Independence of United States May Depend on a Powerful Fleet

By Rear Admiral RICHARD WAINWRIGHT, U. S. N., Retired

THE independence of our country depends upon the strength of the navy. This does not mean necessarily our independence as an organized government, although even that might be involved, but it does mean freedom to hold or carry out our policies and to extend our commerce. Without a navy of sufficient strength the Monroe doctrine, the open door and the national exclusion must be relinquished at the bidding of those nations possessing naval and military strength, and we must adopt their views and accept as our portion a small part of the world's commerce as they in their kindness may concede.

THE FIRST DUTY OF A NATION IS TO DEFEND THE RIGHTS, LIVES AND PROPERTY OF ITS CITIZENS FROM INTERNAL LAWLESSNESS AND FROM EXTERNAL AGGRESSION. WITH OUR VERY EXTENSIVE COASTS AND NUMEROUS SEAPORTS A NAVY IS OF FIRST IMPORTANCE IN THE PERFORMANCE OF THIS DUTY.

R. WAINWRIGHT.

Peace Will Come When Nations Practice the Principles of Justice

By JACOB GOULD SCHURMAN, President Cornell University

I AM a peace man, but I recognize that there are worse things than war, as I told some delegates to the conference of international relations. I believe in the settlement of international disputes by arbitration, but I can think of no more happy death than to die in the defense of American rights, international law and the principles of the universal conscience of mankind. TODAY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES IS STANDING FOR THESE RIGHTS, AND ALL MEN AND WOMEN UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES SHOULD FEEL IT THEIR DUTY TO STAND BY HIM.

Peace will never come until the individuals who compose the nations have learned to practice certain principles essential to peace and progress, wisdom, self control and justice.

IF I WERE ASKED THE CAUSE OF THE WAR I SHOULD SAY IT IS THE MEMORIS OF MAN'S WORSHIP OF AND TRUST IN PHYSICAL POWER AND ECONOMIC GOODS. IT IS HEAVEN'S VENGEANCE ON THOSE MEN WHO HAVE SUBORDINATED THE RATIONAL AND MORAL TO THE PHYSICAL AND ECONOMIC.

Nations That Fight Must Not Be Permitted to Put Expense on Neutrals

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, Statesman

THE neutral nations are put to a great expense to preserve neutrality and are constantly in danger of being embroiled in the war without intention or fault on their own part. The rules of international law seem to have been made for the nations at war rather than for the nations at peace.

As soon as peace returns there will be a demand for an international conference on the subject. The presumption then should be given to peace, for peace, not war, is the normal condition.

IF NATIONS ARE DETERMINED TO FIGHT, THEY SHOULD, AS FAR AS POSSIBLE, BEAR THE BURDEN THEMSELVES AND NOT BE PERMITTED TO TRANSFER IT TO THE NATIONS WHICH AVOID WAR BY REFORTING TO REASON INSTEAD OF FORCE.

GUARD PRESIDENT FROM ALL CRANKS

Secret Service Men Take New Precautions For Safety.

SOLDIERS FOR WHITE HOUSE

Large Number of Fanatics That Daily Visit Washington With Schemes to End the War May Cause Drastic Action, Although It Is Against Democratic Spirit of the Country.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 14.—[Special.]—It is human nature to take the greatest precautions just after some disaster has befallen. After President McKinley was assassinated numerous methods were suggested to preserve the life of the president, and the utmost precaution was taken to prevent any person not well known getting near Mr. Roosevelt.

Many propositions were presented to congress, and a bill finally reached the conference stage having for its purpose the protection of the president and the removal of the president from his life or on the life of those in immediate line for the presidency. The bill was defeated, because the late President Wilson of Georgia thought that some person in some way at some remote time might be restricted in life or liberty by reason of a law.

Present Precautions. Hereafter, if the statements of officials can be relied upon, the precautions to protect the lives of the president and his family will be reinforced. One thing which is to be done is hunting down and incarcerating the authors of anonymous and threatening letters. The time was when everybody regarded the author of anonymous letters as a coward, but in these days he might also be a crank.

Talk of a White House Guard. Of course there have been policemen as well as secret service men about the White House, and there has long been talk of a White House guard of soldiers and marines. The American nature revolts at the idea of such a display of military force, and the democratic idea is that our rulers are like the rest of the people and do not need to be surrounded by uniformed guards. However, it seems that cranks, criminals and nutty seers are bound to force an armed guard.

They Come to Washington. There is an average of one crazy person every week at the White House who is sure to be an idiot. Washington is the Mecca of cranks and foolish persons who want to right the wrongs of the whole world. Those people who are just now deeply engaged in stopping the war in Europe come to Washington to lay their plans before the authorities and insist that this government shall carry out their schemes. No doubt the organizations and propagandists who are coming up and down the country preaching all kinds of heresies, and who are responsible for the crop of cranks which has been coming to Washington.

Roosevelt Fooled Them. There was no man who distilled his himself trained by secret service men more than Roosevelt. He often used to slip out of the White House and would roam about the country for hours while the secret service men wondered where he could be. It worried them to think that he could get away, and this is the way those skulls finally fixed it on the chief went to Roosevelt and pitilessly improved him not to put the secret service in such a humiliating position. The publication of reports that Roosevelt had been out hours when no secret service man was near helped him to get away from the service. Roosevelt could not resist such a plan, and toward the last of his term the men were always with him.

