WHEN YOU THINK OF HARDWARE THINK OF RAINES

MRS. MAMIE HALL GAINS 19 POUNDS.

Was Sick In Bed For Eleven Months And Only Weighed 96 Pounds.

Still another comes forward and adds her voice to the hundreds who have already indorsed the wonderful medicine, Tanlac. Mrs. Mamie Hall, who lives at 805 Fourth Avenue, South Nashville, says she suffered for years and that the trouble was finally pronounced cancer of the stomach. She also states that she had fallen off as a result of the trouble until she weighed only 96 pounds, but that she now weighs 115, a gain of 19 pounds.

"I had a bad form of stomach trouble," said Mrs. Hall in relating her remarkable case to a Tanlac representative, "and had suffered from it for years. I lost so much flesh and was so weak that I was confined to my room and bed for eleven months and my head ached so bad I could hardly stand it at times."

"Yes," she continued, "They actually had to prop me up in bed to take a drink of water, as I just couldn't help myself at all. I lived on malted milk and Graham crackers. The steady pain in my chest made me afraid I had lung trouble and my head ached so bad it seemed like it would burst."

"About a year ago I was taken to the hospital, the doctors saying I had cancer of the stomach. I was so nervous all this time that the slightest noise would almost drive me mad, and the pains in my back hurt me so I hardly ever got a night's rest."

"My husband was terribly out of heart about me, as the doctor said nothing would save me but an operation. We had spent a lot of money for medicines and it seemed like nothing would do any good."

"Well, sir, I happened to see a piece in the paper about Tanlac, and it told about a woman in Louisville that was suffering just exactly the same way I was. I begged my husband to let me try it, but he would get it if I wanted it. So he got a bottle and we kept it a secret from the doctor."

"That was the best thing I ever did in my life, for I began to feel better and gain weight with the very first dose. I had gone down so I didn't weigh but 96 pounds, but now, after taking four bottles, I weigh 115—five pounds more than I ever weighed in my life."

"I now feel strong and well and can do all my house work. I can eat anything—why I actually ate a tomato after I had been taking Tanlac a week, and that's something that never would agree with me before. I have no more of those terrible pains and I am doing fine in every way."

"I got a letter yesterday from my husband at Chattanooga, and he said he had taken two bottles of Tanlac and was doing fine. I am going to Chattanooga Sunday, and I will sure take a bottle of Tanlac in my grip. This medicine just about saved my life and kept me from having to have an operation."

"Yes," she continued, "you can print it. I want every body to know about it. I don't think folks ought to be so modest to prevent all the suffering they can."

Surely this is a most convincing case of suffering and distress being alleviated by the use of a stomach corrective and tonic which relieves the condition that gives rise to so many different symptoms of deadly diseases. It is not claimed that Tanlac alone produces flesh.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO PACKING PLANT COMING SLOW

Temporary Board of Directors Becoming Discouraged

For some unaccountable reason our farmer friends are mighty slow to make up their minds about coming up whole heartedly and assisting pro rata with their subscription to the stock of the Bulloch Packing Plant Co. Many of the Statesboro committee who have freely given their time to the detail work of this campaign and have made several trips to the various districts have met and talked with practically all of the leading farmers all of whom frankly acknowledge that the plant will be a great thing for the community but state that they will have to think about it for a while before subscribing.

Facts Are Known
With all the FACTS that have been laid down before all of our people for the last six months about the great advantage of this industry and the few men who have liberally subscribed, it appears nothing short of sheer distrust extended for any man to hesitate to at least frankly state YES or NO as to his willingness to help. These men cannot afford to cavort their time to a dozen trips calling on those who are abundantly able to assist in this enterprise. All they want to know is a YES or NO answer and in the course of a few weeks they will be definitely known if the project is possible for Bulloch county. The 120th district is yet in arrears of its assessments and this enterprise is to be made a GO DEFINITE decision must be arrived at quickly.

TAKE ROOSEVELT SAY THE MOOSE.

