What Other Papers Say and Other Towns Are Doing.

The directors of the Harmony Grove Mills met in semi-annual session last Monday morning, and declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. The total dividend declared at this meeting amounts in round numbers to ten thousand dollars. This is a nice little sum to be distributed during the first week of the New Year. The mill is capitalized with $250,000.00 all home capital, and is one of the few mills that has not stopped a day since it was started, on account of adverse conditions. In addition thereto, the mill has always paid a 4 per cent semi-annual dividend. The plant is quite helpful to the city, as well as to the operatives, since the weekly payroll amounts to something like $2,500.00 every week. Dr. L. G. Hardman is president, and Mr. J. D. Barnett keeps the books, handles the money, and buys the cotton for the plant. Mr. Barnett has been with the mill so long and served it so efficiently, that he has come to be regarded as one of the mill's best assets.—Commerce Ga. News

There are now 101,435,674 persons in the United States, according to the latest census estimates, but we demand a recount. Bill Bryan, with homes in Nebraska, Washington, Florida, North Carolina and Texas, was counted in too often.—Macou News.

The Pioneer Land Company are already bringing settlers in to take over their property recently purchased from the John W. West estate.

Last week Mr. W. T. Atchley, a prosperous farmer from northern Alabama purchased four of their farm tracts and is coming overland with his live stock, shipping his household goods by rail.

Today M. G. Young, wife and five children arrived, also Mrs. Sarah J. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Harrel, who will immediately start operations on their farms which they purchased this afternoon.—Valdosta Times.

Douglas, the city of schools, is feeling good and looking gay with the pupils back and new ones entering. We are proud of our institutions of learning which bring boys and girls here to seek the most valuable of all human accomplishments, knowledge, that which cannot be taken away from anyone, once it is gained.—Coffee County Progress.

Georgia will have a chance to say at the next session of the legislature whether or not she wants a "eugenic marriage law" like that of New Jersey. Colonel Walter P. Andrews, Fulton county representative, was so impressed with the film presentation of the Briens drama, "Damaged Goods" which deals with the effects of terrible diseases, that he has announced he will introduce a medical certificate bill or "eugenic marriage law" at the coming session. The substance of the bill, like that of New Jersey, would simply be that the state would require a certificate of physical fitness before issuing a marriage license to anybody.—Athens Banner.

Whatever else occurs in the political situation in Baldwin county this year it is to be hoped that the people will put the stamp of approval of movements looking toward improving the rural conditions and giving the country people their deserved portion.—Milledgeville News.

Now that the holidays are over, New Year's passed and everybody sober it is time to get down to sober business again.—Swainsboro Forest Blade.

Certain streets in Milledgeville are getting to the point that they are a disgrace to the town. The streets referred to are not side streets either. No one would suspect that the citizens are taxed $6.00 per year to walk these streets, if they were to judge by the appearance of the streets.—Felfair Enterprise.

The scheme of Congressman Edwards to have the government build a military road from Savannah to Augusta has great merit and it can be classed as thoroughly in accord with the preparedness sentiment of the President. Our Congressman is far sighted enough to see just what an advantage it will be to have military

FORTY THOUSAND HORSE POWER

The large steam turbo-generator recently installed at the Waterside station of the New York Edison Company has a capacity of 40,000 horse power. It is large enough to furnish power for two dreadnaughts, or for several ordinary cities.

A turbo-generator is a steam turbine engine and an electric generator mounted on the same shaft. In plainer words it is a mechanical device to change steam energy into electrical energy so it can be distributed over copper wires to where it is needed for power and light. In order to realize the tremendous power of this particular turbine you must imagine 40,000 large trucks horse hard at work.

This tremendous piece of machinery is 57 feet long, 20 feet across and 14 feet high, and its vital parts are all protected by solid steel casting, giving it a total weight 957,000 pounds. Station No. 2, of the Waterside group, houses the new unit which was installed in the space formerly occupied by two turbines of smaller capacity. The machine was built especially for the New York Edison Company by the General Electric Company at the Schenectady works.

To members of the electrical industry it is known as a 30,000-kw. ten-stage, high-pressure turbine of the Curtis type. The set consists of a ten-stage, high-pressure turbine and a two-stage, high-pressure, double-flow, low-pressure turbine on the same shaft. Steam that drives the high-pressure blades exhausts into the low-pressure turbine, where whatever is left of its energy is utilized. From this chamber it exhausts into the condensed and becomes impotent water once more.