Wadsworth Goers. Recalling the time when New York went to the national convention with a delegation instructed for Hughes for president and worked industriously for his election, it is not surprising that the frankness of one New York politician as to plans for next year is refreshing. He proposes that New York shall have a nominal delegation for Whitman and be for Wadsworth for vice president. There are quite a number of Wadsworth boomers in New York, but some of them think he should head the ticket.

The Merchant Marine. It seems to be the fate of this nation to have its merchant marine destroyed by treaties and legislation. By "favored nation" clauses in all treaties with foreign countries our shipping interests are prevented from taking advantage of a discriminating duty. By our navigation laws the growth of our merchant marine is hampered. And now the shipping interests of the country are loading the mails with complaints about the La Follette seaman's bill, which, they say, will drive the few American ships now on the coast to abandon the American flag.

Minerals In the East. We always think of gold, silver, lead and zinc and such minerals as products of the west, but it appears from the reports of the geological survey that eastern states produced $11,500,000 worth of these metals last year. But even so, the gold output was only $174,200 and the silver $55,700.

GEORGIA WOMEN PETITION

State Legislators for Support

There is pending before the legislature a bill to submit to the voters of the state an amendment to the constitution to confer upon women the right of suffrage upon equal terms with men in this state. The legislators who shall vote in favor of this bill will simply register themselves as being willing to allow the male citizens of Georgia to decide at the next general election on the 3d day of November 1916, whether or not the female citizens shall be clothed with the same rights and privileges as they—whether the female tax-payers of the state shall have a voice in the government under which they live and which they help to support.

The Democratic party, which is the dominant party of the state, stands for the principle of state's rights; for the state's sole right to decide the issues which involve the life, the liberty and happiness of the people residing within its confines. We Georgia women have taken them at their word and are now asking the members of the Georgia legislature to submit this question of a state constitutional amendment to the only people allowed to vote, that they may decide the issue.

We hereby attach a copy of the amendment which we desire submitted.

Proposed amendment to the state constitution.

"The rights of citizens of this state to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex."

President Wilson has said, "Liberty does not consist, in mere general declaration as to the rights of man. It consists of the translation of those declarations into definite action. We women of Georgia are asking the Georgia legislature to translate into action the time-honored Democratic statesman's motto: 'The people of the state should decide.'"

In view of the rapid growth of woman suffrage in the nation, it would seem of immense interest to the men of Georgia to solve this great problem themselves, and in their own way, rather than wait the slightly deferred, but none the less sure solution of the question by the federal government.

One writer has said: "It is not only an injustice to the southern woman to have the southern states so tardy in giving suffrage to the women of the south, but it is an injustice to the political situation in the south. This west has outcried the vote is given to women."

The twelve states where women vote, elect one-fourth of the United States senators; one-sixth house of congress; and nearly one-fifth of the presidential electors.

We, the women of Georgia, appeal to the high sense of justice and the inherent civility of our able and conscientious legislators, that they shall no longer ignore the rights of one-half the tax-paying, law-abiding, moral and educated citizens of the state of Georgia.

"If our men believe in democracy: if they believe in the women who gave them birth; if they believe in the women who are their comrades and companions in life; who make their homes happy; who make their lives successful; who stand by them faithfully in every emergency of life; they will register their verdict—a verdict that will stand for all time—that in the eyes of an American freeman the dignity of American womanhood stands side by side and the equal of the dignity of American manhood. Not man above woman, not woman above man, but man and woman, side by side, comrades and companions through life's journey, and God over all for ever."

About Georgia and Georgians

Items of Interest Concerning People and Things in the State

Atlanta, Ga. July 14th.—The Georgia legislature ended its third week today and from the general tenor of the report it is evident that the session will not be marked by any "freak" legislation. The members appear to be frowning upon all attempts to put over an erratic bill and to be of the opinion that the state has plenty of general laws if they are enforced.

But few measures of general nature have been passed, and the flood of new bills have been mostly of a local nature. It promises to be the most conservative session in years and the most devoid of oratory, though largely composed of new members, who usually are anxious to attain fame by their eloquence.

Atlanta, Ga. July 14th.—The proposed legislation in the general assembly at this session, looking to the better protection of life insurance companies from persecution under the name of prosecution, has brought about a general discussion of insurance conditions among the business men, who have become more interested in the subject than in years.

Despite the adverse conditions of the past year, which effected insurance rates, the state has still a number of strong companies whose success has gone to prove that the south can well support native institutions of this kind. An excellent showing has been made by the Southern States Life, of Atlanta; the old Southern Mutual, of Athens; the Georgia Home, the Columbus Home, and others. They have gone on their way serenely despite many adverse conditions and promise to retain their old strength for generations.

Atlanta, Ga. July 14th.—Governor J. M. Slaton, now on his way to the Pacific coast for a vacation trip, has been given a hearty reception on his way, his action in the celebrated Frank case having made his name a noted one.

Before leaving New York City the former Governor, at the request of The World, wrote for that paper's editorial section a lengthy article a strong defense of the people of Georgia against the exaggerated reports that has been published broadcast regarding the lawlessness and mob spirit in this state.

"The people of the south have no convictions, said the former governor, in his article. They believe in institutions. They exalt womanhood and while there are some offenses for which they take the law into their hands it is but an extreme form of virtue which should be restrained."

Continuing he writes: "The truth is that a large proportion of the good people of Georgia who disagree with me in the Frank case think that I have interfered with trial by jury. This is a mistake, and as soon as they find it out none will support me more heartily than those same good people."