Republicans Will Refuse.
Washington, Dec. April 4th (Special). Quite a number of Republicans are convinced that Roosevelt is really a candidate for the Republican nomination. In fact, they know from their talk with leading Progressives that these men will be at Chicago with a considerable show of strength and with a demand that Roosevelt or some one named by Roosevelt shall be nominated by the Republicans; otherwise Progressive opposition is threatened.

As it happens down now it means Roosevelt, for these same Progressive leaders feel that they have assurance that when it comes to close quarters Justice Hughes is going to make it plain that he will not allow his name to be used in connection with the nomination. With Hughes out the Roosevelt list is narrowed to Johnson of California and perhaps some other man who will not be possible for the Republicans. The upshot of it all will be "Take Roosevelt or we will not support your nominee."

Will Not Be Nominated.
The best guess now is that Roosevelt will not be nominated by the Republicans. The anti-Roosevelt men control the national committee. They are going to see to the election of delegates who will not go to Roosevelt. They have two reasons. One is that they do not believe he can be elected, and the other is that they don't want him elected.

Enjoying Surprises.
Congressman Scott of Michigan found a report signed by Martin Madden of Illinois in which he had favored a certain road proposition, but Madden had just made a speech on the opposite side. "His remarks were somewhat surprising to me," said Scott. "Of course, having been a member of this congress only fifty days, I realize that I have not enjoyed all of the surprises that await me."

Floppers as Leaders.
When Martin Dies of Texas made his speech on floppers and added an interesting word to the political literature of the day he read from a newspaper a paragraph saying that Mann had become the real leader of this most important movement for national defense. Dies showed what Mann's previous attitude had been and said: "Thereby all previous floppers are relegated to the rear. And this is made the true slogan of leadership: He who makes the latest flop shall lead us all."

"Adequate" a Compromise.
We are not going to have the word "adequate," as applied to the navy, accurately defined by the legislation of

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION IN ATLANTA

To Be Held June 13th, 14th and 15th

On account of the disastrous fire in Augusta it was practically impossible for that city to entertain the State Sunday School Convention which has been advertised for May 2nd, 3rd, and 4th. After a meeting of the Augusta Committee their Chairman, Dr. J. R. Sever, telegraphed Mr. John J. Egan, President of the Georgia Sunday School Association, requesting Atlanta to take the Convention.

About sixty of the leading pastors and superintendents of Atlanta came together in a meeting March 30th, and after discussing the matter it was unanimously decided to have the Convention in Atlanta. As the time was too short to make arrangements for holding the meeting on the May dates, it was decided, after a conference with the officers of the Georgia Sunday School Association, to change the dates to June 13th, 14th, and 15th. Atlanta is getting ready to entertain two thousand delegates.

GOV. NAT. E. HARRIS ADVOCATES MILITARY TRAINING.

Raise Your Boy To Be a Soldier.

Atlanta, Ga., April 5th.—The words of the popular song "I Did Not Raise My Boy To Be a Soldier" may be changed in Georgia. Although no Georgians believe that the trend of militarism is more than an imaginary danger in the United States, many of the leading citizens have urged military training. Here is what Hon. Nat. E. Harris, governor of Georgia, has to say on the subject.

"In view of the situation in Europe, I believe that every young man should have military training. This is not an advocacy of militarism, but of patriotism and common sense. I know of no better way by which young men of Georgia can get such training than through the Georgia National Guard."

Odd Hair Styles.
Some of the New England people do their hair up in a bunch on the top of the head and stain it yellow, while the inhabitants of the Omaha islands pass it all through a tube, so as to make a kind of plume. The Marquesas chiefs favorite method is to shave all the hair except two patches, one over each eye, where he cultivates two horns of hair. No doubt this is to render him more a thing of terror to his enemies than admiration to his friends. His reason for shaving the rest of the head is to allow more space for tattooing, as if all the available skin of the body were not enough for decorative purposes.—London Standard.

