JOSHUA L. WILLIAMS ANNOUNCES

Candidate for Road Commissioner From 1523rd Dist.

In this issue of our paper Mr. Joshua L. Williams announces as a candidate for the office of commissioner of roads and revenues. Mr. Williams is a resident of the 1523rd district and has never sought office prior to this year and now offers his services simply because of his deep interest in the betterment of highways to which he feels that he can dedicate his time and energy. Mr. Williams has great hopes of the future for Bulloch county and is proud of the great progress that has already been made, and if his friends see fit to place him in the office he seeks it will be his aim to join with colleagues to continue along the progressive lines that are now in effect in the county. A large following of friends will doubtless come to the support of Mr. Williams from his district.

DR. J. E. DONEHOOD

Has Small Auto Put Out of Commission by Fire

Dr. J. E. Donehood came near losing his small auto one night last week when it caught fire while being used by J. P. Foy who was visiting at Dr. Donehood's. Foy succeeded in extinguishing the flames but not until quite some damage had been done and the car put out of commission making it necessary for him to do a marathon act to get back to town.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and uphold your strength. Scott's Emulsion is having thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL

An Amusing Incident in City Court This Week.

The old saying that you never can tell from the looks of a man how far it can jump was literally illustrated this week in the grind of the city court. A culled gent who has been confined several days waiting the session of the court during which time he had possibly given the matter consideration to the degree that he thought he would be compelled to ask the court to assign him legal advice which in the course of the court procedure was done. The young attorney who was assigned to defend the negro feeling he would receive but meagre recompense for his service conducted the case scarcely expecting a favorable verdict but to his own surprise an acquittal was ordered and immediately the negro stepped up to the young attorney and handed him $25.00 of real money. The attorney whispered to the Judge to keep on appointing him to cases of that kind.

The little four year old son of John May's while playing about the yard of Mrs. D. F. BOARD OF TRADE DELEGATION DEFER TRIP TO MOULTRIE

Unable to Get an Agreeable date—To Go Next Wednesday.

Owing to the inability of several of the interested people in Moultrie to be in their home city at the pre-arranged time of the Statesboro party who had planned to go Tuesday of this week, the trip was accordingly postponed until next Tuesday and they will be met in Moultrie on Wednesday, when every consideration will be shown them and an insight into the much discussed subject of the packing plant will be obtained. The promotion of a packing plant at Waycross, the one at Talladega and the proposed plant at Macon have seemed to draw forth from one or two sources in Moultrie a bit of fatherly advice. It's "Mine son, please keep hands off; I saw it first." These communications being sent out when the original promoters of the Moultrie plant became active in advising upon other localities entering in to the same industry a difference of opinion immediately arose between the secretary of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce and stockholders of the packing plant. When the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce advocated a plant at Talladega and one at Dublin or Statesboro he was opposed, and he urged that they were mistaken; that Georgia was buying forty million dollars worth of meat a year and that the plants elsewhere would cut off western meat and certainly promote live stock industry at home, and unless it were done farmers would certainly not continue to raise stock. The argument was advanced in Moultrie that the Talladega plant would interfere with Moultrie business in Montgomery and Birmingham, and a Statesboro or Dublin plant would cut off the Savannah trade and when the matter of personal interest in these other localities arose the Chamber of Commerce adopted the following resolution, which was made public: "It is the sense of this body that no more packing plants be promoted in South Georgia," for the reasons above stated. There then came the point where personal relations were strained and the fatherly advice proffered, and the secretary of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce resigned.

The fact is patent today that the Moultrie plant is not now able to take the hogs that are offered to it—not over twenty per cent—and a general howl is going up because of this, and the farmers there believe that it is not paying them the standard price, a belief largely induced thru lack of competition. It is certain that if sufficient plants are not established in South Georgia to take care of this great increase in hog production it will be quickly dwarfed. One packing plant in South Georgia would kill itself, where four would make the business.

