GENERAL MELDRIM
IN TATTNALL

"Gen. P. W. Meldrim has proven his right to be called the 'little gentleman,' as some of his friends here have affectionately styled him. We have heard him make four speeches in the interest of his candidacy for Congress, and not once have we heard him utter one word against his opponent; more than that, in his speeches we have yet to hear him call his opponent's name, or to even refer to him. Would that this could be said of Mr. Overstreet."

(Tattall Journal) July 13, 1916.

Eld. Sam Whitley To Preach.

The Lord willing, Eld. Sam Whitley, of Thomaston, will preach at the Primitive church Monday night, Tuesday night, and Tuesday night, next. He's among our ablest preachers and we speak for him a good house.

The Spectacled Bear.

The spotted bear of Ecuador is so called because of a patch of white around each eye, which makes the animal look as though he was wearing a pair of spectacles. In size and general color the spotted bear looks not unlike the American black bear. But his hair is very shaggy. At each side of the head is a white bar, which gives the animal the appearance of wearing a collar. But the most distinctive feature is the white around the eyes.

A Regular Thing.

"About a year."

Mary Has a Little Vote.

The voters of Illinois, working under a township option law, have driven the saloon from 1,240 of their 1,430 townships. Fifty-three of the 102 counties of the state are entirely dry. Under a county option law—which they will work for in the next election—the anti-liquor leaders claim that in the first round of elections ninety-six counties will go dry. Wherever "Mary's vote gets in, John Barleycorn gets out."

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a nervous system, but when health is failing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headache, dizziness, nervousness, irritability and other disorders, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the thin nerves and the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

Am I Doing Wrong by Ex-hibiting Motion Pictures

Motion pictures appeal to me very strongly on account of their tremendous power for education and entertainment. Every child loves to look thru a book with pictures in it. Nearly everyone, old or young, enjoys pictures in magazines, art galleries or wherever they may be. This fundamental instinct or quality in human nature is the main reason for the wonderful popularity of motion pictures, and for the same reason I am sure the films have come to stay.

The educational possibilities alone are almost beyond comprehension. For those who cannot travel, the motion picture opens up a magic wonderland of beautiful lawns and flowers, fine architecture and sublime scenery. The industries of the world are brought to our doors, and we learn all about them without the weary routine of school drudgery.

Human nature craves pleasure and recreation. The photoplay is admirably suited for this. Any normal young man would rather go to a picture show than to a saloon. The acting out of great truths, both religious and social, hilarious comedy that can drive away the blues faster than anything else can, and a thousand other fine things could never be enjoyed without motion pictures.

I have booked the Paramount Program because I feel that those back of it are trying to give the cleanest and best pictures possible.

A great many films have descended all the censorship; they received and more, too. The puzzle to me is why do not the film producers stop howling about censorship and get down to clean, correct pictures? I can never believe that the majority of picture patrons, anywhere, in the city or country, demand what some exhibitors and producers say they do. And even if some do demand vampire stuff and the like, they should be refused. If a man is to drink poison would that be a good reason for giving it to him? It is wrong in principle, and every film producer should insist on pictures as clean and correct as those found in the child's story book, which will be just as interesting and as good for the general success of the business.

Isn't it far better to take fallen human nature away from its sordid self and show it the higher things? Divorce, suicide, married men and women flitting with others, murder and drinking of liquor should never be shown in pictures at all, or if absolutely necessary to a plot that is really good in itself, they should be made as obscure as possible. The vast majority of picture goers like the simple stories of love and adventure, the domestic animals, the beauties of nature, children, and, of course, always clean humor that is catchy and natural.

The Dog and the Judge.

Like all lovers of dogs, we hate a dog show. The agony of nervousness that all that pandemonium of noise and nonsense must cause in any high strung dog is not pleasant to contemplate. There is something comically comic, too, in the sight of a huge Irish wolfhound, long, gaunt and gray—a very Lincoln among dogs in his majestic simplicity—being judged by a fussy little forked radical in spats and checked waistcoat. Judged, indeed! We wonder what the wolfhound thinks of it all—Life.