The turbine operates at 1500 revolutions a minute and the peripheral speed of the low-pressure buckets is more than nine miles a minute. Steam is supplied through 16 valves at the front of the unit, at a pressure of about 185 pounds to the square inch. The condensing system necessary to handle this tremendous amount of steam is of the surface type and it is estimated that there are about 50,000 feet of cooling space in the compact apparatus. The condensing is accomplished with river water through the assistance of a 75,000 gallon pump. But although this great machine is generating enough force to drive several large steamships, its operation is almost soundless. Aside from the soft hissing of the imprisoned steam, only a steady drone is heard.

After a hearty meal, take Doan's Regulators and assist your stomach, liver and bowels. Regulators are a mild laxative. 25c at all stores.—Adv.

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

Bad Habits

Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and have dinner at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should elapse between meals. If you are troubled with indigestion correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets, and you may reasonably hope for a quick recovery. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

And Mexico. Impossible to humanize until it is Americanized.

The new year brings us at least one relief. It is easier to write 6 than 5.

The annual number of Dun's Review is as full of valuable and authentic information as a hickory nut is of meat.

The Swainsboro Forest Blade was some flashy paper last week. It sported four colors—white, black, yellow and red and when it reached our desk it was read all over.

Epigrams of Gypsy Smith, Jr.: "You say a revival is temporary. So is a bath; but it does good while it lasts." "You're right, Gyp.
We sit next to a person on the train the other day who was sadly in need of a bath if not the other."

The callers and re-callers of Atlanta have kissed and made up, and they are all going to join hands and work the hot air pumps that for a time were out of commission thru the cold water doused on Atlanta in her political wrangle.

The G. O. P. and Progressives are going to show in Chicago on the same date—June 7th. This looks like consolidation of the two greatest shows on earth, with Geo. W. Perkins, general advance agent; T. R. chief lecturer and general manager, in a tour of America from Maine to California, presenting daily exhibitions of the Moose and Elephant in diversified ring performance.

Mayor Miller S. Bell of Milledgeville, in his annual message, hit the nail squarely on the head when he said co-operation was the key note of all progress.
That criticism would always be directed in some channels and to do means to be a target of talkers, and the way to do things is to do them while the talkers are talking. An unusual feature of Mayor Bells message was his reference to the moral tone of the city and her welfare.

Every county in South Georgia should follow the example of Lowndes and foster such concerns as the Pioneer Land Co. of Valdosta, who are just now busy soliciting new settlers and distributing them in family groups throughout Lowndes county where they will engage in scientific farming. Special inducements are being offered to intelligent white farmers and their families who are practically and scientifically capable of developing the lands of this company.
There certainly is no quicker method and no method more sane and substantial for community progress than what the Pioneer Land Co. is engaged in.

THE YEAR AHEAD OF US

In the parlance of the sport "it's up to us." 1916 is here and well on the road to whatever we make of it.
There is one thing we are sadly in need of and its closer community of interest; cooperation: getting together in a common cause for progress. We have a healthy young robust Board of Trade with a set of officers who have dedicated their individual services for a year to do anything that will tend to benefit the town and people as a whole body; what we want now is the earnest support of every member of the organization; not merely your few dollars dues paid promptly, but your efforts linked with your co-workers which will then become one vast 200 horse power pulling machine. Together as one body we can move a mountain, but a single strand, is like the shredded rope, a child can break it.

One of the most urgent necessities of the hour for Statesboro is an agriculture clearing house. We should take up at once and devise some method whereby a market can be established to take all the products of the farmer quickly and economically in small or large quantities. We have now idle a large warehouse suitable for such undertaking and all it needs is co-operation; a few men to get together and work out a plan to accept these products and assort and classify all, done under a practical Superintendent, in fact it would be nothing more than a local commission house excepting that from the small quantities one man might deliver, combined with all the others full car loads would daily be available for shipment.
It may take a little brain work, and a trip or two to some central market in order to put the scheme into practical working order, but it can be done if it is undertaken in the right spirit. We can materially benefit the town and our farming community if we begin right now to make it a year of production and prosperity.

There should be no ill bred strife among us. We should all be brothers and dwell together in unity for the common good of all.
We need a common ground for meeting, where neighbor greets neighbor and the stranger finds himself at home and among friends.
Let 1916 go down in Bul-loch history as one of a new kind, a banded together community with an imprint stamped upon it that will not be effaced.

