate disposition began to assert itself. Gradually the natural human sympathies of the African began to take root in the soil of the new world, and then, growing up spontaneously, to shine about the life of the white man, by whose side the black man now found himself. The slave soon learned to love the children of his master and they loved him in return. The quaint humor of the negro slave helped him to turn many a hard corner. It helped him to excuse his mistakes, and by turning a reproach into a jest, to soften the resentment of his master for his faults."

No Oath Needed to Obtain Marriage License in Georgia

Following the story told in the Associated Press dispatches a few days ago of the Maryland young man who was sentenced to four years' imprisonment for falsifying as to the age of his sweetheart, the American Times-Recorder points out the fact that a Georgia judge is not apt to follow the example of the Maryland court, for the contracting parties do not even have to get the license in this state, as it can be secured for them by some one else. The ordinance has to depend on their being truthful in the matter, for they are not required to take oath as to the ages. Giving wrong ages is something that has not yet given any trouble in Georgia.

Cotton Will Sell Higher.

Dan Sully, the man who cornered the cotton market of the world a few years ago spent a day in Atlanta one day last week. Mr. Sully is making a tour of the cotton belt and is consulting folks who know something about the crop. He stated to a newspaper reporter that there would not be over a million bale crop when the world was calling for thirteen and a half million bales. He predicted fifteen and sixteen cents for short cotton within the next few weeks.

It is evident that the crop is short everywhere with the exception of a small strip down this way, and it is extremely doubtful whether there will be eleven million bales made or not—certainly not more than that—with the world crying for fourteen million bales. Eleven million bales will be wiped up and the price is bound to go up by leaps and bounds.

Take the exports from Savannah for instance. Never before in the history of that port has the new crop of cotton been grabbed up as rapidly as it has been for the past few weeks. Why, they are swiping every bale they can get their hands on. The buyers know what is ahead of them, and every bale they can buy at twelve and a half cents will be a saving of two cents per pound for them and a loss of that much to the farmer.

We do not know but the above are some of our reasons for believing that we will see fifteen cent cotton before many weeks.

Farmers Paying Up.

Mr. Wayne Parish, of Brooklet, was in town yesterday and stated that the farmers in his section were in the best fix he had ever seen them. They are depositing their money in the local bank, whose deposits are going higher than ever before in their history, and the farmers are taking up their October notes with a rush. A man connected with one of the Statesboro banks made practically the same statement a few days ago. He said he never saw so many October notes being paid in September in all his experience in the banking business. He stated that there was little or no demand for loans, and no one was asking to be called over. That sounds like the genuine article of prosperity to us.

Contradictions of Cook's Statements by Peary Brings Unlooked for Complications

Sydney, C. B., Sept. 19.—New light was thrown on the controversy over the discovery of the North Pole today on the arrival of the steamer Tyrian from Battle Harbor, where the correspondents learned from two members of Commander Peary's expedition that Dr. Frederick A. Cook had met them at Etah and had mentioned nothing of discovering the pole.

When Harry Whitney, George Norton and Larned went to Etah on the Erik, to bring provisions for Commander Peary, both Norton and Larned turned back. Whitney obtained permission from Commander Peary to remain at the Etah station. Commander Peary stationed John Murphy, boatswain of the Roosevelt, and William Pritchard, assistant cook of the Roosevelt, at Etah to guard the stores. Murphy, telling of his experiences at Etah, said to the newspaper men:

"Commander Peary told me to go ashore at Etah to guard the stores, which I saw taken from the Roosevelt and the Erik Pritchard was with me. Some time last spring a white man came into camp and Mr. Whitney told me that it was Dr. Cook. He did not stay long in camp and soon went away. Cook looked tired and worn out, and said he was hungry. I had an argument with him, as he claimed that some of the stores that we were guarding belonged to him. He only has two Eskimos with him and as his dogs were dead the doctor has to pull his own sleds."

Jury "Fixing" Charged to Them.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Bench warrants were issued today by Judge Jesse A. Baldwin, of the circuit court, for John J. Holland, member and secretary of the Cook county jury commission; Nicholas A. Martin, secretary to Alderman Kenna, of the first ward, and Willis J. Bayburn, a real estate man. The charge is conspiracy to draw names of grand jurors illegally.

Coming at the height of the trial of Inspector McCann, for alleged gratifying, the news of the action, based on alleged tampering with the jury lists, caused great excitement in legal and political circles. The complaints on which the warrants were issued were drawn up by a special agent of the state's attorney, who has been investigating the jury drawing methods for weeks.

When the warrants were issued, subpoenas were also sent out from the court for the production of all records documents and papers of the jury commission, which will be inspected in search of evidence against the accused men.

The state's attorney remained silent concerning the details of the allegations against the accused men, but in criminal court circles the action was regarded as the forerunner of a wholesale exposure of alleged conspiracies, which may have affected the drawing of other grand and petit juries.