Notwithstanding the faults of many of the pictures, most of them are clean and interesting, and I am thankful for these. There is no justice in condemning all films because some are bad. It is easy work to entertain people with good moving pictures, and if I can thus satisfy their craving for pleasure and diversion I am doing a great deal toward keeping them on the pathway of life which is pure and wholesome.

Municipal Power House Improvements
New Business Could Reduce Cost of Current

Statesboro's municipally owned light and water power house has emerged from a process of repair and new equipment that has been under way for some weeks and is now about complete with an additional new 250 h. p. Babcock & Wilcox boiler of the watertube type, the same as in service in the Savannah Electric Company's $1,000,000 power house. There is also an air compressor capable of pumping 1,000 gallons p. m. Practically a new fire proof structure boiler room. The old and now reserve boiler has been thoroughly overhauled and reset.

A new 106x5 ft. steel smoke stack has been installed on a concrete and brick base. The improvements are substantial and probably cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

In this age of wonderful electrical progress and proven results in many towns that have installed modern electrical equipment exclusively, it becomes a question if in the end it would not have been more profitable for the tax payers to have installed a complete new plant while about it.

Quitman, Ga., is a very notable instance of an entirely new electrical plant of the latest and most modern type replacing a regular long proposition to a highly remunerative and profitable investment.

The prime object of a municipally owned public service institution, and the reason they are often taken from privately owned corporations is ostensibly that the public can be better served at less cost. When as a matter of fact this seldom works out as it should and the reason is that the corporation operates for profit based on business getting principles under the highest efficiency of employees and equipment obtainable.

The municipally owned public service institution frequently is juggled about under political upheavals and sort of runs itself. It is however commendable to say that Statesboro is entirely free from such a condition. From a mechanical and technical standpoint the plant is operated upon a satisfactory method and the records of the city have been meticulously conducted. What we are driving at is that the electric light plant falls way short of what it should accomplish as a municipally owned service utility. It should be one of the city's greatest assets and net earning institutions and at the same time afford its owners THE PEOPLE, a much greater service than it does.

As the administration now conduct the business of the light and water department from their standpoint of gross earning, and gross disbursement, it is all right; but from the standpoint of the individual consumer it is all wrong. Extension, maintenance, street lighting, free light and everything is dumped into one pot and called operation which the individual subscriber pays for at 11c per k. w. not only paying for what he consumes, but pays an unequal share of the cost of lighting the city and free institutions.

There are probably 340 or 350 meters in service in Statesboro. There should be 550 who should pay only for what they actually consume. Probably the actual cost of generating the electricity consumed by the individual users is not in excess of 2 3/4 or 3c per k. w. h.

The layman will ask what is the relief? The answer is the establishment of an aggressive new business getting department to connect up five or six hundred users and to put in effect a 24 hour service with a special effort to produce a day power service income, utilizing the present wasted energy in driving the

U. S. Federal Trade Commission

Investigating Paper Industry And Prices.

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—The Federal Trade Commission at Washington, of which Hon. W. J. Harris of Georgia is a member, is ready at work framing questions for its examination into the news print situation, and it will shortly be up to the various publishers to prove a case against the paper manufacturers, if such evidence exists.

A circular letter is being sent out asking for reports on paper consumed since 1913, together with the prices paid, the cost of freight, evidence of waste, and name of seller. Other pertinent inquiries will be made, tending to expose the entire inside situation of the paper business, and demonstrate whether the shortage is real or artificial.

If the blanks sent out by the commission are filled in intelligently and promptly, it will not take long to arrive at a conclusion as to what is the matter with the manufacture and sale of paper.

Uncle Nathaniel Comes Back At Dorsey

Put the Punch in Political Campaign.

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—If anyone had at heart the fight on aggressiveness or campaign "punch" the notion seems to be rather well dispelled by the vigorous manner in which the governor has engaged Hugh Dorsey on the issue of executive clemency.

