ADJOURNED TERM OF SUPERIOR COURT

In Session During Five Days of Last Week

The April adjourned term of Bulloch superior court convened Monday, Aug. 2, with Judge R. N. Hardeman presiding.

There were a few divorce cases and other civil cases disposed of during the first two days and then the criminal docket was taken up.

In the case of J. B. Groover vs. J. A. Wilson, suit for damages, a verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiff for $400.

The grand jury got busy and turned out a good deal of work.

The case of the state vs. Will Johnson, I. L. Freeman and Will Rhodes was tried, resulting in the conviction of Will Johnson with out recommendation to mercy and sentenced to be hanged Sept. 10th, 1915.

I. L. Freeman was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment and a mistrial resulted in the Will Rhodes case.

The state vs. Lottie Davis, charged with murder; verdict of guilty of voluntary manslaughter; sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

The state vs. Cleve Burned, charged with the murder of Pharis Davis some two years ago entered a plea of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, being the same sentence as was imposed upon him when he was convicted about a year ago and a new trial granted.

There were several other minor cases disposed of during the session which adjourned Friday evening.

THE STATESBORO BAKERY

A New Industry Soon to Be Launched

Statesboro will soon be in a class with the big cities in her bread requirements. A new and modern bakery embracing all the latest improvements, devices and patents for the output of high class and wholesome bread is soon to be in operation. The Statesboro Bakery, as it is to be styled, will be located on West Main street, where a store room and rear bake shop with an oven having a 250-pan capacity will be equipped to handle the trade. The H. J. Simpson Co., proprietors, will personally supervise the establishment. Cleanliness, purity and full weight are the features that will be maintained religiously.

All bake pans will have the Statesboro imprint and this will appear in each loaf so all that is shipped away will act as an advertisement for the progressive city. A delivery system and supply wagon will cover the territory thoroughly and as soon as the city trade is well established the company will go after the business in the country that is now supplied from Savannah, Augusta and Macon.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the salted in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Regarding the F. D. A. & M. School

Mr. P. H. Sloan, of Savannah class of Georgia Tech 1914 will be of the faculty of the Agricultural School this season. He will teach Civil Engineering, Science, Mathematics and Mechanics. Prof. Sloan will also coach the athletic department of the school he being particularly valuable in base ball, foot ball and track sports.

Mrs. Lulu E. Bell of Waynesboro has accepted the position as Matron duties with which she is perfectly acquainted, and the faculty feel that they are especially fortunate in having secured Mrs. Bell.

Prof. F. M. Rowan is devoting quite some time just at present in lecture work in the rural school district with Prof. B. H. Oiliff. On Aug. 16th he will lecture at Stilson when the school scenes will be shown in stereoscopic pictures. Prof. Rowan will deliver several lectures in Bryan and Tattnall counties being engaged every night next week.

Special Tent Meeting.
Rev. William Williams will hold a tent meeting at Hodges school house Sunday, Aug. 22. Hon. H. B. Strange and others will assist. A general invitation is extended.

Paint.

Every gallon costs a painter's day's work.

Poor paint, more gallons; good paint, less gallons.

Every extra gallon adds to your job its price and the painter's day's work; not far from $5 a gallon.

There are a dozen good paints and hundreds of poor ones. Devote one of the dozen. The chances are there isn't another in this town.

BOARD TRADE

Manager of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce will more than likely be a guest of Statesboro at the time. It has been thru his personal efforts that the new industrial department was organized and a special manager conducting it under aggressive efforts toward bringing to Georgia foreign capital to develop her marvelous resources.

IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY KIDNEYS

Statesboro Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed from poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching frequently begins and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urines—too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles 60 years. You will make no mistake in following this Statesboro citizen's advice.

Mrs. J. B. Burns, 56 W. Main st., says: "A short time ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and got good results. I can recommend them to others who suffer from kidney trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burns had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

U.S. NOT SEEKING MORE TERRITORY

Has Tried to Avoid Annexing Any Part of Mexico.

HAITI IS ALSO UNDESIRABLE

Governments in Such Countries Are Seldom Successful and Always Cause More or Less Trouble—Palmer of Pennsylvania Probably Will Be Counselor to State Department.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—When Elihu Root made his memorable trip around South America for the purpose of establishing better relations between this country and the Latin American republics he made a wonderful declaration at Rio de Janeiro, to the effect that we coveted not a foot of land of the countries south of us, but only wished them peace and prosperity.

