

5-18-1916

Statesboro News

Notes

Condition varies. Some pages missing or in poor condition.

Originals provided for filming by the publisher.

Gift of Statesboro Herald and the Bulloch County Historical Society.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues>

Recommended Citation

"Statesboro News" (1916). Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues). 4917.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues/4917>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Bulloch County Historical Newspapers at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues) by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

WHEN YOU THINK OF HARDWARE THINK OF RAINES

James Salyer Killed

At Johnson City, Tenn.—Brother of A. L. Salyer of Statesboro Bakery and Formerly Employed Here. A telegram was received Tuesday by A. L. Salyer, of the Statesboro Bakery, that his brother, James, who had recently been employed here at the bakery, had been killed. There was no further information, Mr. Salyer inferring that he met death in his duties in connection with his work in the R. R. yards where he was employed. Mr. Salyer left at once for his home at Johnson City.

Cottie Got Caught

Cottie Williams, porter of the Bountree hotel, got hooked by Policeman Mitchell's line Tuesday night by foolishly biting at a marked piece of money for which he gave up a pint of "kicker." Cottie is now in jail bemoaning his fate.

It is said that he carried on an extensive business in wet goods as a side line to his dry and dusty duties of sweeping porches and side walks.

Mothers Day

To Be Appropriately Observed in Statesboro Churches

Next Sunday special and appropriate services will be held at the Methodist and Baptist churches in honor of "Mothers Day." A general and earnest invitation is extended to strangers who may be in the city that day to attend these services. As is the custom if Mother Dear is living wear a colored flower and if she has passed to the unknown beyond, wear a white carnation. It is the national emblem of mother.

New Hardware Store

Attention is called to this issue to the advertisement of Balfour and Melvin who have purchased the hardware business formerly conducted by George Rawls. The Messrs Balfour & Melvin are young seasoned men in their business calling having been connected with Balfour Hardware Co. of Savannah which fact is an assurance that they are entirely familiar with their chosen calling. Mr. and Mrs. Balfour are preparing to move in a home being prepared for them on North Main street and Mr. Melvin will for the present remain at the Jacksonville. Statesboro welcomes the young men to her business and social life.

Judge Thomas L. Hill

Of the City Court of Millen and J. R. Roach Attorney of Statesboro Form Partnership.

Announcement is made that a partnership has been formed between T. L. Hill, Judge of the City Court of Millen, and J. R. Roach of Statesboro. Judge Hill is very well known in Statesboro, having a number of times presided in Bulloch County. Plans for the further direction of the firms law practice have not yet been fully decided upon but it is expected that Judge Hill will eventually reside in Statesboro but until January he will reside in Millen.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition. For all such children we say with unmitigated earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. Emulsion is concentrated form of the very best elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol. Scott & Bower, Blooded, N. J.

Gains Twenty-Three Pounds on Five Bottles

Tanlac Changed Me From a Nervous Wreck to a Healthy Woman," Says Mrs. Burgess

"When I told my husband I wanted a bottle of Tanlac he said 'you might as well throw your dollar out in the street, but if you want to try it I will get you a bottle.' He did get it, and when I had finished taking it he went straight to the drug store and got another bottle, for he saw the wonderful good it had done me, was convinced it was a grand medicine, and was mighty glad to pay out another dollar." Said Mrs. G. R. Burgess, of 214 Second Street Birmingham.

"Since I began taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Burgess, "It looks like every time I look in the mirror I am heavier, and, no wonder, for I went from 85 to 108—a gain of twenty-three pounds. It took just five bottles of Tanlac to do this for me. Besides, it changed me from a sick, run-down, worn-out and nervous wreck into a healthy woman, and I now feel like living."

"Really I had gotten so weak I couldn't hardly lift a scuttle of coal to the fireplace. My kidneys were all out of shape; I was too nervous to sleep and my stomach was all out of order. I was in this very condition three long years. I was losing ground every day, and lost weight until I was almost a living skeleton. I had almost despaired of ever seeing a well day again, for no kind of medical treatment seemed to help matters in the least. Finally, I got practically helpless."

"If any body would have told me there was a medicine on earth that would increase my weight twenty-three pounds I would have thought them crazy, but as sure as I am alive today, Tanlac did it for me—and only five bottles at that. 'It looks like every day I am stronger and feel better. I have a good appetite, and enjoy everything I eat. Before I began taking Tanlac I couldn't eat hardly anything without becoming nauseated. I sleep sound and am rid of nervousness. My kidneys both are no longer. To tell the truth I don't feel like the same person at all since Tanlac straightened me out.'"

"Yes, Tanlac is the greatest medicine on earth," said Mrs. Burgess, "and who entered the room during his daughter's conversation. 'If you could have seen my daughter before she began taking Tanlac you would not believe it was the same person who you see sitting there. She was just about played out. I just came by the drug store, and knowing her Tanlac was out I bought her this bottle. If her appetite picks up much more she will come pretty near eating us out of home and home. I guess she has starved long enough, and it does me a lot of good to see her eat heartily.'"

Tanlac is sold exclusively in Statesboro by W. H. Ellis Co., and in Metter by Franklin Drug Co., in Brooklet by H. G. Parrish.

Dr. N. S. Osteopath, who will be in the city on Tuesday May 16th attending the Suffragette Convention at the auditorium, besides being one of the foremost female doctors in the United States is also something of a poet. One of her poems appearing in a recent number of a popular magazine is quoted below, and expresses better than any number of words can, the innermost thoughts of a wonderful woman. Listen to the tender sentiment expressed in the following lines which were written upon the occasion of the death of her fifth mother-in-law:

"Mary had a Thomas Cat,
It warbled like Caruso;
A neighbor swung a baseball bat,
Now Thomas doesn't do so."

They Do It Elsewhere, Why Not in Bulloch

The merchant puts his name or the name of his firm before his door for the information of the public, the blacksmith puts the name of his shop where those who seek may know where to find him and his business. The doctor puts his name before his office door. The lawyer has his sign protruding so that all may see.

Not one of these is of more importance than the farmer. No home is more appealing than that of the farm home. The farm home is to be and now is the most attractive of all homes. Probably no county in Georgia can boast of more attractive farms and farm homes than can Bulloch County. We all now realize these facts. What Bulloch county farmers lack, they are ready to get to keep them at the head in all matters that pertain to keeping our county modern and up-to-date. Name your farm and place that name where it can be seen.

A Dutch proverb "Paint Costs Nothing," has proven to be a true one. Most of the farm homes in Bulloch have already been painted, but you can with but little cost add a great deal to the appearance of your home by white washing, and here is a receipt gotten out by the government for you that is dependable and cheap:

Half bushel of unsacked lime, slack with warm water, cover during the process to keep in the steam, strain the liquid through a sieve or strainer; add a peck of salt, previously well dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stir id boiling hot, half pound of powdered Spanish whiting and a pound of glue which has been previously dissolved over a slow fire, and add five gallons of water to the mixture; stir well and let it stand for a few days, keeping covered to exclude dirt. It should be put on hot. One pint of the mixture properly applied will cover a square yard. Small bishes are the best. There is nothing that can compare with it for outside or inside work and it retains its brilliancy for many years. Coloring matter may be put in and made of any shade—Spanish brown, yellow, ocher or common clay.

During the summer time that is now about to dawn upon us, we will find ample time in which to make use of this most excellent receipt and you will never have cause to regret it. For fear you will lose this receipt, cut it out now and paste it where it can be found when you need ready to use it.

We are all farmers and we want our vocation to stand right in the front and it will if we will carefully attend to these little civilduties that cost but little and are worth much.

Again, let us urge that you select a suitable name for your farm and fly your colors. It will benefit you and will give many others information that will indeed be helpful. Let us do it now.

L. W. Williams W. H. Cone
J. M. Mikell J. A. McDougald
T. J. Cobb P. M. Hendrix
J. A. Brannen Paul B. Lewis
B. R. Olliff F. D. Olliff

NEWS WANT ADS

BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word
in Advance.
Minimum Charge 15 cts.

For Sale, For Rent, Lost and Found, Rooms and Board, Help Wanted . .

Loans Loans of $20,000.00 and on up negotiated on well improved farm lands in Georgia. No loan to large to handle provided. The Security is all right. If you desire, we will be glad to have Representative call on you. Communicate with Frank Scarborough, Tifton, Georgia. Phone 18. 4-24-14-15

For Sale Pure bred hogs for breeding. Get ready for the packing plant. Consult W. H. Hicklin, Southern Breeders Sales Co., Columbus, Ga. 4-27-14-15

Notice This is to notify all people not to trade for property offered for sale by Mrs. C. Bourland without first consulting the undersigned. C. A. Bourland. 4-27-14-15

Wanted Would like to communicate with parties owning a small mill and desiring to contract the logging and sawing of their timber at its present location. Address P. O. Box 506, Statesboro, Ga.

Wanted Fresh country butter for delivery in Savannah, Ga. Address Statesboro News.

Wanted To lease some lands for cattle raising; give location, acreage, and price. Address "Cattle," care News.

Lost Tuesday afternoon in Statesboro one ladies small size black velvet change purse, containing soda water checks, C. A. Bourland, and about $10.00 in currency. Finder will please deliver to Trappell-Mikell Co., and get reward.

For Sale We have plenty of guano on hand. If you need any see us E. A. Smith Grain Co. 5-11 ind c.

Wanted Any time. E. A. Smith Grain Co. 5-11 ind c.

Statesboro Churches

Baptist
Rev. J. F. SINGLETON, Pastor.
Services each Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.
Morning Subject: "The Lord's Table."
Evening Subject: "Character Portrayed in Clothing."
The Christian Recorder will be observed Sunday morning hence a full attendance of the church is desired.
The public is cordially invited to worship with us; strangers particularly will find a welcome.

Methodist
Rev. J. B. THRASHER, Pastor.
Preaching every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.
Morning Theme: "Honor Thy Father and Mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which thy Lord thy God giveth thee: Exodus 12:20. Appropriate for "Mothers Day." Appropriate songs by the choir, quartet, and solo by Mrs. Sharpe.
Evening Theme: "Buy the Truth and Sell it Not, also instruction and understanding." Prov. 23:23
Every body cordially invited to hear both of these services.
Sunday-school, 9:30 p. m., large crowd expected.
Missionary Society, Monday, 8 p. m. Prayer-meeting, Wednesday, 7 p. m.

Presbyterian
Preaching first and third Sundays in each month at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.
Sunday-school at 10 a. m.
Sunday-school at Sunnyside school house at 3 p. m.; A. M. Deal, superintendent.

Primitive
ELDER W. H. CROUSE, Pastor.
Services every second Sunday and the Saturday before.

The Time to Bluff
The only safe time to bluff is when you have the goods.—Detroit Free Press.

HOW IS Coca-Cola Bottled?

First, the Bottles are sterilized, in a hot caustic solution 120 degrees f. h. Next, they are put on a brush revolving 1200 rev. per min., which cleans them. Then they are reused four times, inside and out with a jet of water under pressure. This gives an absolutely clear bottle.

The bottling operation consists in putting one ounce of syrup and 16 1/2 ozs. of filtered carbonated water into the bottle and sealing it under the most sanitary conditions possible.

It's a guarantee of a Pure product. Each bottle is candled before a lamp before being sold.

The Coca Cola plant of Statesboro is one of the most modern and sanitary in every way, being the equal of any in the country—The grade or quality of Coca Cola is one of the best in the South.

Come and see for yourself.

Statesboro Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

A NEW STORE AT AN OLD STAND

Balfour - Melvin HARDWARE CO.

Let Us Know What You Want.
We Want to Carry It.

Our Specialty Is

Light Shelf Hardware
Fish Tackle and Sporting goods.
Garden Hose and Sprinklers.
Cotton Hoes and other seasonal goods are here at close prices.

Come in and Let Us Get Acquainted
We will Sharpen your Pocket Knife or Scissors Free
BALFOUR-MELVIN

Quality Hardware

$1.00 Per Year

HANDS ACROSS THE RIVER

Bulloch and Effingham Joined By The New Steel Bridge

Good roads talk, sociability and general optimism seemed to be the keynote of July 2000 people who gathered at the Ogeechee to do honor to the progressive spirit of the commissioners of Effingham and Bulloch counties and the citizens as well who had done much in support of their commissions in building the new $6000 steel bridge which spans the Ogeechee at Elkins landing near Guyton.