Just connect a cane grinding mill with that three million dollar sugarcane to be built in Savannah, and the sugar cane that would be grown around these diggings, loaded on cars and shipped to Savannah would make a Wisconsin log train look like a one ox cart with a load of bean poles.

MACON TALKING PACK- ING PLANT

Under the caption, "Let's Have a Meeting," the Macon News of Jan. 6th has the following to say:
Mr. G. E. Knight, a prominent Bibb county farmer, is in the same predicament as scores of other farmers of this section—a dilemma which would be solved to their satisfaction and profit, as well as to the material advantage of Macon, by the establishment of a packing house here.

Mr. Knight states to The News that he now has on hand about sixty pigs and ten brood sows. If Macon had a packing house he would increase his annual production of pigs to about five hundred. This would mean more money for him, more for the merchants with whom he trades, and just that much added impetus to business in general.

The News does not ask pardon of its readers for editorially insisting on this subject, because we firmly believe that the matter is one of the most important with which it has ever been concerned. Beside, if the packing house is not established this year—if, indeed, work on it is not begun very soon —Macon will have lost its golden opportunity. Other towns in south Georgia are "talking packing houses," and that talk, as in States-boro, for instance, will materialize in several. Each one of them will draw from Macon's legitimate territory and market.

There seems to be plenty of enthusiasm on this proposition, but it has not been concerted. What is needed is a meeting, held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce or the Bibb County Agricultural and Dairy Institute, for the definite consideration of the matter.
A serious discussion by those who have already interested themselves may lead to profitable results.

The News again urges that some organization—some individual, if necessary—take the lead in securing for Macon a project which would inevitably become one of the city's most splendid assets.

KEEPING EVERLASTING-LY AT IT

The advertiser who keeps everlastingly at it is the one who gets results. This great advertising truth was proved most clearly and emphatically not long ago.
An advertiser who was just beginning to make his business known nationally decided to make himself famous at a single stroke. For more than $8,000 he bought two pages in one issue of a prominent weekly. He sovered the $8,000. It was a profligate use of big money.
He looked for big returns.
He waited. The harvest of customers did not come.
The reason was simple.
Those who did not respond to the big advertisement when they saw it, forgot to respond later, when the advertisement was not there

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, promoted it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C.
Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure.

to remind them. In this case a considerable sum of money went to waste. An announcement, naturally forgotten when it was three days old, was the sum and substance of the effort of the expenditure of that $8-000.

The better plan, the reasonable and workable, result-getting plan would have been to use the same money to place the advertising in quarter pages in the dailies of twelve or more large cities three times a week for, say, three weeks.
Six insertions might have been obtained for approximately the same money that went for a single announcement under the plan the advertiser erroneously adopted. Through the newspapers the advertiser would have reached more people and the people would have seen his advertisement six times instead of once. Newspaper advertising yields the surest and most profitable results.

J. A. BRANNEN

Not a Candidate for Congress

To my friends in Bulloch and in other counties, who for some time, have expected me to make a definite announcement as to whether, or not, I would become a candidate for Congress, I feel that the time has arrived for me to do so.

I deeply appreciate the kindness of my friends who have asked me to again make the race; but after mature reflection, I am brought to the conclusion that it would be a mistake for me to run.

First: I am persuaded that at my age, it would be a mistake for me to lay aside my business, and to venture out into the uncertain field of politics.

Second: It is said that "Conscience makes cowards of us all," and I must confess, that my political experience has made a political coward of me, as well as disgusted me with political methods, now, and in the past, in vogue: If I could make a race for Congress, by making an announcement in the public press, and go on about my business, and leave it to the voters to decide who they want, it would not be so bad; but we all know, that it would necessitate the laying aside of my business, and the spending of months in making the campaign through the counties of the district and the spending of thousands of dollars in a struggle to get the office.

Cotton Seed Meal contains about 2% actual potash (K₂O) and 2 1/4% actual phosphoric acid, besides from 7 1/2% to 8% ammonia.

Mixed with 16% acid phosphate it will insure a reasonably full crop for 1916.

Mother

(Charleston News and Courier)

Each day we're one day nearer to each other.

The space that lies between grows less and less.

Sometimes I almost seem to see you, mother—

Talmost feel again that fond caress.
Time was when I was careless of your keeping;

I thought to always have you by my side—

But Death was jealous—you have long been sleeping.

