STATESBORO BOARD OF TRADE

New Industries Campaign

The Statesboro Board of Trade is now completely organized with its various committees appointed and in working order. Several important movements have been put forth recently; our resolutions on the cotton embargo as placed by England, and which has been placed in the hands of our Senators and Representatives in Congress and to the Hon Sec'y of State will forcefully demonstrate the fact that we are standing up for our right.

THE FACTS and FIGURES of Bulloch county recently compiled by Judge W. H. Cone and adopted by the Board of Trade to be put in pamphlet form and distributed has attracted much attention. A copy was forwarded to all like organizations in Georgia, all leading newspapers many of which have reprinted the data verbatim.

The Georgia Chamber of Commerce is preparing to go actively at work under special effort to assist local organizations in a new industry campaign and to this end the secretary of the Statesboro Board of Trade has been in communication with the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce who now ask for a list of industries all kinds which are needed in the community, and as soon as it received the organization will offer all the assistance possible to the local Board of Trade in getting these industries located in Statesboro.

The following excerpt from correspondence just received from Mr. A. M. Smith Sec'y of the Georgia Chamber explains in part the manner they will proceed to work "From general information received it seems that there is a general revival in the business world and that the time is ripe for going after the locating of new businesses in the various communities in Georgia and the Georgia Chamber expects to work and it is believed that within the next twelve months hundreds of new concerns and manufacturing enterprises will be located in the various communities in Georgia."

"An effort will be made to get these additions to the communities of Georgia from out the State and thus increase the general possessions of the state at large as well as of the different local communities."

Secretary Van Osten will be glad to have those who are interested in this matter communicate with him and let him know what industries in their opinion are needed and will be a paying investment, together all information in detail as to any local capital being obtainable, in fact just what you can and will do yourselves, what you have to offer. The Georgia State Chamber of Commerce is very anxious to co-operate with all local bodies and desires such information at once. It will be promptly compiled, records kept for files so that reliable data may be supplied to any prospective investor.

J. B. AVERITT HAS RIGHT ARM BROKEN IN CRANKING AUTO

J. B. Averitt, brother of D. Percy Averitt, of the Averitt Auto Co., suffered a painful accident Tuesday in having his right arm broken in two places just above the wrist while in the act of cranking the automobile of L. T. Denmark, which had been in the repair shop of the Averitt Co. Mr. Averitt stepped immediately to the office of Dr. Moore, who set the injured arm, and Mr. Averitt will now be incapacitated for some little time.

There is some comedy in this episode, as the old pirate is not just the one you would expect to meet in good society. The action is strong. The dramatic interest is intense. This episode is, if we may say so, stronger and more interesting than those which have gone before. The villain is a very resourceful and Pauline is a very lucky girl to have such a protector as Harry to look after her.

Why You Are Nervous

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamy sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve cells which, in turn, respond to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

PERILS OF PAULINE

Star Theatre—Every Tuesday Night

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS EPISODES:

Harry Marvin and his adopted sister, Pauline, have been left orphans by the death of their father, who left half his fortune to Harry and half to Pauline, to be held in trust for her by his secretary, Owen, till she marries. He makes the proviso that should she die before marriage the fortune should go to Owen. Owen, a villain, in the power of a tough character, Hicks, plots Pauline's death so the fortune would be his. He fails in one attempt through the intervention of Harry, and decides to get her away from Harry. He persuades her to go with him on a treasure hunt. Harry is suspicious, and opposes the disguise of an old man and warns Pauline. She, however, not recognizing him, decides to go ahead.

FOURTH EPISODE.

Having arrived safely at Nassau they charter a yacht to carry them to the treasure island. Harry is not to go, but overhearing a plot against Pauline's life, decides to go anyway. He hears that their cook has quit and is taken along in the disguise of a negro cook. His cooking is not a success and his first meal nearly costs him his life. However, Pauline intervenes and saves him. A little later Owen sees him, in the kitchen of the yacht, take off his false wig and immediately proposes to Hicks and the old pirate that they have a good opportunity to do away with both the heirs and double their winning. They plant a bomb in the yacht and row away, leaving Harry and Pauline to be killed by the explosion or drowned. The explosion takes place as scheduled, but something happens. What it is you will see on the screen.

There is some comedy in this episode, as the old pirate is not just the one you would expect to meet in good society. The action is strong. The dramatic interest is intense. COUNTY COMMISSIONERS DECIDE TO PUT GANG ON ROADS

At a meeting of the county commissioners in the office of the ordinary Tuesday, July 20th, the commissioners took up for consideration and acted finally on resolutions to put the gang on Bulloch's roads within the next ten days. In all probability the gang will be divided, half going on the lower part and half on the upper part of the county. GEORGIA'S BIGGEST MEN
ORGANIZE

To Develop Agriculture and Bring New Settlers to Our Idle Lands

Savannah, Ga. July 26.—Bankers, farmers, State officials board of trade men and politicians met Saturday at Tybee to discuss Georgia's wonderful agricultural possibilities, and to devise ways and means to further develop our industrial farming.