Republicans Can't Complain.
"We can't complain," said Congressman Stearns of Minnesota, "when we see the Democrats reverting themselves upon the question of national defense. They are doing what we have advocated and are really playing into our hands."

Ten Years' Restriction.
Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts, who will do his utmost to put through the immigration law with its literacy restriction provision, would go much further than that if he could secure favorable action. "I would like to see ten years of absolute restriction," said Gardner, "and we could then see what would be the effect."

EX-GOVERNOR SLATON SPEAKS IN BOSTON

Makes Impressive Address and Opens Eyes of New Englanders

Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—Former Governor John M. Slaton, of Georgia, in a speech in Boston, Mass., a few days ago, spoke of the resources of his native state, which according to reports, opened the eyes of New England people. Georgia has already begun a nationwide campaign to advertise its resources, and the speech of the former governor has been recorded as one of the big hits of the year.

A few extracts of the speech carries information which even Georgia and her sister states would like to know.

"My state is the largest east of the Mississippi river," declared former Governor Slaton. "It has every climate of the United States, save the Arctic."

"From North Carolina comes the marble that built the Capitol of Minnesota, the Memorial Hall of Kansas, the Corcoran Art Gallery of Washington and the Girard Trust Building of Philadelphia."

"In Lumpkin county may be seen the mines from which the government obtained its entire supply of gold prior to its discovery in California in 1840."

"Within sixteen miles of Atlanta is the largest single mountain of granite on the face of the earth."

"The United States census accredits the agricultural resources of Georgia with being fourth in value among the states. The governor stated that enough cotton was produced two years ago to allow one bale to each man, woman and child within the state. Wheat production has increased in five years from $370,000 to $5,000,000. The oat crop alone has trebled from six million bushels in five years to seventeen million. The Georgia apple took first prize at the fair in Oregon. The peach ranks with the watermelon as the best of the world's fruits and solid trains carrying these products from Maine to California. Brunswick is the largest crostie market in the world."

The interests of the policy holders are protected by the Supreme court from the expense of further menacing litigation, while the International Life insurance company undertakes, under the supervision of the Georgia department, to return profits to the policy holders and protect them against further losses. The case has been in the courts for two years.

The Georgia insurance department has satisfied itself that the International Life is fully capable of carrying out promptly all its obligations and is skillfully managed. The International has $7,000,000 in assets and $55,000,000 of outstanding insurance and about $1,000,000 of capital and surplus. It is estimated that fully 99 per cent of the policies of the Empire, now in force, have been transferred to the International Life with immediate assumption of liability by that company. Officers of the St. Louis company are now in charge of the affairs of the Empire at what is known as Atlanta's station building.

The W. J. Raoul Foundation of Atlanta, through its executive secretary James P. Faulkner, now in charge of work in Georgia, has endorsed the plan for federal aid for state work.

Bryan Will Not Oppose Wilson.
On the authority of a number of leading Democrats I can say that Bryan will not oppose Wilson's nomination, nor will he oppose his re-election, notwithstanding the one term plank in the Baltimore platform. One hope which the Republicans had was a split in the Democratic party, Bryan leading his faction in revolt against the president. If what these leading Democrats say is true there must be some understanding which Bryan has not yet decided to make public.

Roman Sugar.
Honey was the only sweetening ingredient known in Europe till the last days of the Roman empire, when sugar was introduced under the description of "an Indian salt, in color and form like the common salt, but in taste and sweetness like honey." It came with the spices and other rarities brought by oriental traders, but nothing was known of the production of sugar until the eleventh century. The crusaders learned to like it, and the taste which they encouraged was soon partly gratified by the Arabs and Moors, who planted sugarcane in Rhodes, Cyprus and Sicily and afterward in Spain and Portugal.

Fielding's Tomb at Lisbon.
Lisbon has at least one strong link with England in the tomb of Henry Fielding. The author of "Tom Jones" says the Westminster Gazette, went to the Portuguese capital in search of health and failed to find it. Lying there on Oct. 4, 1754, and getting a last resting place in the English cemetery, where a monument has been erected to his memory.

