BETTER EQUIPMENT FOR CENTRAL AUGUSTA LINE

Augusta Chronicle.

Complying with the request made a short time ago by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, the Central of Georgia Railway will in a few days, put into operation on the Savannah-Augusta line some magnificent train equipment.

Tuesday morning, on train No. 1, out of Savannah, the road began putting into operation its seven new all-steel trains, every feature of the equipment being entirely modern and of the newest design and finish.

In each of the trains are a baggage and mail car, express car, three coaches and a Pullman, each car riding on triple-wheel trucks, and being equipped with electric fans, the new style of railroad plumbing, double windows and Pullman screens.

These trains displace a modern equipment heretofore in use by the Central on its Savannah-Atlanta route, and that equipment is to be transferred to the Savannah-Augusta line.

Mr. Olliff Carries Kinlaw to Savannah

Augusta Chronicle.

Last Friday morning Mr. J. P. Olliff left over the Savannah & Statesboro Railway for Savannah, where he went to carry out the duties of the position of chief clerk of the Savannah & Statesboro Railway, which he had just accepted.

Mr. Olliff immediately wired the authorities that he had the man wanted in his custody, and was ready to surrender him, on the payment of the reward. It seems that there was some hitch in the payment of the reward and Mr. Olliff held him until matters could be straightened out. Yesterday he received word that the authorities were ready to pay the money, and Mr. Olliff took Kinlaw down to Savannah to deliver him up and receive the reward. Instead of $100, the amount coming to the Statesboro officer will be $25 and costs, there being other demands which left that much for the arresting officer.

Sam Smith Receives Pardon

Augusta Chronicle.

On Wednesday of last week Sam Smith, who has been serving a term on the Balloch county chain gang on a charge of selling whisky, received the welcome news that he was again a free man, the governor having pardoned him after he had served an eighth portion of a twelve month sentence. Smith has been sick a great deal of the time, and the authorities have found him anything but a profitable charge. It is said that there were very few tears shed down at the camp when the news of his pardon was received.

Saturday Was Banner Day

Augusta Chronicle.

The streets of Statesboro were crowded and jammed all day on Saturday, and the merchants all report a fine business. The people seemed to have taken advantage of the first good day for two or three weeks and swarmed into town in great droves. The candidates reaped a rich harvest, and took advantage of the big crowd to put in some telling talks. The way the various candidates were striking the boys reminded us that the campaign was on in dead earnest.

TO DIVIDE PENSIONS IN THREE PAYMENTS

Atlanta, Ga., March 14—Governor Slaton has decided to divide the payment of Confederate pensions into three installments this year instead of two, as has been the necessary custom for the past few years.

Therefore, it is expected that Pension Commissioner Lindsey's warrant for about $225,000 will be approved and that Col. Lindsey will allot the sum probably by drawing from a hat among the eighty-six pensioning counties not paid, going as far as possible with the sum in hand.

Treasurer Spear told the executive that he thought the entire balance of approximately $500,000 could be paid next week or the week following at any rate, but inasmuch as the old pensioners are needy and clamoring for their money, Governor Slaton thought it best to let half the sum go out at once in order that at least half would be relieved.

To the first distribution, made some weeks ago, about $600,000 was paid out to pensioners in six by two counties.

A Benefactor of the World

Augusta Chronicle.

George Westinghouse was a real captain of industry. His genius was not confined to the accumulation of money, though the world did not begrudge him his success in that respect. He was a combination of dreamer, which is another word for thinker and financier. From his boyhood he was a producer of things that contributed to the rapid progress of the world. He was a great man, who worked not only for his own generation but for posterity. His definition of his genius is simple; he knew what he wanted to do and was persistent in trying to do it.

In the beginning he began to think along a certain line and kept it up until his dreams resolved themselves into practical inventions. What he started he finished. He was not afraid of hard work. His life is an example for ambitious boys. His first rebuff was from the recognized financial leader of the day in this country, but he did not despair at that account. He sought financial support elsewhere. He was self-reliant.

The title "captain of industry" is too often applied erroneously to those who, by manipulation of stocks, accumulate millions. Instead, it should be reserved for those whose work is constructive, who leave something of real value to the world at large when they die. Nobody deserves the title better than did Westinghouse. He served progress and his name is worthy of a high place among those Americans who have done most for their fellowman.—Savannah Morning News.

An Unusual Sight

Six hundred pounds of watermelon seed were shipped in one shipment by Dr. J. E. Donohoe on yesterday. They were consigned to seed houses in Augusta. They were of the Watson variety, and a very fine grade of seed. This is perhaps the first time in the history of Balloch county that a two ton wagon load of watermelon seed were shipped out of the county in one shipment.

KILLS WIFE, TWO BABIES AND HIMSELF

In Presence of Young Page Shoots Himself in Brain, Dying While Coroner is Probing Tragedy.