They came from every part of Georgia and from adjoining states. They include Joseph A. McCord, governor of the federal reserve bank at Atlanta; J. D. Price, Commissioner of Agriculture; G. Gunby Jordan, head of large cotton manufacturing, Columbus; W. T. Gentry, president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company; J. Howard Peyton, president of Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad; Senator Hardwick of Georgia, and Congressman Dudley Hughes of Danville. About twenty members of the legislature, including members of the Chatham county delegation, and J. B. Bale representative from Floyd county, who recently introduced the local option bill in the House attended.

MAYOR R. J. DAVANT DELIVERED ADDRESS OF W. L. MOORE

"This movement means much for Georgia," said Mayor Davant welcoming the visitors. "It means equally as much to the railroad, farmers and bankers. The State is entering on an era of farming prosperity that we never dreamed of. If all of us will work together we can make this state the rival of any in the Union."

"Savannah is the mother of Georgia and she is proud of her children. We welcome you back home Savannah is a part of the state notwithstanding statements to the contrary and she is proud of it. She is not a dominion in herself. After all Savannah is Georgia's port and we want you to consider her so and make her the greatest port in the South."

Savannah is proud of the past, confident of the future and looks to the state of Georgia to make her the gateway for every pound of produce that goes abroad. Carry home with you the idea that Savannah is a part of Georgia and is proud of the state of which the colony founded is parent."

COMMISSIONER PRICE'S SPEECH

Commissioner of Agriculture Price expressed fear that if Great Britain's embargo of cotton is not removed the South will be unable to market the present crop, and asked Mr. McCord what the bankers would do.

"If the war continues and conditions are as they are now where are we going to get money to handle the crop now in the fields?" he asked. "Are we going to get money at reasonable interest so we can hold our cotton if there is no market or the price is low?"

"I'll answer that when you get through," said Mr. McCord. After he had concluded Mr. McCord rose on a question of personal privilege to reply to Mr. Price's question whether the farmers would be able to get money to handle the cotton crop.

"I want to say," he said, "that the Federal Reserve Bank marketed the crop last year and, thank God, we will do it this year. We will carry our part and will have $50,000,000 in gold to do it with."

SMALL FARM COMPANIES.

Mr. Warfield suggested organizing farm companies similar to those in Maryland and Virginia,

Weekly Report of Business Conditions in South Atlantic States

Norfolk.—Business conditions here have undergone no particular change during the past month, and little merchandise appears to be moving along normal lines except foodstuffs and other necessities. Collections are poor and merchants are not purchasing more than their trade requires.

Jacksonville.—The movement of general merchandise is still slow and as a whole, probably shows a decrease of from 10 to 20 per cent. as compared with this period a year ago. Some encouragement, however, is derived from a somewhat better demand for lumber, although prices yet remain low and sales are not yet of normal proportions. Demand for naval stores is fairly well maintained and, while prices are considerably below last year's level, the decline is held quite steady at the decline by the reduction in production.

Pensacola.—There appears to have been no material change in trade conditions in this section during the past few weeks. Retail business is quiet though holding up fairly well, and collections are fair. The corn and fruit crops are good, and affairs appear to be gradually adjusting themselves to existing conditions.

To induce colonization, saying the most effective work is done in the form of communities. He declares co-operation of all interest is essential and that the belief that the European conflict cannot continue indefinitely.

"What I am doing is connecting with the organization is because of my interest in the South," he said. "I am a Southerner and my people have been Southerners. If you will help us we will show what we can do for Georgia and you can take my word and hold me responsible therefor."

Mr. Warfield was followed by R. M. Pindell, Jr., a vice president of the settlement and development organization and assistant director of colonization, who in telling of "How to Get the Farmers Georgia Needs," urged organization and co-operation.

William A. Winburn, president of the Central of Georgia Railway, who was to have spoken next on "What They Will Do to Make Diversified Farming Profitable" was unable to attend and a paper prepared by him was read by H. Wyly Johnson Esq., of counsel for the railway.

To J. W. Motte, president of the Savannah Board of Trade, under whose auspices the meeting was held, was entrusted the task of appointing a state board of directors. A meeting then will be called and plans for raising funds and starting the campaign for more farmers will be discussed. Mr. Motte said he will be the appointments as soon as possible but that because of the importance of the work the greatest care in selecting suitable men will be necessary. It probably will be late next week at the earliest before the appointments will be made.

Fuller's earth was discovered in Florida in 1898 through mere accident. An effort was made to burn brick on the property of the Oel Clear Co., near Quincy. The effort failed. An employee of the company called attention to the close resemblance of the clay used to the German fuller's earth. Florida is now the leading State in the production of fuller's earth having reported for 1914 more than 75 per cent of the total quantity and value.