The voyage out took the sick man fifty days of foul weather and the city when he reached it failed to please him. "All looked beautiful at a distance," he wrote, "but as you approached nearer all of beauty vanished."

REV. J. M. HAYMORE

Now Conducting the Revival at First Baptist Church Speaks in Glowing Terms of The Moultrie Packing Plant

"Yes: I can truthfully say that the Moultrie Packing Plant was the greatest blessing that could have been given our town and community. It has done more to bring happiness and prosperity to our farmers in that section than anything that might have been promoted probably more financial success than anything else that could have been started."

"Before the packing plant was established Moultrie was like any other country town depending exclusively on cotton, merely at a standstill. Now we have the bearing of a real city. A packing plant is an all year round money crop for the farmer; by that I mean he can bring a load of hogs any day in the week and sell them to the plant and gets his cash for them, and when many farmers can do this and ear loads are coming to the place daily that means a large amount of money turned into various channels in business daily."

"I cannot probably more intelligently or truthfully portray its benefits to us as a people than to say that in the fifteen months that the plant has been in active operation we have paved our streets, we have a splendid white way, hundreds of strangers are in the town every day spending money, and only a few days ago we started to build a $30,000 to build a new Y. M. C. A. building and in three days canvass we raised $31,000. I understand since leaving there that it is over-subscribed by fully $6000 this speaks more forcibly of the benefits of the packing plant to our community than anything else I can say and I sincerely hope that your people will succeed in promoting one here."

STATE INSURANCE DEPARTMENT WINS VICTORY

Supreme Court protects Empire Life Policy Holders
Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—Another victory has been won by the state department of Georgia, which was sanctioned by the Georgia Supreme court, in the reinsurance of the Empire Life Insurance Co. by the International Life of St. Louis. There are about 30,000 Empire Life policies outstanding and lapsed in the states of Georgia, Alabama and Florida, perhaps 15,000 citizens of Georgia alone being affected by the Georgia Supreme court opinion.

The interests of the policy holders are protected by the Supreme court from the expense of further menacing litigation, while the International Life insurance company undertakes, under the supervision of the Georgia department, to return profits to the policy holders and protect them against further losses. The case has been in the courts for two years.

Combining Nitrogen Carriers

By Dr. A. M. Soule.

Is there any objection to combining different nitrogen carriers? This constitutes one of the questions most frequently asked by correspondents. Therefore, it seems well to elaborate on this subject for the information of our farmers. There is, of course, no objection to combining different materials which furnish nitrogen in a commercial form, provided the combinations are made on a proper basis and in a manner best calculated to supply the deficiencies of the soil and the needs of the crop to be grown thereon.

In considering this matter, it is important to remember that there are two classes of nitrogen carriers, known, first, as inorganic, and second, as organic. Roughly speaking, the materials which would be classed as inorganic are nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, calcium cyanamid and calcium nitrate. Those materials classed as organic would be cotton seed meal, dried blood, tankage, fish scrap and nitrogenous guano. Of course, certain other materials are available and are used to supply nitrogen, but the quantity is relatively small, and frequently they would be regarded as of local interest. As an example of this class we might mention castor pomace, a by-product obtained in the manufacture of castor oil.

Summary of Source.
A brief summary of the sources from which the above materials are obtained will now be presented. Nitrate of soda, used largely as a top dresser, is derived from mines located in Peru and Chili in a practically rainless country. The nitrogen is very readily soluble in water. This material contains from 15.5 to 16 per cent of available nitrogen. Sulphate of ammonia contains the highest per cent of nitrogen of any carrier of this material at the farmer's disposal. It is a by-product of coke ovens and gas works. It contains about 20 per cent of available nitrogen. Calcium cyanamid is a manufactured form of nitrogen. It is made from calcium carbide which can be manufactured cheaply in large quantities wherever electrical power is available at a reasonable cost per horse power. At moderate temperatures calcium carbide combines with the atmospheric nitrogen, forming what is known, therefore, as calcium cyanamid, a compound containing 18 per cent of available nitrogen. Calcium nitrate is manufactured by electrical process also. This is accomplished by passing air through highly heated arcs, thereby combining the nitrogen and oxygen, and when this is absorbed by water and lime, calcium nitrate is obtained. It contains about 13 per cent of nitrogen. It ranks with nitrate of soda but contains lime in the place of soda.