Atlanta, Ga. July 14th.—The unofficial announcement that the ex-governor Joseph M. Brown is to make the race for United States senator against $1.00—Adv.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by pain, it promises to be the most conservative session in years and the most devoid of oratory, though largely composed of new members, who usually are anxious to attain fame by their eloquence.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent little water drink which will regular meal eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Thomas W. Hardwick, who that statesman's term expires in 1919, has been in the corridors of the Hotel Ansley, which has become the political center of the capital city in recent years. It is rather a long time ahead to announce, but Mr. Brown's friends say he has made up his mind and is willing for everybody to know he is in the ring.

Hugh M. Dorsey, solicitor general of Fulton county, is "doped" out as the gubernatorial successor made of Mr. Brown. His famous conduct of the Leo Frank case has given him state-wide fame and it is considered practically certain that he will enter the race.

Atlanta, Ga. July 14.—A splendid and rare specimen of ancient armor from Japan has been presented to the rapidly growing museum of Emory University in Atlanta by a missionary returned from the land of Nippon. It dates back so many centuries that its age is lost in tradition, and is a beautiful bit of handicraft.

The new Emory university is taking shape becoming widely known. Al. ready it is adding to its facilities, and when its buildings are completed and it is in its own home it will be one of the greatest institutions in the country.

Atlanta, Ga. July 14th.—Alabama papers disagreed the power rule that "vires a kind" best "two pairs" then they stack up their legislative brothers against Georgians.

Georgia has three brothers, the Ar. nolds, representing three different counties in the legislature. Alabama tries to beat that by having two pairs of brothers in the house, the Carnichals and the Pires.

THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1915.

The Kaiser says the war will end in October. Shucks! We don't believe a word of it.

Carranza in Mexico City again.
Just in again and out again that's all, and the Villa-ian; still pursues him.

It begins to look as though Italy might grab off all of the benefits of war without doing any of the fighting. Great heads!

Leo Frank and Harry Thaw are yet trout page subjects. Can't kill one and can't get the other back in the "Dippy" house. A most insatiable public this.

We are a firm believer in work and the fellow who works. This is a great country, and it is so because we are a nation of workers.
Work has made us what we are,
and more work will make us even greater than we are. There is no end to the possibilities when everybody works.

The possibility of an amicable adjustment with the Allies and the Teutons begins to look discouraging. Every right thinking man will applaud the president in his determination to protect the rights of our people without rushing into the flames that are devastating Europe. But while our eyes are now fixed upon an honor like peace we should not overlook the fact that it is by no means an assured fact. Little things have created the biggest war in history, and for a nation to permit itself to remain unprepared in this day is but to invite attack and court defeat. Action should be taken for the strengthening of our national defenses, and that action should not be delayed. America is too rich in gold and products to be left at the mercy of an invader.

OPTIMIST

HE'S AN OPTIMIST

And This is What he Thinks of the Country Paper

(W. T. Anderson in Macon Telegraph)
For the first three days of this week in Eastman editors of the weekly newspapers of the state of Georgia will be in annual session.
Outside of newspaper offices, not a great deal of attention is ever paid to this gathering, and yet around three hundred of the most powerful agents in quiet and not always recognized way for either good or evil will be together.

After all, it is the weekly paper, the home paper, which gives to the people their ideal, their contemporary literature, which reflects the spirit, the emotions and the tradition of the people. Editors of the big dailies, and readers of them, are so prone to forget this in the presence of big circulation claims and to take themselves very seriously. Potent force as the big daily is, powerful as all the dailies are, they dwarf into pygmies in the eye when compared to the mighty force which is the weekly

JUDGE W. H. CONE COMPILES SOME INTERESTING BULLOCH COUNTY DATA

Board of Trade Adopts Them in Pamphlet Form

A little pamphlet with some big figures about Bulloch County is causing much complimentary comment in honor of its author, Judge W. H. Cone, Ordinary of Bulloch County. Every comparison is authentic, being from United States Government records of the census of 1910. The Statesboro Board of Trade have adopted these figures and put them in pamphlet form for accompaniment to letters under their head. These little folders can be secured at the News office at cost by those business-houses or farmers who may desire to use them as reference. Following is the complete data as compiled by Judge Cone:

Some United States Govern- ment FACTS. Why? BECAUSE—

Three-fifths of the farms of Bulloch county are worked by white labor and four-fifths of the white people in the county live on the farm—the purest Anglo-Saxon stock of any place of like territory in the United States, or in the world—only one foreign-born farmer in the county.

Why? BECAUSE

Bulloch county has approximately six hundred miles of improved public roads in the county; reaching to every farm community in the county. Bulloch county has spent in ten years for road building $200,000.

Bulloch county has now a fixed road fund amounting to $22,000 per annum, which may be increased to $40,000.

Bulloch county has 400 miles of rural mail delivery routes, reaching practically every farm. Bulloch county has four telephone lines, reaching every farm community.

Bulloch county has two through railway lines reaching across the county, with the third in process of construction, besides two short lines, making seventy-one miles now operating, with extensions going on.

Bulloch county can show more improved farm homes than any other county in the state.

The total farm values in 1910 by the census was $12,709,250, the highest in the state. Nearest competitor is Jackson county, with $11,402,805. The next highest is Laurens county, valuation of $9,509,574.

The number of cattle in Bulloch county in 1910 was 29,467, highest in the state.

The number of hogs in Bulloch county in 1910 was 65,428, highest in the state.

The number of hogs in Brooks county in 1910 was 47,210, nearest competitor in the state.