Since then we have tried to live up to that idea and to avoid acquiring any Mexican territory, though the future may force such acquisition. We don't want Haiti, but we may be forced to assume a protectorate and govern the land. In the end we may have to annex the whole island, including Santo Domingo.

And Old Plan.

President Grant wanted to annex Santo Domingo for the purpose of dividing out whether the blacks under the tutelage of the United States could establish a government. Such governments have not been successful in either Haiti or Santo Domingo.

Senator Newlands, the author of the resolution which brought about the annexation of Hawaii, felt so good over his venture that his first effort in the senate was the introduction of a resolution to annex Santo Domingo. He was severely rebuffed by Senator Hale of Maine for his action. Since then he found that there was really no desire to annex in any more islands peopled by races which were incapable of self government.

The troubles in both these black republics may bring forward propositions for annexation in the coming congress, and we will have an opportunity to see how the representatives of the people stand firm.

A. Mitchell Palmer held seventy-two Pennsylvania votes solidly for Wilson at a time when they did him the most good in the Baltimore convention. Texas cast forty votes for Wilson. Texas has two places in the cabinet. Palmer has been offered several subordinate positions and refused them. No doubt Palmer believes he was big enough to be secretary of state, yet he has seen a man who never did anything in politics given the place, and he is offered the second place.

But Palmer is not disgruntled. He is as strong for Wilson and the Democratic party as ever before.

Cracks in England.

Harris Taylor is one of those who do not hesitate to speak his mind. He is a southern Democrat, but he is not looking for preferment of any kind. He had his reasons for going to England when Cleveland made him a foreign minister. Now he is incensed at England because of the interference with cotton goods. Taylor, with his prominence as a diplomat does not hesitate to say what he thinks about the manner in which America is being treated by Great Britain. If there were more men like Taylor it might mean a war with Britain rather than a war with Germany.

Kindel Still on the Job.

Former Congressman George J. Kindel of Colorado is still on the job, that job being an attempt to put in force a different parcel post system. He writes long and curious letters to the president, letters which would take even such an astute scholar as Woodrow Wilson a long time to unravel and understand. Kindel certainly knows a lot about freight rates, express rates, parcel post rates, and he has lots of diagrams, ground plans, figures and formulas. All of these, together with maps, tables and comments in different colors, with pictures of himself pointing to Denver as the center of the United States, he puts in his open letters to the president. Kindel was about Washington long enough to know that such communications never reach the president.

Will Find Themself.

Two former members of the house will appear when congress meets who will have no trouble finding themselves. They are Ebenezer J. Hill and John Q. Tilson of Connecticut. Hill will be appointed on his committee, ways and means, and Tilson will go on military affairs, where he served before. Hill will be, as before, "Young Pigeon," a name given him by Champ Clark. Tilson will make military preparation his theme and will show more knowledge about military conditions than many men who have been longer in congress, as he has been a study of the subject.

Illinois Comebacks.

Illinois will have more "comebacks" than was ever known in the history of congress. They are Wilson, Fox, Fulmer, Sterling, Cannon, McKinley and Rodenberg. They are prominent before they were retired by the cyclone of 1912 and will take good places.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

R. C. Duff
On Cotton As Contraband.

Hon. R. C. Duff, one of the highest authorities on international law in the nation and one of the ablest citizens in the United States, when asked to investigate the exporting of cotton and interpret the laws of nations on this subject for the American people, said in part:

"Article 28 of the Declaration of London reads as follows: 'The following may not be declared contraband of war: (1) raw cotton, wool, silk, etc.' Great Britain is not only a signatory of the Declaration of London, but in fact called the conference and insisted upon the inclusion of raw cotton on the list of absolute non-contraband. Under this declaration, which was subscribed to by all the maritime nations, we have a right absolutely to ship cotton, not only to neutral ports of Europe, but to Germany and Austria themselves. Humanity shudders at the thought of the splendid Americans who went down on the Lusitania, but humanity would have more cause for shuddering if it could have presented to it in some similarly striking and dramatic way the woe, sorrow and suffering that will be occasioned to millions of thousands of men, women and children in the Southern states as a result of cotton being forced down to starvation prices."