That fatherly advice from Moultrie looks a bit like selfishness. What do they care how much Statesboro may lose on a packing plant or any other kind of a plant? The ring to it does not sound true and like an inspiration or any desire to save Statesboro, Talladega, Macon, Valdosta, Waycross or any other town. It doesn't jibe with the industry as conducted in some western states where they are ALL successful. Minnesota has twenty-seven individual plants; Kansas 25, Iowa more than twenty, and so has Missouri, and they are all rated successful by our great commercial agencies. One thing is certain; and that is that packing houses have made more millions in this country and has the greatest promises ahead for it. We can, at least, investigate without harm or injury. If it looks good and the people want it, they can have it. If they do not want it, it will not come. But—investigate. The mere letter of one man discouraging it cannot defeat it, if it is practicable and desirable.

No one can consistently dispute the fact that the community is sadly in need of it, and it has reached that degree of interest that it is going to be thoroughly investigated by a number of prominent Statesboro business men and Bulloch county successful farmers, regardless of efforts to discourage it.

MASSON'S ANNUITY HAS ASSETS OF OVER $800,000 $35,000 per Quarter Being Sent to Widows and Orphans Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—Following the important announcement of the Masson's Annuity as to the readjustment of its certificates, officers of the institution are working day and night in making the exchanges in the certificates, and now that the actuary has completed his calculations and a time limit fixed by the supreme lodge, others are required to decide by the 25th of the present month, which option they prefer.

Members are given the option until the 25th of sending in their present certificate and having a new one issued, calling for the same dues they have always paid; with the same death and disability benefits; with an annuity payment to the beneficiary for seven years at least, and so much longer thereafter as the available funds will pay it, but without the old age provision.
Or, if a member prefers, he can exchange his present certificate for a new one, carrying the same benefits it now provides, but with increase due to meet the standard required by the new constitution, recently announced.
The Masson's Annuity now has assets of $800,000 and the million dollar mark will soon be reached. Checks for more than $35,000 per quarter are being sent to widows and orphans of deceased massons with clock-like regularity. It is the oldest institution of its kind in America, and the only southern fraternal order founded in an endeavor to have the comfortable finished in time to come as a Christmas present and that he didn't have the heart to disillusion her about the need for such things in Haiti.
"But," he added in the note, just by way of encouragement, some time, when you're serving in Alaska, I'll get her send you a block of ice."

Langston's Logic

THE OPTIMIST

He works, and wears a cheerful smile, although misfortune come the while, and though some days are dark and drear, his lips will sing a song of cheer, and through the clouds that dim the sky, he sees some star of promise nigh.

He seeks not poison in the flower, he hunts for honey every hour, in every plant sees beauty bloom, and from each weed extracts perfume. He sees some good in every man, in all God's works, some mighty plan, some beauty in the meanest face, some hope for all the human race.

He smells some fragrance in each breeze, in every landscape beauty sees, some music hear in every song, some rainbow hope the clouds among. For him the blond girl has charms, at least in round and dimpled arms, and if her mouth is full of gum, her voice sound like a kettle-drum, he seeks elsewhere some charm to spy, and finds it in her beaming eye. He looks for beauty, not for blots, upon the sun he sees no spots, and when this optimist shall die, he'll go to glory straight on high, and leave this epitaph behind, "He was the friend of all mankind."

BUSINESS DEPRESSION ENDED

James W. English, President 4th Nat'l Bank Says Splendid Year Ahead!

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—The recent annual meetings and reports of the leading banks of Atlanta show wealth and prosperity have returned to the south. The Fourth National Bank, which easily led all others, showed in its statement that on the first of the year it had deposits totalling $8,000,167.90. President James W. English, head of the Fourth National, is confident that the times of depression have definitely ended and that 1916 will be a year of splendid activity in Georgia and the whole southeast.

The prosperity shown by the condition of the big national banks of Atlanta is reflected, it is said, in the smaller banks everywhere throughout the section.

FRED GOT A WINTER BLANKET IN A TROPICAL CLIME

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Fearing the government did not provide sufficiently warm clothing for her favorite grandson serving in the United States marine corps, an elderly lady brought a fleecy, hand-woven comfortable to the local recruiting station of the sea soldiers and requested Sergeant George S. Fyrmore to forward it to him.

"Poor Fred may be shaking and shivering with cold just like the poor soldiers in Europe," she told Fyrmore, "and this comfortable will be just the thing. You'll send it to him, won't you?"