The number of hogs slaughtered in Bulloch county in 1910 was 33,354, highest in the state.

The number of hogs slaughtered in Brooks county in 1910 was 31,225, nearest competitor in the state.

press once it unites as a unit for any one thing.

But these are generalities; what is more to the point just now is that among the men who are in Eastman this week are to be found philosophers of the most delightful stripe, who in the daily life of them see the homely and rooklike moralists lived, and not get them with a subtlety often far beyond the achievement of even the highly paid observers and human analysts of the periodical press. To peruse the weekly papers in Georgia is a rare pleasure, for standing out in their editorial pages, often in their neighborhood correspondence, one finds lines worthy of an Emerson or a Pascal. Real wit, especially in inter-paper repartee, is developed which suggests the rare flavor of Mark Twain in those days when he, too, was a country editor, the looking back upon which really gave him the most delicious philosophy he produced.

This humor is real, it is simple and it is artful, because, though spontaneous in its execution, the country editor does not unconsciously say his funny things as so many of his city brethren—men who have not the understanding heart, we fear—think it is of that sort. He writes it that way because it is that way the most effective.

They are not wealthy, these men who are meeting in Eastman. In fact, it means real economy, real sacrifice for many of them to get the few dollars together which allows them to attend this much-prized annual convention. And yet they are uncomplicated. While their financial troubles are real and pressing, most of the time, they have their own philosophy for that, too, as evidenced, for instance, by the ever lucid, for instance, that that dollar for the paper.

Because of a sense of obligation or mistaken as a straight matter of legitimate business, technically and morally—to their constituents these men annually refuse much profitable business. This because they believe it better for the weal of the community. What other lines of business can show equal devotion to ideals when it becomes a matter of dollars and cents which may be taken righteously, morally as well as legally? In this is demonstrated the lovable Quixotism which is found in so many country newspaper offices.

So, to these men The Telegraph this morning dells its hat in salute, because we are of the stuff they are and to them we look for our inspiration and our knowledge of those things which are purely Georgian and therefore those things we most humbly and earnestly strive to know, and know well. Their newspapers we prize far above the mighty journals which come to us from the great publishing houses of the greatest centers of America, because the little fellow does his work better, proportionately, than the "big fellows" do theirs. And that is the Great Achievement, arrived at better in Georgia than most states in the United States. That is not just idle and perfunctory compliment, but the unadorned statement of facts.

The total value of all domestic animals, including poultry, in Laurens county, was $1,422,928, highest in the state.

BULLOCH COUNTY HAD BY THE SCHOOL CENSUS OF 1910, 9,875 CHILDREN OF SCHOOL AGE. THIS IS THE HIGHEST PERCENTAGE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN IN PROPORTION TO POPULATION OF ANY COUNTY IN THE STATE OR OF THE UNITED STATES.

We have invested in rural school houses, outside of the town, $85,375.00. Over 90 per cent of this investment was made by the patrons of the schools.

Bulloch county can show more fine school buildings than any county in the state.

Bulloch county can show more fine country church buildings than any county in the state.

Bulloch county made in 1914, 48,000 bales of short cotton, and 2,107 bales of sea island cotton; highest in valuation and fourth highest in number in the state. The merchants of this county have not bought a bushel of western corn or a pound of western meat this year, and according to the best count available have bought $99,000 pounds of home-raised bacon.

Professor M. L. Dugan, rural school agent of the state, says in his bulletin Bulloch schools: "If every acre of arable land was in cultivation and intelligently tilled, Bulloch county could feed the state of Georgia." Bulloch county has built many miles of fine public roads over which I traveled to inspect the 98 public schools of the county."

There are seven banks in Bulloch county, the combined resources of which on the 1st day of March, 1915, according to the American bank reporter, amounted to $1,247,000.

To peruse the weekly papers in Georgia is a rare pleasure, for standing out in their editorial pages, often in their neighborhood correspondence, one finds lines worthy of an Emerson or a Pascal. This humor is real, it is simple and it is artful, because, though spontaneous in its execution, the country editor does not unconsciously say his funny things as so many of his city brethren—men who have not the understanding heart, we fear—think it is of that sort. He writes it that way because it is that way the most effective.

Scientific Farming

FARM ELECTRIC MOTORS.

Variety of Work Which These Machines Can Accomplish.

A very important feature is that a few motors properly selected may be used to operate all of the machines on the farm instead of having a steam or gasoline prime mover attached to each machine, writes Frank Koster in his book, "Electricity For the Farm and Home." In this feature lies a great advantage of electrically operated farm machinery. For instance, a motor may be placed on a low wheeled truck and connected by means of a belt to a thrashing machine, taking its electric supply from the mains by a flexible cable plugged into a suitable outlet. On the throwing of a switch the motor starts and operates continuously without attention. After the thrashing is completed the motor may then be connected to the baling machine, which packs the straw into bales, while if necessary the motor may be used in loading the bales upon wagons by operating a hoist. At other times the same motor may drive a water pump, wood saw, etc. It is readily seen that the electric motor can be operated without the attention necessary for steam or gasoline prime movers, which have to be supplied with water and fuel. With all other prime movers, when placed in the barn or hay mow, or beside the stack in the field, the risk of fire is a thousandfold greater than with an electric motor. In fact, an inclosed electric motor may be placed anywhere on the farm without such a risk or the fear of an explosion.

SMALL PORTABLE MOTOR.