Stillmore, March 20.—J. A. Eubanks, 32 years old, residing seven miles west of here, early this morning killed his wife, his 4-year-old daughter and a 6-month-old baby, then set fire to all of the buildings on the premises except the house.

After summoning a neighbor he shot himself and died at 11 o'clock this morning from the self-inflicted wound.

The series of crimes are the most frightful that have ever come to the attention of the citizens of Emanuel county, say old residents.

Eubanks evidently quarreled with his wife during the night. Then, in the belief of those who examined the bodies, he beat her over the head with the butt end of an axe and then with the sharpened side of the same instrument he nearly severed the woman's head from her body.

Leaving the body of his wife stretched upon the floor, Eubanks ran to the back where his two little children lay sleeping. He thrust a knife into the body of each as they slept, and they both died on the bed where they lay when attacked.

Eubanks next proceeded to burn his property. Whether this was an effort to cover up his crime or the result of insanity is a matter of thought. He ran to the barn and touched off that building, burning his cow and calf and horses. He set fire to the cotton house, destroying five tons of fertilizer.

With everything in flames he started to go to the home of the nearest neighbor, a family named Page. On the way he met a son of Page, who had started out to investigate the fire.

"Come get me to help me more some of my things over to Stillmore," said Eubanks to young Page.

"Where's your family?" asked the young man.

"Back there; they're all gone; they're all burned up," replied Eubanks.

According to Page, Eubanks appeared rational at that time, though considerably excited and nervous. Page called to his father.

In the presence of young Page Eubanks exclaimed: "It's no use; it's just one thing after another." He explained no further, but drew a pistol and sent a bullet into his brain.

It was nearly dawn when Eubanks put the finishing touches on the series of crimes. Young Page summoned a physician from Oak Park. News of the tragedy spread like wildfire through the county, and within a short time there were scores of people on the scene. While the coroner's jury was conducting the investigation Eubanks died.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was brief, merely stating that Mrs. Eubanks and her two children had come to their death through violence at the hands of J. A. Eubanks, who committed suicide.

Eubanks formerly resided here in Stillmore, where he leaves a brother, George. He was well thought of, considered industrious and enterprising. He was making a success as a farmer, so far as known. His wife was the daughter of "Dad" Noel, of this place.

The bodies of Mrs. Eubanks and her children were in a frightful condition. The funeral of all the victims will be held tomorrow, at one time.

BURNS DISCUSSES THE FRANK CASE

Expects to See Conley

Atlanta, March 19.—Detective William J. Burns had more to say about the Frank case today, although he is still silent as to what he has discovered as a result of his investigations. He expressed the conviction that Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey is still open to conviction about the Mary Phagan murder, and said he was confident that when he submitted a report he would be able to convince the solicitor whether he discovered Frank was innocent or guilty.

Burns declined to state today how many men he has at work on the Frank case, but admitted that he had summoned Dan Lehon, manager of his New Orleans office, here to assist him. He considers Lehon one of the best detectives in the country.

Burns today scoffed at the idea that Conley's lawyer could keep him from seeing the negro when the time comes for him to seek an interview with the confessed accessory of Frank in the slaying of the Fagan girl.

Burns still insists that there is no mystery about the case which cannot be cleared up, and he thinks he will have no difficulty in convincing all when he gets through.

The Frank death warrant went to Sheriff Mangum April 17, but in any event it appears certain he will not hang at that time.

CHILDREN LOVE
SYRUP OF FIGS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver, and bowels need cleansing, give only soft, clean "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy, to help their children to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle.

"Does your husband treat you kindly?" asked the lawyer.
"Certainly not," said the unassuming woman.

Black Hole of Calcutta.
The innate corruption and depravity of human nature were perhaps never more clearly brought out than in the history of the Black Hole of Calcutta. This atrocious stand unrivaled as an instance of the utmost suffering human life can endure, passed through by a large number, yet leaving a few survivors to tell the tale. Many more have been slain or executed at one time, death being expected; but probably only safe keeping of the prisoners was intended, and only fear of breaking a despotic's sleep prevented their earlier release. Yet this torture, "unequaled in history of fiction, whose record cannot be found removed after the lapse of a hundred and fifty years," was produced merely by crowding men together in an ill ventilated room. No fires, racks, nor scourges were needed; all that was done or required to be done was to take from each the amount of air and space to which he was accustomed, crush him into close proximity with his fellows and the thing was accomplished. From "A Farmer's Note Book," by C. E. D. Phelps.

NOT A MIRACLE
Just Plain Cause and Effect.

There are some quite remarkable things happening every day, which seem almost miraculous.

Some persons would not believe that a man could suffer from coffee drunk so severely as to cause spells of unconsciousness. And to find relief in changing from coffee to Postum is well worth recording.

"I used to be a great coffee drinker, so much so that it was killing me by inches. My heart became so weak I could hardly lie down for an hour at a time."

