JOHNSON AND FREEMAN

Convicted of the Murder of Cuyler Green

I. L. Freeman and Will Johnson whom Sheriff Mallard so cleverly ensnared two weeks ago immediately after they had murdered old Cuyler Green were yesterday convicted by a jury who returned a verdict of guilty in the present term of the Superior Court now in session with Judge Hardeman presiding. The verdict was murder in the first degree without recommendation against Johnson and with recommendation for Freeman. Judge Hardeman sentenced Johnson to hang September 14th and Freeman to life servitude. Will Rhodes charged with being an accessory to the crime is awaiting trial. At the coroners inquest these men confessed to the crime but before being brought to trial decided to enter a plea of self defense which however was of no avail.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colics, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years. To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sciatica. No alcohol in Scott's.

Paint Better

Better isn't enough; paint best. A man bought "cheap" paint; saved 20c, or 30c, or 40c, or 50c a gallon, didn't he?

Yes, and bought 50, or 60, or 80 per cent more gallons; how much did he make on his paint?

And he paid for painting those gallons—a fair day's work is a gallon—how much did he make on the labor part of his job?

He lost a quarter or a third of his money.
How long will it last! not his money, the paint!

Perhaps half as long as Devco. How long will his money last if he buys other stuff as he bought that paint.

EFFECT OF WAR ON OUR POLITICS

President Unconcerned, but Others "View With Alarm."

G. O. P. WATCHFULLY WAITS

Will Be Quick to Seize Upon Any Break Mr. Wilson May Make and Convert It Into Political Capital.
Curtis of Kansas Mentioned as a Presidential Possibility.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The politics of the war situation may not concern the president so much as it does members of the administration, but it is certain that they "view with alarm" as the platform says, the political possibilities of the situation.

In the first place the war has injured Americans in many ways, notably the exporters. Particularly is this true in the south, where there is bitter resentment against Great Britain for the manner in which our commerce has been held up. But other interests and other sections have suffered.

Then the manner of dealing with Germany has wonderful political possibilities. The people may be dissatisfied with the manner in which the decision goes. A compromise with Germany may prove unpopular and a break with Germany is also looked upon with grave forebodings.

Republicans Watchful Waiting.
At this crisis in the career of Woodrow Wilson the Republicans have been upon his phrase and are engaged in watchful waiting, ready to take advantage of any mistake which the president makes in handling the delicate situations which now confront him.

Of course in foreign affairs there should be no party questions, but there never was a president who was not severely criticized by his political opponents for his handling of international matters. If it had not been for the European war President Wilson would have been severely handled for his course in Mexico.

Charlie Curtis Mentioned.

Here's some one trying to put Kansas on the presidential highway, and they have selected Charlie Curtis as the man in the foreground. That's what he gets for carrying Kansas against a Democratic and rednecked Vice-Murdoch of the Progressives in the campaign of 1914. If Curtis should be nominated it would be getting back to first principles in the matter of Americanism. He is one-fourth Kaw Indian.

Another Indian Possibility.

If the Democratic party was to have an open convention and their candidate next year was not already selected we might have another aborigine in the field for president. I refer to Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, who is said to have aspirations. Wouldn't it make a bully fight if these men with Indian blood were the heads of their respective political tickets in a presidential campaign?

It reminds me of a time when Curtis and Owen were having a hot debate over some Indian question. One of Oklahoma interrupted and after a pause asked the two Indians be accorded belligerent rights, including the taking of souls.

Immigration After the War.

There was a man in Washington not long ago who was trying to convince officials that there would be little immigration after the war, because the people of the warring nations will be busy rehabilitating their own countries. Inquiry developed that he was the agent of steamship companies that are greatly interested in stimulating immigration. A traveler from abroad told me a few days ago that arrangements were being made for 2,000,000 Russian Jews to immigrate to the United States when the war closed. The probabilities are that millions from other countries will rush here as soon as the war is over.

Our Pacific Outpost.

There was a large number of congressmen taken to Hawaii early in the summer, and it appears that those Hawaiians knew what they were doing. "I shall vote to fortify Honolulu in the strongest possible manner, and I believe that all the members of the congressional party will take the same view," said Senator Ollie James of Kentucky upon his return to Washington. Evidently those congressmen will be strong for making Hawaii a "Gibraltar in the Pacific" when it comes to providing for the national defense in the next congress.

Can Repel Invasion.