One of the main planks in the platform of the ex-solicitor of Fulton superior court who came into prominence through his prosecution of Leo M. Frank, has been the charge that executive clemency "upsets the verdicts of juries and the judgements of courts," and the ex-solicitor was beginning to press the governor on the issue—until "Uncle Nat" opened up with a few facts concerning the record.

Beginning with the statement in a speech at Cartersville that Mr. Dorsey had applied to him for executive clemency in seventeen cases and waived objection in four other cases where executive clemency was asked, the governor pursued his opening by a production of the records to show that his statements were based entirely upon facts.

The governor's friends are urging him to call attention to a couple of cases in which Mr. Dorsey asked for executive clemency which up to date have not been brought in discussion, and if the governor decides to cite the records in these cases the campaign will become even livelier than it is already.

time it was established. Mr. Moore has been for many years a leader in the business life of the state and south. He served two years as president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and is now vice-president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

The Georgia Training School for Girls has the unique distinction of turning back to the state an unexpended balance of an appropriation. The school has a remarkable history. Its assets at this time, by report of the state's accountant are $41,510, which is $6,010 in excess of the entire state appropriation, for buildings, maintenance and everything else. It was established by the legislature three years ago. State Accountant Chas. J. Metz, in his report to the governor, declared that the school is to be commended for its efficient management.

Wilmer L. Moore Reappointed By Gov. Harris

Georgia Training School For Girls.

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Southern States Life Insurance Company of Atlanta, has been reappointed by Governor Harris as chairman of the board of managers of the Georgia Training School for Girls. By reason of his residence in Atlanta and nearest to the school the active control of the institution has been in the hands of Mr. Moore. He

A Georgia Legislator Defends Himself

From Rum Crazed Man. With Slash of Knife.

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—Asking a member of the Georgia legislature for a drink is mighty dangerous business unless you know your man, as recently demonstrated in the case of a "rum hound" who entered the hotel room of a distinguished senator and got himself severely slashed with a pocket knife because he insisted and grew angry when the senator could not quench his thirst.

On the rum hound's first visit the senator treated him good naturedly and explained that he would like to come across with a drink if he had one, but he didn't have one.

The thirsty stranger took his departure and the senator thought he had seen the last of him. But presently the rum hound returned and this time he demanded that the senator furnish him a drink, whereupon the senator lost his patience and ordered the stranger out. The stranger threw an empty bottle, the senator grew a knife, and the affair ended in police court with a judgement in favor of the senator.

Tax Equalization Repeal Fight

Practically Abandoned. In House and Senate.

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—Indications are that the fight of a large following in the house and senate to repeal the tax equalization law has been abandoned, at least for the present; and by the time another session rolls around, many of the members will be new and the organization of the present forces will have disbanded and the whole campaign, if such it may be called, against one of Georgia's best laws, will have to be worked up again.

After their first attempt to make the equalization repeal bill a special order in the house, which effort failed because the advocates of repeal could not muster the necessary three-fourths majority, the motion has been postponed from time to time, and is now scheduled to be reached again the latter part of the present week.

In the house, as well as in the senate, the repealing bills are so far down the calendar they cannot be reached at the present session in their regular order. Therefore, to bring them to a vote they must be made a special order. To make the special order, a three-fourths majority is required. This majority the advocates of repeal cannot muster, and hence they are headed off for the present session. The tax equalization law was one of the administrative measures of Governor John M. Slaton. Its repeal, according to those who favor its remaining permanently on the statute books, would cut down the taxable value of the state not less than one hundred and fifty million dollars.

The bulk of his property were farms in the country, that the country was the right arm and the city the left in the commercial and social world, and that there must be a unity of thought and action, both hands working together to get the best results. He added that Savannah was composed chiefly of people from the country that today, as never before, Georgia and the South need to send their men of ability to Washington to help solve the great problems that now confront this government; that he had dreamed of a great court of the Nation where all differences could be settled without resorting to war. He observed his able address by stressing the importance of service to his fellow men during this day and generation.