Savannahians who have also contributed substantially in this enterprise were there, great numbers and joined in the festivities and speeches.

LARGE DELEGATIONS
There were large delegations from Candler, Bryan and Screven counties who joined whole heartedly in the enthusiasm of the Bulloch and Effingham people who are now brought so closely in touch.

W. L. Gignilliat of Savannah and Pineora was master of ceremonies and he was assisted by the commissioners of Bulloch and Effingham. The Statesboro Municipal Band enlivened the occasion with spirited music while the people assembled and at noon the long tables were prepared for feeding the multitude. It was a sumptuous dinner; everybody and their aunt seemed to have brought a basket laden with good things to eat.

INTERESTING SPEECHES

Following the dinner Mr. Gignilliat called the meeting to order and promptly introduced the speakers who were limited to short talks.

Judge W. H. Cone made the address of welcome and was followed by Frank Battey of Savannah, known throughout Georgia as the Father of good roads who talked in his accustomed good nature and right from the shoulder way. Hon. J. A. Brannen, Col. Sigo Myers, Thos. A. Dutton, J. H. Robie, Chas. Emory Smith, of Metter, and Prof. R. M. Gridley specialist in animal husbandry at the State college of agriculture at Athens delivered stirring speeches.

CANDIDATES PRESENT

Dr. L. G. Hardeman, candidate for governor and Hon. J. W. Overstreet, candidate for congress from the First District were in evidence but it was purely a good roads and steel bridge gathering and politics was not injected into the picnic much to the credit of the people in charge of the affair.

With the final dressing up of the roads connecting with the Chatham county good roads this bridge will prove of untold benefit to travelers and Statesboro will doubtless profit to a greater degree than any other section especially so when we have the packing plant in operation.

It was a delightful day, and very many of the picnicers enjoyed themselves in bathing in the clear water of the river. The occasion was pronounced an appropriate and signal success.

L. Callender

Representing the General Electric Co. in S. E. Ga.

L. Callender, traveling representative of the General Electric Co. with headquarters in Atlanta, was Statesboro visitor this week and sounds the spirit of the times when he said that the south was approaching an era of prosperity that would astonish the natives in its magnitude. Mr. Callender is a close observer of things material and no extensive traveler, and in touch with business conditions generally.

MOTHERS DAY REVERENTLY OBSERVED IN STATESBORO

Extract From Splendid Sermon By Rev. J. B. Thrasher at the M. E. Church

LESSON JOHN 19-25 28. TEXT EXODUS 20:12.

Some years ago Miss Anna M. Jarvis, of Philadelphia, recognizing the marvelous influence which her mother's life had exerted over her own, and having the conviction deeply implanted in her nature, that "Good motherhood is the basis of all our prosperity," got together other workers in the Lord's vineyard and they decided to agree upon a day which should be known nationally and internationally as "Mothers Day" and which should be observed as such, the Clergy of the nation recognizing the fact that a mother's influence is inestimable over the child physically, mentally and spiritually, and that early impressions are the most lasting impressions, gladly co-operating in this plan, and to gether they adopted the second Sunday in May as a "National Mothers Day." Thousands of churches are decorated today in honor of the best mother that ever lived, and the ministers of the United States are today preaching sermons in honor of the mothers of the nation. The flower adopted for this occasion is the white carnation.

In the very beginning of this past diluvian age, God said: "Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which thy Lord thy God giveth thee." Jesus in his agony upon the cross was not unmindful of his mother, for he turned to the beloved disciple, John, and said, "Behold thy mother," and from that very time John carried her to his own home. Christ was not willing to leave his mother without an earthly home. He could have provided for her super-naturally if he had seen fit, but he believed in the home life then, and wanted to provide for her. He believes in the homes of today and loves them.

Foundation to carry mighty superstructures must be laid broad and deep. Today if the foundations of character are laid anywhere they are laid in the home, and if laid there, surely they are wrought out largely by the mothers in the homes of our country.

The home problem is the greatest problem of our civilization, because the home influence are spiritual influences and constitute the mightiest force on earth. These influences shape, mold, direct and fashion the child life after their own pattern. How to solve widely the home problem and meet well the responsibility of rightly rearing children is the most momentous question that concerns this generation.

"When the great Napoleon was asked what France most needed, he replied, 'Mothers.' This is not true of Georgia; our state is blessed because it has good mothers, old-fashioned mothers, mothers whose chief interest center around the home and church, mothers who arise early in the morning and begin the day by singing 'Am I a soldier of the cross, a follower of the lamb,' and when the temptations of the day follow you hear them change to 'Fight on my soul till death shall bring the to thy God,' and in time of sorrow and bereavement we hear them sing, 'God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform.' Thank God for our American mothers, who, because Statesboro, Georgia, Thursday, May 14, 1916.

Vol. 10

This newspaper will receive your ballot in the nation wide straw vote now being taken and will later publish the tabulated result.

Every one is interested in the coming presidential campaign, and as the old saying goes: "Straws show which way the wind blows."

Fill in the ballot coupon below and send it to us today. This will be your last chance to express your preference in the straw vote.

My Choice For President Is

.....

(Comment).....

(Signed).....

of the hardihood obtained through pioneer experiences, are not even surpassed in bravery by the Spartan mothers of old, and who because of their great faith in Christ, have been able to set examples and teach great basic principles which have made our country the greatest under Heaven.

"Since the day Oglethorpe came to Savannah and was soon followed by the Salzhurgers to Ebenezer our South Georgia motherhood has been a great asset to this country. No history gives to woman the place of real worth which she deserves, her self-sacrificing and courageous spirit is nowhere any more prominently than in the answer of Mrs. Wesley, who, when a neighbor chided her for allowing her two sons, John and Charles to come to America, replied, 'If I had twenty sons I would give them all to Georgia.'"

"The history of the world shows that boys are what their mothers make them. The mother of George Washington was pure and good. The mother of Patrick Henry was eloquent in speech. The mother of Lord Bacon was superior in mind and deep piety. The mother of John and Charles Wesley was intelligent and pious, and full of executive ability. The mother of Nero was a murderess. When the devil robs a boy the last thing he takes are the early impressions made by mother.

The great men of this nation are the men who have had mothers. For, out, when half allured to tread the path that into sin leads, They've felt her soft hands on their heads, And that fond touch hath saved their boys.

I conclude with this poem

Special Live Stock Demonstration
W. F. Whitley and R. M. Gridley Co-operating
Prof. R. M. Gridley, specialist of animal husbandry at the state college, Athens, has arranged to devote four or five days each month in Bulloch county co-operating with W. F. Whitley local demonstrator. They will center the greater part of their work on hog raising. Mr. Whitley states that there has been more than thirty dipping vats built in Bulloch county since he has established the demonstration bureau.

Many Improvements At Tybee

Georgia's Sea Shore-Play Ground

It will be a new, a hardly recognizable Tybee that will greet the visitor to that popular resort this season.

Improvements that have been under way for months have transformed the island to a veritable spotless town. New roads have been built, new streets opened, and that part of South end devoted principally to the pleasure seeker has been subjected to an extensive overhauling and renovation which will make it appear as a fairyland at night.

A well trained orchestra of six pieces has been engaged to furnish music every day throughout the season, for dancing on week days and to render concert on Sunday. The portion of beach beneath the pavilion has been thoroughly cleaned and in future will be kept clear of rubbish and pickers. It will be devoted to use of small children, exclusively, and a play ground will be established. There the little ones will make mud pies and build sand castles to their hearts' content.

The hotel will be opened on May 27 by the Georgia Hotel Men's Convention, at which a special dinner will be served.

Adequate precautions for the protection of bathers will be taken by the proprietors of all bath houses on the island. An ample number of life guards with full equipment will be on duty at all times, while dangerous places in the surf will be marked with red flags.

The Central of Georgia Railway Company is expecting the coming season to prove the best in its history and is prepared to handle record crowds.

It is planned to make Tybee the mecca of visitors from all parts of the interior of Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and Alabama. An extensive advertising campaign to exploit the advantages of Tybee as a pleasure resort will shortly be begun by the railway company.

Convention of Rural Carriers

Savannah, Ga., May 30, Program
Program of the Rural Letter Carriers of the First district, to be held at Savannah, Ga., May 30, 1916.

Meeting called to order by Pres. R. J. Proctor.
Invocation by Rev. P. W. Ellis.
Address of welcome in behalf of the city by Dr. Avant.
Response by Secretary Ben L. Collins, of Cobbtown.

Welcome in behalf of the postal employees by Mr. Oetiger, Clerk, Savannah office.
Response, by Freeman Hardisty, assistant postmaster, Statesboro.
Address by President R. J. Proctor on organization work.
Talk by Freeman Hardisty on "Some things we can do to render better service."

S. N. Johnston
Business is fine, I'm an optimist you know and even if it wasn't I still class I would say good, said S. N. Johnston Manager of Smith Bros. Typewriter Co. Savannah branch. Mr. Smith was in town yesterday calling on the many users of the popular machine which he has placed in the city.

An average of ninety-five tons of soil and loose rock is washed into the ocean every year from every square mile of the United States, according to the geological survey. This estimate does not include the great basin.

Hugh Dorsey Candidate For Governor

Not Developing the Strength His Friends Hoped For

Atlanta, Ga., May 17.—The general opinion in political circles around the hotel lobbies and at the capital is that Solicitor Hugh Dorsey of Fulton county, the prosecutor of Leo M. Frank, has not developed the strength as a candidate for governor that was expected of him by his friends.

Reports of sentiment over the state as brought into Atlanta by politicians and others and generally talked in the hotel lobbies, are to the effect that Solicitor Dorsey's announcement evoked no outpouring of enthusiasm and that his candidacy is talked of only by an occasional admirer here and there.

So many newspapers have come out in opposition to Solicitor Dorsey because of his connection with the Louisville & Nashville railroad as one of the attorneys engaged in the roads attempt to overthrow the Georgia legislature's anti-railroading act, that many political observers here and over the state have expressed the belief that the Louisville & Nashville's unsavory political reputation will greatly handicap Solicitor Dorsey in his race. The Frank case, too, has disadvantages as a stepping stone to political preferment. Some of the leading newspapers have been quite severe in their criticism, of Mr. Dorsey and the majority of them have not received his candidacy in a friendly spirit.

Governor Harris plans to make a vigorous campaign throughout the state, making enforcement of the prohibition laws and opposition to the sale of the Western & Atlantic railroad his principal issues. Letters from all parts of the state continue to come in, assuring the Gov. he will have strong support. "The Old War Horse of the Confederacy," is attending to the states business and expects to carry it along for another term of office, if one may judge of the situation at the present time.

Dr. L. G. Hardman of Commerce has taken an early start and is devoting practically his whole time to campaign work.

SUMMER NIGHT OPEN AIR CONCERT

Statesboro Municipal Band Will Inaugurate Them Friday Night June 9th

The Statesboro Municipal Band are preparing to begin a series of open air summer concerts which will be given every Friday night following the initial concert which is now planned to be given Friday night June 9th. Our own band is less than a year has attained a proficiency quite remarkable and have reached the stage of being semi-professional and now able to accept engagements. The present membership are desirous of enlarging the number to make a twenty piece organization and to purchase uniforms, etc., and to that end will offer for sale in connection with the concert refreshments and ice cream, the proceeds to be applied to the fund being raised for the needs herein mentioned. The program and features for the opening concert will be announced in a later issue.

Washed into the Sea.
An average of ninety-five tons of soil and loose rock is washed into the ocean every year from every square mile of the United States, according to the geological survey. This estimate does not include the great basin.

Nearly all the weekly papers throughout the entire U. S. have been forced to raise the subscription rate above the usual $1.00 a year. The blank paper is now costing almost as much as the yearly subscription.

The Congressional marathon is on with two starters officially listed and others just itching to get in. We opine that the air circulation will be kept in motion in diverse currents from now until Sept. when it will border on a hurricane.

Before you kick about being overworked and other folks getting on better than you do, just remember that a furrow can't be turned over without being plowed or spaded. The employee who watches the clock gets paid accordingly.

Within the last three months women have received the right to vote in the provinces of Canada, Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. These three provinces have a total area of 758,817 square miles and a population of 1,312,709 people.

Archie Roosevelt, son of the irrepressible Col. following his graduation at Harvard has accepted a job as a wool sorter in a carpet factory at $6.00 per week. He is laying the foundation for a fortune as a carpet merchant if not, perhaps he will learn how to lay carpets then we'll give him a job next housecleaning time.