The motors used on dairy appliances and for the various household operations are of such small size and weight that they may readily be carried around by one or two persons and applied to one machine or another wherever needed. Thus many farms can get along with one large and one small motor. As the various farm machines operate at different speeds the motors are supplied with suitable regulating devices, so that the desired speeds may be obtained.

The great advantage of cold storage is not properly recognized today by farmers. By means of electrically operated cold storage systems, butter, milk, eggs and other perishable goods may be saved from spoiling. In many cases, especially with fruit, a farmer is forced to let his product lie on the ground and rot, because the price offered does not pay the expense of picking, packing and shipping to the commission merchant. A private cold storage system would enable him to pick his fruit in season, when the market price was low, and store it until he received his own price.

For such purposes electric ice making machines for refrigerating plants are preferable. The motor applied to this equipment can be arranged to start and stop automatically and will keep the temperature in the cold storage room within a few degrees of that desired.

For irrigation purposes electric pumps are of great service, whether on a large or a small scale. As these pumps work only in certain seasons of the year and at certain hours of the day public service corporations have recognized of late that they are a means of keeping up a uniform power demand on the plant, and consequently energy for this purpose is offered at exceptionally low rates. The motor driven pumps may be stationary or portable.

Large sums are yearly spent for irrigation purposes, waterways regulation and drainage systems and seemingly in almost all cases without the consideration for the possibilities of utilizing the energy of the water for generating an electric current which might advantageously be used for farming or rural industries.

Planting of Forage Crops.

(Prepared by Kansas State Agricultural College.)

Where a stand of corn has been obtained on a part of the land and it is necessary to plant the remainder to a spring crop, lad or sorghum is recommended. In southern Kansas, corn planted from June 15 to 20 will mature. If the weather continues wet until the last of June or the first of July, sorghum may be planted. Sorghum will mature in from seventy to eighty days. Sudan grass can also be planted as late as the last week in June or the first of July. Cowpeas planted the last of July as a hay crop may be removed in time to seed a crop of wheat in the fall. Soy beans will mature if planted the last week in June and millet can be seeded for hay until the first of July.

More Miracles Ahead.

Who can predict what the future will be, in view of what has already occurred in this generation of miracle working? New inventors, standing on the shoulders of those who so transformed things during the last half century, will doubtless learn still greater secrets of nature. Much of our worry over posterity is idle. While we are hauling down many serious problems for posterity to wrestle with, we are also giving it the richest legacy any generation has ever had. THE TWENTIETH CENTURY METHOD

Decide What you Want, Then Go Get It—Never be Content With Something Smaller or of Less value

OPPORTUNITY TIME CLOSES 9 P. M. JULY 22

The Working Days Short—The Reward is Great

The question right now is, DO YOU MEAN BUSINESS? Are you in this race to win or just to be doing—if you don't care a rap about winning a prize, then your work, of course, will not amount to much, as it would be half-hearted, but if you really are in dead earnest and have your heart set on one of those prizes, nothing can stop you. Rome was not built in one day—remember that—but it was built. It takes days and days of hard work to put yourself at the top of the heap, but it's fine to be there at the finish and look down upon the crowd.

FAVORITES? NO, NOT ANY

Every one has the same chance in this contest—open and above board are all the dealings in this contest, regardless of rumors that you may hear. Every move of the contest can be watched by every contestant, and there cannot possibly be any room for doubt on the part of any one interested or any contestant.

Your Chance to Win Depends Solely Upon How Well You Know Your Proposition

Can you get out and talk subscriptions, job printing or advertising. Can you put this over to your customers so that he or she will see it your way—so that you can reach for your pencil and make out the receipt and get the money. This is salesmanship, and some of the best contestants can do this—salesmanship seems to come to them naturally. WHY NOT YOU? Have you tried it—have you given the matter a square deal?

Now for the Last Period of Opportunity Time. This Offer Good Until 9 p. m., July 22

225,000 extra votes for every club of $20 that you turn in between now and July 22, 9 p. m. Remember, this does not mean all at one time—just so you get the $20 on subscriptions before the closing hour of this period.

This offer is in addition to the regular scale of votes.

SPECIAL BONUS OFFER FOR $10.00 CLUBS

This may be easier for you; Subscriptions amounting to $10 if turned in before 9 p. m., July 22.

110,000 extra votes over and above regular scale. What you do this week may determine chance of winning.

Advertising and job printing contracts will be same as in first period—that is will count dollar for dollar in the new offer for opportunity time.

tunity time.

OPPORTUNITY TIME IS THE BEST TIME AND RIGHT NOW BEST MEANS BEST.

If you don't want to work for the Twenty Dollar Clubs get the Ten Dollar ones.

We have said this before; we say it again: If you allow this period to get away from you you will regret it. Remember, the time is short, and also remember that anything in this world that is worth having is worth working for and certainly the wonderful inducement that this paper is holding out to you in the way of prizes is well worth working for and working hard for.

Take a Tip from the Live Wire Book Agent

You know how he works. you cannot go wrong if you work along the same lines; the book agent wins because he "sticks"—he never hears when his prospective customers say "No"—he goes right ahead as though it was just a matter of taking away the money, and nine times out of ten he turns the trick—he knows his business—he can talk it—and this is what gets the business. Subscriptions can be secured along the same lines and you can get these subscriptions. If there is anything that a campaign manager can do for you don't hesitate to call on him for help.

An old English proverb, "Cut your coat according to your cloth." The following is a similar proverb in Indian: "Look at your bed before stretching your legs on it." "Don't ask for sauce in a free boarding house," is another Indian proverb, which is something like the English proverb, "Beggars must not be choosers."