EMANUEL AND WASHINGTON COUNTY

Good Road Boosters Visit Statesboro

Emanuel and Washington counties sent a group of good roads investigators over the proposed Dixie Highway a few days ago, or rather over the various roads that are being pushed as desirable by the several counties of the east branch of this highway. From Emanuel there were S. S. Moore, commissioner, Mr. D. L. Smith, M. H. Blunt, J. S. Lester and C. G. Rountree, editor of the Forest-Blade. From Washington county there were A. S. Stanley, B. G. Warthen, E. G. Rhodes, D. A. Smith. The party conferred with Hon. Judge W. H. O'Quinn, Ordinary and several citizens who had attended the Louisville and Swainsboro meetings.

John Lind of Minnesota, who was President Wilson's special envoy in Mexico for such a long time, says he adheres to his former opinion that it must be Carranza or intervention in Mexico. The trouble with Carranza is that as soon as he is president and recognized there will be a dozen revolts against him. He will have to kill and slay in order to maintain his power.

It was Senator Jonathan Bourne.

This "composite voter" will be ready for a change by next election, in the expressed opinion of Bourne.

EMANUEL AND WASHINGTON COUNTY

I. R. AND BRYAN HAVE NINE LIVES

Both Men Have Often "Committed Political Suicide."

THEY ALWAYS CAME BACK.

Will Exert a Tremendous Influence in the Next Presidential Election. Graveyard of Oblivion, However, is Full of Men Who Have Really Committed Harakiri in Public Life.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 28.—[Special.]—"Political suicides" are common in this country. It is so easy for public men to commit harakiri, and many jump off the dock or tie themselves on the track in front of the locomotive. Some men commit political suicide so frequently that they prove the time theory. The most important exhibits in this particular are Theodore Roosevelt and William J. Bryan. Bryan began committing political suicide back in 1891 by voting for Springer for speaker. He has been keeping it up right along, and at every stage of his career the chronicler of political suicides has reported his death.

Roosevelt began suiciding earlier than Bryan. The first recorded was when he bolted and then supported Blaine in 1884. Both acts killed him, just as every subsequent move sent him to the limbo of political valleys. Tying up with that in 1898, Roosevelt was the vice president, slipping into the coal strike and numerous events killed him politically at various times. Like Bryan, he has survived most of them. Unlike Bryan, he has not suffered many defeats.

But the interesting fact is that these two political suicides are just now keeping more politicians guessing than a dozen other men in the country.

Real Political Suicides. But the political graveyards are full of men who are real political suicides. William H. Taft used the Canadian reciprocity for one weapon to inflict a mortal wound, but if that was not enough he had several others which would have done the job and perhaps were effective in making the demise complete.

Champ Clark went a piece by the Canadian route by talking out loud. "But some of us think on the quiet, saying Canada ought to belong to the United States. Then Champ employed foul friends at Baltimore, who were bent upon killing Bryan off forever. The New York governorship, sometimes the stepping stone to higher positions, often proves to be an electric chair. The United States senate is the highest ambition of many statesmen, but the records contain the names of many men whose ambition for the grand prize has been wrecked by the suicide route.

The Real Supporters. If you want to find a real supporter of a man for president pick his private secretary or confidential clerk. The man nearest the possibility is his most active supporter. Nearly every man now mentioned has the earnest support of his secretary whether he is a candidate or not. And at least two men who have said they were not candidates have been boosted by family and official connections. It means much to the clerk and the family of any man to get him into the White House.

A Dry Capital. If the prohibition workers are in doubt earnest and believe that a dry capital will benefit their cause they can put through a prohibition law for the District of Columbia. Captain Hobson says he means business and will put it through in order to help the constitutional amendment. The man who will do more than all others, however, is Morris Sheppard of Texas. That young senator does not stop at anything. He is on hand all the time and never ceases work. The possibilities for a dry capital are better than many other political prospects.

Change of Views. When in congress Senator Burton of Ohio was always opposed to spies. He was in the last session he discussed himself by a fight against the ship purchase bill. After his trip to South America he modified his views to quite an extent. While he did not come out directly for a subsidy for ships, he indicated that government aid was necessary under certain restrictions to build up a merchant marine.

Must Have More Spies. It seems that this country must come to it and employ more spies, those enemies of national existence. The spy is an outlaw subject to death by hanging, and yet nations employ him. The world hates an informer, yet nations pay informers and betrayers of trusts. Governments punish bribers and corruptors, yet they pay men to corrupt officials and buy national secrets. It is said that the spy system of foreign governments in this country must be met by the employment of additional spies by the United States. So we are in a fair way of adding bribers, sneaks, politicos, crooks, blacklegs, informers, etc., to our official pay roll. And the worst of it is we will never know when they are betraying our country for money from other countries.

Increased Business Activity and Higher Wages Will Follow European War

By WILLIAM B. WILSON, Secretary of Labor

Men are apt to have an unusually strong attachment for those places where they endured hardship and suffering. Their love of country becomes stronger after a war than before. The great class that has suffered under governments from which many have fled to this country for political freedom hope to see a better government and more humane rulers arise after the war. Those who have fought, therefore, will remain at home long enough to find out whether conditions will be improved.