Lacking the temerity of one Cervara, whom Schly and Sampson once upon a time had bottled up at Santiago, and who made a dash for liberty, our old friend "Fightin' Jim Miller of the Hawkeye," says he's bottled up in the harbor of Savannah by three political Admirals, and he has hoisted the white flag of truce, and in the language of U. S. Grant says "Let us have peace." My! My! Jim, what's the matter; is the Savannah sea so sure "nuff dry that a miniature Paul Jones ship can't be floated in a wee bit of a skirmish, and at least try to break the neck o' the bottle?

Fire And Insurance.
One is disastrous and the other is protection against the disaster. It is just simply foolhardy not to be protected. See Cone.

Langston's Logic

BUSYBODIES

The busybody walks the street with tireless tread and nimble feet, and scatters with a pizen tongue the slings of slander all along, and thinks the highest aim in life is planting hate and breeding strife, and spreading discord here and there, and raising "ha-ha's" everywhere.

It matters not to such a one, if reputations are undone, and church and school and home are smashed, and into utter ruin dashed, and friendships crushed, and hopes are slain, and social ties are rent in twain.

While other folks from early morn to dewy eve are planting corn, and sowing oats and selling wares, and tending to their own affairs, the busybody's raking mind to plant the devil's garden truck, and night and sense and touch and smell, are all engaged in raising hell.

And when this busybody dies, and goes to judgement in the skies, St. Peter'll meet him at the door, and kick him down forever more, and tell the wretch to go to hell, where all the busybodies dwell.

PEELING THE TREE.

This is an era of big things and big men; its an opportune time for a big man who wants to be governor of Georgia to lead and advocate biennial sessions of the General Assembly. With apologies to a certain flour manufacturer "Eventually why not now?" Georgia is at the threshold of this necessity and the sooner it comes the sooner will she have funds with which to cope with the great educational and agricultural questions which are foremost in the category of the state progress.

Forty-two of the forty-eight states of the Union have biennial sessions and statistics in many instances record facts which place them far in advance of Georgia in the channels in which Georgia is by right of natural gifts superior.

By doing away with the annual sessions of the Legislature we would reduce the expense about one-half and still be governed just as well; possibly the bark peelers would not do quite as much business but the old tree would put on a solid coat of coat that she is sadly in need of.

We are unalterably in favor of biennial meeting of the Legislature and curbing expenditures, and while we are on the subject of state, ad-that she ought to get out of the railroad business and out of debt at the same moment. The funds derived from the sale of the state R. R., the saving she would make in biennial sessions of the Assembly, applied in other and more needy channels together with a sweeping system of conservative management Georgia would soon be advanced from fourth place in illiteracy among the states of the nation and would forge ahead in all other directions to the place the Almighty has fixed for her. The poor old state has been drenched and soaked, scathed and punctured by the knives of murderers, bullets of pistol toters and bottles of whiskey swillers until she has become almost an outcast from among the group of her sister states. There is now open a splendid opportunity for a few big men to do some real big things for their fellow men and the great commonwealth of Georgia.

A small weekly newspaper in an adjoining county received the following note the other day: "Please send me a few copies of the paper containing the death of my aunt. Also publish the enclosed clipping of my niece who lives in Lebanon. And I wish you would mention it in your local columns, if it don't cost anything, that I have two bull calves for sale. As my subscription is out please stop the paper. Times are too hard to waste money on newspapers."—Greensboro Herald-Journal.

A Mississippi editor to cope with a similar situation where his subscribers were discontinuing the paper because he required payment for obituaries, marriages, deaths, etc., agreed in order to hold his subscribers, to devote an entire page to such subjects, limiting the space and permitting friends to write their own notices. The first issue under this rule the special page which ordinarily would have carried the captions of Engaged, Married, Births, Deaths, Memorials—was headed Matched, Caught, Hatched, Ditched, and the last column was doubled having a picture of an angelic choir and dantes inferno, with the significant line for "Memorials," saying—stick to facts; write as you truly think they deserve to be remembered.

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY

About ten years ago I was elected by the people of this district to fill the unexpired term in congress caused by the death of Hon. Rufus E. Lester; and although the term was short, being only three months, I felt deeply grateful to the people for the honor bestowed upon me. Two years ago I made the race against Mr. Edwards and received a very large vote, for which I expressed my sincere thanks at the close of the campaign.

For the past three months I have been endeavoring to secure the support of my friends in different parts of the district, urging me to announce myself and the other six hundred and twelve persons who are their associates subscribers to the capital stock of the proposed corporation, and their successors, to be incorporated under the name and style of the BULLOCH PACKING COMPANY, and to secure the support of my friends in this district, I have again announced through the columns of the Savannah Press that I was again a candidate for Congress. I therefore take this method of announcing to my friends in Bulloch County that I am a candidate for Representative from the First Congressional District in the 60th Congress of the United States, and I respectfully solicit your support and influence.

Very Respectfully,
J. W. OVERSTREET.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR CONGRESS

I have the honor to announce that I am a candidate for Congress from the First District, subject to the decision of the primary to be held on September 12, 1916.

I hope to have the pleasure of addressing the people in all counties of the district before the primary.

Asking the support of my fellow citizens, I am,
Very respectfully,
Peter W. Meldrim

RIGHT YOU ARE BROTHER

The fact that Statesboro and Bulloch County has raised $15,000 for a packing plant is a most progressive step and stamps that county as one of the state's most wide-awake sections. The people of that section are preparing to fight the boll weevil with hog raising on a large scale—Jackson Progress—Argus.

We're not just ONE of the most wide-awake sections in the state, but we're THE most wide-awake section. Fact is, there is somebody awake over here all the time. This $150,000 packing plant is only one of the small things we're going to do in the next few years.

GENERAL MELDRIM

In this issue of our paper will be found among the official announcements of congressional candidates that of General Peter W. Meldrim of Savannah. Nothing could more fittingly characterize General Meldrim than the very brevity of his announcement. In connection with the candidacy of General Meldrim it is really superfluous to comment upon the high qualifications of this gifted and worthy Georgian. We all know that he has been signally honored by his legal colleagues as president of the American Bar Association. We know that he is a high minded, christian gentleman who will in an impartial dignified manner represent the entire district should he be elected to the office.

As stated in his announcement General Meldrim will endeavor to personally meet the people of each county in the district and he will conduct his campaign in the same dignified, clean and convincing manner that he would if pleading before the Supreme Court of the U. S. and he will rest his case for the great judgement of the people. If they want him he is willing to serve. If they do not want him he will not hold animosity against them because of their expression of choice.

PETITION FOR INCORPORATION

GEORGIA—BULLOCH COUNTY

To the Superior Court of said County:
The petition of Brooks Simmons, Glenn Bland, J. A. Brannen, S. O. W. G. Bains, A. J. Moore, W. H. Sharpe, J. W. Williams, E. C. Oliver, J. E. McCann, J. L. Coleman, D. B. Bland, D. B. Brannen, J. E. Brannen, A. Tapples, M. J. Rushing, F. W. Hodges, Joshua Smith, H. E. Knight, L. M. Mikel, D. B. Brannen, and Thomas D. VanStreet, all of said State and County, respectfully show:

1. Petitioners desire for themselves and the other six hundred and twelve persons who are their associates subscribers to the capital stock of the proposed corporation, and their successors, to be incorporated under the name and style of the BULLOCH PACKING COMPANY, and to secure the support of my friends in this district, I have again announced through the columns of the Savannah Press that I was again a candidate for Congress. I therefore take this method of announcing to my friends in Bulloch County that I am a candidate for Representative from the First Congressional District in the 60th Congress of the United States, and I respectfully solicit your support and influence.

Very Respectfully,
J. W. OVERSTREET.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR CONGRESS

I have the honor to announce that I am a candidate for Congress from the First District, subject to the decision of the primary to be held on September 12, 1916.

I hope to have the pleasure of addressing the people in all counties of the district before the primary.

Asking the support of my fellow citizens, I am,
Very respectfully,
Peter W. Meldrim

RIGHT YOU ARE BROTHER

The fact that Statesboro and Bulloch County has raised $15,000 for a packing plant is a most progressive step and stamps that county as one of the state's most wide-awake sections. The people of that section are preparing to fight the boll weevil with hog raising on a large scale—Jackson Progress—Argus.

We're not just ONE of the most wide-awake sections in the state, but we're THE most wide-awake section. Fact is, there is somebody awake over here all the time. This $150,000 packing plant is only one of the small things we're going to do in the next few years.

GENERAL MELDRIM

In this issue of our paper will be found among the official announcements of congressional candidates that of General Peter W. Meldrim of Savannah. Nothing could more fittingly characterize General Meldrim than the very brevity of his announcement. In connection with the candidacy of General Meldrim it is really superfluous to comment upon the high qualifications of this gifted and worthy Georgian. We all know that he has been signally honored by his legal colleagues as president of the American Bar Association. We know that he is a high minded, christian gentleman who will in an impartial dignified manner represent the entire district should he be elected to the office.

As stated in his announcement General Meldrim will endeavor to personally meet the people of each county in the district and he will conduct his campaign in the same dignified, clean and convincing manner that he would if pleading before the Supreme Court of the U. S. and he will rest his case for the great judgement of the people. If they want him he is willing to serve. If they do not want him he will not hold animosity against them because of their expression of choice.

with the laws in force in this state; to sue and be sued in its corporate name; to have a corporate seal; and generally to do and perform all acts and to exercise all the rights, privileges and powers necessary to carry out the purposes and business of said corporation and which are possessed by like corporations of this state.

Wherefore, petitioners pray that they, and their associates, and their successors, may be incorporated under the name, and for the objects and period of time above set forth, and with all the rights and powers herein enumerated and set forth, together with all other rights, powers and privileges given to private corporations under the laws of this state now existing or those which may hereafter be enacted.

Witness our hands and seals this 10th day of May, 1916.

T. J. DENMARK,
Clerk S. C. B. C.

SAYS HOT WATER

WASHES POISONS

FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furrowed tongue, nasty breath or stomach ache, it's your liver. If you have a skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes, all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not irritate the diet like calomel, because it is not saline, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

Follette Piano Tuner Will Be In Statesboro Next Monday
The News has received notice from Jerome Follette who has previously advertised that he would be in Statesboro this week that he is detained elsewhere and will positively arrive in Statesboro Monday May 21st—Orders for tuning may be left at the News office.

Mandolin for Sale

A $25.00 HIGH GRADE MANDOLIN FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN PRICE. THE INSTRUMENT MAY BE SEEN AT THE NEWS STATIONARY DEPARTMENT.

Most Disgusting Skin Eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters as a cleansing blood tonic, is well recommended. $1.00 at all stores.

Trade at Blitch-Temples Co's store and get one of those forty woe piece dinner sets free.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadner, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

THE BROAD HIGHWAY

THE VERY WORST USE TO WHICH YOU CAN PUT MONEY IS TO SPEND IT.

This year why not set up a new milestone on the Broad Highway of Life. A Bank Account at the SEA ISLAND BANK will please every member of the family—do them most good—last the longest. Bestow half the time this year in teaching them to accumulate money that you did last year in teaching them to spend it and you will benefit yourself and better the condition of every one to whom you give such a gift.

SEA ISLAND BANK

CHARLES PIGUE,
DEAL & RENFRO,
ANDERSON & JONES,
HUNTER & JONES,
JOHNSON & CONE,
FRED T. LAMIN,
S. L. MOORE,
R. LEE MOORE,
REMER PROCTOR,
HARVEY D. BRANNEN,
J. H. METTS,
Attorneys for Petitioners.

Original petition filed in office this the 10th day of May, 1916.

T. J. DENMARK,
Clerk S. C. B. C.

ATTRACTIVE SUMMER TRIPS 1916

TOURS FROM 10 TO 40 DAYS.

INCLUDING

New York
Boston
White Mountains
The Saguenay
Quebec
Montreal
Lake Champlain
Lake George
Ausable Chasm
St. Lawrence
The Thousand Islands
Niagara Falls

AND THE

PANAMA-CALIFORNIA INTERNATIONAL

At Dan Diego, California

Personally Conducted and Chaperoned

The very highest class of service, which makes travel for pleasure comfortable and enjoyable. The tours cover the most attractive routes and the principal places of scenic and historic interest throughout the Greatest Country in the World

Write for rates, booklet and descriptive literature.