Sergeant Fyrmore assured the old grandmother that it would be a privilege and a pleasure to do so. But when he forwarded the package, to Port-Au Prince, Haiti, where the grandson is now serving, he enclosed a note explaining that the old lady had worked hard in an endeavor to have the comfortable finished in time to come as a Christmas present and that he didn't have the heart to disillusion her about the need for such things in Haiti.

WINTER CHAUTAUQUA AND ARTIST FESTIVAL

Feb. 21, 22, 23, and 24, Inclusive. Splendid Array of Talent

A committee composed of a number of the leading citizens of Statesboro, have closed arrangements with the Southern Chautauqua System of Gainesville, Fla., for what bids fair to be the most elaborate event of this section of Georgia. Recently Dr. George Seiden Waldo, president of the Southern System, was in the city and made mention of some of the celebrated talent his institution intends to present all over the state of Florida during the coming winter tourist season. As this city lies enroute to and from the field, a movement was at once started to have some of the Florida talent stop over in Statesboro as they return north from the Florida territory.

The idea was brought to the attention of several of our progressive citizens, with the result that a contract was closed with the Southern system to give this community next February 21st to 24th inclusive, a four-day Artist Festival. Winter Chautauqua, with two sessions each day, afternoon and evening, picking from the Florida list of talent, the biggest and most elaborate attractions, such as our community could not hope to get unless, through some such arrangement.

The bringing of this event on the part of the local committee behind it, is not a money-making enterprise, but was entered into for the profit and pleasure of the community and the material benefit, such talent willing in furthering the progressive spirit of our town and county.

Season tickets admitting to the entire event, will be placed at a most nominal price, thus affording everybody an opportunity to take advantage of the whole series. All details are in the hands of the local committee, whose purpose it is to promote the Festival on the most liberal basis. Further information will be given in these columns as the committee's plans progress.

In speaking of the event Dr. Waldo said: "The people of this community cannot but appreciate the generous spirit that has prompted this committee to bring the Festival to your town. The treat that is in store for your citizens cannot be appreciated until the Festival opens. Then I am confident that your people will give them a rising vote of thanks. If they were to hear only Senator Gore, the great blind statesman, or this great Mozart Company of superb musicians, they would be repaid for their admission fee, but the other talent, though widely different, is of equal strength, and will make a program that has not been surpassed in the south."

Referring to recent slanders against Georgia, Mr. Walker denounced the outside yellow newspaper and space writers who had allowed the people at a distance to learn only one side of the facts without knowing the whole situation. Referring to alleged prejudice in Georgia against the Jews he called attention to a recent case where a jury had rendered a verdict in favor of a Hebrew against one of the most prominent families in the state. He mentioned the fact that a Jew has just been elected head of the most prominent commercial organization in Atlanta, and pointed to many Jews who are prominent and popular citizens in various parts of the state.

Georgia Farmers Adopting Book-keeping Methods—System Has Helped Many Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—Many Georgia farmers, it is said, are establishing a regular book-keeping system on their farms, entering all expenses and profits and activities just as if they were running a store or business.

In this way they know at the end of a year just what kind of planting was profitable and how much profit it yielded, while they can soon tell from the record where they are wasting energy and money.

Pottery Found in Nacoochee Valley Mounds.
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—It begins to look as if the time is not far distant when the national museums and Smithsonian institute will regard Georgia as the most fruitful of all states in the production of Indian relics of bygone days.

CHATHAM COUNTY SOLONS

Planning to Punish Savannah's Mayor—W. J. Pierpont Interviewed on The Subject.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—That he will enforce the new Georgia prohibition laws in Savannah where they go into effect next May 1st, and that the Chatham county delegation, who fought the prohibition bills in the legislature, are going to punish him, if they can, by putting through the next session of the legislature a bill removing him from office, were the striking features of an interview given out by Mayor W. J. Pierpont of that city when sought by reporters during his recent visit to Atlanta.

"The prohibition laws have never been enforced in Savannah for the reason that the city and county governments are dominated by a political ring that is in league with the liquor interests," said Mayor Pierpont.