IT IS SELDOM THE CASE THAT THERE HAS BEEN GREAT EMIGRATION FROM COUNTRIES THAT HAVE BEEN AT WAR AFTER THE WAR EXCEPT WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN DRIVEN OUT.

The labor situation abroad will offer so much to the laboring man as to make him satisfied with his lot at home. There will be the work of restoration in all countries—the greatest field of activity the world has ever seen. Many countries of Europe have laws forbidding emigration, but these have not been enforced very strictly. There is no doubt that the economic conditions in Europe will force these countries having such laws to enforce them after the war.

IMMIGRATION WILL BE RESTRICTED BY OUR LAWS. THOUSANDS OF MEN WHO HAVE BEEN MAIMED OR INJURED OR CONTRACTED CHRONIC ILLNESS AS THE RESULT OF THE WAR WILL REDUCE THE NUMBER ADMITTED TO THIS COUNTRY.

EARNING A LIVING.

Every man owes himself a living—a clean, honest, upright living that shall be a credit to him and a help to others. It is useless to sit down and whine about what the world owes him. Whining never did any good, and besides it means a man. Whoever goes manfully out and makes good the debt that he owes to himself and to his fellow men will never have cause to complain that he finds the world a defaulter.

The Crimean war, the war of 1859, the Austro-Prussian war of 1866, the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 and the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-1878 cost $6,106,800,000.

THE MAIL ORDER HOUSE

Its Inroad on Local Merchants. Reliable Statistics Compiled

While small town merchants complain of the mail order houses taking away their trade, the F. W. Woolworth Co., a publication devoted to newspaper work, has made an investigation which shows that lack of publicity on the part of local merchants is principally responsible.

The investigation showed that farmers received mail order catalogues regularly while comparatively few local merchants advertised in their home papers to any extent, and then only with old standing ads which were lacking in attractiveness, quoted no prices, and were not calculated to produce a desire for goods. In those towns where the merchants advertised liberally, the influence of the mail order house was hardly felt.

I knew a man, a surly grouch, who hardly ever deigned to smile, and if he did, his smile was such, it turned your very blood to bile. For when you tried to greet this claim, with words as smooth as mellow pine, he raised his quills at your salutation, and pierced you like a porcupine. His face was like a cross-cut saw, his mouth was like a bottomhole, his gimlet eyes could bore and draw the inmost secret from your soul. It made him sore, to "beat the band," to see a stranger in his town; to such he held no welcome hand, but froze him with a bilious frown. He read no roses on the road of those who trod with blistered feet, but scattered brambles by the load, to make their pain the more complete. One day this grouch took sick and died. And when his corpse was diagnosed, they said his ailment was—praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost—

Keep Fishin'

The poet laureate of the Chicago News wrote as follows of H. J. Sommers: "For catchin' fish—he sure was great! He never used to make a fuss About the kind of pole or bait. 'Weather, neither; he'd just say, 'I got to catch a mess today.' An toward the creek you'd see him slide, A-windin' soft an' walkin' wide. I says one day to H. J., 'How do you always catch 'em fish?' He gave his bait another switch in. An' chuckin', says, 'I jes keep fishin.' This relates but incidentally to the plaid performance of H. J. It is intended to show how he succeeded, for he is a governor, manufacturer, banker, or something like that or better now. It is declared that it was not doing so much in one day that brought success to H. J. 'Twas jest his fishin' on, I guess; A cheerful, stiddy, hopeful kid Of keepin' at it—don't you mind? And that is why I can't help wishin' That more of us would jest keep fishin'."

Their Only Pleasure.

An interesting light on the mental condition of natives of New Guinea is afforded by the story of a commissionaire recounted in the report of the London Missionary society. The commissionaire tried two men from the mountains for throwing spears at the police. They pleaded guilty, and it was explained to them that they must never do it again. To the commissionaire's surprise they both asked to be hanged. When asked the reason of the request they replied that the only pleasure they had was throwing spears at the police, and they were forbidden to do it any more they did not want to live.—London Mail.

The Middle Ground High School

"One dollar in the pockets of an educated man is worth more to him than a thousand in the pockets of an ignorant man is worth to him. Ignorance multiplied by a million dollars does not come to as much as intelligence multiplied by thirty cents."

"The common schools should have the right of way over all other institutions that stand for public good."

"Every dollar that the taxpayer takes out of his pockets for the support of the common schools today will put back many dollars into the pockets of his children to-morrow."

The citizens of the Middle Ground school district have long since realized the importance of the above assertions and have for several years maintained a good school by local taxation. They have had high school work and the result of this is, they have educated their children well at home.

The above cut shows that they have a splendid school building in which to operate their schools. The building at present is too small and in the near future it is planned to add to the rear of the building another class room for the primary room. This will then give them one of the best buildings in this section of the State.