STATESBORO WALLOPED METTER WEDNESDAY

Statesboro plainly outlasted Metter yesterday in a 7-1 five inning game agreed upon by both clubs because of the sloppy condition of the field. The last game played between these clubs was a tie 4-4 in an eleven inning game. The home run by Gause was the feature of the game. ## Packing Plant Contract Was Awarded

Carson Construction Co., Savannah, General Builders

The song of the hammer and saw will soon be wafted o'er the breeze from Porkville, Statesboro's new suburban manufacturing site in the Northeastern section of the town, where the Bulloch Packing Co., will build the new $150,000 plant, the contract for which was awarded this week.

Since Monday the hotel Jackel has been the scene of keen rivalry among little groups of men figuring, and scanning large sheets of blue print drawings. They were representatives of manufacturing concerns throughout the country identified with the various branches of packing house construction and were here to bid on the new Bulloch Packing Co., plant.

Upwards of two dozen men were spirited bidders in their various lines, among whom were: Ed Demick, E. R. Fagin, and F. S. Strike of Atlanta, Ga.; C. P. Folsom of Dayton, O.; H. C. Taylor, Chattanooga, Tenn.; R. V. LaBarre of Birmingham, Ala.; E. T. Canfield, of Winston, Minn.; H. Fleming Kansas City, Mo.; J. W. Hawkins, Danville, Va.; Chas. B. Gabeury, Jacksonville, Ala.; and the Carson Construction Co., representative, Savannah, Ga.; Messrs. C. L. Brooks and John W. Greer of the Brooks Engineering Co., the drafting, consulting and superintending engineers in charge were present.

The Carson Construction Co., of Savannah were the successful bidders for the general building which when complete will cost $100,000. The plant will have a killing capacity of 2,000 hogs and 50 cattle per day. Originally it was intended to build a $75,000 plant with a freezing capacity of 200 hogs daily but the enormous number of hogs which are being raised in Bulloch and adjacent territory after careful investigation, convinced the directors that they would be making no mistake in starting with a 300 hog daily freezing capacity and so this is the magnitude of the enterprise.

The plant will be when completed the most modern and efficient in the United States under Government inspection, embodying the very latest devices, improvements and sanitary appliances.

Construction will begin at once, and the constructors are bonded to complete it by December 25th, 1916, and it will be in operation by February 1, 1917, marking an epoch in the material progress of Statesboro and Bulloch County.

MR. MELDRIM TALKS TO METTER CITIZENS. Introduced by Mr. Smith. Paid Big Tribute on Meeting Voters of Chandler

Metter, Ga., July 22.—Hon. P. W. Meldrim, candidate for Congress, addressed a large and enthusiastic audience in the court room at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was introduced by Charles Emory Smith, who referred to him as being a gentleman of distinction, a man whose intellect and able leadership head and shoulders above any Georgian today; a man who possesses all of the characteristics of a great statesman and none of the mean, dirty tricks of the demagogue and politician of today; a man who, if elected to Congress, would reflect far more credit upon his constituency than honor upon him. Gen. Meldrim spoke about one hour, and during his entire speech the audience was so quiet every to catch every word that he uttered, that one could have heard a pin drop.

The candidate first paid his respects to the progressive spirit of the people of Metter and Candler county. He said that he had been connected with school work all of his life and that he noticed with peculiar pride the honors that the Metter High school had taken in the contests at Athens. He complimented the local paper for its fairness toward his candidacy. He said that he was not a politician himself, nor was he the candidate of the politicians. He made his usual explanation, saying that he was reared in Old Trinity Methodist church, and that he had been a Mason for over forty years.

Mr. Meldrim said that Savannah had never furnished but one Congressman since the Civil War, and that Bulloch county had given him all of her votes, thus gaining the distinction of being called the banner county. He asked what interests are there in the whole district that he would not represent, that the bulk of his property were farms in the country, that the country was the right arm and the city the left in the commercial and social world, and that there must be a unity of thought and action, both hands working together to get the best results. He added that Savannah was composed chiefly of people from the country that today, as never before, Georgia and the South need to send their men of ability to Washington to help solve the great problems that now confront this government; that he had dreamed of a great court of the Nation where all differences could be settled without resorting to war. He observed his able address by stressing the importance of service to his fellow men during this day and generation.