"The members of the Chatham county delegation in the house of representatives are members of this political ring, and so is the senator from the First district, Hon. A. A. Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence is the attorney of the local 'protective association' of saloon keepers in Savannah, which association was organized for the purpose of protecting its members in violation of the prohibition law and of furnishing a lawyer in case of prosecution. Probably the most active and most bitter enemies of the prohibition bills in the legislature last year were the representatives from Chatham and the senator from the First."

"The Chatham delegation thru the legislature a year or so ago an amendment to the city charter of Savannah that increased the term of office of mayor from two to four years. I found myself in the mayor's office then an act of Providence, my predecessor having died. As soon as the Chatham delegation discovered that I was going to enforce the prohibition laws they changed their minds about the term of office and prepared to introduce a charter amendment putting it back to two years. They are now writing letters to the members of the legislature asking them to vote for this bill next summer. The legislature may legislate me out of office, but as long as I stay in office the prohibition laws will be enforced. The best citizens of Savannah are with me, and the Chatham delegation are going to find this out before they get their bill thru."

The spear head is of a light greenish stone, and is about four inches in length, tapering and pointed, with three notches on each side of the edge, in such a way that if the spear once penetrated the body it could hardly be withdrawn without inflicting a fatal wound.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1916

Real hog killing weather.

Carrazza proclaims Villa an outlaw. We wonder what else he has ever been, and there are a lot more of Mexicans on whom Gen.
Carrazza might safely wish the same proclamation.

The Carnegie Commission has made its annual awards for heroism, naming seventeen recognitions, and we don't see our name mentioned after successfully rescuing a Ford from the junk heap.

If Uncle Andy Carnegie is really planning to separate himself from the remainder of the millions he has laying around in order that he may die poor, we extend to him a cordial invitation to drop into Statesboro and we'll give him a royal welcome with open arms and pockets, and we won't say a word about the color of the money, it may be green or gold, and we'll put the tint on it in a packing plant.

Speaking of preparedness: Machine guns are among the most deadly instruments of warfare.
Of these, the United States has available in this country not to exceed 150. Germany has over 100,000 with other countries in proportion. Think it over!

Prosperity has been slow in returning, but it is hitting the high places at last. From all parts of the country come reports of renewed activity. Factories are resuming operations on full running time; industries that have lain dormant for years are springing up again; labor is in demand everywhere, and gold is pouring into this country from abroad in an endless stream. It is the history of this country that following a period of depression comes a long period of prosperity, and all the reports indicate that the prosperity of 1916 will be the greatest we have yet known.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT

There are numberless thriving towns in the First congressional district that are taking on new and aggressive methods and rapidly forging to the front with ideas of city beautifying and city progress that tends to attract the new comer or the man who is out looking for the opportunity to invest where climate conditions the year round are such that life is worth the living, and right in this neighborhood is where this may be found.

Sandersville has just completed the installation of a "White Way" around her public square and it has been so favorably received by the business houses that they are considering extending the system throughout the entire commercial district. Stillmore is another small town that has installed a "White Way," and is inviting attention to the opportunities offered there. Statesboro should get a move on herself and light up the four business streets and the court house square with a handsome set of cluster lights and then proceed to pave the same section, and we would then have the next biggest asset to the packing plant that could be brought about toward real civic progress.

HOW PEANUTS PAID A COTTON DEBT

We had related to us a few days ago an interesting incident of how peanuts paid a debt created by King Cotton.

The scene was in the southern portion of Alabama, where the boll weevil had gotten in its work.
The truthfulness of the incident, as we are informed, is verified by Mr.
H. J. Keller, of Hogansville, who went to the man in question and investigated the statement previously made relative to the matter.

A man by the name of Wilson owned a farm not far from town. He had made two cotton crops which left him in debt. He was two years behind in his rations bill and the supply merchant refused to stake him for another crop.
The store man finally consented to furnish him for the year in question. After the crop was pitched the merchant asked the farmer how his cotton crop was coming on. The farmer replied that he had no cotton.
"What?" replied the merchant. "You have no cotton, then how in the world do you expect to pay me, what have you got?" "Peanuts, hay and other food stuff.
I want to sell you my peanut crop at nine cents per pound." The merchant agreed to this proposition.
At gathering time the farmer began hauling in his peanuts to the merchant.
After several loads had been brought in the store man asked the bookkeeper how much more was due on the farmer's account. The bookman replied, "only two more dollars due on the years account." The merchant instructed the clerk not to take any more peanuts. The farmer brought in two more wagon loads of peanuts and upon being informed of the instructions given by the merchant not to take any more peanut, insisted on the trade he had made for the sale of his entire crop and the merchant bought the remainder of the goobers. The farmer after placing a wire fence around his farm had five hundred dollars left in the bank as clear profit.