"The reason why cotton does not command 15 or 20 cents per pound is simply because Great Britain has a naval strangle hold on our shipments into the open seas, captures American cotton, no matter to whom the same may be destined, carries it into British ports, sets up prize courts of her own nomination, and there, in the name of justice, operates in her favor and which, under such circumstances, after whatever delay they elect to impose, assess the damages of the American shipper at whatever price they see fit and then, after having by such process 'bought' our cotton, she avails herself of the extraordinary high prices existing on the continent of Europe, produced in part by her diversion of our shipments, to resell it at a profit. The American shipper has no recourse except to the government. At the acts of Great Britain referred to, according to the well-recognized principle of international law, Great Britain has committed an act of piracy."

"This grievance is now of many months standing and the South is about to bring to market another great crop of cotton. Under such circumstances one would expect that our government, without prompting, would know perfectly well how to deal with acts on the part of the British government, amounting to warfare against our trade and country."

"It is not necessary for us to resort to war against Great Britain in retaliation. A simple, adequate and obvious remedy would be for the president to advise Great Britain that unless she respects the law of nations as regards cotton, we will call on congress to adopt a resolution forbidding the exportation of arms and munitions of war to foreign countries."

HOT WEATHER COMFORTS
Keeping Cool in Dog Days Easy Enough Where
Electricity is Available

Keep the house cool in hot weather. Keep the sun out. Keep the heated air of the street out. Eliminate all heat-producing things from the home. By closing shutters and drawing blinds, the hot sun and heated air can be kept out and the interior of the home will be cool, even as the forest is cool with its dense shadows and moist earth.

Electricity is a great aid in keeping the home cool in August because it is a source of light which gives out very little heat. It can be used for cooking purposes without overheating the kitchen and eliminates much of the hard work so necessary even on a hot day.

Electric lights in any home help to keep it cool. Gas and oil lamps produce enormous quantities of heat. They quickly raise the temperature of any room above the comfort point. As a matter of fact there is a difference of but a very few degrees between comfort and suffering on a hot day. When the thermometer registers over 80 degrees every degree added seems like a bit of inferno.

Cooking by electricity is now common enough in some cities and yet thousands upon thousands of women do not know that quite extensive meals may be cooked with only a few electric cooking devices such as the electric chafin dish, utility grill and the unit, in perfect comfort, even on the hottest day. These cooking devices waste no heat, none radiates out into the room. The cooking can be done right on the dining room table. The electric flatiron is also a friend on a hot day. It draws its heat from the lamp socket and the ironing can be done on the back porch.

A vacuum cleaner and a motor-driven washing machine help to keep the home cool by eliminating the hard work of housekeeping. The exertion of sweeping and dusting, running the washing machine and wringer, make even an ordinary summer day seem like a bit of inferno. Electricity will do this work easier than human hands.

For one cent an eight-inch electric fan will supply a cool breeze in a home, where there is electric light, for four cents. The original cost of such a fan is very little and with proper care they will last for many years.

The Franklin Expedition.

The greatest tragedy of the far north was that of the Sir John Franklin expedition. Franklin sailed in 1845 with two ships, the Erebus and the Terror. They passed up the west coast of Greenland and were last seen in latitude 74 degrees 45 minutes. For three years, waiting was heard of the party. Then expeditions were sent out and the discovery after years of the records of the voyage as well as of many skeletons showed that the commander, officers and crews of the two vessels, a number of 134, had perished to a man. Their fate was only finally revealed in 1854 by Dr. Rae of the Hudson Bay company and in 1859 by Captain McClintock.

Mean Question.

"I am desperately in love and am engaged."

"Same girl?"—Browning's Magazine.

LANGSTON'S LOGIC

Life.

Some folks believe that every man that ever was of woman born, is few of days and full of woe. A God-forsaken wretch forlorn, foredoomed to suffer here on earth and then most likely go to hell, and live in brimstone evermore, because old daddy Adam fell. To doom his children all to hell for just a little bit of summer fruit, makes Adam out a mean old cuss, a meanly, dogged, wretched brute. But since the mean old cuss could not control his beastly appetite, but had to go and climb a tree, an apple pull and take a bite, his great-grandchildren all must die, and most of 'em must go to hell, although they didn't get a bite, and didn't even get a smell. Now, when we think of all the woe the suffering human race has to go through, the pain, disease and poverty, but mostly when we think of hell, who would not rather be a goat and have a barren full of wives and live without the fear of hell than have a hundred human lives?