"We can soon set at rest all possibilities of invasion," remarked a naval officer. "Unless I am mistaken the coming congress will provide for a cord of submarines around the coast line of the United States, which will make any attempt to invade this country an act of suicide by the country trying to land a force."

A Race Issue.

Prohibition in the south is a race issue. Southern men did not want the negroes to have liquor, hence the prohibitory measures. And the movement has grown so strong that it would not be strange if the southern states should insist upon national prohibition when the conventions meet next year. There are great political possibilities in this liquor question.

United States Should Bar Immigrant Servants From Other Nations

By Rev. Dr. SAMUEL H. WOODROW, Congregationalist, Pittsburgh

I BELIEVE it would be perfectly right and proper to pass such immigration laws as would exclude from our country all men who are held as servants for any other nation. We should not have in this country men who are held under leading strings by the nations from which they originally came.

THE TIME HAS COME WHEN WE MUST DETERMINE

WHETHER WE ARE REALLY AMERICANS OR EUROPEANS.

The only people who were ever brought here against their will were the black people, and we have already paid the penalty for that. All others, of whatever nationality, have come of their own free will during the intervening years because they believed there were better opportunities for them and for their children in this land of the free than there was anywhere else on the face of the globe.

STATEMENTS THAT ANY CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF CITIZENS OF ANY NATIONALITY IN THIS COUNTRY WOULD FIGHT FOR THE LAND OF THEIR ANCESTRY RATHER THAN FOR THE LAND OF THEIR ADOPTION I BELIEVE TO BE UTTERLY FALSE.

One of the results of this horrible war, I believe, will be to wipe out these distinctions.

HIS NAME HONORED

Nathan Hale a Synonym for the Highest Patriotism.

How Youthful Martyr to the Cause of Liberty Met Death With Fortitude
That Can Never Be Forgotten.

When the farmers of Lexington fired the shots that brought on the war of 1775, the American Independence declared that April day in 1775, a pale, slim boy, not yet twenty years old, destined to become a martyr to our freedom, laid down his life as a schoolteacher at New London, Conn., and took up the sword.

His boy was Nathan Hale. His heroic sacrifice to his country's cause is one of the treasured pages in American history.

New London went wild with excitement when the news of the battle of Lexington reached there. Bands of patriots paraded the streets. Guns were fired and speeches made. A meeting was called at once to determine what that city should do in the war. Every man of prominence spoke and then the young schoolteacher was called to the platform. What words he said that day have been lost to posterity, but we do know they must have been the most stirring of the occasion.

Nathan Hale enrolled as a Lieutenant in the regiment of Col. Charles Webb. His studious habits stood him in good stead, and soon he was one of the best officers in the regiment. He went with his company to Boston and during the siege of that city by the army under General Washington the twenty-year-old boy was promoted to be a captain for bravery and efficiency.

When the British evacuated Boston and sailed for New York a greater number of the American army went down that way. Captain Hale and his regiment were among them. They took part in all the hardships of that campaign.

Late in the summer of 1778, when the British had driven the American army from Long Island, General Washington was particularly anxious to establish some sort of secret information line into New York. He tried many plans without success. Finally he summoned his officers to a council and told them to be on the lookout for some bright, courageous man who would undertake the dangerous task. He spoke, among others, to Colonel Knowlton of Knowlton's Rangers, the regiment to which Captain Hale was attached.

Colonel Knowlton conferred with his officers. When he put the proposition to them every cheek paled. If the messenger should be caught they all knew he would be hanged as a spy. The word spy is a horrible one to an honorable man. No one volunteered to risk a death of shame. For a few moments there was a hush in the room. Then Captain Hale walked in and said:

"I will undertake it, sir."

Captain Hale had been sick in bed for some time, and his fellow officers crowded about him seeking to dissuade him from his purpose. Among them Capt. William Hull, a classmate of Hale's at Yale, spoke the longest. But the youthful captain could not be shaken from his purpose.

"Good-bye," he said. "I owe my country the accomplishment of an object so important and so much desired by the commander of our armies. I

Real Lesson of the Day.
The Fourth of July properly symbolizes the liberty for which the patriots stood ready to sacrifice their lives in order to launch the United States as a national craft which should be cherished by no weight of foreign despotism.

LANGSTON'S LOGIC

The Hypocrite.