The business men of the town in question built a mill for the output in that section.
So much impressed were Mr. Keller and several other business men of Hogansville, that they have decided to buy several car loads of peanuts and sell them to every farmer of Troup and the western section of Meriwether who will plant a crop of peanuts.
The editor of the Vindicator has not seen Mr. Keller but this peanut story is told us by a gentleman who talked with him and obtained the information herein given.

The hogs from which we get the famous Smithfield hams of Virginia are fattened by peanuts. As a food

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was considered to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies and the consumer failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Halls Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One hundred that Halls Catarrh Cure fails to cure.

for hogs, goobers are unexcelled. Men eat them and there are bi-products which bring a rich profit.

The editor of the Vindicator is not a farmer and he does not profess to have any great agricultural learning.
He believes the inclination among many to treat lightly the boll weevil peril is a dangerous mistake. The experience of farmers in those sections infected by the pests should be taken as a warning of the damage which may be wrought.
The loss of a cotton crop at this time from the insect would prove a fatal disaster to this section. The only way to hedge against the threatened danger is to plant food stuffs and other things which may bring in money. The time is coming when the south will have to raise something else and it is a mighty good time to begin the experiment. The farmer who lives at home will never perish. The one who lives from the graneries of the west is bound sooner or later to feel the pangs of hard times.—Meriwether

FARM DEMONSTRATORS

The Telfair Enterprise and a county commissioner of that county are having a go at one another over the value, expense, and merit of the prof. farm demonstrator; and are coming right close to personalities.
Judging the subject from a comparative standpoint of the papers editorial, and the commissioners letter, the paper stands for "Enterprise". There is no discounting the value of the professional farm demonstrator as now available thru the assistance of the U. S.
Government. Bulloch county did not hesitate a moment when the opportunity was offered during the summer to secure a demonstrator whose headquarters was located in Statesboro to work in cooperation with the First District Agricultural College. In fact our demonstrator is in charge of a district and he has been very active in installing demonstration stations in adjoining counties with much success. The great majority of the farmers of the south have given but mighty little study to the science of farming, not alone the tilling of the soil but animal industry as well. If there is any one part of these great United States that can profit in her agricultural resources through the study and application of scientific methods, it is our own southland. The work of the farm demonstrator coming proven by scientific research and his work in connection with rural schools, en educational privilege. If the Telfair county commissioner could but realize the great service of this bu-rean's work he would not hesitate at the expenditure of a few hundred dollars, because it will return a thousand-fold to his farmer friends, who would in the end erect an everlasting monument of gratitude to his memory.

MILITARY BILLS
There may be a little jockeying in this matter of national preparedness legislation and the measure for supplying the money.
"Let's see how much money they are going to need," say the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, "and then we will see just how we will raise it."
"Let's see how they are going to raise the money for their program of preparedness," say leading Republicans, "and then we can see what we will do in the way of voting for increasing military expenditures." If both sides thus hold off it is expected that the whole program will go over until long into the session, perhaps until near election time. There are Democrats who do not want to vote any more taxes until after the elections.

Looking For Taxable Subjects.
Meanwhile the members of the ways and means committee are looking for taxable subjects. Nearly everything is being put into the hopper. One suggestion has been a tax on newspapers and periodicals by way of increasing the rate they pay for second class carriage in the mails. An estimate from the postoffice department has been received by the committee showing that from $600,000 to $8,000,000 could be raised in this way.
"I don't know whether we will do anything about it or not," remarked one of the leading members of the committee, "but the newspapers and magazines have been among the foremost in promoting the necessary preparedness, and it seems only fair to make them pay a part of the taxes necessary for such preparation."
Is Reclamation a Failure?
Great hopes were entertained by people of the far west when the Hane-brough-Nowlands law was enacted providing for irrigating the arid lands of the west. But now doubts are expressed about its success.
"I say with sorrow," said Senator Fall of New Mexico, speaking in the Senate, "that the reclamation policy of the United States is an absolute failure."
He went on to explain that the cost was too heavy for the settlers on the lands reclaimed to bear. "No man can pay $85 per acre for water and live," he said. "It may be in our Socialist state some fifty years hence that people will cultivate one, two and three acre tracts, where the wife and even members of the family will work all the