Because of the sensational nature of the charges against Police Inspector McCann, who is accused of accepting hush money from disorderly houses in his district, a special case was believed to have been exercised in drawing the grand jury which indicted him and in selecting the members of the petit jury now hearing his trial.

Commenting on the issuance of the warrants and the cause of the dramatic action, State's Attorney Waymay said today:

"We propose to throw the light on the darkest hole in Cook county and clean out the jury commissioners' room, which is rotten. We have been working on this evidence for several months and when the evidence is produced there will be a complete reformation in the manner of selecting juries in Cook county."

Bayburn was the first of the three arrested and was shortly afterwards released on bonds.

Many people delude themselves by saying "It will wear away," when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy, and stop the drain on the vitality. It cures backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, and makes every trace of pain, weakness, and urinary troubles disappear.—W. H. Ellis Co.

Farmers' Union Hold Big Rally.

On Saturday Hon. F. S. Cowan, State Organizer of the Farmers' Union, addressed a large crowd of farmers and business men in court house. The building was well filled with the representative farmers of the county, and the address was liberally applauded all the way through.

Mr. Cowan gave a clear account of the aims and purposes of the Farmers' Union, and appealed to those who till the soil to identify themselves with the movement. He is a forceful speaker and his speech had a good effect on the large crowd present.

EMANUEL FARMERS ENJOY BIG RALLY

Three Thousand People Gathered in Swainsboro—Fine Addresses Made—Dinner in Coleman's Park.

Swainsboro, Ga., Sept. 18.—The Farmers' Union of this county held the biggest rally of its history today in Coleman's Park in this city. Early streams of vehicles began pouring in and each of the morning trains brought in its full quota of people to swell the crowd. By ten o'clock there were assembled at least three thousand people.

A stand had been erected for the speakers and singers and a few comfortable seats had been provided. After God's blessing had been invoked upon the meeting by Rev. I. K. Chambers, Miss Mae Dee Roberts rendered several piano selections, Mrs. A. D. Ferguson and Mr. Clifford Thompson some beautiful vocal selections.

Mr. Clifford Thompson, mayor pro tem, in a few happy remarks, extended a cordial welcome to the Farmers' Union and their visitors, State Senator W. R. Kemp then introduced Rev. S. J. Cowan, county lecturer, who spoke at length upon the need of education among the farming class. He made some appropriate remarks in regard to effacing the line of demarcation which is so well defined between the country and the town.

He showed how the Farmers' Union confirmed the epigram "in union there is strength," for as a body they were able to make demands which were acceded to by corporations as well as individuals, and were able to help each other more effectively. He said it was not the policy of the Farmers' Union to stay out of politics, but to be non-partisan in their aim.

Mr. T. L. Hawkins, of Union City, was next introduced. He gave a history of the Union, which he declared had only one purpose and that was to help solve many of the problems which confront the farmer. His remarks were listened to with close attention throughout and when he sat down his audience gave evidence of its pleasure in generous applause.

At the conclusion of the speaking a bountiful dinner was spread upon tables in the grove. One hundred and twenty carcasses had been barbecued and this with the numerous baskets would have furnished dinner for five thousand people.

Perjured Herself to Condemn a Man.

Rome, Ga., Sept. 18.—Declaring that she was driven by the lash of conscience to tell the truth after having perjured herself on the witness stand, where her testimony secured the conviction of Jack Worthington, a Bartow county farmer, to 20 years in the penitentiary on the charge of criminal assault, Rosa Elrod, the alleged victim, today made a sensational affidavit in which she says her story of the assault was a pure fabrication.

The girl, accompanied by her father, appeared today before a notary and the attorneys for Worthington and denied her whole story. She admitted having improper relations with Worthington, but said they were by consent and that he was engaged to marry her. Her father, J. S. Elrod, swore she made the same confession to him.

Both father and daughter declared that the false testimony at the trial was caused by threats of death to the girl, made by enemies of Worthington who had discovered his relations with the Elrod girl and wanted him lynched or jailed. Worthington's attorneys will use the affidavit in a motion for a new trial now pending in the appellate court.

Freeman Imagines Self a Dog

The condition of Marshall Freeman, the Bulloch county man who is now confined in the Chatham county jail on a charge of larceny, remains unchanged. He is a raving maniac, and it is with considerable difficulty that the authorities can keep any clothing on him at all. He imagines that he is a dog and insists that this is his status.

His brother went down to see him a few days ago and at first the unfortunate man failed to recognize his relative but later showed some signs that he knew him. This is the second time that Freeman has gone crazy, he was sent to the asylum from this county about eighteen years ago. He has been married twice, separating from his first wife who obtained a divorce from him about six months ago he married a Miss Mosely a daughter of the late E. C. Mosely living near this place.