He goeth forth with saintly mien and sanctimonious air, to church each Sunday morn and e'en, and prayeth mightily prayer. Religion fairly oozes out from this seraphic creature, while sitting in the amen pew and listening to the preacher. And when the contrabution box doth come around to him, he chucketh in his shekel with a nifty bang and him. And when he thinketh that the folks perchance may look at him, he weepeth like a crocodile, until his face doth swim. But Lord-a-massy, Monday morn another man is he, as he raketh in the ducats, and he chucketh in his glee. He laugheth at his usury that addeth to his treasure, and he smieth as he giveth to the widow shorter measure. Yea, he plieeth up his mure, and his silver he concealeth, and he squeezeth it so tightly that the very eagle squeal th. And he prayeth God to help him as he plieeth up his due, to lay it where corrupteth not the earthly moth and rust. Yet he knoweth as he prayeth that he lieth in his heart, and he weepeth as he thinketh that is gold and he most part. And when the season cometh for this hypocrite to go, his neighbor singeth praise to God from whom all blessing's flow.

"What are you doing out so early?"

"Isn't it proper for a schoolteacher to get a breath of fresh air?" Hale asked in reply.

"Why did you run?"

"I thought you were rebels."

The marines would not believe Hale's assertions of innocence and began to search him. They looked everywhere without success. One pulled off his boots and reached inside. Nothing suspicious had been found and the marines reluctantly were preparing to turn him loose when one of them, with an oath, threw the boot he held at a tree. That tore away the strip that covered the secret hiding place and the papers fell out.

Captain Hale was then taken aboard a frigate in the harbor and later to New York, where General Howe questioned him. There was nothing to do but admit that he was a spy. General Howe immediately ordered that the young patriot be hanged the following day and turned him over to an officer named Cunningham, the provost marshal.

That night Hale was kept in solitary confinement. He begged to be allowed to write letters to his mother and Alice Adams, his sweetheart, in New London. Cunningham furnished him with paper and ink and then destroyed the letters in front of Hale, saying:

"The rebels should never know they had a man who could die with such firmness."

Hale asked that a minister or a Bible be sent to him. Both were refused. The only favor he received was being allowed to rest in the tent of a young British officer while on his way to his death.

Early on the morning of September 22, 1776, it was Sunday, Hale was conducted to the scaffold. Cunningham cuffed him brutally and said:

"Make your dying speech."

Hale had been praying. He continued and when he had finished rose to his feet and faced the crowd of British soldiers and townspeople. In a loud, clear voice he said:

"I regret that I have but one life to give to my country."

"Swing the rebel off!" Cunningham shouted, and thus died one of the most heroic figures in our history.

Real Lesson of the Day.
The Fourth of July properly symbolizes the liberty for which the patriots stood ready to sacrifice their lives in order to launch the United States as a national craft which should be cherished by no weight of foreign despotism.

DAIRY and CREAMERY

DRYING UP A MILKER.

Eliminate Most of Grain Ration and Do
Not Milk Udder Dry.

It is not a difficult matter to turn most cows dry. Usually by decreasing her grain ration, says Kimball's Dairy Farmer. For two or three days milk her only once daily, after that time her only occasionally to relieve pressure from the udder. From the time the start toward drying up the cow is made do not milk her completely dry. By this method, together with eliminating largely the grain ration, the cow will be practically dry within a week or ten days.

She should then be given a ration of two parts bran, two parts ground corn and one part oilmeal and one part cottonseed meal. Of this mixture she may be fed six or eight pounds daily up to within three or four days of freshening. It will then be well to give her a bran mash twice daily consisting of about three or four pounds of bran mixed to a sloppy consistency with water. The bran mash should continue through this period of parturition and for two or three days after the cow has freshened. At this time the cow may be placed back on the grain ration and be given four or five pounds of grain daily, this to be increased at the rate of one-half pound every other day so long as the cow continues to increase in her milk flow sufficiently to pay for the additional food given from day to day. Clover or alfalfa or cowpeas hay is much more to be advised in feeding cows for milk production than red top hay.

The addition of oilmeal and cottonseed meal to the ration will be advantageous in that it supplies the desired nutrients which bran and cracked corn do not supply largely and they also add to variety.

PASTURE FOR COWS.

Bile a Great Help in Solving Summer
Feeding Problem.