GATTIS TOURS

Tourist Agents, Seaboard Air Line Railway

Raleigh, North Carolina

HOG CHOLERA SERUM

Made For Georgia Farmers Under Georgia

Conditions, From Georgia Hogs.

Serum is a standard product, endorsed by both Federal and State officials. We make a product of high quality, thoroughly tested. We also carry a full stock of accessories. Thoroughness, efficiency and dependability, that are especially adapted to live hogs. Shipment is made immediately upon receipt of order. When ordering give number of hogs and approximate weight. Complete instructions furnished with each order. Serum is sold in 10 c. d., unless accompanied by certified check, cash or money order. Write, wire or telephone.

GEORGIA SERUM COMPANY, MOULTREE, GA.

P. O. Box 566 Telephone 175 and 499

PENSLAR

Liver Saline

A combination of Salts for

LIVER AND KIDNEYS

one trial will convince you

Lively's Drug Store

PHONE 37

RADIUM - A

Registered No. 46273

Now at

ZETTEROWER

STABLE

Your Patronage solicited

RAILWAY STRIKE

WOULD INFLICT

STAGGERING LOSS

Would Cut Farmers' Prices, Stop Industry And Face Cities With Starvation

New York—On one point related to the demands of the unions of main service employees for a heavy increase in wages the sentiment of the general public has been expressed in no uncertain terms. That is on the question of a strike.

Declarations have come from every quarter that an interruption of transportation will not be tolerated by the public, but will call forth drastic action. The enormous injury to a country that would result from a nationwide strike of train service employees is discussed by a writer in the March National Magazine, from which the following story is taken.

What such a strike would mean to the American people cannot be set forth in mere facts and figures. It can be dimly imagined by those who realize what an intimate and vital part railway transportation plays in every industrial activity of the country.

There is scarcely a person in any part of the land who would not be immediately affected by a strike of the busily turning wheels on one of the nearly three hundred thousand miles of railway were to stop for a single day. If the stop continued for a week, the country would be greater than that caused by any panic of recent history. To the big cities of the country, and particularly to the cities of the eastern seaboard it would mean a cutting off of food supplies that would place the inhabitants virtually at a state of siege. In the case of many food products these cities do not carry on hand a stock sufficient to last for more than a few days, and in the case of some, such as milk and fresh vegetables, supplies are replenished daily. The stopping of transportation, therefore, could mean suffering and want to these city dwellers, and if continued for long would threaten many of them with starvation.

To the farmers of the country a general railroad strike would be a catastrophe. Only less serious than from his market, the farmer could not move his produce, and the price of grain and other staples would be quickly cut in two, which the market would disappear entirely. The great industrial plants of the country would soon be forced to close down following the declaration of a strike because they could not obtain supplies needed for their operation, nor could they ship their finished products to market. Waste, thus, cleaning, sweating and millions of men would be come out of work. With the citizens either seriously cut down or suspended entirely, merchants would transact little business, because there would be few purchasers. In short, the industrial activities of the whole country would be virtually paralyzed to the extent the railroads ceased to operate.

CUT THIS OUT—IT'S WORTH MONEY

Don't miss this—Cut out this slip, enclose with 5c and mail it to Foley & Co., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive in return a trial package containing Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, for bronchial coughs, colds and croup; Foley Kidney Pills for lame back, weak kidneys, rheumatism, bladder troubles and Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome and thoroughly cleansing cathartic, for constipation, biliousness, headache and sluggish bowels.

BULLOCH DRUG CO.

To the last drop

MAXWELL

HOUSE

COFFEE

Is Perfect

Ask Your Grocer

Famous John Deere Farm Machinery at Statesboro Buggy & Wagon Co.

Farm Loans

If you need money on improved farm land see us. On first class mortgages we can negotiate loans from $1,000.00 up for a life insurance company at 5 per cent interest with privilege of paying in yearly installments.

BRANNEN & BOOTH,
9-23 4 m. Statesboro, Ga.

Fleshmanns Yeast

EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY FLESHMANS YEAST FRESH AT

OLLIFF & SMITH'S.

THE STATESBORO NEWS, STATESBORO, GEORGIA.

Built like —"The Deacon's One-Hoss Shay"

"THE best Pneumatic Tire is only as strong as its weakest part. Strengthening its strongest part is useless as putting a fifth wheel on a wagon. Yet this is often done to provide "Selling-feature" and "Talking Point."

The weakest part of every Pneumatic Tire is its Walls or Sides, not its Tread—its Cotton Fabric or "Stocking," not its Rubber "Sole."

No price would be too high to pay for a material that, replacing Cotton in the Walls of Pneumatic Tires, would last as long as the Goodrich Rubber Tread could be made to wear.

Neither silk, nor linen, nor any other known fabric, yet discovered is so good, for this purpose, as Cotton—and should long-fibered Cotton be the best material that money can buy for Tire Fabric.

"WE use nothing less in Goodrich Tires, and test every foot of it up to 200 lbs. to the square inch, before we percolate it with the most adhesive Rubber Compound ever made for this purpose.

We then shape this rubberized Long-Fibered Fabric into Tires, with scrupulous care to have the tension on each square inch of fabric precisely the same. That tension is controlled by a machine as sensitive as the eye, and infinitely more precise than the handwork of the most skilled Operative could make it.

To do this work we have the most highly trained men in the Rubber Industry—trained in the Precision Tire, a carefully emulating the famous example of "The Deacon's One-Hoss Shay" in which "the Sills were just as strong as the Thills and the Thills as strong as the Sills."

The Maximum Fabric efficiency and THEN—the rest of the tire up to that.

Result—The most RESILIENT Tire can be made with Fabric Walls—at the lowest price per mile of performance. Why pay more for any Tire?

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO.
Akron, Ohio

This Advt. reprinted (with revision of price, etc.) from Goodrich campaign, published in July and Aug. of last year—viz. 1915

But, notwithstanding all this, the FABRIC is the part of the Tire which goes first. Because the sides of the tire do most of the work in running—bending and stretching a million times in an hour, in scores of different directions. This bending of the sides causes Friction between the layers of Canvas working against each other. Friction causes heat. Friction causes wear. Friction causes the Heat over-comes and dries out the Rubber Adhesive between layers, which then separate from each other, in spots, the threads weakening or tearing out chafing against each other.

Then you have, in due time, the innocent blow-out, or other form of Tire-Death.

"PUT more layers of Fabric in the Walls of the Tire, to strengthen them, and with faster deterioration of the Rubber through the greater heat engendered.

Put fewer layers, and the walls would not be strong enough to carry the load of the Car.

So there you are—Mr. Tire-User! Why put MORE layers of Fabric in the Walls of the Tire than will properly carry the load, when each additional layer is an additional developer of that FRICITION-HEAT which is to Tires what Old Age is to Man?

"WHAT is the reason we build (and have built for more than a year), in the Goodrich Tire, a carefully emulating the famous example of "The Deacon's One-Hoss Shay" in which "the Sills were just as strong as the Thills and the Thills as strong as the Sills."

The Maximum Fabric efficiency and THEN—the rest of the tire up to that.

Result—The most RESILIENT Tire can be made with Fabric Walls—at the lowest price per mile of performance. Why pay more for any Tire?

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO.
Akron, Ohio

Goodrich "Fair-List" Prices
BLACK SAFETY TREADS
30 x 3 1/2 Ford Sizes $10.40
30 x 3 3/4 " " " " $13.40
32 x 3 1/2 " " " " $15.45
33 x 4 " " " " $22.00
34 x 4 " " " " $22.40
36 x 4 1/2 " " " " $31.60
37 x 5 " " " " $37.35
38 x 5 1/2 " " " " $50.60

Asparagus and Cabbage. Cabbage strains to tell, once grown without a head, it is a picture of Europe. Without cabbage, or the cabbage without a head, is called collards. Cultivation put a head on collards. Cabbage comes down by transmission from "cabbage."

One of the oldest culinary vegetables is asparagus. Phily and Cato ate it for emaciated gout and praised it highly. We are growing it today in perfectly better than they ever had it. Certain folk in lower Europe use asparagus beans as a substitute for coffee.

Afterthoughts. Invest a little money in bonds of friendship. When business gets bad go hunting—new business of friends.

Forget your troubles—by remembering your blessings. Smile with every one—and never at any one.

Believe every man innocent—until he is proved innocent. Be game—but not overjoyed. Lift the fallen—and catch the falling—Judge.

For Farm Implements, go to Statesboro Buggy & Wagon Co.

Agents for the famous John Deere Cultivators (Walking or Riding). Complete farm outfits in Wagons, Buggies, Harness and Implements. Binders and Binder Twine.

QUALITY COUNTS

The Better the Breed. The Better the Hog. The Better the Hog. The Better the Hog.

And this applies to eggs for packing plant meat.

SHE TOLD HER NEIGHBOR.

"I told a neighbor whose very young child had croup, about Foley's Honey and Tar," writes Mrs. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky. "She thought that the child surely would die it was so bad. When she gave it a couple of doses of Foley's Honey and Tar she was so pleased with the change she did not know what to say." This old reliable cough syrup immediately helps coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Just as good for old as it is for young folks.

BULLOCH DRUG CO.

Two Useful Hints.
To be a successful mother a woman must occasionally warm up the palm of her right hand on the rear elevation of her progeny unless, of course, she happens to be left handed. And to be a successful wife she must occasionally play her conversational powers to properly illuminate the darkened-comprehension of Old Bitch as to the whereabouts of the wherefore, unless, of course, she happens to be handy with the chump dasher or tongue.—Houston Post.

Terrible Croup Attack Quickly Relieved By Old Reliable Remedy

Well known Georgia store keeper has mastered croup and colds for his family of ten with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound.

The minute that hoarse terrifying croupy cough is heard in the home of T. J. Barber, of Jefferson, Ga., out comes Foley's Honey and Tar Compound—there's always a bottle ready. Here's what he says: "Two of my children, one boy and a girl, aged eight and six years respectively, had terrible attacks of croup last winter and I completely cured them with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I have ten in family and for years I've used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it never fails. I have never had a doctor's bill. Keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand. In your home. One bottle lasts a long time—it's a reliable and safe remedy. Get the genuine."

BULLOCH DRUG CO.

His Big Leaf.
"How is Robert getting on at college?" asked the mother, who was being entertained at dinner. "Splendidly," said the proud father, who then went on to tell of his son's various social, athletic and scholastic successes, and the mother said it was a fine thing to be college bred. That evening little James, who had been an interested listener, said, "Dad, what did Mr. Brown mean by college bred?" "Oh, that," said papa, who had been looking over his son's bills, "is a four years' loaf"—Exchange.

NOTICE

TO THE PUBLIC:
IN ACCORDANCE WITH ARRANGEMENTS MADE SOME TIME AGO, THE LAW FIRM OF HUNTER & JONES HAS THIS DAY BEEN DIS- SOLVED BY MUTUAL CON- SENT OF THE UNDERSIGNED.
THIS MAY 15, 1916.
Francis B. Hunter,
Henry M. Jones.

TELLS WHAT SHE THINKS

Anna Hawn, Cedar Grove, Mo., writes: "We think Foley Cathartic Tablets are the best liver pill we ever got hold of, as they do not nauseate or gripe, but act freely on the liver. Any one in need of a liver pill should try them. They would not be without them." Recommended for indigestion, constipation, bloating, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, bad breath or other condition caused by clogged or irregular bowels. Skont persons like the light, easy, buoyant feeling they give.
BULLOCH DRUG CO.

Toole and Reeves.

The English couple, J. L. Toole, was a persistent joker, but on one occasion he was very nearly "holed with his own petard." He was playing in "The Waterside" with Sims Reeves, who took the part of Tom Tug. When Toole asked, "What's the meaning of all this?" Sims Reeves yielded to an overwhelming laughter and replied, "The meaning of it is that you've been made a fool of, and I'm a happy fellow."

Toole raked his brain for a retort. "So it Sims," he said at last.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it has been passed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Halls' Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, it is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, prostate, and urethra, and is offered for any case. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

"NOTICE"

I have sold my hardware business and all parties indebted to me in any manner are hereby notified to make settlement of same by June 1st 1916 to Charles Figue, Esq., or same will be sued under term of court thereafter.
George Rawls.

LOST

Tuesday afternoon in Statesboro one ladies small size black velvet change purse, containing soda water check Summit Drug Co. and about $10.00 in currency. Finder will please deliver to Trapnell-Mikell Co. and get reward.