About Georgia and Georgians

Items of Interest Concerning People and Things in the State

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—The big unanswered question that is overshadowing every other political consideration in Georgia today is whether Governor Nat E. Harris will or will not include prohibition in his call for an extra session of the legislature.

The session will be held Wednesday, December 1, and its main object, of course, will be the passing of the general appropriation bill. Governor Harris has the right and discretion to include prohibition in the call or not as he sees fit, and the legislature is compelled by law to abide by his call.

If he puts prohibition in, it can be considered. If he does not specifically include prohibition in the call, it cannot be brought up at all.

Opinions differ sharply on what course the governor will take. Crawford Wheatley and other representatives claimed that the governor stated informally to them that he had no idea of including prohibition in the call.

The governor's closest political adviser also expressed the opinion that he will not. But the governor himself has authorized no such statement, and on the other hand it is stated specifically from his office that he has not yet decided.

The prohibition leaders declare that they feel assured that he will include prohibition. They say that their action in adjourning the house and forcing a special session was a "war measure" which they had a right, under the circumstances, to resort to, and that they felt they had a right to let the wet minority see for once how it felt to be "run over."

They believe that as a result of their action they will have an opportunity to put a prohibition measure before the special session.

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—Hon. W. J. Speer, treasurer of the state of Georgia, is being congratulated on his record of efficiency as shown by the report of the joint legislative committee appointed, as a formality, to examine the workings of his office.

The committee was composed of Senator L. R. Akin and Representative H. J. Fairbright and Garland M. Jones. The report not only showed that everything was neatly and correctly kept and that the treasurer's report was sustained by the true condition of his office, but in addition the committee took occasion to especially commend the state treasurer for his efficiency and faithfulness.

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—Uncle Mose Robinson, aged 68, celebrated his thirty-first anniversary as city hall carpenter last week, and was presented with a new pair of "galluses" by some of his friends. He hitches them on with silvers of Georgia pine stuck through his trousers instead of buttons, which he regards as new-fangled and untrustworthy.

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—I have never said anywhere that all of the good people in Georgia approved my action in the Frank case," says former Governor John M. Slaton in a letter to a friend in Atlanta. "I have always said that many good people disagreed with me. Many, I know, feel that I interfered unduly with a court judgment, but I think, when they find their mistake and know the facts, they will see that I did not. I did only what the trial judge asked me to do and what, under my oath, I felt it my duty to do, that is, to supplement a penalty provided by the statute for the crime in question for another penalty."

The former governor dismisses as ridiculous the assertions that he has designated those disagreeing with him as an impossible element.

"I have stated that those persons who, following my decision, three-tenths unlawful violence, did not represent even the body of those who disagreed with me," says the former governor.

"I thought this explanation due my state and particularly those good citizens whose views on the case in question differ from my own."

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—That the state of Georgia, because of its unusually wise and effective laws on the subject of fire, has an especially attractive field for the non-resident investor, is pointed out by William Hurd Hillyer, well known Atlanta financier and writer, in an interview dealing on present conditions throughout the country and the necessity for care in the investment of money.

"It is a fact that in Georgia interest rates on real estate security run about 1 per cent higher than other things being equal, than in the east and middle west. This is partly accounted for by the relative newness of the country from an industrial standpoint and the relative sparseness of the population, but it is not wholly due to these causes. The solution is found in the peculiar economic and legal conditions surrounding the mortgage loan market in Georgia—conditions which have made the field perhaps the most attractive to mortgage investors of any now available."

Georgia is a highly prosperous state. The effects of the big panic were less severe and more rapidly passed off than in most localities, hence the demand for funds which can be profitably employed in real estate to other investments, is at all times enormous. This is the second great factor contributing to the high interest rates.

"My own experience is chiefly with city loans. Such loans, especially the larger cities, afford a remarkable degree of safety. Even in the more speculative class, foreclosures are rare. In the regular six and seven per cent field they are practically unknown. Well secured farm mortgages in this state have of recent years a similar record. Farmers are prosperous and money is borrowed for acre-income earning improvements."

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—The fight of women lawyers for the right to practice at the Georgia bar has not been ended with this session of the legislature. It will be continued in the courts, and another legislative bill will be introduced next year.

In this connection it is an interesting fact that the Atlanta Law School numbers no less than four women among its graduates.