125 TON SILO Under Construction at Truckers.

The Bulloch County Land and Development Company at Truckers began working Tuesday on a 125 Ton concrete Silo, under the supervision of Mr. R. M. Griddle, of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the State College of Agriculture at Athens. This silo will be the first concrete silo of such large capacity that was ever built in this section. The Truckers Farm is already up about 3,200 acres which is rapidly being placed under cultivation. It is the plan of the managers of this farm, to make of it a very large stock farm, combined with the portion of it which is already up about 3,200 acres, a truck farm. This tract is controlled by Statesboro capital, and managed by Mr. W. G. Raines.

Tom Stringfellow Gains 22 Pounds

Railroad Man Says Tanlac is The Only Thing That Ever Helped Him After Suffering Four Years.

"If the people of this town only knew what Tanlac had done for me you would see a thousand bottles tomorrow," said Tom Stringfellow, a well-known employee of the Southern Railway, who lives at 126 East Ninth Street, Anniston, Ala. Mr. Stringfellow is well known in railway circles and is from the Atlanta and Birmingham division. He has been unable to hear of his complete restoration to health.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion for four years," continued Mr. Stringfellow, "and got so weak I couldn't eat anything. I fell off until I only weighed 119 pounds and finally got so weak and rundown I was on the point of having to resign my position. To tell you the truth I just felt like a lifeless man. To do this, the teachers will have to see the work done and have it explained by the individual student."

The 4th and 5th of August will be the date of the examination for this year. The high school examination will be given on the first day. Those teachers who wish to renew will have to be present the first day. The examination will begin on the morning of the 4th at eight-thirty. Do not forget the date and the time for beginning. Those teachers who desire to take any part or kind of examination will have to begin the 4th of August. Cannot take the Reading Course or the High School on the 5th as has been requested by several teachers here.

The summer school for preparation for the examination is now under way under the management of Prof. G. E. Usher. This course helps the teachers wonderfully. The school will last up to the date of the examination. The girls who won scholarships to the short course at Athens last year will go to Athens on the 7th of August for the course. Those who won the Misses Nannie Lou DeLoach, Katie Lou Denmark, Zella Mikell, and Mabel Hagan. This will be a very fine trip for these young ladies who were so successful with the canning club work last year.

Items Concerning the County Schools

By B. R. OLLIFF, Supt.

Many schools are now contracting with teachers for next term. Soon all the schools will be filled and there will be no chance for those teachers who are sleeping on the job. You have had several notices and if you fail to get a position, you will have no one to whom you may lay the blame but to yourselves.

Let us try to select teachers who will do actual teaching and not teach in the way that is becoming too common—that of having the children do all the work at home and hand it in on paper. This is getting to be done too much. It is not done to the credit of the individual pupil. Children are encouraged to copy from some one else and hand in work that he is supposed to do without knowing anything about the subject assigned to him. The best work is work that is done in the school room on the board or elsewhere where the teacher sees it. To tell you the truth I just felt like a lifeless man. To do this, the teachers will have to see the work done and have it explained by the individual student."

The 4th and 5th of August will be the date of the examination for this year. The high school examination will be given on the first day. Those teachers who wish to renew will have to be present the first day. The examination will begin on the morning of the 4th at eight-thirty. Do not forget the date and the time for beginning. Those teachers who desire to take any part or kind of examination will have to begin the 4th of August. Cannot take the Reading Course or the High School on the 5th as has been requested by several teachers here.

The summer school for preparation for the examination is now under way under the management of Prof. G. E. Usher. This course helps the teachers wonderfully. The school will last up to the date of the examination. The girls who won scholarships to the short course at Athens last year will go to Athens on the 7th of August for the course. ## URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Takes a glass of Salt if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you—Drink more water.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salt occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, uric acid is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's uric acid waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of cow, sheep and goat.