And my own life is on the ebbing tide.

It cannot be for long, for time is flying: I know that we shall meet beyond these years—

For death's dominion ends with earthly dying

And faith has brushed aside my doubts and fears.

If I can only live within the letter Of God's high law, which says: "Be good and true,"

Then death can only make me love you better.

For dying would be going home—to you!

GREAT BENEFITS FROM MRS. RICE NOW HOG CHOLERA SERUM

Records From Extension Division Georgia State College

The Extension Division of the Georgia State College of Agriculture Bureau of Live Stock have issued a remarkable record relating to hog cholera serum as conducted through the offices of the Farm Demonstration Agents. The following table shows the results obtained through the use of the serum as supplied in Georgia.

Results obtained through use of Hog Cholera Serum by Farm Demonstration Agents in Georgia. Number of hogs treated, 1975. Number of sick hogs treated, 3100. Number of well hogs treated, 27655. Total number hogs treated, 31055. Number of sick hogs died after treatment, 1490. Number of well hogs died after treatment, 307. Total sick and well hogs died after treatment, 1797. Percentage of sick recovered, 56 per cent.

Percentage of sick and well protected, 94.54 per cent. The above is an excellent demonstration of the value of Hog Cholera Serum and the usefulness of the Farm Demonstration Agent in aiding in the control of live stock diseases.

Such work as the above certainly has a great influence in the development of a profitable live stock industry.

W. F. Whitley is the District Agent for Bulloch county and contiguous territory with offices in the court house adjoining those of the County School Supt. Any information desired on this subject may be obtained from Mr. Whitley.

Why Some Contract Disease While Others Escape

Is Explained by Emory R. Park, M. D., Of the Georgia State Board of Health

Many people profess not to believe there are any such things as germs, regardless of the fact that germs have been proven by the most scientific tests to exist, but to produce disease and death as well. However, the number of people who are still doubting Thomas on the subject are steadily growing less. This diminution in the number of unbelievers being brought about in two ways. First, many of those who do not believe in bacteria are careless in regard to exposing themselves to them, and are, as a result, killed off by the germs. And second, as new germs arise they are being taught as they grow up that germs really do exist and that they are responsible for many of our human ills. Those who do not believe in bacteria advance as their principal argument the fact that they have often been exposed to contagious diseases and have not contracted such exposure. Again they say there is nothing in the theory that common drinking cups spread disease, for they have been drinking out of such cups for years and are not dead or even sick as a consequence. Those who advance these ideas lose sight of two things:

Many Pay the Penalty. First, that while they themselves may have escaped, many others have paid the penalty of such carelessness with their lives; and second, that while many have escaped so far their lives may yet be cut off at any time as a result of continuing to disregard the warnings of physicians in regard to avoiding unnecessary exposure. After contracting a disease the severity of symptoms will depend, first, on how much natural resistance still remains; and second, the degree of virulence of the infecting germ (for their virulence also varies under varying conditions); and third, how much the patient's resistance can be restored by the use of drugs, proper feeding, rest, and other forms of treatment. The inherent ability possessed to a greater or less degree by every person is known as natural immunity, in contradistinction to acquired immunity which accrues to a person after an attack of certain maladies (such as smallpox and measles) and in contradistinction to artificial immunity which can be produced against some diseases by the use of serums, vaccines and bacterins.

OWN YOUR CROP INSTEAD OF OWE IT

Food and Grain Crops Will Make Agricultural South Independent, Says H. G. Hastings

Atlanta, Ga.—(Special).—The credit system under which the agricultural south works and stays poor is analyzed in a striking way by H. G. Hastings of Atlanta, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the executive council of the Southern Fair. He does not mince words in talking about the situation. "Every season during the last fifty years," he says, "there has been trouble in the cotton belt whenever the crop short. Each time the cry of the farmer is that the farmers cannot pay their debts and the banks are not willing to loan them money because it is so absolutely unnecessary."

"A cotton farmer's debts are largely for food and grain, charged up against him on the merchants' books at two to three times the price that these same goods would cost if he had his own acres, and usually without serious interference with a crop of cotton as large as he now makes."

"The trouble is that most cotton farmers owe their crop instead of owning it when they harvest it. The credit way looks the easy way, but it strangles most farmers before they get through life. I have said repeatedly in public addresses that no state or section of any country can be prosperous that is so clearly dependent on another section for its food supplies. What is true of a state or section is true of the individual farmer."