Two ten dollar clubs will count just a trifle less than one twenty dollar club this week. We make this extra offer to interest every contestant in the race, as we realize that now is the time to do things. This offer, remember, is until 9 p. m., July 22nd.

Special Notice to Contestants

All collections for subscriptions, as well as for job printing and advertising, must be returned to this office daily if possible. Out-of-town contestants must make returns at least once a week—not later than Monday—so that subscriptions and orders may be filled promptly. Attention to this is imperative so as to prevent complaints against contestants and the News office.

Going Out of Business—Selling his Cars in Statesboro

Dr. H. Freeburg who has been for several years well and favorably known in Savannah as proprietor of the auto sales and livery company and who for some years prior to living in Savannah was successful medical practitioner, has decided to dispose of his auto interest and return to the practice of medicine. Dr. Freeburg has recently taken a post-graduate course in New York to freshen up.

Among the cars that Dr. Freeburg offers, nearly all of which are seven passenger touring cars, will be found such well known automobiles as the Packards, Stevens-Duryea, Peerless, Stoddard, Dayton, etc. These cars will reach Statesboro Friday and will be at the Averitt Garage and on Saturday Dr. Freeburg will demonstrate all the cars to those who are interested. Some rare bargains will be obtainable. The staff of the News has enjoyed an acquaintance with Dr. Freeburg for several years and any prospective buyers may rely upon the integrity of Mr. Freeburg.

STATESBORO BOARD OF TRADE

Passes Resolutions on the Cotton Embargo of Europe

Acting in conjunction with the Georgia Chamber of Commerce which is sending a referendum to all commercial bodies of Georgia regarding the embargo placed by England on shipments of American cotton to neutral ports and nations of Europe, the Statesboro Board of Trade, at a special meeting of their board of directors, July 10th, concurred in and fully endorsed the resolutions of the Savannah Cotton Exchange, adopted July 8th. A committee was appointed to prepare a preamble to the cotton exchange resolutions.

LANDLORD PASCHAL OF JAECKEL HOTEL

Gives Complimentary Barbecue

Last Thursday following the Midland R. R. meeting in Statesboro Landlord Paschal of the Jaekel Hotel tendered the popular railroad agents and watermen buyers who were guests at his hotel together with his many friends in the city, "a real Georgia cue" out at his farm west of the city. Fully a hundred or more enjoyed the event a majority of whom formed themselves into a social or country club with the intent of later organizing permanently and having for their entertainment such get-together meetings at intervals of a month. Donations were made of all the necessities for the occasion and Mr. Paschal tendered his place as a club headquarters where the "cues" will be held until a club house will later be secured.

PLENTY OF PROOF.

From People You Know—From Statesboro Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of the efficacy of Doan's Kidney Pills than the testimony of residents of Statesboro, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, College St., Statesboro says: "For many years I was a constant sufferer from kidney trouble. I had about all the symptoms that accompany that complaint. Dropsical swellings caused me a lot of misery and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I had pains in my back and my bladder was effected. Doan's Kidney Pills brought good results. I have taken them off and on since and they have never failed to act just as represented." Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mitchell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Perils of Pauline.

Synopsis of Previous Chapters.

Mr. Sanford Marvin, a rich retired manufacturer, has died and left half his fortune to his son Harry and the other half to his adopted daughter, Pauline, to be held in trust for her by his secretary, Raymond Owen, with the proviso that in case of her death, before marrying Harry, her share of the fortune should go to Owen. Owen is trusted that he may secure fortune. He persuades her to go up in an airplane which he knows is defective. Harry, however, prevents Pauline's ascension, and the aviator is killed. Pauline escapes, and does not suspect that Owen has had anything to do with the accident.

STORY OF THE THIRD EMBARGO.

Owen, failed in his last attempt, consults with his race-track friend, Hicks, and they plot, what they consider, an easy way to get rid of Pauline without arousing suspicion against themselves. They persuade an old reformed pirate to tell Pauline a story of hidden gold, trusting to her love of adventure to be able to persuade her to search for this gold. The pirate tells his story well and Pauline consents to go on the treasure hunt. She has a quarrel with Harry before starting, and will not allow him to accompany her. But Harry, not trusting Owen, gets on board the liner in the guise of an old man and in this disguise warns Pauline against having anything to do with Owen, Hicks and the pirate. This naturally arouses the anger of three conspirators and they try to put "the old man" out of the way. Though they do not succeed the scene is very spectacular and the hired villain gets what he deserves.

AVERITT AUTO CO.

Cannot Secure Sufficient Buicks to Fill their Orders

Hard times don't appear to prevent Buick's citizens and neighboring counties from having their automobiles. The Averitt Auto Co. are unable to fulfill their orders for Buick's that were booked months ago. Quoting from a letter received from the Buick Motor Co. to the Averitt Auto Co.: "It will be of interest for you to know that the factory schedule of production of 1916 models covers 60,000 cars, which is 15,000 in excess of the 1915 production. "In closing let us say to you that we are going to fill the orders you have placed with us just as fast as the factory can give us the cars, and your inquiring the expense of wiring us and calling by long distance phone will not relieve the situation, as that doesn't help build automobiles. The factory is going at top speed day and night."

GEORGE JOHNSTON

Eye Witness to Assault On Leo Frank Tells Conditions at State Farm

Macon, Ga., July 19th.—George Johnston, of Griffin, who was released from the State Farm today after serving a year for the theft of an automobile tire while on a midnight frolic, and who occupied a bunk adjoining that of L. M. Frank on the night of the attack by William Green, tonight described the attack to a reporter. Incidentally Johnston also referred to the statement given out at the state farm that Green was sorry for what he had done, as "bull."