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid ex-posure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.
Rheumatism is caused by poisonous uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The poison of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity.
In damp and chilly, cold weather the pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid. The uric acid accumulates and circulates through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.
At the first twinge of rheumatism get into a hot bath, put a tablespoonful of Epsom salts in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and gets down from the acid of grapes and lemons, which combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pure and effective lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Want to Hear Chamberlain.

Since Senator Chamberlain of Oregon made his American speech in New York he has created a demand for other speeches. There seem to be a lot of people in different parts of the country who like to hear him. Chamberlain hit Great Britain rather hard and he does not hesitate to say other things along the same line.
"Scratch a true American deep enough," he remarked the other day, and you will find an anti-Briton. It is because Great Britain has outdone us in every diplomatic negotiation we have ever had with her."

California Delegates.

A remark was made about the absence of William Alden Smith from the Senate, and a Michigan man said:
"William Alden has been handicapped as a presidential candidate because it is said he has no strength outside of Michigan. I would not be surprised to learn that he is out in California now for the purpose of taking some of these delegates away from Illinois Johnson."

Will Lead the Delegation.

It is expected, in fact, almost certain, that Senator Lodge will for a fifth time be the head of the Massachusetts delegation to the Republican national convention. It is a place he has had in every convention since 1868, and he did not go because his personal relations with Roosevelt and his political relations with Taft made it impossible for him to take part in the contest. "I shall go and do all I can for Senator Lodge," remarked Lodge when speaking of the coming convention, "although I have felt that I had served my time at national conventions."

National Anthem.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota would have the "Star Spangled Banner" made the national anthem by law. There is no objection, although common sense and usage have already accomplished that result. When a whole audience will rise and stand at attention as the air is played it shows the general feeling.

Cleansing of Salad Plants.
Too much food cannot be excreted in the cleansing of pot greens and salads. No one wishes to make a gravel bed of his stomach, and a careful looking over should be given to the greens and also to the washing of them to get rid of dirt and especially any invisible infection, this particularly in the case of watercress which grows in a creek and is often taken into the house that may be polluted by sewage or lettuce and celery grown in truck gardens and watered with any water that happens to come handy. Fertilizers, too, have to be taken into account, and the most thorough and painstaking care to clean all such plants should be an invisible rule. When vegetables come into the house they should not be allowed to remain in the hot kitchen, but at once set in a cool place. If you have a good ground cellar that is best. If only a stuffy flat that wrap in linen or paper bags made for that purpose and put in the freezer.

Eliminates Odor.
When taking berry pies, if the juice runs over place another pie tin half full of water on the oven shelf directly under the pie.

The overflowing juice drops into the water instead of on the oven bottom, and you have no smell of something burning and no oven to clean.

This is also good when you are making endless potpies and, in fact, for anything that boils over in the oven.

Jumping the Rope.
At first my feet feel very light.
My yellow curls bob with delight.
The rope seems lifting me to dance—Along its length I skip and prance.
I hear them counting, "Fifty-five."

Cheap Protein for Farmers.

By Dr. A. M. Soule

The problem of the dairyman has ever been to supply his cows with protein in a cheap and abundant form. Theoretically, this may be accomplished by growing an abundance of legumes. In practice it fails to work out, for while the average farmer may have supplied himself abundantly with silage as the principal form of roughage, there are very few who have these materials produced on the farm, a point is soon reached where the cow cannot consume a sufficient amount of roughage to supply the protein needs of her body therefrom, because although she has a very large and ample digestive system, protein in the form of roughage is not concentrated to anything like the degree which prevails in cotton seed meal. Thus while it is advisable to use legume hay, it is not practicable to substitute it for concentrates rich in protein.