In the way of equipment, they have spread of tuberculosis, but to get in touch with the actual sufferers and by correspondence and other means seek to relieve them.

Georgia Teachers Enlisting In a Fight Against Tuberculosis

On the theory that the public health problem is largely a sociological one, and especially so as it relates to tuberculosis, the Raoul Foundation in its crusade in Georgia is enlisting the co-operation of the teachers in the movement to stamp out that disease as well as to promote the general health. With this end in view the executive secretary of the Foundation, Mr. Faulkner, is giving a course of lectures in the teachers' institutes. Already the course has been heard at the four inter-county institutes at Carrollton, the Berry School at Rome, Powder Springs and Clarksville, and three single County Institutes.

In these addresses the nature of the public health movement is discussed and a program laid out for the effect by the teachers is outlined. An interesting feature of the work is a demonstration of the method of presenting the subject to children of the school age. In every instance the lectures have received the enthusiastic endorsement of instructors and teachers, and it is expected that not only the plan of definite instruction as outlined will be taken up but that each school will be a medium through which the literature issued by the Foundation will be distributed to the homes.

This work is to be continued, if possible, until the state is covered, the ultimate purpose being not only to reach the well and instruct them in the nature of the prevention of the single patent desks, a splendid library, but not a sufficient number of maps and charts. These will be added in due time. For when these people realize that they need something they have not got, they immediately get busy and supply things as needed.

There are in the Middle Ground school district about one hundred and twenty-five children of school age which require the work of three teachers. Usually a good average is made here.

If another school in the county begins to make strides forward that indicate that Middle Ground is to be left in background, you may count on those people getting busy and keeping pace with the most progressive community in our midst. As a matter of fact, they kind of want to be leaders, and it will keep every other section on a continued hustle to keep them from being ahead.

Usually, the school house is a good index to the kind of homes in a community. When you find a good school house, you will generally find good homes. In the Middle Ground school district some of the most beautiful country homes to be seen in this county. Two, some of the best farms will be seen there.

You are Needed
You ask me what the old town needs? It needs more men; some men of deeds. Not men who talk. Find fault and balk. But men who'll give the best they've got.

To make the old town what she ought. You say we need more factories, More stores, more schools and charities. I grant it friend, But in the end It's men who make them—men that true The thing the town needs most is you. —Exchange.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles have yielded to Doan's Ointment. 50c at all drug stores.—Adv.

THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1915.

We are stopping the press to announce that Mexico changed presidents again five minutes ago.

If you see two dogs—one a scrapper and the other a slinking away—which would you like to own? Which would you call "some dog"? And aren't nations somewhat like a dog?

Laurens county celebrated last week, and the Courier-Herald gracefully concedes the fact that henceforth it will be Laurens vs. Bulloch and that Laurens is just big enough to allow that we have the edge on them at this hour, and they write us a letter that they are going to give us fellows over here a run for our money. Well when we go under the wire next January we'll still hold that edge you now acknowledge and we hope you will get your money's worth.

Having gotten the returns from Bulloch county on its hog production, we are now ready for an invitation to a ham sandwich show over that way if they want to pull one off. Or, they might try to rise to the full proportion of a live stock show, where not only hogs, but mules, horses, cows, sheep and other animals would be shown, as at quitman some weeks ago—Val docks Times.

Come on up, Brother, and bring all the folks from Lowndes; it won't be a little ham sandwich show—it'll be a whole hog or none, and we're equal to a live stock show that will eclipse any of our competitors. We'll show you some real prize circus stock and more automobile loop the loops by farmers who own their own autos and loops than you ever saw before.

ON THE BRINK OF THEIR GRAVE

The spectacle of a nation of people disintegrating and wasting away because of their shrewd inability for self government thru covetousness of her biggest men. That is the spectacle that prevails to-day in Mexico, and will continue until the United States assumes the burden, stamps out anarchy and brigandage, and places the republic upon a substantial working basis.

Kindness will not avail, for Mexicans themselves have clearly proven their utter incapacity for self government. They must be led by a dictator such as was Diaz; he has gone and there does not appear upon their horizon another leader of his type.

Intervention is not a pleasant thought, yet each day seems to incline us to the belief that it will ultimately become the court of last resort. When a human being is drowning the natural impulse of the heart leads others to plunge in and snatch the victim from the relentless embrace of the waves.

Mexico totters upon the brink of its open grave, and only the strong staying hand of the United States can save it from its self-inflicted fate. And that, it would seem, can be accomplished only thru armed intervention and the establishment of a stable form of government.

Just what is the American duty in the premises? Should we succor the starving and rescue the perishing at the point of the bayonet, or should we abandon a self-right and bleeding people to their inevitable fate?

THE BUYER AND THE MERCHANT

An article appearing elsewhere in this issue relating to information compiled by the Fourth State, a publication in the interests of newspapers, regarding mail order houses and their aggressive methods as injurious to local merchants is appropriate.

The best friend of the careful buyer and the progressive merchant is the advertisement in the local newspaper.