"The great exhibitions of grain, hay and food products shown at the South Atlantic Fair held in Atlanta in November, give the lie to the statement that these things cannot be grown at home successfully and profitably."

"A good big home garden kept planted and right tended through the season will produce half of the living besides furnishing an abundance for canning or drying from the surplus."

"When we make our food and grain we will have few or no debts at the store, we will own instead of owe our crops when made, and farm wealth will be increased by the use of farm and crop mortgages."

Superintendent's Talks to Schools

On Subjects of Interest to the Teachers, Pupils and Patrons

A complete supply of school registers for all teachers are ready for distribution. Every teacher is required to keep this register in good shape to file with the superintendent when the school term ends for the information of the teacher who comes after you. Do not fail to get them while in attendance upon the teachers institute next week.

The first school to install a modern auditorium in this county is the Bradwell school. They have a perfect sanitary water supply system now for all the children. It did not cost very much and is a thing whose value is really unknown. Let other schools follow the example of this one. It will certainly be worth while. Another great addition being made by the Bradwell people is the installing of fifty modern single patent desks. They have sold the old double desks to a colored school and are replacing them with single desks. Bradwell still holds her rank at the top.

Prof. S. L. Coffee has commenced teaching the Martin school. It is expected that he will have to have an assistant teacher, as the school has grown so much in the last year or two that they are badly crowded with just one teacher. The school house is amply large enough to accommodate two teachers.

The Jims school opened with two teachers the 4th of January. Mr. Hodges and Miss Joiner are the teachers there. New single patent desks are being added to the equipment of this school.

The Habit of Taking Cold

With many people taking cold is a habit, but fortunately one that is easily broken. Take cold sponge bath every morning when you first get out of bed—not ice cold, but a temperature of about 90 degrees F. Also sleep with your window up. Do this and you will seldom take cold. When you do take cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of it as quickly as possible. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and uphold your strength. Scott's Emulsion is having thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL

An Amusing Incident in City Court This Week.

The old saying that you never can tell from the looks of a toad how far it can jump was literally illustrated this week in the grind of the city court. A culled geon who has been confined several days waiting the session of the court during which time he had possibly given the matter consideration to the degree that he thought he would be compelled to ask the court to assign him legal advice which in the course of the court procedure was done. The young attorney who was assigned to defend the negro feeling he would receive but meagre recompense for his service conducted the case scarcely expecting a favorable verdict but to his own surprise an acquittal was ordered and immediately the negro stepped up to the young attorney and handed him $25.00 of real money. The attorney whispered to the Judge to keep on appointing him to cases of that kind.

BOARD OF TRADE DELEGATION DEFER TRIP TO MOULTRIE

Unable to Get an Agreeable date—To Go Next Wednesday.

Owing to the inability of several of the interested people in Moultrie to be in their home city at the pre-arranged time of the Statesboro party who had planned to go Tuesday of this week, the trip was accordingly postponed until next Tuesday and they will be met in Moultrie on Wednesday, when every consideration will be shown them and an insight into the much discussed subject of the packing plant will be obtained. The promotion of a packing plant at Waycross, the one at Talladega and the proposed plant at Macon have seemed to draw forth from one or two sources in Moultrie a bit of fatherly advice. It's "Mine son, please keep hands off; I saw it first." These communications being sent out when the original promoters of the Moultrie plant became active in advising upon other localities entering in to the same industry a difference of opinion immediately arose between the secretary of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce and stockholders of the packing plant. When the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce advocated a plant at Talladega and one at Dublin or Statesboro he was opposed, and he urged that they were mistaken; that Georgia was buying forty million dollars worth of meat a year and that the plants elsewhere would cut off western meat and certainly promote live stock industry at home, and unless it were done farmers would certainly not continue to raise stock. The argument was advanced in Moultrie that the Talladega plant would interfere with Moultrie business in Montgomery and Birmingham, and a Statesboro or Dublin plant would cut off the Savannah trade and when the matter of personal interest in these other localities arose the Chamber of Commerce adopted the following resolution, which was made public: "It is the sense of this body that no more packing plants be promoted in South Georgia," for the reasons above stated. There then came the point where personal relations were strained and the fatherly advice proffered, and the secretary of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce resigned.

