TWO CENTS WORTH OF ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

Ten years ago central station electricity retailed for 18 and 20 cents per kilowatt in some communities, and was not obtainable at any price in most farming districts. Since then, improvements in electrical machinery and the extension of high power transmission lines and the development of great power projects has brought electric power into hundreds of farm homes at a price within reach of the humblest farmer's purse. The rate is usually between 10 and 15 cents per kilowatt, and recent improvements in motors and lights make the consumer's money purchase more light and power than it ever did before.

At 10 cents per kilowatt-hour, the price usually charged, engineers of the General Electric Company have figured that the price of a postage stamp will buy enough electricity to:

- Milk ten cows.
- Churn 20 pounds of butter.
- Separate 1400 pounds of milk in a cream separator.
- Do two large family washings.
- Heat an electric flatiron for half an hour.
- Run a sewing machine for four hours.
- Make griddle cakes on an electric griddle twice.
- Pump water enough to last the family two days.
- Sharpen an axe or scythe on the grindstone six times.
- Thresh five bushels of oats, four bushels of barley and two and one-half bushels of wheat.
- Light 40-watt Mazda lamp (about 22 candle power) an hour a day for five days.
- Make five slices of toast every morning for four mornings.

BREATHE AIR OF HYOMEI THROUGH POCKET INHALER TO CURE CATARRH

Catarrh Sufferers Should Try This New Method. Often Succeeds Where all Else Fails and Costs Nothing Unless It Succeeds.

Leading druggists are rapidly securing local agencies for a clever pocket inhaling device that is being widely and successfully used in the treatment of catarrh of the nose and throat, asthma, hay-fever, bronchitis, croup, etc.

This little inhaler, which is made of hard black rubber, is packed with antiseptic gauze into which is poured a few drops of the pure oil of Hyomei which the gauze quickly absorbs. Then by placing the inhaler in the mouth as shown in the illustration and just breathing naturally or by using the other end of the inhaler and snuffing up the nose, the user is drawing into his throat, lungs, air passages and head the full force of one of the most powerful antiseptic and germ killing liquids ever discovered.

This powerful but pleasant medicated air penetrates into every nook and corner of the raw, sore, inflamed surfaces, destroys all the catarrhal germ life, soothes and heals the swollen membranes and quickly opens the clogged and stuffed up air passages. Catarrh goes quickly never to return where this inhaler is used with Hyomei for a few minutes four or five times daily and the local Logical Way to Treat Catarrh.

This treatment has been endorsed and used by physicians, is absolutely safe to use and is not at all expensive as a bottle will last a long time. Those who have catarrh in any form should give it a trial.

Plant a Patch Of Alfalfa This Fall

Should Be Preceded By Cowpeas And Lime

ANDREW M. SOULE, President Georgia State College Of Agriculture

One desiring to sow alfalfa in fall should undertake to prepare the land as soon as possible. We prefer the cowpeas as an improvement crop to use on land intended for alfalfa because it will mature in sufficient time to be turned under to good advantage. This should be done when the peas are in good condition to make into hay. It would be good practice to put at least two tons of crushed raw rock on the land before sowing the legumes. If this has not been done it is suggested that as soon as the cowpeas are turned under that at least two tons of lime be applied and harrowed well into the soil. The land should be worked as a fallow from the time the peas are turned under until September 15 or October 1. If there is a good rain in the soil at this time, sow the alfalfa, using about twenty pounds of re-cleaned western grown seed per acre, and inoculate it very carefully. Sow on a cloudy day, as strong sunlight will often kill the bacteria of the inoculating material. We would fertilize the land with two sacks of cotton seed meal and 400 to 600 pounds of acid phosphate. These ingredients should be mixed together and put on the soil before the seedling is done. Harrow the fertilizer into the soil. Some potash could be used with excellent advantage under alfalfa, but it is now impossible to secure it by reason of the European war. Therefore, one must take the best of the existing situation and use such fertilizing material as is available. The alfalfa should not be grazed or cut during the fall.

How to Give Good Advice.

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. This remedy has been in use for many years and enjoys an excellent reputation. Obtainable everywhere.

THE BEGGAR'S PENNY.

A generous man gave a beggar a penny. The beggar went on his way until he came to a baker's shop. He was just going to buy some bread with the penny when an old man came up with a pilgrim's staff in his hand. The pilgrim was selling pictures of the city of Jerusalem in order to get money to ransom his brother, who had been taken prisoner by the Turks at Jerusalem.

The poor beggar was moved by the story of the pilgrim. He gave him the new penny and told him its story. The beggar, however, wanted more money and would not let the brother go. The pilgrim said, "This is all that I have except one copper penny," and then he told the story of the penny. The governor asked to see the penny that had done so many good actions. "I will keep it," he said, "and wear it next my heart, and perhaps a blessing will go with it." Then he gave the pilgrim all his money back again and let his brother go free.

Soon after this the Turkish governor was in battle. An arrow struck him on the breast, but it glanced off without hurting him. It had struck against the penny, and thus his life was saved.

When the war was over the governor went to his master, the emperor, and as they talked together he told how his life had been saved by a penny. He showed him the penny and told its story. As the emperor gazed at it he exclaimed again and again: "It is wonderful! It is wonderful!"

The governor, seeing his delight, gave him the penny, and the emperor fastened it with a golden chain to the hilt of his sword. One day soon after this the emperor was about to drink a cup of wine when the empress asked to see the hilt of his sword. As he held it up the penny dropped into the cup of wine. When he took it out he saw that the copper had turned to a green color. Some one had mixed poison with the wine, but the change in the color of the penny warned the emperor, and his life was saved.

Then the emperor had the penny put in his crown, surrounded by diamonds and jewels of great value.

PAY UP. Does it pay to trade away from home? You deal with a house you know nothing of, barter for goods you never saw, pay high freight rates, postage, suffer disappointment in not getting exactly what you wanted, goods often have to be returned and it some times takes months to get what you order. You lose your valuable time—and greatest of all you impoverish your own community. No, it does not pay.

CREDIT. What is it? Why is it? It's a gamble. It's a necessary evil. You use another man's money to carry out your pet schemes and its value is untold, yet the abuse to which Credit is put has almost been the ruin of the South.

DOES IT PAY you to buy the necessities and luxuries of life on credit? Do you know what rate of interest you pay, how much higher price the merchant is forced to charge—from 10 to 50 per cent. No ordinary investment ever nets over 10 per cent. Credit induces you to buy things you do not need, and articles you cannot afford. Who finally pays the debt? Hence—National Pay-Up Week.