Fleishmans Yeast

EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY FLEISHMANS YEAST FRESH AT OLLIFF & SMITH'S.

JAX BISCUIT

Supply energy. Build blood and muscle. Give vigor to brain and nerve. Nearly twice the food value per pound of the best steaks. Cost much less.
Buy Jax Biscuits
Made by Jacksonville Cracker Works

TROUBLED AT NIGHT

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble and kidney trouble never should be neglected. Backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints—all these have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. They act promptly and efficiently and help to health. Henry Rudolph Carmichael, writes: "I was bothered with stinging in back and was troubled at night and had to get up several times. Since taking Foley Kidney Pills sleep all night without getting up."

BULLOCH DRUG CO.

Chas. Pigue

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW
Will Practice in all the Courts both State and Federal.
Collections a Specialty.
Offices over Trapnell-Mikell, STATESBORO, GA.

MONEY TO LOAN

Long term loans on farm lands at 6% Cash secured on short notice and easy terms.
FRED T. LANIER.

STOP IN ATLANTA AT HOTEL EMPIRE

Opposite Union Depot on Pryor St. Remodeled and refurnished. Clean, comfortable, and well equipped. Rates moderate. First class accommodation. It moderate price.
Rooms 50c per day.
JOHN L. EDMONDSON, Prop.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Biotin Compound and 1/2 oz. of alcohol. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Biotin Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Not "How Much?"

but "how good" is the question that every one should ask in buying candy. The old saying that "a man is judged by the candy he gives" holds good today same as always. Buy the best—don't take the "just as good" kind. Nothing quite equals famous Bon-Bons and Chocolates. They are in a distinctively exciting way to themselves.
Stuyler's

Orders receive prompt and careful attention. Just give us the name and address and Uncle Sam does the rest.
LIVELY'S Drug Store

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it has been passed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Halls' Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, it is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, prostate, and urethra, and is offered for any case. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Ever taste Virginia sunshine?

YOU did—if you ever smoked a cigarette of Virginia tobacco. Virginia, you know, is "the tobacco man's tobacco", because it gives to a cigarette the one quality no other tobacco can give—that refreshing liveliness called "character"! And smokers want "character" above all else.

Piedmonts have "character" in full measure—they're highest grade Virginia. ALL Virginia! Golden, lively, mellow as southern sunshine! Next time, buy your regular brand—But say "Piedmonts", too, just so you can know them for yourself!

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

NOTE—It is costly to import duty, and costly handling which make ordinary foreign-grown tobacco cost more than they should. That is why cigarettes made of this foreign-grown tobacco cannot have in them as good tobacco as Piedmonts, which are made of highest-grade Virginia, grown right here in the U. S. A!

The ALL Virginia cigarette—

Piedmont
The Cigarette of Quality
10 for 5¢
Also Packed 20 for 10¢
VALUABLE COUPON IN EACH PACKAGE

CLARK

The Little Shop With the Big Stock
FOR CASH ONLY. NO COUPONS.

12 lbs Sugar	1.00	3 " Peas	.25
8 " Coffee	1.00	3 " String Beans	.25
18 " Good Rice	1.00	3 " Peaches	.25
3 " Lard	1.00	3 " 14 Oz Condensed Milk	.25
3 Cans Tomatoes	.25	3 " Tall Cream	.25
3 " Onions	.25	3 " Sardines	.25
3 " Corn	.25	3 " Potted Ham	.25
Self Raising Flour	.65

Clark YOUR GROCER

PHONE 18

DON'T LET YOUR MONEY BURN A HOLE IN YOUR POCKET!

SPENDTHRIFT

IMPRESS on the young man who is burning the candle at both ends and who is spending his big salary as fast as he makes it the VALUE OF A BANK ACCOUNT. Start him on the RIGHT ROAD today. If he is not hopeless he at once will see the error of his ways. The opening of a bank account has put a stop to many a youth's wild desire to be a HIGH FLIER.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Outland announce the engagement of their daughter, Nan Edith, to Mr. Basil B. Jones, of Jacksonville, Fla., the wedding to take place June 14th.

First National Bank

Social

Edited by MISS IRENE ARDEN
Telephone No. 7.

Mrs. C. S. Martin, of Zetserower avenue, is visiting her son, W. B. Martin, of Dublin.

Mr. Maul is entertaining his father who is a resident of Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. Ella Groover spent several days in Savannah during last week and a portion of this week.

Basil B. Jones, of Jacksonville, was a week-end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jones.

Mrs. George Rawls was a guest of her mother in Savannah during the week.

The Misses Caddie and Melrose Green, of Claxton, visited Mrs. Lena Belle Smith during the week.

Mrs. F. L. Parrish and Miss Lena Lanier, of Aaron, visited in the city last week.

Miss Lula Warnock, of Brooklet, was the week-end guest of Mrs. Chas. Pigue.

Mrs. Herbert Hagin, of Claxton, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Proctor.

Mrs. Henry Proctor is spending the week-end at Stilson with her daughter, Mrs. Brooks Burned.

Mrs. George Lastinger, of Atlanta, is visiting her mother, Mrs. G. H. Mock.

Mrs. Sarah Griswold left Monday for Georgetown, S. C., to spend several weeks with her son.

Miss Nan Edith Outland spent several days in Savannah last week.

Mrs. L. M. Mikell and son, Frank, spent the week-end at Register with her mother, Mrs. D. L. Kennedy.

Miss Kidron Bland, of Brooklet, and Miss Ruby Brannen, of Stilson, are the guests of Miss Mabel Brunson this week.

Miss Ruth McDougald was a visitor during the week in Savannah as the guest of her sister, Mrs. L. W. Williams.

Mrs. Laura Jordan and her sister, Mrs. O. W. Horn, who have been touring in Cuba for a short vacation, returned Wednesday.

Mrs. J. P. Williams, Misses Hattie and Edith Taylor and Anne Johnston left Wednesday for Lanark, Fla., where they go to attend the opening of Lanark Inn.

The "Khe-Wa-Wa" girls met with Misses Bea Lee and Anne Johnston on Tuesday afternoon. After an hour of sewing and chatting a delightful salad course was served. Those present were the Misses Bea Lee, Anne Johnston, Roberta Hunter, Annabelle and Pearl Holland, Nan Edith Ontland, Gussie Lee, Willie Belle Parker, Ruth Lester, Neta Belle Coleman, Kate McDougald and Mrs. Keowan.

Miss Annie Olliff was the lovely hostess to the north side G. B. Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Olliff Heights. Delicacies were served. Member attending were the Misses Elma Wimberly, Umas Olliff, Lena Bell Smith, Nan Simmons, Lucy Blitch, Kathleen McCroan, Ruth Parrish, Cora Blitch, Mary Beth Smith, Mrs. McMath and the Misses Fletcher, and Miss Ouida Brannen.

A jolly party of picnicers as guest of Pearl Parrish and Dedrick Davis, chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Norris were entertained up on a jolly auto outing at Davis mill Wednesday where a delightful basket lunch was served. The guests were the Misses Umas Olliff, Jesse Olliff, Nannie Meli Olliff, Lena Belle Smith, Mattie Fletcher, Ruth Parrish, Maggie Ruth Fields, Cora Mae Blitch, Messrs Rawdon Olliff, Tom Denmark, Aubrey Olliff, Mark Fively, Remer Brady, William Gould, Charles Donaldson and Iman Foy.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, Grady Coleman, Safford Lanier and Misses Ethel Lanier and Zelle Johnson returned to Swainsboro Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Watkins motored to Savannah last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Heidt, of Savannah, is the guest of Mrs. H. M. Robertson, Jr., this week.

Mrs. D. E. Thompson, of Pinehurst, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee.

Miss Earle Sellar, of Boston, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Graves.

Miss Lula Warnock spent last week-end in Statesboro with Mrs. Chas. Pigue.

Prof. W. D. Mathis spent last Sunday with Mr. H. J. Proctor, of Stilson.

Mr. L. C. Slappy, of Arcola, will have charge of the singing at the Primitive Baptist church next week at the meeting.

The Progressive Band Literary Society gave an enjoyable entertainment in the auditorium last Friday night. The auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity.

The Tom Thumb Society rendered a beautiful program last Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium. This was one of the best programs given during commencement, and was given by the small est pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Graves gave a delightful reception last Wednesday evening at the parsonage in honor of the senior class and faculty of Brooklet school. After a very enjoyable evening, delicious refreshments were served.

This week closes the term of Brooklet school. This year will be recorded as the largest attendance in the history of the school, and one of the most successful terms in every respect. This school has an excellent course of study for every grade and a curriculum high enough for her graduates to enter any of our colleges with credit.

Garfield Gossip
Dr. E. N. Brown went to Rocky Ford Thursday.

Mr. J. McNaire went to Swainsboro Monday.

Mr. Grady Coleman was in town Tuesday.

Mr. J. L. Brown went to Swainsboro Monday.

Mr. E. J. Brown, of Canoochee, was in town Monday.

Mr. J. J. Lovett, of Graymont, was in town Monday on business.

Mr. S. S. Suit, of Summit was in town Sunday.

Mr. H. H. Stewart went to Collius Tuesday on business.

Mr. Sam Joiner, of Canoochee, was in town Monday.

Mr. Chas. Cheatham, of Swainsboro was in town Tuesday.

Mr. M. S. Joiner, of Millen, was in town Tuesday.

Col. Lacey Cowart, of Millen was in town Tuesday.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, J. C. Joiner and Dr. Johnson went to Collins Tuesday.

Judge A. L. Abernathy, of Graymont, passed through town Tuesday enroute to Athens.

Mrs. A. C. Holeman spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother.

Everybody cordially invited to attend services at the Baptist church Sunday.

Mrs. L. M. Barwick left Sunday for Savannah where she will spend the summer with her son, L. M. Barwick.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, Grady Coleman, Safford Lanier and Misses Ethel Lanier and Zelle Johnson returned to Swainsboro Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Watkins motored to Savannah last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Heidt, of Savannah, is the guest of Mrs. H. M. Robertson, Jr., this week.

Mrs. D. E. Thompson, of Pinehurst, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee.

Miss Earle Sellar, of Boston, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Graves.

Miss Lula Warnock spent last week-end in Statesboro with Mrs. Chas. Pigue.

Prof. W. D. Mathis spent last Sunday with Mr. H. J. Proctor, of Stilson.

Mr. L. C. Slappy, of Arcola, will have charge of the singing at the Primitive Baptist church next week at the meeting.

The Progressive Band Literary Society gave an enjoyable entertainment in the auditorium last Friday night. The auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity.

The Tom Thumb Society rendered a beautiful program last Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium. This was one of the best programs given during commencement, and was given by the small est pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Graves gave a delightful reception last Wednesday evening at the parsonage in honor of the senior class and faculty of Brooklet school. After a very enjoyable evening, delicious refreshments were served.

This week closes the term of Brooklet school. This year will be recorded as the largest attendance in the history of the school, and one of the most successful terms in every respect. This school has an excellent course of study for every grade and a curriculum high enough for her graduates to enter any of our colleges with credit.

Garfield Gossip
Dr. E. N. Brown went to Rocky Ford Thursday.

Mr. J. McNaire went to Swainsboro Monday.

Mr. Grady Coleman was in town Tuesday.

Mr. J. L. Brown went to Swainsboro Monday.

Mr. E. J. Brown, of Canoochee, was in town Monday.

Mr. J. J. Lovett, of Graymont, was in town Monday on business.

Mr. S. S. Suit, of Summit was in town Sunday.

Mr. H. H. Stewart went to Collius Tuesday on business.

Mr. Sam Joiner, of Canoochee, was in town Monday.

Mr. Chas. Cheatham, of Swainsboro was in town Tuesday.

Mr. M. S. Joiner, of Millen, was in town Tuesday.

Col. Lacey Cowart, of Millen was in town Tuesday.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, J. C. Joiner and Dr. Johnson went to Collins Tuesday.

Judge A. L. Abernathy, of Graymont, passed through town Tuesday enroute to Athens.

Mrs. A. C. Holeman spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother.

Everybody cordially invited to attend services at the Baptist church Sunday.