At this season of the year there is nothing more important in the consideration of dairy matters than that which pertains to the feeding of cows through the coming summer and next fall and winter, says the Kansas Farmer. It may be conceded without argument that the low yield of milk cows during the winter. We are just beginning to appreciate the value of a good silo. They can be cheaply constructed and kept in good repair, and there is no feed that can be harvested on the farm that will do more good, or that will make cheaper feed than good ensilage, as it takes the place of green feed through the entire winter.

The best and cheapest thing that can be used for ensilage is sorghum and corn mixed together, two rows of sorghum and one of corn, or plant the sorghum with the corn in the same row. It should never be cut until the sorghum is practically ripe, and it makes much better ensilage. Any corn that has large stalks and plenty of fodder is good for ensilage purpose. The variety known as a Mexican June ensilage corn is the best of all. It can be planted late and will grow to immense height; the stalks are large and tender, making it easy to cut and easy to preserve.

The initial cost of a silo and cutter is the largest expense attached to preparing for this work, but there is no money that can be invested on any stock or dairy farm that will pay handsomely on the money invested than to erect a good silo and fill it very early in the fall.

We are glad to see so many new silos erected throughout the South, and when we become more familiar with them we will have more silos.

Silo Scores Again.
The Ohio experiment station found, in a trial with eight cows for four months, that an acre of corn in the form of silage would produce from 25 to 50 per cent more milk than an acre fed as dry fodder. Another hard fact to get over.

TO IMPROVE THE FRUIT.
Thinning Advised For Those Who Want
Product of High Quality.

To many it is a waste of time and labor to thin fruit trees, but with few exceptions it should be done. When the tree bears a crop of little things, it is necessary, but since most trees bear too much it is necessary to thin them to obtain fruit of proper quantity and quality. The purpose of thinning is to secure large, healthy, well flavored fruit in cutting out the knotty, diseased, ill flavored ones. In order to prevent waste, feed the culls to hogs and poultry.

Culling out can be caused by no fast rule. It is seldom overdone since the fruit grows fast up to harvest time. It is best to pull each wormy and blighted fruit. Such fruit will either drop from the tree before picking or prove worthless for eating or marketing.

Thinning will also prevent good fruit from contamination. In addition, the remaining fruit has a greater chance of development because the tree is not called upon to nourish those infested. The fruit produced from trees that have been thinned is of far superior quality.—American Agriculturist.

Build Silos

Is Advice of the Southern
Fancier Farmer

A silo should be on every dairy farm, and also on every farm where many as ten or more cattle are kept during the winter. We are just beginning to appreciate the value of a good silo. Weekly Talks to Canning Club Girls

BY MISS POLLY WOOD

Dear Girls:

I have had several inquiries in regard to Class II. Among the requirements for this class are two jars of blackberry jam. As the berry season was over before we received our U. S. G. bulletins, we will have to substitute. You substitute pear preserves, soup-making marmalade or if you have the canned blackberries or huckleberries you may use the jam from them.

I would like for each girl to try some of these: Peach pickle; watermelon rind pickle, grape juice, beets, cucumber pickle, and butter beans. Try to bring these up to a very high standard, I will select some of the best ones for our county exhibit. In addition to your class exhibit, I want you to exhibit any nice specimens you have. All extra work of this kind brings up your individual record as well as the county record. I will publish the list of your recipes that I like will be nice for you to use.

Girls, it is getting time for us to think and plan some for our next year's work. You know one of our main stands for the training of the Health of the home—that is train the Health to enjoy life, resist disease, and make for efficiency. If we do this, we must provide wholesome food in winter as well as summer. We need more green and succulent foods during this period. I want the canning club girls to supply this need in their homes.

You may do this by planting apart of your yard in a winter garden. Plant at least one fourth of it. There are many green vegetables which will grow in our gardens practically all winter, such as spinach, lettuce, radishes, winter cabbage, cauliflower, onions

About Georgia and Georgians

Items of Interest Concerning People and Things in the State

Atlanta, Aug. 11.—Georgia and the South are not to be neglected by the theatrical stars this year. Homer George, manager of the Atlanta Theatre, has just returned from a trip to New York, as a result of which he announces that he will have during the coming winter some of the greatest attractions of the season.

Among the big things that are coming will be "The Life," "Under Cover," "Twin Beds," "It Pays to Advertise," Margaret Livingston being the star in the first named production.

There will be "On Prim," a great revival of Robin Hood, the New York company of High Jinks, William H. Crane, Macklyn Arbuckle and Amelia Bingham in an all-star cast of "The New Henrietta," "Sir Forbes Robertson, the eminent English star, a new edition of "Potash and Perlmutter," "The Natural Law," "The Birth of a Nation," "Daddy Longlegs," and Guy Bates Post in "The Tentmaker."