The fact is patent today that the Moultrie plant is not now able to take the hogs that are offered to it—not over twenty per cent—and a general howl is going up because of this, and the farmers there believe that it is not paying them the standard price, a belief largely induced thru lack of competition. It is certain that if sufficient plants are not established in South Georgia to take care of this great increase in hog production it will be quickly dwarfed. One packing plant in South Georgia would kill itself, where four would make the business.

That fatherly advice from Moultrie looks a bit like selfishness. What do they care how much Statesboro may lose on a packing plant or any other kind of a plant? The ring to it does not sound true and like an inspiration or any desire to save Statesboro, Talladega, Macon, Valdosta, Waycross or any other town. It doesn't jibe with the industry as conducted in some western states where they are ALL successful. Minnesota has twenty-seven individual plants; Kansas 25, Iowa more than twenty, and so has Missouri, and they are all rated successful by our great commercial agencies. One thing is certain; and that is that packing houses have made more millions in this country and has the greatest promises ahead for it. We can, at least, investigate without harm or injury. If it looks good and the people want it, they can have it. If they do not want it, it will not come. But—investigate. The mere letter of one man discouraging it cannot defeat it, if it is practicable and desirable.

No one can consistently dispute the fact that the community is sadly in need of it, and it has reached that degree of interest that it is going to be thoroughly investigated by a number of prominent Statesboro business men and Bulloch county successful farmers, regardless of efforts to discourage it.

MASSON'S ANNUITY HAS ASSETS OF OVER $800,000

Sent to Widows and Orphans

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—Following the important announcement of the Masson's Annuity as to the readjustment of its certificates, officers of the institution are working day and night in making the exchanges in the certificates, and now that the actuary has completed his calculations and a time limit fixed by the supreme lodge, others are required to decide by the 25th of the present month, which option they prefer.

Members are given the option until the 25th of sending in their present certificate and having a new one issued, calling for the same dues they have always paid; with the same death and disability benefits; with an annuity payment to the beneficiary for seven years at least, and so much longer thereafter as the available funds will pay it, but without the old age provision.

Or, if a member prefers, he can exchange his present certificate for a new one, carrying the same benefits it now provides, but with increase due to meet the standard required by the new constitution, recently announced.

The Masson's Annuity now has assets of $800,000 and the million dollar mark will soon be reached. Checks for more than $35,000 per quarter are being sent to widows and orphans of deceased massons with clock-like regularity. It is the oldest institution of its kind in America, and the only southern fraternal order founded in an endeavor to have the comfortable finished in time to come as a Christmas present and that he didn't have the heart to disillusion her about the need for such things in Haiti.

"But," he added in the note, just by way of encouragement, some time, when you're serving in Alaska, I'll get her send you a block of ice."

Encouragement.

Langston's Logic

THE OPTIMIST

He works, and wears a cheerful smile, although misfortune come the while, and though some days are dark and drear, his lips will sing a song of cheer, and through the clouds that dim the sky, he sees some star of promise nigh.

He seeks not poison in the flower, he hunts for honey every hour, in every plant sees beauty bloom, and from each weed extracts perfume. He sees some good in every man, in all God's works, some mighty plan, some beauty in the meanest face, some hope for all the human race.

He smells some fragrance in each breeze, in every landscape beauty sees, some music hear in every song, some rainbow hope the clouds among. For him the blond girl has charms, at least in round and dimpled arms, and if her mouth is full of gum, her voice sound like a kettle-drum, he seeks elsewhere some charm to spy, and finds it in her beaming eye. He looks for beauty, not for blots, upon the sun he sees no spots, and when this optimist shall die, he'll go to glory straight on high, and leave this epitaph behind, "He was the friend of all mankind."

BUSINESS DEPRESSION ENDED

James W. English, President 4th Nat'l Bank Says Splendid Year Ahead!

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—The recent annual meetings and reports of the leading banks of Atlanta show wealth and prosperity have returned to the south. The Fourth National Bank, which easily led all others, showed in its statement that on the first of the year it had deposits totalling $8,000,167.90. President James W. English, head of the Fourth National, is confident that the times of depression have definitely ended and that 1916 will be a year of splendid activity in Georgia and the whole southeast.

The prosperity shown by the condition of the big national banks of Atlanta is reflected, it is said, in the smaller banks everywhere throughout the section.

FRED GOT A WINTER BLANKET IN A TROPICAL CLIME

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Fearing the government did not provide sufficiently warm clothing for her favorite grandson serving in the United States marine corps, an elderly lady brought a fleecy, hand-woven comfortable to the local recruiting station of the sea soldiers and requested Sergeant George S. Fyrmore to forward it to him.