Mrs. Minnie Anderson Hale, who has been leading the fight for recognition, is one of the Atlanta Law School graduates, having received her LL. B. degree in 1911. She immediately made application to the bar, and though her splendid training was recognized, the petition was denied because of her sex. Mrs. Georgia M. Weaver, Miss Agnes Klein and Mrs. Samuel M. Castleton are all graduates of the Atlanta Law School.

CANNING CLUB RECIPES

MUSTARD PICKLE.

Vegetables:
1 pt. whole small cucumbers,
1 pt. sliced cucumbers,
1 pt. small whole onions,
1 c. beets,
3 green sweet peppers,
3 red sweet peppers,
1 pt. green fig tomatoes, or
1 pt. cauliflower.

Dressing:
1 qt. vinegar,
4 tbs. flour,
1 c. sugar,
3 tbs. powdered mustard,
15 tbs. turmeric,
1 tsp. celery seed.

Cut all vegetables before measuring, tomatoes into halves, cucumbers into slices, string beets into 1½-inch lengths—diagonally on the bias, and cap peppers. All vegetables should be tender, and the whole cucumbers not longer than 2½ inches.

Put all vegetables into brine over night, then freshen in clear water for two hours. Let these vegetables stand in liquor of one-half vinegar and one-half water for 15 minutes, then scald in same liquor.

To make mustard dressing rub all the dry ingredients together until smooth, then add the hot vinegar slowly, stirring to make smooth paste. Cook over pan of water, stirring carefully, until the sauce thickens. Then drain the vegetables thoroughly and pour the mustard dressing over them while hot. Mix well and pack in sterilized jars. Process: 10 oz. jars for 30 minutes at 180 degrees F. (simmering).

SPICED CUCUMBER SALAD.
Vegetables:
5 lbs. sliced cucumbers (about 2 doz.),
½ c. chopped onion,
2 c. chopped sweet red pepper,
2 c. chopped green sweet pepper.

Spiced vinegar:
1 qt. vinegar,
½ c. sugar,
1 tbs. each salt, powdered ginger and mustard seed,
2 tsp. celery seed (crushed),
1 tbs. each of whole pepper, cloves, cinnamon and allspice.

Mix the cucumber and onion and sprinkle alternate layers with salt, using three-quarters cup for whole. Let stand over night. Put peppers in brine over night. Next morning drain vegetables and freshen from one to two hours in clear water.

Put all whole spices in cheesecloth (except the celery seed and mustard seed, which are put in loose). Add spices to the vinegar and boil for 5 minutes. Drain the vegetables well and pour the hot spiced vinegar over them. Let stand 24 hours. Pack, distributing the pepper well and dattening some of the cucumber slices against the face of each jar. Fill jars with same vinegar and paddle well to remove all bubbles. Garnish with strips of red pepper or pieces of spice. Process: 12 oz. or pint jar for 15 minutes at 180 degrees F.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1915.

About the principal obstacle to peace in Mexico is Carranza and his whisks. A good singeing would be in order.

The war is a year old and the only thing it has accomplished is the appalling destruction of life, property and honor. Sherman was right.

If the titled aristocrats who are working in factories thru national necessity will keep right on working after the war through self respect, then the horrors of this strife will not have been entirely in vain.

When a half gink wants to get a little cheap notoriety he immediately announces his candidacy for some exalted office, and later contents himself with licking the plate from which some better man has eaten.

We extend our sympathy to Editor Sils of the Metter Advertiser on the loss of his splendid home by fire last week. In the words of Phineas T. Barnum, "Phoenix-like there shall rise from the ashes a greater, grander and more palatial home" for the enlarged editor of the Metter Advertiser, so hope we all.

If Germany can put millions of men into the war and still cultivate practically every acre of waste land, why is it we of the United States cannot more materially increase our yield when we have no one at war? When we answer this question in a practical manner we will be in a fair way to double the wealth of our country.

GEORGIA'S DISGRACE

Pity 'tis, 'tis true, that the grand old state whose founders fought, bled and died for truth and justice
should have among her citizenry,
in this age of enlightenment,
chivalry and professed Christianity, even a single subject who would
so far forget his honor, his allegiance to law and order as to become one of a mob to wrest from the confines of the State's Institution for convicts one of its inmates and under nothing more or less than anarchistic principle, commit willful murder of the lowest type, placing the protection of law and order
in absolute contempt.