Rumination or regurgitation and re-mastication consists in the animal chewing the food over and over again, for some time in the paunch, re-masticating it and again swallowing it. The process is carried on usually when the animal is lying or standing at rest. It cannot occur when the animal is angry or excited. It is stopped also during periods of serious illness or depression of the nervous system. Loss of cud is usually indicative of a deranged condition of the digestive system of the animal.

Some Mistakes About Animal Ailments

(W. M. BURSON, Prof. Vet. Sc., Ga. State College of Agriculture.)

"HOLLOW TAIL." A disease of the imagination of man. The tails of cows are not hollow. In many cows there is a section of the tail near the end in which the framework of gristle has failed to become changed into bone. This renders the tail very flexible at this point. It is not a disease condition. Examination of the tails of the cows in a large herd will disclose that many cows that have never been sick have the condition as described above. Splitting the tail and rubbing salt or other substance into the fresh wound is very poor treatment for a sick animal. It is better to make a proper diagnosis of the ailment and administer the proper treatment.

When in doubt call your veterinarian. It is his business to know. Loss of cud. Rumination or chewing the cud is an essential process of digestion in all animals having multiple stomachs. Among the diseases of the cow, sheep and goat, rumination or regurgitation and re-mastication consists in the animal chewing the food over and over again, for some time in the paunch, re-masticating it and again swallowing it. The process is carried on usually when the animal is lying or standing at rest. It cannot occur when the animal is angry or excited. How To Make Bordeaux Mixture

(T. H. McHATTON, Prof. Horticulture, Georgia State College of Agr.)

For spraying Bordeaux mixture for many fungous diseases of vines, and care should be exercised in making it. By following the formula here given an effective mixture can be obtained: Dissolve 3 pounds of blue stone in a small pail of water. When dissolved dilute to twenty-five gallons. Slack six pounds of lime in a small amount of water and dilute to twenty-five gallons. Pour the two solutions at the same time into a large barrel through a screen to catch the lumps of material remaining. While pouring stir the contents of the barrel vigorously. Mixing thoroughly in this way is very essential to prevent crystals forming and thereby bring about a reduction of the strength of the mixture.

FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

To the People of Georgia:

So many inquiries have reached this office from all parts of the state regarding the effect of the excessive rains on our crops, that in the interests of the farmers and the public generally, I wish to make known the facts as they have come to us from different sections.

Information comes to us from some sections, particularly Quitman and adjoining counties asserting that a large portion of the cotton crop in that territory is damaged more than 50 per cent. This is attributed both to the boll weevil which has attacked the cotton, and to the excessive rains which have washed over it in many places and covered it up. Where the cotton is standing the fruit is falling off in great quantities.

Similar reports come from other sections of South Georgia, but in some instances cotton does not appear to have been damaged so much. But all of the corn on creek, river and branch bottoms is practically a total loss.

Information from North Georgia, particularly around Buford, is that almost all bottom land corn has been washed away, and the farmers are earnestly seeking information as to what is best to plant for a quick crop on the most valuable lands that are left.

Buford and surrounding territory report that corn on the Chattahoochee river and all creek bottoms has been completely covered by water. Previous to the floods this was good, the lower states, but further up there has been "such a clean sweep in many years, not since the United States government issued rations in this section some 25 years ago."

It is stated 90 per cent of the bottom land corn is gone, and many farmers will be forced to buy corn for bread. Buford also reports cotton very good. Early planting secured good stand and looking well in the brooklets for the purpose of ridding the Jersey coast of the vicious sea tigers that have taken the lives of four persons in the last two weeks.

Many members of the party forming are ex-marines with records as shark killers. They are looking for a purpose of ridding the Jersey coast of the vicious sea tigers that have taken the lives of four persons in the last two weeks.

Such is the information coming to the department from nearly all sections of Georgia. It is true the damage varies, but where before the rains the crops all over the state were promising, there has now been such injury that the Department is impelled to state that there is at least 35 per cent damage to cotton and from 15 to 20 per cent damage to corn, because so much of the corn crop is a total loss.