It is the arrow that points the way to better buying and more selling.

It is a foregone conclusion that when a merchant goes to the expense of advertising certain goods those goods are well worth the price and will stand up under the most rigid inspection. If it were otherwise the merchant would hardly be calling attention to them. He would simply resort to the shady trick of "working them off" on some unsuspecting dupe.

Very few buyers have the time to look all over town before making their purchases. Life is too short for that.

They must have the goods, and without unnecessary loss of time in making their selections, and it is but natural that they should turn to the advertising pages of the local paper for such advance information as may be obtained before starting out on their quest.

Thus it is that the merchant who advertises his wares, and keeps his best off-rings in the public eye, has the advantage of the man who never advertises, and draws business to his store which otherwise might drift into other places.

It is good for the merchant and it is good for the buyer, for it enables the merchant to dispose of his goods at a reasonable profit, and enables the buyer to make the purchases he desires to best advantage without loss of time.

And if there is a special bargain offered it enables the buyer to take advantage of the opportunity instead of going to some other place where a higher price would prevail.

Advertising has been reduced to a science, and those who benefit from it are not found only in the camp of the advertiser. The buyer shares equally in the benefits through the saving of time and the securing of the articles he desires at the minimum price.

Keep your eye on the advertising pages of this paper, for they will contain many attractive offerings from week to week.

A Municipal Band
We should wonder no longer why Moultrie is going leaps and bounds into the front rank of public approval and commercial growth. Here is one of the many explanations: The city council of Moultrie appropriates $100 per month from the first of May to the first of October for Moultrie's Concert Band. Every Friday evening from 8:30 o'clock to 9:30 band concerts are given in the city band stand, which is the mecca for all the people without any cost. And the band plays for Moultrie when distinguished guests go there or important meetings are held. More than this, there are two bands in Moultrie, both under the leadership of Mr. Jenkinson and both combined amount to eighty-four pieces. Both play together when Moultrie needs band music to host a movement or land a big enterprise—Quitman Free Press.

There is no better investment for a city or a town from an advertising standpoint than a municipal band. We hope some day to have one in Statesboro. It may be said that this city is too big to copy after Moultrie. The answer to this is that little towns like New York and San Francisco have a number of municipal bands.—Savannah Press.

Statesboro has a municipal band, a board of trade and we'll soon have a packing plant of our own and some other institutions that will utilize our cotton products. Just watch the BIG TOWN get bigger.

PERILS OF PAULINE

Star Theatre—Every Tuesday Night

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS EPISODES:

Harry Marvin and his adopted sister, Pauline, have been left orphaned by the death of their father, who left half his fortune to Harry and half to Pauline, to be held in trust for her by his secretary, Owen, till she marries. He makes the proviso that should she die before marriage, the fortune should go to Owen. Owen, a villain, is in the power of a tough character, by the name of Hicks, who persuades him that it would be a good idea for something to happen to Pauline so that Owen would inherit the fortune and split with him. They have already tried two or three times to have Pauline apparently accidentally killed, but Harry has always intervened.

STORY OF THE FIFTH EPISODE:

Harry has been trying to get Pauline to consent to marry him at once, but on one excuse or another, she has always put him off. Believing that a little jealousy would help, Harry starts a flirtation with Miss Sampson, one of Pauline's girl friends. This arouses Pauline's jealousy and makes her so cross that she goes to a large reception alone, although both she and Harry had been invited. Here she meets Signor Baskinelli, a noted pianist. Signor Baskinelli is much attracted by Pauline's charms, and in his violent Italian way, makes love to her. She, however, repulses him. Owen and Hicks see the by-play and propose to Signor Baskinelli that he run off with Pauline. They make arrangements with some tough characters, and then Signor Baskinelli invites the party for a trip through China. On this trip they see some strange things. Pauline is detained in a Joss house. As she comes out some tough characters attempt to seize her, but Harry hears her scream and rushes back and puts them to rout. Pauline flees while Harry is fighting, and is seized by some Chinamen. She is tied up and placed in detention. Harry misses her and in his search of the Joss house, discovers her place of detention. He demands her release, but it is only after a great struggle with the Chinese inmates that he has any success whatever.

A BIT OF ADVICE

First, Don't Delay—Second, Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, or dizzy spells, if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Statesboro residents desire more convincing proof of their effectiveness than the statement of a Statesboro citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

S. F. Olliff, merchant, Statesboro, says: "I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others, who may be in need of a kidney medicine. I have given them a thorough trial and they have done me more good than anything else I ever took for kidney trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Olliff had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

American People Don't Realize That It Is Difficult to Establish Stable Government in a Country of 17,000,000 People When Only 2,000,000 Can Read or Write—No Patriot on Horizon.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 4.—(Special).—Mexico has been alternately threatened and cajoled by the American government in a country of 17,000,000 people when only 2,000,000 can read or write—no patriot on horizon.