Cotton Seed Meal a Home Product.
Cotton seed meal is a home produced product, is fairly rich in nitrogen, and therefore a good fertilizing material. It contains from 6 to 7 per cent of nitrogen, about 2.5 per cent of phosphoric acid and 1.5 to 2 per cent of potash. Cotton seed meal ranks close to dried blood in availability. When applied before seeding may be relied upon to feed the crop throughout its period of growth. It is one of the best forms of organic nitrogen. Dried blood is a by-product of slaughter houses. When dried by hot water it retains its red color and has a high per cent of nitrogen, ordinarily about 14 per cent. When dried by compressed steam, it is often charred, and constitutes a lower grade of material on that account. It decomposes rapidly in the soil and provides a quickly available nitrogen. Tankage is very variable in composition. It constitutes the refuse of abattoirs and slaughter houses and contains quite a mixture of materials. The nitrogen content varies considerably and ranges from 8 to 12 per cent. Tankage also contains from 2 to 12 per cent of phosphoric acid. It does not decay quite so readily as some other organic materials, but is a good source of nitrogen and phosphoric acid. Fish scrap, as the name indicates, is most abundant along the sea coast and consists of ground and dried waste from fish houses. It contains from 6 to 8 per cent of nitrogen, and a good source of phosphoric acid. Nitrogenous guano is derived from the rainless regions of South America. It consists of the dejecta and bodies of fish-eating birds, and varies widely in composition. It is an excellent source of nitrogen, and to some extent of phosphoric acid as well.

Combining Nitrogen Carriers Effectively.
In combining nitrogenous carriers the following points should be kept in mind: First, it is practical to combine a quickly available nitrogen with an intermediate acting form of nitrogen. This combination will be valuable for truck crops. Second, a quick acting and slowly available form, relatively speaking, may be combined, the idea being to furnish more uniform supply of this element throughout the growing season. Combinations of this character will be valuable for such crops as sugar cane, tobacco and long season crops like potatoes. For field crops and intermediate and relatively slow form of nitrogen can often be combined to very good advantage. Suggestions as to combinations which might be made from the above materials are as follows: First, nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia might be combined with cotton seed meal; second, nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia might be combined with cotton seed meal, blood and tankage; third, blood or tankage might be combined with cotton seed meal.

Cotton Seed Meal a Basis.
If cotton seed meal is used as the basis of the formula, the amount to incorporate in a ton mixture will vary from 600 to 1000 pounds. For instance, 600 pounds of cotton seed meal, 100 pounds of nitrate of soda and 100 pounds of sulphate of ammonia would make a very good formula. Six hundred pounds of cotton seed meal and 200 pounds of blood or tankage could also be used to very good advantage. It will be seen that an endless combination of these materials is possible. The reason why the farmer will determine the kind and amount of nitrogen which can be used with advantage the present year. Several of the materials mentioned above are exceedingly scarce due to the continuance of the European war. The farmer will therefore not be in position this year to secure as great a variety of nitrogen carriers as in some other seasons, but he should not hesitate to use organic nitrogen if he finds the inorganic forms difficult to secure.

SOME POULTRY NOTES.

The wing feathers of young chicks frequently grow so fast as to weaken them. Particularly is this so with the smaller breeds of fowl. Some poultrymen pluck out these long feathers, but there is danger of weakening the chick by this method, for they are apt to bleed. The better way is to clip the tips of the wing feathers when the chicks are about ten days old. This will send the strength back to the body.