The federal government should issue another crop statement as soon as possible. The recent rains have not been covered to Georgia but covered the entire cotton belt east of the Mississippi, and up through North Carolina, which in our opinion, means a good price for cotton this fall. There is always some "sweet with the bitter." If we could make our home supplies and raise a short crop of cotton as we should every year, we would get more money for it.

The boll weevil has been found not in one, but, as I am informed, in a number of south west Georgia counties. It is said wet weather is the very best time for the weevil to get in. Outside of the rain damage we must figure on the boll weevil, too, as a contributor to a short crop in this state.

While it is getting pretty late to sow peas on any kind of land, wouldn't it be a good idea for Georgia farmers as soon as possible, to put all this good bottom land into early Amber cane or early white California peas? Then you can mow it for hay with the grass that comes up with it along in the latter part of

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says "You can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath."

To look one's best and feel one's best, so enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentation and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in a few days.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses purifies and freshens the body, so this phosphate hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always remember that the skin pores do not really matter as much as the inside organs, because the skin pores do not really matter as much as the inside organs, because the skin pores do not really matter as much as the inside organs.

SHARK CATCHING IS NOW POPULAR SPORT

New York, July 26.—A volunteer party of expert shark hunters, led by Sergeant William Dubey, United States Marine Corps, retired, is forming in Brooklet for the purpose of ridding the Jersey coast of the vicious sea tigers that have taken the lives of four persons in the last two weeks.

Live Stock Progress Being Made in Georgia

Tick Eradication and The Introduction of Pure-Bred Animals First Steps Of Greatest Importance

(ANDREW M. SOULE, President Ga. State College of Agriculture.)

Remarkable progress has been made in developing animal industries in the South in the last few years. This has been brought about by the general campaign of education carried on by the State Colleges of Agriculture and their extension divisions and state and county bureaus of the United States Department of Agriculture. I recall quite distinctly when the proposition to eradicate the cattle tick was considered a joke and yet there are forty-two counties free of this pest in Georgia alone, and in a comparatively short time the whole state will have been cleaned up. The prosecution of this campaign by state and federal authorities means a saving and an addition to the average wealth of the state of Georgia of fully one hundred million dollars.

The introduction of pure bred sires is changing the character and quality of our beef cattle, not only in Georgia, but in the other southern states. From about 1,600 pure-breds, mostly of the beef types, were brought into Georgia last year. You can appreciate what a leveling influence they are exerting on the live stock industries.

Several years ago the College purchased scrub cows at $17.50 each and crossed them with pure-bred sires. The progeny from the third cross have made sisters weighing 1,400 pounds at about thirty months. We have been offered 10 cents a pound for some of these animals, or $140.00 each. The dam, the infinite possibilities of live stock production in the south are well illustrated, provided we use the best of sire and develop pastures of bermuda grass, bur clover, Italian ryegrass and Japan clover, and utilize our forage and hay making equipment, such as corn and sorghum, and alfalfa, cowpeas, velvet beans to proper advantage. When our cotton lands are devoted to the production of winter oats and other cereals to supplement our cotton seed meal, the state of Georgia will have two or three times its present carrying capacity of live stock.

Die-Back Disease Severe On Peaches

Many Georgia Peach Trees Seriously Affected By Disease This Year, Especially in Thrifty Ones

(T. H. McHATTON, Prof. of Horticulture, State College of Agr.)

Die-back disease has become more serious in Georgia peach orchards this year than usual. It gets its name from the fact that it kills the tips of its branches, causing them to die back as the disease progresses. Unchecked it often kills trees. At this time it is felt with special severity because of hardship which the trees have suffered during the last year or two from unseasonably early and late freezes and by reason of heavy demands upon the trees' vitality by unusually large crops. The weaker trees are suffering in many orchards from the disease while the more vital ones are resistant.

Pruning away infected parts is recommended. The pruning tool should be disinfected after each severance of a diseased limb. When very serious cases of die-backs with self-healing time-sprayer should be made, the first about September 1 and the last in October.