Milk Falling Off

At this season of the year large numbers of letters are received from dairymen complaining about the falling off in milk flow and wondering how they can counteract this tendency. The trouble is attributed, for instance, to the lactation period, a bad quality of forage and a deficiency in silage. Sometimes the herdman is believed not to feed or water the cows with regularity and indeed this is often true. Sooner or later, however, the primary cause of this trouble lies in the deficiency of protein in the silage. The silage of protein in the great majority of cases fed to cows. This is a wide-spread defect is shown by the testimony of the silage which has been analyzed to the effect that the addition of two pounds of cotton seed meal a ton to the ration of a dairy cow which had previously received corn alone resulted in a surprising increase in the flow of milk. The silage had received besides the grain, timothy hay and a small quantity of alfalfa. The silage was in the south, timothy hay and alfalfa are being purchased and fed as roughage at an excessive cost when something else, like hulls, root or cotton seed meal, would be just as well, provided the roughage is properly supplemented with an abundance of protein in a concentrate like cotton seed meal.

Cheap At A High Price

The conclusion reached in Mississippi, namely, that "in spite of the many things that have combined to raise the price of cotton seed meal this year, it is probably the cheapest concentrate to buy for the purpose of improving and balancing up a ration for dairy cows, compares remarkably with our own experience, judgment and observation. It appears from the figures presented that this statement is based on a cost of $25.00 and upwards per ton for cotton seed meal. Therefore, farmers living in the southeastern states where cotton seed meal is abundantly produced and has always been sold at a reasonable price when its food and fertilizing value is considered, should have no difficulty in amending and adjusting their rations so as to greatly increase the flow of milk. The silage of protein in the great majority of cases fed to cows. This is a wide-spread defect is shown by the testimony of the silage which has been analyzed to the effect that the addition of two pounds of cotton seed meal a ton to the ration of a dairy cow which had previously received corn alone resulted in a surprising increase in the flow of milk. The silage had received besides the grain, timothy hay and a small quantity of alfalfa. The silage was in the south, timothy hay and alfalfa are being purchased and fed as roughage at an excessive cost when something else, like hulls, root or cotton seed meal, would be just as well, provided the roughage is properly supplemented with an abundance of protein in a concentrate like cotton seed meal.

In this connection, it is perfectly plain that protein in corn would be still more costly than to buy it in the form of cotton seed meal. The farmer should be encouraged to grow all the protein he can and should utilize leguminous crops to that end. As a matter of fact, the element which will be able to produce this element for much less than the price at which it can be bought in cotton seed meal.

These facts have been quoted to show that by virtue of the local situation the southern dairyman is in position to balance up his ration in the element which is generally most deficient at a more reasonable cost than can be accomplished in other sections of the country. These facts about cotton seed meal even at the unusually high price now prevailing is still the cheapest and most efficient source from which to derive protein in the ration of dairy cows.

PRESENT FERTILIZER SITUATION

Is Subject of Circular by Hon. J. D. Price, of the State Department of Agriculture.

To the Farmers of Georgia: The present fertilizer situation is, perhaps, the most serious that has ever confronted you. It is complicated by two things: The scarcity and high price of potash, which makes its use as a fertilizer practically impossible, and the unusually high prices of practically all materials entering into the finished goods.

Cotton seed meal has advanced 50 per cent in price, because of the high price brought by cotton seed this season; acid phosphate is selling at more than double the price of one year ago, because the manufacturers of powder have bought up all the available sulphuric acid. Naturally, the manufacturers and mixers who have to pay so much more for their materials, must increase the price of the finished product to the consumer, or they would be unable to make it at all; and the result is prices which are going up out of all reason, and that, too, for a mixture that contains little or no available potash.

This absence of potash has presented a very serious problem to this department in the matter of constraining the laws of Georgia so as to properly protect your interests, and at the same time, doing no injustice to the manufacturer or mixer. It is my purpose to render a decision in this matter in the next week or ten days—a decision which shall be just as far as it is possible to make it, as between all the interests concerned. You will be duly apprised of the department's action in the matter, and it will be of interest to you, and it will be of interest to you.