The threats are becoming more numerous and seem to carry more weight than heretofore. There is a belief among men close to the administration that we are really to take a hand in Mexican affairs and attempt to establish a stable government south of the Rio Grande.

Much Misinformation. From the beginning there has been much misinformation about Mexico, and much of it has found its way to the ears of the American people. The greatest misconception was that the people of that country were capable of self government. The idea that a republic can exist when only 2,000,000 of 17,000,000 can read and write was the first great error. Another was that any of the so-called patriots were the real thing or that they had any higher ambition than to gain control of the government and enrich themselves from the collection of the revenues and to exploit the people for their own benefit.

The Wrong Idea. Many of our people get the wrong idea. They assume that every revolutionist is a George Washington. That was the idea many of our good people had of Aguinaldo. That he had accepted a bribe of $400,000 by Spain to betray and desert his people and returned to the Philippines when the United States drove Spain out and then started an insurrection did not affect him as a patriot in the eyes of misguided people. The leaders who carried on revolutions in Cuba were not all patriots, as our people came to know in after times. The leaders of the various factions in Mexico are not all patriots. That idea is sinking in and displacing the wrong idea that has so long prevailed among the people of the United States.

Displaced Treasury Officials. A circular recently received at the treasury department was very displeasing to the officials. It suggested to people throughout the country that they were entitled to have their checks paid in gold or to have all their money exchanged for gold. "Let every man as a matter of safety," it said, "procure a twenty dollar gold piece and carry it in his pocket."

That would mean a hoarding of gold which would cripple the government, said a treasury official. "It would embarrass bankers and injure the reserve system. Such suggestions can only come from enemies of the government."

Useless to Talk of Treaties. Treaties with foreign governments are cited by our officials in the various disputes that have arisen and which border on the danger line. What is the use of citing treaties in time of war? Nations will violate treaties at any times when it is to their interest to do so. What is the use of making treaties apply to war, for they are always violated or disregarded in war? Every foreign government now engaged in war has violated treaties. If the United States was in war it would do the same. The treaty affecting the Panama canal would become like other treaties which stand in the way—"a scrap of paper."

Discouraging Hughes Talk. Justice Hughes is having help in discouraging talk about his selection as a dark horse. "I do not believe," said Jonathan Bourne, who is at the head of a publicity bureau for the Republicans, "that the people of the United States will ever believe in the prospect of taking a man from the supreme bench to be a candidate for the presidency."

Back in 1908 Bourne was bending every effort to make the people establish the precedent of giving a man a third

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

Will Assist in Marketing Cotton Crop

BY JOS. A. MCCORD

From Savannah Press August 2nd

As governor of the Sixth district Federal Reserve Bank in Atlanta I am of course very much interested in the plans to be made this fall for taking care of the cotton crop in this immediate section of the cotton belt. The officers of the Federal Reserve Bank hope to be able to assist the farmers very materially in handling the products of their farms and their plantation when the time comes to market the south's greatest money crop.

The Federal reserve Bank thru its auxiliary, the Aldrich-Vreeland act, which was made a part of the federal reserve act, furnished in the Sixth district last year from August to October, which continued in circulation until gradually the conditions justified the withdrawing of the same, $22,000,000 of national bank notes and $7,500,000 in the State of Georgia alone. When this had served its purposes the Federal Reserve Bank came in and furnished the member Banks by discounting their paper for the redemption of this Aldrich-Vreeland currency.

We do not want to buy the farmers' cotton, meaning by that, that we are not going to loan the full value thereof, but with the promise is for a good yield. It has been a substantial increase in the acreage and seasons have been generally favorable. The important thing now is how shall this crop be marketed to the best advantage?

It is to the interest of all in the trade that a fair price shall be realized by the producers. Only a few years ago the industry was in a crisis; actual abandonment of cultivation was seriously considered. There was a very moderate crop and scarcely any demand.

This year farmers were urged to extend the production in the confident assurance of a demand for all that were grown. Attention has been already called to a mischievous tendency in the system of handling the sea island crop. It is a small crop, averaging only around 100,000 bales. Hence, the marketing could easily be systematized; in fact, it has been until of comparatively recent years.

There should be but one market for the crop of Georgia and Florida, and that is the Savannah market. Even buyers say this system would suit them better, that they would rather pay a little more for the cotton at one point of concentration than to go scraping it up here and there at interior points.

The advice is again offered to the farmer and the merchant who takes the cotton directly from the farmers, to market it in Savannah. The plan of trying to do better by selling it direct to those who buy for consumers, has always brought disaster and will bring it every time.

Marketing portions of the crop at interior points here and there makes it impossible for Savannah to maintain a steady front, no matter how strong the position may be. Savannah may be holding for 25 cents, let us say, and with no doubt of getting it. The interior seller wants to realize and as buyers at the moment are hesitating about paying 25 cents in Savannah, he agrees to sell at 24 cents. The buyer then tells the Savannah factor he is buying at 24 cents in the interior, and so the Savannah factor is forced to come down also. Thus the price is shaded down by

A HUMANE ACT OF THE GREAT WAR

In the great war that is raging in Europe many a humane act is performed, such as the one shown in the above picture, which was taken after a clash between French and German soldiers. After the fighting these German soldiers, upon finding the bodies of three of their opponents, buried them and erected a cross over the grave of the brave Frenchmen.