As for Frank, Johnston said he had not done a lick of work since entering the institution, but instead spent all of his time at a roller top desk looking after his own affairs.

Describing the attack by Green, Johnston said:

FRANK WAS ASLEEP

"I was in the next bunk to Frank, and he was lying on his back with his hands folded across his stomach sleeping like a baby. Green was known to every convict in the prison to be a bad man. He has seven men to his credit—not three as the papers have said. He killed four negroes before he ever took to whites, as a bigger game, I reckon.

"At any rate he got up from his bunk during the night and I heard him say to another convict to watch him and he'd start something. So I watched, too.

KNIFE CONCEALED

"Well, Green came on toward Frank's bunk with what looked like a folded newspaper in his hand. I sort of suspected something wrong was going to happen, but I guess I could hardly realize it at that. At any rate I was watching out with all the eyes I had. Green came right up beside Frank and looked down into his face carefully, so as to be sure, I reckon, he had the right man. Then I saw him throw the newspaper wrapping, which it turned out to be, down on the floor. At once it happened awful fast. I know that Green shoved his knife well up onto Frank's chest and with one hand he shoved his forehead down and back, stretching his neck. Then his hand with the butcher knife in it came across the throat with a quick jerky sweep.

"The convict to whom Green had first spoken gave a yell and Green beat it back to his bunk. The lights came on mighty quick and there was Frank with the blood spurting from his throat.

GIVES MCNAUGHTON CREDIT

"The guard ran up and so did Dr. McNaughton, who got to work in a big hurry. He saved Frank's life, I guess. He seems to be a mighty smart man to have to be shut up in prison all his life."

"It was given out at the prison farm that Green had expressed regret that he had done what he did," the reporter suggested.

Johnston laughed at this with genuine amusement. "That's all 'bull,'" he said. "Rather than saying he was sorry he said he was glad he did it; that he had waited for some one else to do it, but as nobody else did he had to do it himself."

NOT PUT TO WORK

"Had Frank gone to work? He most certainly had not. He was treated over there as though he was the warden's brother just as

GOVERNOR HARRIS

With Prison Commission Will Visit State Farm—Green Won't Talk

Atlanta, Ga., July 20th.—Members of the prison commission, who will be accompanied by Governor Harris, are planning to go to Milledgeville Saturday to make an investigation into the circumstances of the attack on L. M. Frank by the life-term convict, William Green. Prison Commissioner E. L. Ralney, who spent Monday at the state farm on his way to Atlanta from his home, said today:

"Green appears to be just a mean and sullen man. He is not a lunatic, as has been stated. The doctors told me that there was little doubt of Frank's recovery. They stated that he was sure to recover unless blood poison developed and that they did not expect this.

"I talked at length with Green, but the only question he would answer about the attack on Frank was when I asked why he had done this. He replied that he thought he was doing right. He steadfastly refused to answer any other questions concerning the attack, but talked freely on any other subject suggested."

Chairman R. E. Davidson, of the prison commission, said today: "We will hear every one who knows anything about the affair, and naturally attempt to get every detail regarding the attack on Frank.

"We, of course, deplore the deed, but I cannot see that any one is to blame but Green, the man who cut Frank's throat.

"Green worked in the kitchen, and I suppose that he got the butcher knife there, hiding it on his person and awaiting his opportunity to attack Frank. Prisoners are not searched before they go into the stockade for the night, as they are kept inside the building or yard all day, and we have never considered it necessary to do this, not thinking, of course, that they would attack a fellow prisoner. Such a thing has never happened before."

a little social visit," asserted Johnston. "No guy with money ever goes to work on that place, friend or foe; they have got one hundred and eighty odd white convicts and I'll say that not more than sixty of them ever see the field."

"What do the rest do?"

"Do nothing. They lie around and have an easy time. Some of them wear their civilian clothes and white collars and so forth and have food sent in to them regularly. They live pretty well, those with money. Take Frank, for instance. He has had a big roller top desk moved in and he spends the whole day writing at it and working on his own business I guess."

"But wasn't he given any detail at all?"

FOR VISITORS BENEFIT

"No he wasn't given a thing to do; he stays in there with the five house men, but he doesn't work." Johnston was then told that a newspaper man who had been with the legislature committee at Milledgeville had seen Frank cleaning out water closets, dressed in stripes, and doing other tasks of the most menial sort. This brought another laugh.