For the present, replying to inand how much. You know what it will do without any fertilizer at all.

You must, therefore, use your own knowledge and your own judgment as to how far you will go in using fertilizers at the present prices; it is simply a business proposition—a question of investment and return.

I have been asked for a statement as to the use of lime in the soil. I have gone into this matter with the state chemist, Dr. R. E. Stallings, and am presenting to you his views on this subject, based upon careful study:

"The application of ground limestone to most of our Georgia soils will result in material benefit. It should be used, preferably, preceding the growing of leguminous crops, because these crops do not thrive in acid soils, but it would be of undoubted benefit for most other crops. The amount to be applied should be from 1000 pounds to four tons to the acre, depending upon the acidity of the soil.

"The principal beneficial effect to be derived from the use of ground limestone is the improvement in the physical and bacterial condition of the soil, which may result in largely increased productivity. Even should it not increase the fertilizing element in the soil to any great extent, the benefits indicated would be sufficient reason for its use.

"The finer the limestone is ground, the more quickly will be its beneficial effects. It should be purchased on the percentage of lime it contains."

Superintendent's Talks to Schools

On Subjects of Interest to the Teachers, Pupils and Patrons.

The annual teachers institute for the year 1916 is now history. It was, probably, the most interesting institute ever held in the county. Every teacher seemed to be highly pleased with the very able way in which Prof. Martin conducted his work. Prof. Martin paid the teachers quite a compliment in saying that they were about the most appreciative body of teachers he has ever had to conduct an institute for, and the teachers complimented Prof. Martin by feeling and saying that he made his work the most interesting and instructive of any institute work they had ever attended. We hope to have Prof. Martin with us often.

Including the new steel frame desks for the principal's room, about $550 have been expended in painting and repairing the school building. Of this amount $280 have been raised, and there is still a deficit of $270 which the principal expects to raise in the near future by some kind of entertainment at the school house.

Patrons and friends of the school are cordially invited to visit the school at any time. Lectures will be given every Friday afternoon by the principal upon some subject of interest.

Devotional exercises—by Prof. J. H. St. Clair.
English Grammar—by Prof. J. C. Langston.

How to Get Children Interested in Class—led by Miss Lula Warnock.
Industrial Work in the Rural Schools—by Miss Ruth Proctor.

Arithmetic—by Prof. L. D. Rashing.
Only one session will be held. Will meet at 10 o'clock in the court house. Checks for the teachers will be ready on that date.

Practically all the teachers while attending the institute purchased globes for their respective schools. This is a needed equipment and no doubt will be of great help to the teachers in their work. Quite a number of them are making arrangements to install the bubble sanitary drinking fountains which will enable them to do away with the public water dippers which are usually the cause of the spread of all contagious diseases. Our teachers are making improvements in their several schools to the extent that it will be only a short time before we can qualify every school under the standard as set by the state as an ideal school system. We have the best farmers in the state and the best schools. We can, and we must have. Let us keep the spirit of school improvement going steadily forward.

The Stilson school has recently purchased single patent desks. This school is being taught by Mr. J. J. Zetterower, Jr., and he is doing some excellent work there. They are planning to make further improvements in the near future. Stilson has a splendid school building and with needed equipment it will be one of our best schools. Let us push it to the front.

The special examination will be held on the 19th of February, beginning at 8 o'clock a. m. All teachers who are to stand this will take notice and be here on time. The colored teachers also must take this examination on the same date. Remember the date; get busy and be prepared.

The Newcastle school will be treated to a new coat of paint right soon. The new room will be opened immediately and everything made ready for this school to meet the requirements for standardizing. Newcastle has always been one of the good schools of the county, and this section has given us many of our best citizens.

Aaron High School

The school enrollment is now 180; the third largest in the county.

The painting and repairs have been completed, and the school building is now a "thing of beauty."

On Wednesday the school was visited and inspected by Superintendent B. R. Oliph and State Superintendent J. O. Martin, who expressed themselves as much pleased with the renovation and transformation of the school environment and the school interest.

Mr. Oliph took kodak pictures of the building and of the 113 pupils present.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.
To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Put in a small bottle and use with a brush. Gradually darken strands of faded gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not clog the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.