Mrs. L. M. Barwick left Sunday for Savannah where she will spend the summer with her son, L. M. Barwick.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, Grady Coleman, Safford Lanier and Misses Ethel Lanier and Zelle Johnson returned to Swainsboro Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Watkins motored to Savannah last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Heidt, of Savannah, is the guest of Mrs. H. M. Robertson, Jr., this week.

Mrs. D. E. Thompson, of Pinehurst, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee.

Miss Earle Sellar, of Boston, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Graves.

Miss Lula Warnock spent last week-end in Statesboro with Mrs. Chas. Pigue.

Prof. W. D. Mathis spent last Sunday with Mr. H. J. Proctor, of Stilson.

Mr. L. C. Slappy, of Arcola, will have charge of the singing at the Primitive Baptist church next week at the meeting.

The Progressive Band Literary Society gave an enjoyable entertainment in the auditorium last Friday night. The auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity.

The Tom Thumb Society rendered a beautiful program last Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium. This was one of the best programs given during commencement, and was given by the small est pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Graves gave a delightful reception last Wednesday evening at the parsonage in honor of the senior class and faculty of Brooklet school. After a very enjoyable evening, delicious refreshments were served.

This week closes the term of Brooklet school. This year will be recorded as the largest attendance in the history of the school, and one of the most successful terms in every respect. This school has an excellent course of study for every grade and a curriculum high enough for her graduates to enter any of our colleges with credit.

Garfield Gossip
Dr. E. N. Brown went to Rocky Ford Thursday.

Mr. J. McNaire went to Swainsboro Monday.

Mr. Grady Coleman was in town Tuesday.

Mr. J. L. Brown went to Swainsboro Monday.

Mr. E. J. Brown, of Canoochee, was in town Monday.

Mr. J. J. Lovett, of Graymont, was in town Monday on business.

Mr. S. S. Suit, of Summit was in town Sunday.

Mr. H. H. Stewart went to Collius Tuesday on business.

Mr. Sam Joiner, of Canoochee, was in town Monday.

Mr. Chas. Cheatham, of Swainsboro was in town Tuesday.

Mr. M. S. Joiner, of Millen, was in town Tuesday.

Col. Lacey Cowart, of Millen was in town Tuesday.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, J. C. Joiner and Dr. Johnson went to Collins Tuesday.

Judge A. L. Abernathy, of Graymont, passed through town Tuesday enroute to Athens.

Mrs. A. C. Holeman spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother.

Everybody cordially invited to attend services at the Baptist church Sunday.

Mrs. L. M. Barwick left Sunday for Savannah where she will spend the summer with her son, L. M. Barwick.

Messrs. Raul Johnson, Grady Coleman, Safford Lanier and Misses Ethel Lanier and Zelle Johnson returned to Swainsboro Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Watkins motored to Savannah last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Heidt, of Savannah, is the guest of Mrs. H. M. Robertson, Jr., this week.

Mrs. D. E. Thompson, of Pinehurst, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee.

Miss Earle Sellar, of Boston, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Graves.

Miss Lula Warnock spent last week-end in Statesboro with Mrs. Chas. Pigue.

Prof. W. D. Mathis spent last Sunday with Mr. H. J. Proctor, of Stilson.

Mr. L. C. Slappy, of Arcola, will have charge of the singing at the Primitive Baptist church next week at the meeting.

The Progressive Band Literary Society gave an enjoyable entertainment in the auditorium last Friday night. The auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity.

The Tom Thumb Society rendered a beautiful program last Wednesday afternoon in the auditor

HAPPENINGS in the BIG CITIES

He Wanted to Draw Out Only a Hundred Million

NEW YORK—A short, heavy-set man neatly dressed walked into the Wall street entrance of the subway early in the afternoon and said: "I want to draw $100,000,000 as soon as possible." Hugh Byron, who has been a special officer in the building for many years and knows almost all of the big men in the financial district by sight, stepped up to the visitor.

"What did you say your name was?" he asked.

"Why, don't you know me?" the man asked in surprise.

"I ought to," admitted Byron, "but—"

"Why, I'm John D. Rockefeller and I want to draw this small amount as a matter of convenience."

"I'm very sorry, Mr. Rockefeller," answered Byron, "but we haven't that amount in the vaults at the present time."

"Very well," was the response, "I'll go elsewhere."

About an hour later the man reappeared.

"Say," he said, "I've been down the street to a bank, where they couldn't do anything for me, and then I went to the Equitable building, which I own, and they couldn't help me there. What shall I do?"

The suggestion was made that the visitor transact his business over the telephone, it being added that he might be accommodated if he would leave his office address.

"Why," the stranger said without hesitation, "I'm down at 26 Broadway. You can get me there at any time."

"What room are you in?" was asked.

"Oh, any room," was the answer. "I own the building." And then the man turned to his questioners suspiciously and said: "Are you trying to kid me?"

Assured that no one was fooling him the visitor left the building, after thanking as many of the men in it as he could reach for their courtesy and was last seen going in Wall street in the direction of the river.

"Why," the stranger said without hesitation, "I'm down at 26 Broadway. You can get me there at any time."

"What room are you in?" was asked.

"Oh, any room," was the answer. "I own the building." And then the man turned to his questioners suspiciously and said: "Are you trying to kid me?"

Assured that no one was fooling him the visitor left the building, after thanking as many of the men in it as he could reach for their courtesy and was last seen going in Wall street in the direction of the river.

"Why," the stranger said without hesitation, "I'm down at 26 Broadway. You can get me there at any time."

"What room are you in?" was asked.

"Oh, any room," was the answer. "I own the building." And then the man turned to his questioners suspiciously and said: "Are you trying to kid me?"

Assured that no one was fooling him the visitor left the building, after thanking as many of the men in it as he could reach for their courtesy and was last seen going in Wall street in the direction of the river.

Sharp Albany Woman Traps Smuggled Chinamen

ALBANY, N. Y.—Through the quick wit of Mrs. William Chambers, ticket agent on the Greenbush bridge, which spans the Hudson river at this point, Albert B. Wiley, Chinese inspector of the United States immigration bureau, made a sensational arrest of alien Chinese. For weeks Inspector Wiley, aided by revenue officers and the local police, had a net spread about Albany for Chinese smugglers. The arrests sent to jail four Chinese, together with William Carpenter of Lewiston, Ky., and Charles Baker of Hamilton, Canada. The white men are accused of trying to smuggle the yellow men into this country.

Stepping from the Federal building at Broadway and State street, just before noon, Mr. Wiley saw a covered automobile speeding toward the Greenbush bridge. A yellow face peering from beneath curtains aroused his suspicion, and, commanding an automobile, he darted in pursuit. Dodging trolley cars and other vehicles, the two machines made a wild drive for the bridge leading across the river on the highway toward New York. At the approach to the bridge Mr. Wiley leaped from his running board and with a drawn revolver commanded the driver of the other automobile to halt. It looked as if the automobile carrying the Chinese was about to make a dash across the bridge. A shrill whistle blown by Mrs. Chambers, the gate tender, however, drew the driver of the bridge to a halt. That caused the automobile to stop, and when the blankets were torn aside four Chinese were found beneath in quarters supplied with food, in which they had made their journey across the state. Inspector Wiley said the Chinese would be worth $250 each in New York.

Molasses Glues Girl and Rescuers to Street

NEW YORK—Miss Margaret O'Leary arose the other day feeling all stuck up. And well she might, for the night before she stood glued to the intersection of Third avenue and Twenty-fifth street by a hoghead of molasses that tumbled off Frank Timmons' truck and burst.

For fully an hour Miss O'Leary stuck there, firm as a porous plaster, while the plot and the molasses both thickened. Stranded in midair, looking "just too sweet for anything," Miss O'Leary got gummer and gummer in her efforts to be loose, while her father, her brother, and her mother, who were bound to stay, stood by her side, stamping fitfully, one by one and—stuck.

One young Lochinvar at last strode off West Twenty-fifth street and, inch by inch, drip by drip, drop by drop, struggled to break the girl loose, gathered her in his arms and—stuck.

At this juncture up rushed Patrolman Sheehan, bellowing for hot water. He came just in time to prevent Margaret taking off her shoes and stockings before the enthusiastic crowd that lined the saccharine shores. So a water trail was blazed to the marooned and Miss O'Leary was carried forth, as sweet as she could be, but very ugly. She went home and her mother departed without giving him a name, and thus ended the tragedy of "The Lass and the Lasses."

New Orleans Beauty Wore the Smuggled Aigrets

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Justice gallantly awaits beauty's pleasure in New Orleans. Special Customs Agent W. H. Rowe, on the trail of aigrets worth $2,000, smuggled into New Orleans, found them at noon on the hat of Miss Zetta Hawkins, blonde and beautiful, who lives with her parents at 1529 Canal street.

The captain bowed and said: "Madame, I regret it most intensely, but I've come for those feathers; they were mine." "Oh, my darling little bonnet; won't you just let me try it on once more, officer," the young woman pleaded.

He consented to her slight request. Four girls came in and they, too, tried on the marvelous creation.

"Mr. Officer, I was just going to wear it to a party this afternoon. Now, won't you let me do it?" Oh, please.

Captain Rowe yielded and he set in her parlor from one to five o'clock. Bounding into her home, still jubilant in triumph, Miss Hawkins said: "Oh, officer, thank you so much. I set 'em all wild, and now," she added, turning aside to hide her tears, "you may take it."

British authorities, backed up by their French allies, have decreed that Tommies need not pay for whatever quarters they may have to occupy from time to time in France, though it is probable that some restitution will be made the landlords by one or both governments when the war is over and opportunity to settle the cases presents itself.

When a man loses his temper look out for a stinging retort.

In Woman's Realm

Frock of Taffeta Should by All Means Be Included in the Outfit of the Girl Graduate—Dainty Touches That May Be Achieved by the Proper Selection of Pretty and Appropriate Neckwear, of Which There Is Plenty.

Outfitting the girl graduate for the closing of her school days and for her summertime occupations will certainly include providing her with one pretty frock of taffeta. There is no end to the variety in dresses of this kind, but among them all none more suited to a young girl could be found than the simple, cool-looking and graceful model which is shown in the picture. The straight-hanging skirt is merely four lengths of the silk stitched together and hemmed. It is gathered with a narrow waistband. Two bands of taffeta, about four inches wide, are cut on the straight of the goods and edged with a narrow ruffle of the silk. This edging is set on to the band with a small piping and is cut on the bias of the silk. A plain underbodice of chiffon or crepe has long easy-fitting cut sleeves. The skeleton overbodice is narrowed at the back and front except about the waistline, where the back is joined to the front pieces. It blouses a little and is luffed into the belt at the front. There is a wide crushed girde of the silk, and a gandies are used. These capes prove to be gems as accessories. Demure and quiet looking as they are, they succeed in focusing attention on themselves and are to be worn for outdoor dress as well as in the house. They are larger than the capes and cape collars similar in style but not intended for street wear. Plain borders and hemstitching or plaited frills and hemstitching finish them.

PRETTY FROCK OF TAFFETA.

Ruffs are made of malles for wear with tailored or silk suits and often

It does one good at any time to make the tour of the market, walking among the women with their strange fruits and vegetables, and buying a penny's worth here and a half-penny's worth there for the sheer delight of it all.

"Buy a ripe banana!" they will call out melliflously, or "Buy a sweet orange!" or "Half-penny! Half-penny! Buy a cake!" And looking down into their engaging brown faces one desires forthwith to buy everything.

A quartet, or "penny-a-penny," as they say quickly with soft elisors, is a favorite coin among the small denominations. It is a quarter of a shilling, and for this price one can buy three or four oranges, or perhaps twice as many bananas. A stranger rarely ever cares to pay more than this for star apples or naseberries, which require an educated taste for enjoyment; but pawpaws, resembling our cantaloupes, and chocos, similar to our white squash, are delicious. As for tangerines and guava, they are joys forever.

Market Women in Serap. Picking my way gingerly one day among the scores of seated and stooping vendors, and being very careful not to step into the little piles of peppers and what not that they were outspread everywhere, I plunged into the midst of a lively scrap between two colored women. One of them, who had been seated on a box in the sunshine, inaudible with her long vigil, had picked up her seat and moved it back plump into the midst of her neighbor and her neighbor's wares, all outspread together on the ground. The result was a scrimmage, with much pushing and chattering, all of which was so funny that my amusement set them laughing aloud, and the trouble ground up in a good natured romp among them. And, oh, but the sun was hot, and the blinding white light quivered out upon the waters of the harbor.