"Poor Fred may be shaking and shivering with cold just like the poor soldiers in Europe," she told Fyrmore, "and this comfortable will be just the thing. You'll send it to him, won't you?"

Sergeant Fyrmore assured the old grandmother that it would be a privilege and a pleasure to do so. But when he forwarded the package, to Port-Au Prince, Haiti, where the grandson is now serving, he enclosed a note explaining that the old lady had worked hard in an endeavor to have the comfortable finished in time to come as a Christmas present and that he didn't have the heart to disillusion her about the need for such things in Haiti.

"But," he added in the note, just by way of encouragement, some time, when you're serving in Alaska, I'll get her send you a block of ice."

Encouragement.
He—"I think your family name is such a fine one. Do you? I get dreadfully tired of it."

GEORGIA FARMERS

Adopting Book-keeping Methods—System Has Helped Many

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—Many Georgia farmers, it is said, are establishing a regular book-keeping system on their farms, entering all expenses and profits and activities just as if they were running a store or business.

In this way they know at the end of a year just what kind of planting was profitable and how much profit it yielded, while they can soon tell from the record where they are wasting energy and money.

WINTER CHAUTAUQUA AND ARTIST FESTIVAL

Feb. 21, 22, 23, and 24, Inclusive. Splendid Array of Talent

A committee composed of a number of the leading citizens of Statesboro, have closed arrangements with the Southern Chautauqua System of Gainesville, Fla., for what bids fair to be the most elaborate event of this section of Georgia. Recently Dr. George Seiden Waldo, president of the Southern System, was in the city and made mention of some of the celebrated talent his institution intends to present all over the state of Florida during the coming winter tourist season. As this field lies enroute to and from the city, a movement was at once started to have some of the Florida talent stop over in Statesboro as they return north from the Florida territory.

CHATHAM COUNTY SOLONS

Planning to Punish Savannah's Mayor—W. J. Pierpont Interviewed on The Subject.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—That he will enforce the new Georgia prohibition laws in Savannah where they go into effect next May 1st, and that the Chatham county delegation, who fought the prohibition bills in the legislature, are going to punish him, if they can, by putting through the next session of the legislature a bill removing him from office, were striking features of an interview given out by Mayor W. J. Pierpont of that city when sought by reporters during his recent visit to Atlanta.

"The prohibition laws have never been enforced in Savannah for the reason that the city and county governments are dominated by a political ring that is in league with the liquor interests," said Mayor Pierpont.

"The members of the Chatham county delegation in the house of representatives are members of this political ring, and so is the senator from the First district, Hon. A. A. Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence is the attorney of the local 'protective association' of saloon keepers in Savannah, which association was organized for the purpose of protecting its members in violation of the prohibition law and of furnishing a lawyer in case of prosecution. Probably the most active and most bitter enemies of the prohibition bills in the legislature last year were the representatives from Chatham and the senator from the First.

"The Chatham delegation thru the legislature a year or so ago an amendment to the city charter of Savannah that increased the term of office of mayor from two to four years. I found myself in the mayor's office then an act of Providence, my predecessor having died. As soon as the Chatham delegation discovered that I was going to enforce the prohibition laws they changed their minds about the term of office and prepared to introduce a charter amendment putting it back to two years. They are now writing letters to the members of the legislature asking them to vote for this bill next summer. The legislature may legislate me out of office, but as long as I stay in office the prohibition laws will be enforced. The best citizens of Savannah are with me, and the Chatham delegation are going to find this out before they get their bill thru."

Season tickets admitting to the entire event, will be placed at a most nominal price, thus affording everybody an opportunity to take advantage of the whole series. All details are in the hands of the local committee, whose purpose it is to promote the festival on the most liberal basis. Further information will be given in these columns as the committee's plans progress.

In speaking of the event Dr. Waldo said: "The people of this community cannot but appreciate the generous spirit that has prompted this committee to bring the festival to your town. The treat that is in store for your citizens cannot be appreciated until the festival opens. Then I am confident that your people will give them a rising vote of thanks. If they were to hear only Senator Gore, the great blind statesman, or this great Mozart Company of superb musicians, they would be repaid for their admission fee, but the other talent, though widely different, is of equal strength, and will make a program that has not been surpassed in the south."