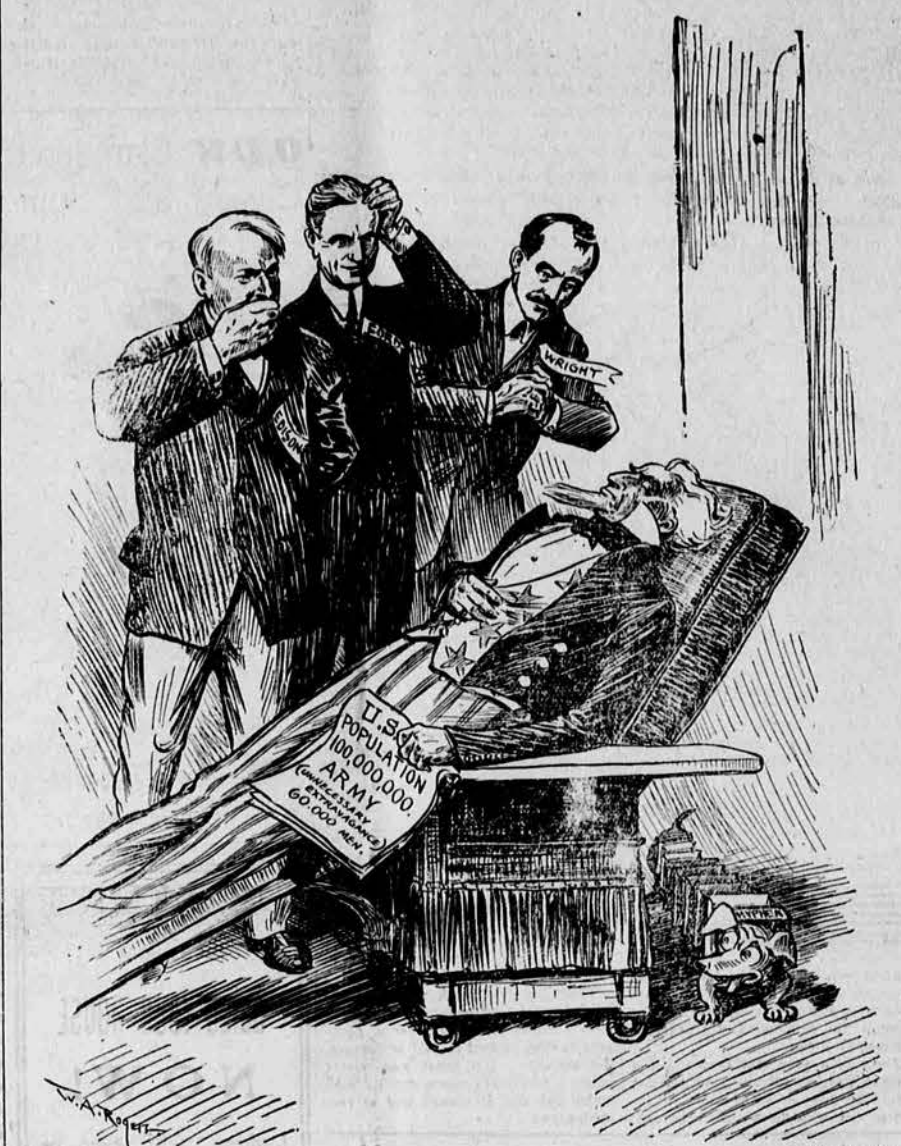

"They hustled him into those duds and put him to work strictly for the benefit of the visitors," answered Johnston. "That's all the work he ever did."

"Are there many convicts who are discriminated for and against in that way over there?" asked the reporter.

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN C. BALE

Introduces His Local Option Bill in House—Will Be Referred to Voters

Atlanta, Ga., July 20th.—The anticipated local option bill was introduced in the House today. It bears the signatures of John W. Bale, of Floyd, and L. C. Brown, of Clarke. Mr. Bale was elected on the local option ticket.

The bill repeals the present prohibition law and all its amendments and provides that upon petition of one-fifth of the qualified voters of any county, the ordinary shall call an election within forty days to determine whether or not liquor shall be sold in the county. No liquor shall be sold in cities of less than 7,000 population, whether in wet or dry counties. The tax is fixed at $1,000 for retailers and $2,000 for wholesalers, to be divided equally between county and state.

HIGH DISTILLER'S LICENSE

Liquor may be manufactured in wet counties upon payment of a license of $3,000. Local option elections are to be held not oftener than once in four years. The local option bill itself, if passed, is to be submitted to the voters for ratification by the legislature.

Calvin before going into effect, and if adopted at the polls is to become effective January 1, 1917. The measure was referred to the House.

SPEAKER BURWELL

Strictly Enforcing No-Lobbyist Rule; Gentry Engaged in Vocation Non-plussed

Atlanta, Ga., July 21st.—Perhaps never before in the history of the Georgia legislature have such conscientious and diligent efforts been made to keep lobbyists off the floor of the house of representatives as Speaker W. H. Burwell has made during the present session. At least, not since lobbyists became a recognized growth upon the body legislative have the gentry engaged in attempting to influence the making of laws found it so difficult to confer with members of the house. Speaker Burwell announced at the beginning of the session that the rule against unauthorized persons entering the lobbies of the house and coming upon the floor would be strictly enforced. He publicly told the door-keepers that if they could not enforce the rule he would put men in their places who could and would. He announced that persons desiring to see members of the house must stop at the door, send in their cards, and wait outside until the members had the time and inclination to leave the hall and find out what they wanted. Since that day the marble floor of the hall in front of the house of representatives has been under a terrific daily strain, but the inside lobbies and the floor of the house have been so clear that members can actually move around without bumping into members of "the third house," as the lobbyists are commonly known.

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RY.

Has Valuable Information for Wheat Growers

For the benefit of those farmers who may have wheat for sale, the Central of Georgia railway has compiled some valuable information of mills that are short on home grown wheat and will be glad to supply names and all data relating to the subject. There are several mills which have advised that they cannot secure home grown wheat and are very anxious for it. Mr. O. W. "Horse" agent at Statesboro will supply all interested with such information as they may desire thru either a personal interview or by letter.

An Apology For the Play.

"From your continued applause I take it that you wish the creator of this play to appear," said the theatrical manager before the curtain.

"That's what we want," came from several in the audience.

"But he has a bad cold; he could only apologize."

"That's all we want him to do," Yonkers Statesman.