Atlanta, Aug. 11.—During the heated days of August it has been suggested in several of the rural and suburban churches around Atlanta that it would be a good idea to allow the men to remove their coats during services. In one or two instances it has been tried with comfortable and satisfactory results all around.

One minister, before starting to preach, asked permission of the ladies and then pulled off his coat inviting others of the congregation to do likewise.

Atlanta, Aug. 11.—Members of the Anniversary Club, one of the most unique organizations in the state, recently held in annual session at Atlantic Beach, report a slowly but surely returning prosperity in the territory covered by their activities, and composed of Florida, Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina. It is the consensus of their opinion that the coming fall holds out splendid prospects despite the war, and that the people in this section are going to be in better shape than they have been for years because they have done more toward raising their own food and foodstuffs and have only gone lightly into debt.

"There are more cattle and hogs this year in this section of the South than I have ever seen before," said one prominent member of the club who had traveled all over the four states. The Anniversary Club is composed of leading agents of the Southern States Life Insurance company, all men who, as business producers are in the $100,000 class. It is made up this year as follows: Thomas Peters, Jr., Georgia, president; Fred Hines, South Carolina, vice-president; G. J. McDowell, vice president for South Carolina; G. Sam Wilcox, vice president for Georgia; Paul H. Thomas, vice-president for Florida; H. H. Hogg, Julian T. Warren and Geo. T. Browne, Georgia; Burton B. Murray, Florida; and J. A. Hodges, South Carolina.

The field club, which has a requirement of $50,000 a year, has the following members: C. W. LaPlatz, Geo. F. Lee, G. A. Davis, Florida; M. H. Blount, Georgia; C. C. Walden, Frank O. Deese, Alabama; P. A. Hodges, South Carolina.

Atlanta, Aug. 11.—Under a ruling of the department of agriculture just made, there can be no more bleached flour sold in Georgia after October 1st unless each package of it offered is plainly marked "BLEACHED."

At a meeting of flour mill men and brokers, handling flour made outside the state, held in the office of Commissioner of Agriculture J. D. Price, he informed them that he would allow them sixty days within which to comply with the pure food laws. This time is up on October 1st, next, and the department's order requires that from then on it shall be stated upon the package that the flour is bleached and the process by which the bleaching was effected. The action taken is in accordance with the pure food laws requiring that the nature and quality of the contents of a package of food shall be plainly stated upon it.

Atlanta, Aug. 11.—The proper way to boost your own home town is a subject that has interested many a willing citizen who has learned from experience that the real booster is not the man who throws his hat up in the air and goes running up and down the street calling attention to himself while shouting "Hurrah for Bingham," or whatever the name of the town happens to be.

Boosting is actively doing the things that will make for prosperity in your locality. The most practical form of all is patronizing your home stores and your home industries, buying at home and keeping money at home. A dollar spent in your home town runs the rounds in your home town and does local good all along the line. When you send money out of town, it's "good-bye, dollar."

Mutual helpfulness in a commercial way is the way to put "pep" and "ginger" into any community, large or small.

Atlanta, Aug. 11.—With a fairish large cotton crop coming on despite talk of curtailment, farmers in Georgia and the cotton belt are viewing with intense satisfaction the manifest intentions of President Wilson and the administration at Washington to back up the cotton growers.

Senator Hoke Smith with reference to interference by Great Britain with the cotton export commerce of this country.

If those principles of unrestrained commerce with neutral ports are insisted on and England is forced to recognize them and cease seizing cotton, it will open up a market now closed for millions of bales of the American crop.

Senator Hoke Smith has made a closer study of this situation than probably any other member of the official family at Washington, and it was he who pointed out that there was no basis of historical fact for the British contention that the action of this government in the civil war offered a precedent for what Great Britain is trying to do now by way of interfering with neutral commerce and blockading neutral ports. Of all the problems which have arisen from the great European conflict, this is the one which strikes nearest home to the southern farmer and the southern business man.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION OF WESLEY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Following is the letter of Warren A. Candler, president of the board of trustees of the Wesley Memorial Hospital, in the July 23 issue of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, appealing for donations:

"The Decennial Celebration of the Wesley Memorial Hospital

"The tenth anniversary of the opening of the Wesley Memorial Hospital draws near. The hospital was opened in August, 1905, and during its first ten years it has done an extraordinary work. Nearly nine thousand patients have been treated within its walls. During this period the hospital has given free treatment to poor people to an amount three times the original cost of the property. Or, in other words, it has given itself away in charitable service three times.