A row of stalls runs along one side of the market, where sticky sweets are sold, most unappealing to foreign sensibilities. The stuff is laded out from a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

Jamaica's Fascinating Markets

IN THE JUBILEE MARKET, KINGSTON

THERE are two great public markets in Kingston, Jamaica, where the natives sell their fruits and vegetables and all sorts of local commodities for little more than their own labor. These are Victoria Market, by the harbor at the foot of King street, where war vessels and colliers sail in to port across the blue waters of the Caribbean almost daily, and Jubilee Market, further up town, and fronting the public square where are the great banyan trees and all manner of tropical plants.

The daily supplies are brought to market by the natives in large flat baskets borne on their heads or in panniers on the backs of the small burros that are the beaten beasts of the island, says a writer in the New York Sun. These little beasts, hardly larger than big dogs, are led or driven, their owners generally walking beside them.

In the open spaces of the market women vendors take up their positions for the day on the bare ground or perhaps seated on low boxes, with their slender stock in trade spread out in little heaps about them. These consist of a few yams, or bread fruit, or naseberries, or whatever they may chance to have, and upon which they make enough to supply even their simplest necessities. They pay about a shilling and sixpence per week as license for the space that they and their wares occupy and clear security enough to supply even their simplest necessities. They pay about a shilling and sixpence per week as license for the space that they and their wares occupy and clear security enough to supply even their simplest necessities.

They are cheerful and happy, and the soft, continuous patter of their voices, as they gossip and trade all day suggests the name of the town, "Women's Tongues," whose dry pods rustle together so musically in the country lanes.

It does one good at any time to make the tour of the market, walking among the women with their strange fruits and vegetables, and buying a penny's worth here and a half-penny's worth there for the sheer delight of it all.

"Buy a ripe banana!" they will call out melliflously, or "Buy a sweet orange!" or "Half-penny! Half-penny! Buy a cake!" And looking down into their engaging brown faces one desires forthwith to buy everything.

A quartet, or "penny-a-penny," as they say quickly with soft elisors, is a favorite coin among the small denominations. It is a quarter of a shilling, and for this price one can buy three or four oranges, or perhaps twice as many bananas. A stranger rarely ever cares to pay more than this for star apples or naseberries, which require an educated taste for enjoyment; but pawpaws, resembling our cantaloupes, and chocos, similar to our white squash, are delicious. As for tangerines and guava, they are joys forever.

Market Women in Serap. Picking my way gingerly one day among the scores of seated and stooping vendors, and being very careful not to step into the little piles of peppers and what not that they were outspread everywhere, I plunged into the midst of a lively scrap between two colored women. One of them, who had been seated on a box in the sunshine, inaudible with her long vigil, had picked up her seat and moved it back plump into the midst of her neighbor and her neighbor's wares, all outspread together on the ground. The result was a scrimmage, with much pushing and chattering, all of which was so funny that my amusement set them laughing aloud, and the trouble ground up in a good natured romp among them. And, oh, but the sun was hot, and the blinding white light quivered out upon the waters of the harbor.

A row of stalls runs along one side of the market, where sticky sweets are sold, most unappealing to foreign sensibilities. The stuff is laded out from a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

And then the orange woman wanted to return to my case to New York, the daisy girl everywhere wanted to be, being willing to work for next to nothing for the opportunity of coming to the States. They are so pitifully poor in their own country!

Coming away after a morning's stroll through Jubilee Market I helped a big, slanting daisy girl to pin up her skirt, which was slipping loose, and received a grinning "Tanky, Missy, tanky!" in reward. Then passing over to a stall where another daisy woman sold oranges I stopped and bought four for a quarter. It was very warm and they were cool and luscious.

SUBLIME COURAGE AS IT IS SEEN IN THE HOSPITALS BEHIND VERDUN

Unconquerable Spirit of the French Soldier Is Manifested at Receiving Stations, Where Stir of Battle and Incentive to Brave Deeds Are Lacking—Day With Wounded Described in Graphic Letter From Noted Writer.

Paris.—The unconquerable spirit of the French soldier, as manifested in the field hospital to which the American ambulance men are hurrying the seriously wounded from the relief stations in the immediate rear of the fighting lines at Verdun, is told in graphic fashion by a noted French writer, A. Voliva, as a result of a visit which he was permitted to make in the fifth week of the great battle.

"On the previous day," he writes, "the great guns had been roaring unceasingly, with a hoarse, thunderous noise and with formidable explosions of fury which made the windows rattle and caused the last of the snow to fall from the roof. On this morning the silence is almost complete.

"It is a sign that the infantry is attacking," says the sergeant in charge of supplies, who is something of a strategist. "We are soon going to be busy."

"Very soon the dull roll of the ambulances is heard. It can be recognized among the bounding and tearing noises of the ordinary war."

"The bell rings three times, which means that there are three wounded men, and the litters are hurriedly brought out into the yard.

"The stretcher is always the cause of a special touch of emotion. Will they be able to save the wounded man? Is it life or is it death?"

"In the case of the two first comes there is nothing serious to fear. They are two subalterns, two boys, and they have become acquainted on the way. Although their looks are still full of astonished stupefaction, they try to laugh, happy at having fought well and at being alive, even merely so, although a thigh has been broken and a lung pierced. One of them has his helmet tightly pressed on his breast.

"No, don't take it away; don't take it away," he pleads. "I shall take it to bed with me; it is my friend, my savior, and he points to an enormous slash in the blue steel. To think that I came off so easy! With only a damaged leg."

"The other smiles gently as he breathes heavily. He is blond, with a light down on his cheeks and his eyes are blue, and his whole appearance boyish."

"Lieutenant," says the attendant who is emptying his pockets, "you have a military card and letters which are not in your name."

"The young man raises his eyebrows.

"Oh, yes, I remember," he says suddenly. "I had just been hit, and when I was against the bank, I was nearly frozen and my teeth were chattering. In the neighborhood a company was about to start to the attack. Then one of the soldiers, an old fellow with a big mustache and kindly eyes, leaned over me and said, 'You are cold, poor boy.' He took off his coat and threw it over me, and then I saw him running in his shirt-sleeves to catch up with the others."

"Here is a photograph of his wife and children," said the attendant, "and also his purse."

"It was a worn leather purse, with a gold piece, a few cents, and three cigarettes in it, the entire fortune of the soldier."

"What a good fellow," sighs the little lieutenant. "I don't know him and it would not be easy to find him now; it will be a case for the special bureau."

"A major and a captain," announces an ambulance driver.

"The major's gray head shakes with the movement of the carriers. His eyelids are like dark cavities in a face frightfully discolored. His purple lips continuously murmur words in a spasmodic and touching way: 'Quick—Telephone—They are holding—More munitions—Ah, the fine boys!—They have got there—Fine!'

"Someone raises the covering, and from the neck to the feet the great body of the major is revealed wound up in reddened bandages, like a mummy in rusted strips. At the first relief post they had not applied their pains in dressing his wounds."

"Are you suffering, major?" he is asked.

"His eyelids slowly uncover the already dimmed pupils. His distant look turns to the fresh face of the attendant and to the white cap of the nurse, and then, with a peculiar accent of gentleness and exhaustion, he says: 'No, my boy; no, my little girl.'"

"His eyelids drop suddenly, closed forever."

"Madame, an attendant says to the chief nurse, 'Please tell the captain that he is not reasonable. He wants to get into bed by himself, and he has a fragment of shell in his side.'"

"The captain is a young officer of chasseur, slender, vigorous, with his cap on his ear. Seated on the stretcher, he is making efforts to rise, and a little grimace twists his mouth."

"Madame," he says, "I present my compliments. I don't want to be carried. I am not a little girl. What would my chasseur say? Ah, madame, the fine boys, the fine boys! If I had seen them, I should have led them to the trenches to attack the food of Germans, and they fell; I saw them fall; in their own country!"

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle against death, which is eagerly on the watch."

"There is a more lengthy delay at the bed of a lieutenant who has just been brought in. His stiff hair is curly and his face is like a sculpture in wax. His eyes are clear and bright, clear color and they look sharply at the faces that bend over him."

"All right," says the surgeon at last, in a gentle voice. His eyes wandered to the bed table and he observed an open letter in a graceful feminine handwriting, on which the three words, 'I love you,' stand out sharply. He covered up the wounded officer and tucked in the covering around him quite tenderly.

"We shall not touch you tonight, he adds. 'You are not suffering too much? Good, you will have a sedative. Rest well and good-night.'"

"As the surgeon leaves the room he makes a gesture across his abdomen from one side to the other and whispers: 'He is lost; cut right across. He has no pulse and he will not live till morning. And what a magnificent boy; such courage and such a brave look. It's dreadful to feel that one can do nothing.'"

"Madame, the lieutenant with the MAMMOTHE OF THE BIRDS

"The chief surgeon and his assistants come along. He has just left the operating room; his linen coat is stained with blood and he holds his hands, covered with rubber gloves, high in the air. Under his white cap his face, crossed by a thin mustache, appears thin and hollow, with the strained, sharp expression evoked by a day of work at high pressure."

"He stops before each bed, consults the chart, makes a brief examination and pronounces a few brief words. No time to lose, for there will be operations all night long."

"The Battle With Death."

"Send this one to the operating room at once. Yes, captain; it will be a quick affair. Send that next. Give him 500 centigrades of serum in the meantime. Give that other one camphorated oil, maximum dose."

"It is the bitter, determined struggle

WHEN YOU THINK OF HARDWARE THINK OF RAINES

A Good McNESS Territory
In Bulloch County

I want a man who is HONEST, ENERGETIC, and strictly sober to sell McNESS Remedies in Bulloch county.

We would also like to have some energetic men in adjoining counties.

If you are interested and want to make from $100.00 to $150.00 per month write me. I have sold on the road for one of the largest medical concerns in America and have had lots of experience in auditing for the same company.

I can prove to any intelligent man that the McNESS way of doing business is far superior to the "TRIAL OUT OF THE BOTTLE PLAN."

ALVIN J. WAGES,
Auburn, Ga.
Southern Solicitor.

5-18 2 p.

Be a Booster Swat the Rooster

Get Some Better Eggs

May 19th has been named as "Swat the Rooster Day" for Georgia by the State College of Agriculture, and I am anxious that we shall observe it in this county.

This is one of the very best moves ever made in Georgia for better eggs in the summer time, less cussing by the buyers and consumers of eggs, and more money for the farmer or the farmer's wife.

Everybody is afraid to eat eggs in the summer for fear of eating premature chicks, or spoiled eggs. This results in low prices for eggs because of shy demand.

On that day let's kill, sell, or confine every rooster in the county. If we do this by the first week in June all the eggs produced will be fertile and general rejoicing will be heard from the producers, merchants and consumers.

I want to ask that every person who reads this article will ask that his neighbor co-operate in the move to get rid of the roosters. The merchants can co-operate very effectively in this move by offering a better price for the roosters during the next week.

In connection with this fight on the rooster and for better eggs I have a number of posters sent me by the college I propose to place all over the county.

Let's pull together on this move. "BE A BOOSTER, SWAT THE ROOSTER."

Sincerely,
W. F. Whitley,
County Agricultural Agent.

First Cotton Stalk

From the Farm of D. A. Brannen

D. A. Brannen brought in what is quite likely the first cotton stalk of the season. It is from his place worked by a tenant, John Hendley. Mr. Brannen has about twenty acres of Sea Island of the same grade planted and is confident with no outlook for disasters he will have the first bale in this section. The stalk measured fully twelve inches from the ground to the face of the root to the tip of the leaf, and is splendidly developed, notwithstanding the very dry season, that has prevailed. Mr. Brannen used Swift Fertilizer and planted early.

HAVE YOU BEEN SICK?

Then you realize the utter weakness that robs ambition, destroys appetite, and makes work a burden.

To restore that strength and stamina that is so essential, nothing has ever equaled or compared with Scott's Emulsion, because its strength-sustaining, nourishment invigorates the blood to distribute energy throughout the body while its tonic value sharpens the appetite and restores health in a natural, permanent way. If you are run down, tired, nervous, overworked or lack strength, get Scott's Emulsion today. It is free from alcohol.