MORE FAVORABLE OUTLOOK FOR SEA ISLAND

Advantageous Marketing

(From Savannah Morning News.)

A new sea island crop is advancing toward maturity, and so far the promise is for a good yield. It has been a substantial increase in the acreage and seasons have been generally favorable. The important thing now is how shall this crop be marketed to the best advantage?

It is to the interest of all in the trade that a fair price shall be realized by the producers. Only a few years ago the industry was in a crisis; actual abandonment of cultivation was seriously considered. There was a very moderate crop and scarcely any demand.

INFORMATION ON MILEAGE

Results of the Census Will Serve as a Basis For Estimating the Relative Values of the Different Kinds of Highways Throughout the Country.

The United States department of agriculture is now gathering information which, when complete, should not only give the total mileage of public roads in the United States, but also the cost, but should serve as a basis for estimating the relative value of the different kinds of highways. Some 15,000 sets of inventory blanks have already been distributed through the state highway commissions, and some of these are now beginning to come back to the department. Each set consists of four cards.

Of these the first asks for information on the mileage of different classes of roads in the country to which it is sent. The mileage does not include of course, streets in cities and towns. The roads are divided into ten classes as follows: (1) brick paved, (2) concrete paved, (3) gravel, (4) dirt, (5) macadam, (6) with the addition of some substance such as asphalt, oil or tar; (7) plain macadam, gravel, shell, or other surface; (8) gravel, sand and clay; (9) ordinary earth roads properly constructed and, finally, (10) unpaved roads.

The second card asks for information in regard to the tax rate for the roads and the amount of work and money expended on them. The third blank is concerned with the names of local road officials and the fourth with facts in regard to the bond issues and the indebtedness of the counties for their road systems. As there are approximately 3,000 counties in the United States, in many of which the mileage has never been estimated, it is hardly probable that this preliminary survey will be exact. The department, however, will be able to detect any excessive inaccuracies, for by road mileage per square mile of territory does not vary excessively. Except in desert or undeveloped country less than half a mile of public roads to every square mile of territory is rare, while in the most thickly populated rural sections the maximum is no more than two and one-half or three miles. Thus the average is an average for the entire country of 1.75 to a square mile. In Italy, however, this has fallen to .080, possibly on account of the mountainous character of much of the peninsula and of Sicily and Sardinia.

In America the average is approximately .080 mile, which in view of the fact that much of the country is sparsely settled seems unduly high. An explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that in many states the law provides that each section line shall be a public road. Thus, for example, there are in the state of Iowa alone more than 104,000 miles of legal highways, manifestly a much larger mileage than is required by traffic.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the desirability and economy of the various highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country, and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.

AUTOMOBILE BLUE BOOK AND SOUTHERN STATES

Will be Guide System Greatly Needed in the South's Good Roads Movement

New York, Aug. 2.—It will be good news to motor tourists throughout this section, as well as to everyone interested in the development of road travel, that the publishers of the Automobile Blue Books, whose headquarters are at New York and Chicago, have decided to add an entirely new volume to their present series in order to more adequately cover the main-traveled motor routes below the Potomac and Ohio rivers. Up to this time a limited number of these routes have been given as extensions to Volume 8 (New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland), or to Volume 4 (the middle west), but the vast increase in the amount of touring to and from the South, and especially the recent great progress in road construction throughout the southern states, have made more ample treatment necessary. Hence, the decision to make a new and separate volume for 1916.

In preparation thereof one of the Blue Book cars has already started out, and will travel constantly over the main highways of the south Atlantic and gulf coast states at least until late in the autumn, taking fresh notes over thousands of miles of trunk lines and principal connecting routes.

There is no question but that the South is now ready for a large route development program of this kind, and that as a result of a new and efficient road guide system for these states, uniform with those of the North and central West, there will be a very great increase of travel throughout all the territory covered. Experience has shown that for one tourist who will take the trouble to find his own way into and through imperfectly charted sections, easily ten will make such trips after the best and most interesting ways have been made clear by competent field workers, the correct mileage ascertained, and desirable hotels and garages listed. It has also been proven that road improvement follows more rapidly upon routes charted and recommended by a national organization than any others, for the reason that travel over them increases at a greater ratio, and they receive a generous amount of publicity, some of which reaches throughout the country.

Not only will the new and complete Blue Book greatly facilitate travel from the northern and central western states into the south, but it will equally assist the increasing number of southern motorists traveling north or west. At the same time there will be brought to the attention of larger numbers of visitors the scenic and historic attractions of the Southern States, which have not been as well and as widely known as they might be.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the desirability and economy of the various highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country, and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.