"During the year 1915, of which only six months have passed, its ministry to the poor has cost a little more than $8,200, although the Christmas Collection (the hospital's only source of help) has amounted to no more than $3,000. This deficit of $5,200 has brought a deficit upon the institution for current expenses.

"The trustees do not feel justified in increasing the debt, and they do not wish to turn away any charity patients who ask treatment. These times of depression naturally increase the demands for charity, and the authorities of the institution wish to meet these demands, as far as possible.

"It is proposed, therefore, on Sunday, August 16, to observe the decennial celebration of the institution, and on that day to ask all our churches in Georgia to make a birthday offering for the extinguishment of the debt already incurred for charitable work, and for relief of the charity patients which may be reasonably expected to ask treatment during the rest of the year.

"Many of our people have made generous gifts to the sick and wounded in the hospitals of the war-stricken nations of Europe, and in this way they have done well. But we must not forget our own sick and suffering poor. The European war has afflicted many in our own land and they cry for relief. Shall we turn a deaf ear to their cries for help and healing? Surely not."

Telling Work Being Done Now

While some contestants are not making reports of their work, it has come to us in a round about way that they are working a quiet hunt—they are not losing any chances, but are acting on the suggestions made in this paper last week, namely to get just as many promises for subscription right now for delivery later as they can. This is going to make things lively in this race when these contestants begin to cash in on these promises later and after crops begin moving and the people have the money.

Unless the 3000 mark in this subscription is reached by the closing date of this contest, then the prizes as originally announced to be given away by this paper will be given on the day the contest closes. ADJOURNED TERM OF SUPERIOR COURT

In Session During Five Days of Last Week

The April adjourned term of Bulloch superior court convened Monday, Aug. 2, with Judge R. N. Hardeman presiding.

There were a few divorce cases and other civil cases disposed of during the first two days and then the criminal docket was taken up.

In the case of J. B. Groover vs. J. A. Wilson, suit for damages, a verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiff for $400.

The grand jury got busy and turned out a good deal of work.

The case of the state vs. Will Johnson, I. L. Freeman and Will Rhodes was tried, resulting in the conviction of Will Johnson with out recommendation to mercy and sentenced to be hanged Sept. 10th, 1915. I. L. Freeman was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment and a mistrial resulted in the Will Rhodes case.

The state vs. Lottie Davis, charged with murder; verdict of guilty of voluntary manslaughter; sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

The state vs. Cleve Burned, charged with the murder of Pharis Davis some two years ago entered a plea of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, being the same sentence as was imposed upon him when he was convicted about a year ago and a new trial granted.

There were several other minor cases disposed of during the session which adjourned Friday evening.

THE STATESBORO BAKERY

A New Industry Soon to Be Launched

Statesboro will soon be in a class with the big cities in her bread requirements. A new and modern bakery embracing all the latest improvements, devices and patents for the output of high class and wholesome bread is soon to be in operation. The Statesboro Bakery, as it is to be styled, will be located on West Main street, where a store room and rear bake shop with an oven having a 250-pan capacity will be equipped to handle the trade. The H. J. Simpson Co., proprietors, will personally supervise the establishment. Cleanliness, purity and full weight are the features that will be maintained religiously.

All bake pans will have the Statesboro imprint and this will appear in each loaf so all that is shipped away will act as an advertisement for the progressive city. A delivery system and supply wagon will cover the territory thoroughly and as soon as the city trade is well established the company will go after the business in the country that is now supplied from Savannah, Augusta and Macon.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the blood in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Paint.

Every gallon costs a painter's day's work.
Poor paint, more gallons; good paint, less gallons.
Every extra gallon adds to your job its price and the painter's day's work, not far from $5 a gallon.
There are a dozen good paints and hundreds of poor ones. Devoe is one of the dozen. The chances are there isn't another in this town.

IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY KIDNEYS

Statesboro Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed from poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching frequently begins and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urines—too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles 60 years. You will make no mistake in following this Statesboro citizen's advice.

Mrs. J. B. Burns, 56 W. Main st., says: "A short time ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and got good results. I can recommend them to others who suffer from kidney trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burns had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