Scott & Bower, Bloomfield, N. J.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES
AT THE AGRICULTURE SCHOOL

The largest graduating class in the history of the First District Agricultural school will receive their diplomas Monday evening May 22nd. The following will graduate: Misses Maxie Alderman, Ila Sowell, Ollie DeLoach, Louise Graham and Daniel Bland, of Bulloch county; Ruby Cail and Annie Evans, of Screven; Miss Bertie Cox, Nathaniel Dugger, Reginald Horn, George Schrenk and Fillmore Simms, of Bryan; Hampton Dasher, of Kilmington; Parker Kiehligher, of Tattnall; Harley Lee, of Wayne; Miss Zeta Parrish, of Chandler; Miss Esther Paulson, of DeWitt; Pansmore, and Ponce Ryals, of Liberty; Miss Celia Wilcox, of Polaski; and Miss Myrtice and John Wilkes, of Toombs.

The commencement exercises Monday evening will commence at eight o'clock. Representative papers from the agricultural, mechanical, domestic science and art departments will be read and these numbers will be interspersed with vocal and piano music. Hon. D. M. Parker, of Waycross, will deliver the commencement address and this will be followed by the delivery of diplomas and medals.

Saturday evening at eight o'clock. The students of the school will give an operetta entitled "The Pennant." No admission fee will be charged to this.

Sunday morning Dr. R. E. Douglas, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Macon, will preach the commencement sermon.

Monday morning of the 22nd at nine o'clock the agricultural, mechanical, domestic science and art departments will exhibit work of their respective departments. The commencement exercises of Monday evening concludes the school work of this year.

HENRY F. MEYER

New Commercial Agent of
S. & S. Ry.

S. T. Grimshaw, Gen'l Sup'r of the Savannah & Statesboro Ry., announces that Henry F. Meyer is now officially connected with the S. & S. as commercial agent replacing Mr. King who recently resigned to go with the G. & F. Mr. Meyer comes highly recommended having been for several years connected with the Seaboard Ry. Mr. Meyer will make Statesboro his headquarters and is installed in the general offices in the Bank of Statesboro Bldg.

IMMENSE SILO FOR TRUCKS

Bulloch Land and Development Co., W. G. Raines
Mgr. to Build 125 Ton
Store Pit

One of the largest if not the largest silo in this section will be constructed at once by the Bulloch Land and Development Co. at Trucks, near Brooklet, W. G. Raines, Mgr., is preparing to engage extensively in live stock industry and the most modern appliances becomes at once a necessity, hence the enormous silo.

FOR LEASE

Will lease free my house and lot at Statesboro, Ga., to any one for two years who will live in the house and make proper repairs. G. S. Johnston, Statesboro, Ga., is authorized to pass necessary papers.

Mrs. Nannie C. Williams,
403 7th Ave., Tampa, Fla.
5-18 2 t. c.

MRS. CASON HAD NO HOPE
OF RETURNING ALIVE

Went to Atlanta Six Weeks Ago Propped Up On Pillows—Takes Tanlac and Gains 35 Pounds.

About ten days ago J. B. Battle went into Jacob's Pharmacy at Atlanta to get a bottle of Tanlac for his sister-in-law, Mrs. O. C. Cason, who lives some distance out, near Acworth. While making the purchase Mr. Battle told of the wonderful improvement in Mrs. Cason's condition since she began using the medicine about six weeks ago.

He also made the statement that Mrs. Cason felt so grateful for the wonderful benefit she had received that she wanted to make a public statement, as she felt it her duty to tell the whole world about Tanlac. He then suggested that Dr. Elder, the Tanlac Representative at Jacob's, call at the residence for a personal interview.

When Dr. Elder called at Mr. Battle's residence on English avenue, the following morning it happened that Mr. Battle, himself, met him at the door and very cordially invited him into his living room. Mrs. Cason, who was bright and happy, soon made her appearance and began with delight to tell of the wonderful recovery of her health, and her statement will go down in history as being one of the most remarkable ever given a proprietary medicine. Here is her story in her own words:

"About six weeks ago I left my home on our farm near Acworth, Ga., to come to my sisters home here in Atlanta, and I left with only a shadow of hope of ever returning alive to my home and husband."

"I left Acworth," she continued, "in a comfortable automobile, propped up on pillows, coming through the country. I had almost as much medicine as I had baggage—a big box full of all kinds of medicine that had been prescribed for me. I reached here very weak and exhausted and with scarcely enough strength to walk to the door. This trouble, from which I had suffered so long, had reduced me to almost a shadow, as I only weighed 60 pounds."

"My brother-in-law, Mr. Battle said: 'Well you have tried everything else with no relief, now I want you to lay aside your "drug shop" and take Tanlac.' Of course, I was willing to try it, for the whole country. Well, he got it for me and I started on my first bottle that day."

"When I had taken about half of the first bottle I began to feel stronger and encouraged. I continued to take it and it is nothing short of marvelous how I improved day by day. I felt myself further and further from the grave. My appetite returned and my food seemed to nourish me and agree with me. My skin and complexion began clearing up and I improved in every way possible until I am now a well woman, and when I say well, I mean absolutely well. I say I want to tell the whole world that I thank God for Tanlac."

"I weigh 95 pounds now and feel as well as I ever felt in my life. I am going back to my husband and home on the little farm five miles from Acworth tomorrow, and won't it be a joyful meeting, returning to my husband and home absolutely well and happy—and won't I tell everybody about what Tanlac has done for me?"

"Yes, it is just like she says," chimed in Mr. Battle about this time. "Tanlac has simply robbed

NEWS
WANT
ADS

BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word
In Advance.

Minimum Charge 15 cts.

For Sale, For Rent, Lost and Found, Rooms and Board, Help Wanted . .

For Sale Pure bred dogs for breeding. Get ready for the packing plant. Consult W. H. Hicklin, Southern Breeders Sales Co., Columbus, Ga. 4-27 ind. c.

Notice This is to notify all people not to trade for property offered for sale by Mrs. C. Bouchard without first consulting the undersigned C. A. Bouchard. 4-27 4 t. p.

Wanted Would like to communicate with parties owning a small mill and desires to contract the logging and sawing of their timber at its present location. Address P. O. Box 506, Statesboro, Ga.

Wanted Fresh country butter for delivery in Savannah, Ga. Address "Butter," care Statesboro News.

Wanted To lease some lands for cattle raising; give location, acreage, and price. Address "Cattle," care News.

Lost Tuesday afternoon in Statesboro one ladies small size black velvet change purse, containing soda water check Summit Drug Co., and about $10.00 in currency. Finder will please deliver to Trappell-Mikell Co., and get reward.

For Sale We have plenty of goano on hand if you need any see us. E. A. Smith Grain Co. 5-11 ind. c.

Wanted Bring your left over Cotton Seed. We buy in any quantity. E. A. Smith Grain Co. 5-11 ind. c.

Wanted White, Red and Water Oak Stave and Heading Bolts. Write for prices and specifications. The Southern Cotton Oil Company, Coopers Department, Savannah, Ga. 5-18 1 t. c.

Wanted Agents for the Mc Ness Remedies, Best selling in America. A live man can make $150 per month. Address Alvin J. Wages, Auburn, Ga. 5-18 2 t. p.

For Sale High grade mandarin in first class condition will sell for great reduction in real value. Apply Statesboro News Stationary store.

For Lease Will lease free my house and lot at Excessboro, Ga., to anyone for two years who will live in the house and make proper repairs. G. S. Johnston, Statesboro, Ga., is authorized to pass necessary papers. Mrs. Nannie C. Williams, 403 7th Ave., Tampa, Fla. 5-18 2 t. c.

HEAD BOLTS WANTED

WHITE, RED AND WATER OAK STAVE AND HEADING BOLTS. WRITE FOR PRICES AND SPECIFICATIONS. THE SOUTHERN COTTON OIL COMPANY, COOPERAGE DEPARTMENT, SAVANNAH, GA. 5-18 1 t. c.

the grave, and if you could have seen her when she started on this medicine, you would say the same thing.

"I didn't know at the time just what her trouble was, but the doctors said she had Pellagra. She may have had it, for all I know, but there is one thing certain, she hasn't got it now, or at least you wouldn't think so if you could see her. I told her, jokingly, the other day, that she was eating me out of house and home. I don't guess there ever was a case like hers, and there is one thing certain, you can count on us telling everybody about it, because I fully believe she owes her life to this medicine today."

Tanlac is sold exclusively in Statesboro by W. H. Ellis Co. and in Metter by Franklin Drug Co., in Brooklet by H. G. Parrish.

—Adv.

If you are going on a Fishing Trip, Come in and let us fix you up. Our Line is Complete.

Rods, Reels, Minnows, and all Kinds of Lines

Just Received a New Line of Cane Poles
We are Headquarters for the Sportsman

Don't Forget the Place. The New Store at The Old Stand

BALFOUR-MELVIN HARDWARE CO.
16 East Main St.

FIRE
Homes and Horses

Aetna Fire Insurance Co; Cash Capital $5000000

Hartford Fire Insurance Co; Cash Capital $3000000

I represent the above Fire Insurance Co's in Bulloch County. These are among the oldest and largest Companies in America.

If you live in the country or town and your residence barns and stock are not covered by a Fire Policy, telephone or send me a postal card and I will call at once.

R. H. WARNOCK

Trade Mark Registered
PHOSLIME
FOR COTTON

Use it
And Get Results

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY
Prices F. O. B. Phoslime, Fla., in Bags

CAR LOAD LESS THAN CARLOAD
$9.00 Per Ton $10.00 Per Ton

WRITE FOR BOOKLET

FLORIDA SOFT PHOSPHATE & LIME CO.
BOX 462 Ocala, Florida

High grade mandarin in first class condition will sell for great reduction in real value. Apply Statesboro News Stationary store.

Will lease free my house and lot at Excessboro, Ga., to anyone for two years who will live in the house and make proper repairs. G. S. Johnston, Statesboro, Ga., is authorized to pass necessary papers. Mrs. Nannie C. Williams, 403 7th Ave., Tampa, Fla. 5-18 2 t. c.

Mid - Summer
Dresses of Individual
Smartness

Easily made at home with the chic new designs shown in the beautifully illustrated

McCall Book of Fashions

(NOW ON SALE)

A whole section devoted to color suggestions and fabric hints

All the most approved Summer styles shown in this encyclopedia of Fashion information.

STATESBORO MERCANTILE CO.,
Statesboro, - Georgia

SEND US YOUR Job Printing

Shriners In Atlanta Next Week

Yaarab Temple Will Entertain High Priest Kendrick of Phila., Pa.

Atlanta, May 25.—There is going to be some big times in Atlanta next week, June 1st, when the Shriners get to town. They are coming several thousand strong from all parts of Georgia and the southeastern and southern states to a ceremonial at the city auditorium. Potentate Walter P. Andrews and his committee of Yaarab Temple have already made all preparations for the event, which promises to be the biggest thing of its kind ever pulled off by a single shrine temple in the south. Six thousand Shriners are expected, including a dozen or more potentate with their patrols and bands. It will take more than an hour to witness the parade in the afternoon. At night the auditorium will be a scene of oriental splendor.

Yaarab Temple, with its 2,500 members, are making a big record for themselves and under the leadership of Potentate Andrews promise to make one of the hits at the National convention in Buffalo in July. One of the national officers will be the guest of the temple at the ceremonial next week. He is Imperial High Priest and Prophet Fredrick Kendrick of Lulu Temple, Philadelphia.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadlin, Spencerport, N.Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done "Wonders for Me."

Farm Lands Increase 5 Per Cent Annually

Make Money By Mortgaging, But Don't Try It

Atlanta, Ga., May 24.—Here's some good news for the farmer—an announcement which seems to show that the tillers of the soil with a mortgage on their land are called lucky.

The average value of farm lands in the United States, according to government figures just received in Atlanta, has been increasing at the rate of about 5 per cent annually for several years, and the increase last year was no less than 10 per cent.

The first effect of this announcement will be to make every farm owner feel rich. And the owner will be justified in a certain amount of self-congratulation. It should be recognized, however, that much of this increase is illusory. The land is worth more dollars, but those dollars will not buy so much. Values in general are rising—which is to say, the value of the dollar is sinking.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.

Thus if a farm is carried on borrowed money, an added value of 5 per cent a year will nearly take care of the interest, and the debtor makes a sort of profit by paying the principle with cheaper money.

The man who profits most, however, is the farmer with a mortgage. This is a truth that has been given little attention. While prices are rising—and money deprecating—the long-term debtor doesn't pay back as much as he borrowed, because the sum he pays back will not buy, now, what it bought when he borrowed it.