In the eternal order of things,
right over wrong—the perpetrators
of this crime must one day
pay the penalty for this unpardon-able sin against their sovereign state, a crime that has blotted its fair name with a blood stain that will not be easily erased. A crime that will do incalculable injury, at a moment when Georgia's greatest civic and commercial bodies are about to appear before the people of the entire United States in an invitation to home seekers to come within her domain, pointing out in costly motion pictures the state's wondrous beauty and agricultural possibilities, schools, colleges and churches. Of what avail is a beautiful town, picturesquely laid out or a rich farm
if law and order is contemptuously cast aside by her citizen?

The finger of scorn and derision must be pointed at Georgia for an indefinite period; there will be investigations, newspaper controversy, whitewash and paint most likely, until it will end even in a more farcical way than the deed itself was, when a handful of men could go to the State's Institution for the protection of her convicts, and in fifteen minutes overpower the entire personnel of the place from the warden down,

cut telephone and telegraph wires, cripple the motive power of the prison's automobiles, get a prisoner and get away with him, and send an auto back to get one of their party left behind, and then get fifty miles away before the neighbors knew the horse had been stolen is certainly some prison.

Regardless of the man's innocence or guilt—he was serving a sentence imposed by the highest office in the gift of the state and under the inflated conditions surrounding the case, official insti-tutiveness should have prompted precautionary measures especially after one attempt had been made to murder the man—so if Georgia suffers in the hundred and one avenues that this affair will blight her name she deserves what she has got.

THE MACON TELEGRAPH

We're along the tail end of those to offer congratulations to the Macon Telegraph for their splendid special edition. Its not because we were neglectful of its prominence but because it is such a tremendous piece of newspaper building that we have been two full weeks going thru all of its departments and we are in consequence vastly richer in knowledge of Georgia's great achievement and achievements.

The Messrs. Anderson and their associates have placed on record
in Georgia newspaperdom an edition that tops the list of progressiveness and strides in advance of the hundreds of advanced municipalities, counties and commercial institutions told about in their remarkable paper. It is a Georgia encyclopedia of community push.

"The affair was completed within almost before we realized the enorwritten chapter. During the en-

"I retorted by saying damn me

whole thing was timed as a well ordered and methodical propo-

spoken, that evidently being agreed

POINTS OF THE MODE

Fashion Decrees that Skirts

POINTS IN FASHIONS

New York, Aug. 18, (Special).—It's never too late for something new, it that something is fashion.

Just at the present time, this last word happens to be points, and feminine society has taken to it like ducks to water. These points must be in the right place though, and this place is the lower edge of the skirt. Deep points and small all contrive to show
the gorgeous linings of the skirts.

CROSS stitch designs, boldly treated and on a large scale, have met with much favor. With large stitches, a few simple colors and a design easily followed, surprisingly good results may be obtained. The simplicity of the stitch is pleasing. It admits of no indefin-iteness, although subtle effects in shading may be accomplished.

The tablecloth shown here illustrates these remarks. It is worked on a fine white, single mesh canvas, and each complete stitch is carried over four crossings of the canvas.

The design consists of an undulating
rose stem running round the whole cloth. A spray of pink fills each corner, and a basket of flowers occupies the center of each side.

The rose stem is worked throughout in dark gold brown. Leaves and buds spring from the stem on each side.

Some of the leaves are in gold brown,
with veins of magenta green, or some are of light oak brown; some are of pale pomegranate color and mag-enta.

One of the Misses Post, who is a devoted of aviation, was seen recently at a meet in a dress of this type. Cut extremely short, the skirt showed four shallow points. This was white linen which matched a jumper of the same material and was worn over a gump of transparent white tulle. The trimming was, of course of one, for no dress is quite complete without it this summer, but this time it had forsaken its gay colors and flowers in favor of a black-and-white check. To say that bands and facings of this material on the white were startling is putting it mildly, but then the points of the skirt were striking enough to carry off a contrast of this kind.

The tablecloth is neatly finished off with a broad hemstitched border, with wide, linen bobbin lace at the edge.

Once gathered,
Becomes a potpourri
And perfumes the room
Or adds fragrance to one's lingerie.
Also it becomes a delicious
most.

The commonest roses yield the finest perfume.

Old fashioned ones, like the cabbage
rose, the damask and the hundred leaved.

This time to collect your roses and preserve them for your potpourri, perfume and sweets.