Variety of feed always brings the best results, and if the hens are not doing what they should toward filling the egg basket a change of food will remedy them of their duty. Mate the pens as early as convenient will permit in order that the birds may get acquainted with each other, all "scrapping" be over and the eggs be fertile when wanted.

Thousands of young chicks are killed by the mistaken kindness of poultrymen who insist upon feeding them during the first few hours after they break from the shell. Do not feed until they are from seventy to seventy-two hours old. Keep them in their brooders until that time, and let them remain there for at least another day after the first feeding.

Weeds should not be permitted to grow in the poultry yard. If there are weeds the young fowls get wet from the morning dew and after. It is important to keep the fowls dry.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald. Be prepared. Thousands rely on Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil. Your druggist sells it. 25c and 50c.

Some married couples get along so sweetly that it is a nice day dorey would know that hubby was a liar. The reason why they call the garments they wear around the house wash dresses is probably because the garments always look as though they needed one.

There is no official time for the ending of the honeymoon. The honeymoon ends when hubby quits running all the time home as soon as he gets through work.

Once upon a time a doctor told a man that he should limit his drinking to a little whiskey before each meal. And the next time the doctor called he discovered that the man was eating twenty-four meals a day.

Doesn't it get your goat when you pull and haul and tug at a window in a railroad passenger coach and can't induce it and then a little 2 by 4 brakeman who wields about 105 pounds comes along and raises the blame thing with his little finger?

You will never know how much precision and want and poverty there are in the world until you make a round of your acquaintances and try to borrow a ten-cent.

We all know that our neighbors would get along much better if they only knew as well as we do what is best for them.

Boy Scouts Honor Anniversary.
Nearly 150,000 boys, members of the 7,575 troops of the Boy Scouts of America, assembled in special troop meeting on the evening of Feb. 8, in honor of the sixth anniversary of the incorporation of the boy scout movement in the United States. Promptly at 8:15 o'clock every scout stood at attention and repeated the scout oath:

On my honor I will do my best—
1. To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the scout law.
2. To help other people at all times.
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

URIC ACID IN MEAT BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says a little Salts in water may save you from dread attack.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine.

When the pores of the skin are shut forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Here you have a pleasant effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Cotton Facts and Comments

On Monday, for the first time since February 11, middling upland cotton sold above 12c. in the local market. At the outset of the week spot values were also higher at some southern centers, there being an advance of 12 points at Memphis.

As measured by the Census report, the Department of Agriculture came close to the mark when it estimated the crop exclusive of linters, at 11,161,000 bales of five hundred pounds last December. The Census figures, issued this week, showed 11,183,182 bales.

Renewed talk of peace and continued drought in Texas were strong bull cards in the early trading this week. Many people confidently predict an electrifying advance in cotton when the war ends, or when the end is definitely in sight.

If not a few quarters it is regarded as likely, if not reasonably certain, that the South, with cotton selling around $60 a bale, will considerably increase the average this spring. According to the Department of Commerce, $7,226 bales of cotton were exported from the twelve principal customs districts of the United States during the week ended March 18 against 87, 813 bales in the previous week.

The difference between May and July is narrowing, and it is the belief in the trade that a deal under way which will result in May going about July.

Spot sales at Liverpool are in reduced volume, being only 5,000 bales on Tuesday.

A Servile House of Lords.
When King Henry VIII's name was spoken in his presence in the house of lords every peer prostrated himself with Asiatic servility. An entry in the records of the house gives the substance of a speech delivered by the chancellor on Jan. 16, 1541, in which the king's goodness and wisdom are extolled, and it tells us that whenever his majesty was mentioned, "which happened often" all the lords prostrated themselves, bowing to the ground as one man.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.
To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not run off.

Safe Medicine for Children
"Is it safe?" is the first question to be considered when buying cough medicine for children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has long been a favorite with mothers of young children as it contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. It is pleasant to take, too, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. This remedy is most effective in relieving coughs, colds and croup. Obtainable everywhere.