"My friends, and even the doctor, told me it was drinking coffee that was doing it, and still drank coffee until I could not leave my room."

"Then my doctor, who drinks Postum himself, persuaded me to stop coffee and try Postum. After much hesitation I concluded to try it. That was eight months ago. Since then I have had no more of those spells, none for more than four months."

"I feel better, sleep better and am better every day. I now drink nothing but Postum and touch no coffee, and as I am seventy years of age all my friends think the improvement quite remarkable."

WORK OF WOODEN HEN

BROODERS SHOULD BE THOROUGHLY CLEANED.

Good Location in Warm Place Where Temperature Never Reaches Freezing Point—Successful Method of Feeding the Chick.

(By E. K. PARKINSON.)

In buying new brooders there should be great care as to selection and a strict observance of rules regulating temperature. Brooders before being used should be cleaned, scrubbed, disinfected inside and out, lamp flues cleaned, outside painted, then put in the sun to air and dry and also new broods bought and used for each hatch.

Now to find a good location. An indoor brooder should be kept in a warm place where temperature never goes below freezing. An outdoor one should be in a sunny place, for sun is very essential.

The brooder placed, cover door and the cover with an inch of dry sand, on top of which (except under cover and for a foot in front of it) spread fine dry clover or hay for about an inch. Light the lamp, or stove, whichever it may be, regulating the temperature according to directions so the heat where the chicks sleep is between 95 and 98 degrees the first week, gradually dropping to 90 degrees by the fourth day and to 80 degrees the twenty-first day. Leave the newly hatched chicks in the incubator until very thirty-six hours, then transfer them in a warm lined basket to the brooder (evening is the best time), providing a small drinking fountain filled with fresh tepid water and a box filled with charcoal. The first three days feed a mixture of one-third stale bread, one-third rolled oats and one-third hard boiled (twenty minutes) eggs, using shells and all (infinitely thin shelled or misshapen eggs) and mix crumbly, but not sloppy, with sweet milk, adding a little chick size grit, giving it five times daily. Over this, the second day, sprinkle chick feed.

The first three days keep chicks near the heater, pushing them back under it after each meal until they are used to it. The first day stop throwing food, feeding scratch feed. In the third day, start grain, for they are certain death. After the sixth day begin feeding meat scraps in small quantities, an ounce fed twice daily in feed hoppers. The following successful method of feeding is excellent: Over the cut cover spread ten pounds of chick feed, covering with two more inches of cover and ten pounds more of feed, and on, until there are eight inches of litter and sixty pounds of feed. This, with meat scraps and green food, lasts about five weeks, and results in tall, white chicks will prove sturdy, healthy and possess great vitality.

WORK OF BEES IN ORCHARDS

It Has Been Proved That Little Honey Gathers Are Responsible for Cross-Pollination.

It has been a matter of doubt until recently as to just what agencies were responsible for cross-pollination in apple orchards. It was thought that the wind was a factor as well as the honey bees and other insects. It has been proved, however, that the wind has very little to do in aiding cross-pollination, and that honey bees, wild bees and other insects are very necessary for the transference of pollen.

To determine the importance of the honey bee and other insects as factors in cross-pollination, an experiment was carried on by the Kansas experimental station under the direction of James W. McCulloch, assistant entomologist. Wind was not considered in the test, because it was found that wherever apples were grown from an apiary only a small amount of fruit was grown.

It was found that tans were the predominant insects visiting the flowers. They visited the trees from early morning until sundown. Cloudy or windy weather seemed to reduce their number and they did not begin flying until after the dew had left the trees.

Raising Turkeys.
No use to try to raise turkeys unless the poultry are kept free from lice. They should be examined at least every ten days.

Making Plans.
Mighty good farming can be done in front of the fireplace or alongside of a hot stove on a stormy day by making plans for next season's work.

Value of Cleanliness.
In the prevention of disease in a dairy herd too much stress cannot be put upon the importance of cleanliness of the cows.

Brains Cool Most.
It is not the man who works the longest hours in the field who has the biggest brains. Brains cool more than mere muscle.

Tip in Time.
The ferret-eyed little man stepped across the street car aisle and whispered into the ear of the tall chap in a gray suit.

"You better wipe that bit of egg off your chin. The income-tax man is just two seats in front of you."—In a Minneapolis Star.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff; that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—the hair falls out. ALFALFA TO IMPROVE SOILS

In Actual Practice Crop Can Only Be Considered on Land Which Is High in Fertility.

The unequalled recommendation as a soil improver that is continually being given alfalfa is responsible for the very common belief that this crop is one which should be grown extensively on poor or unproductive soils, says Rural Farmer. No greater mistake could be made than to sow alfalfa, especially in the Eastern states, on land which is not in a high condition of fertility.

It is true that, being a legume, it benefits the soil through the addition of nitrogen fixed by organisms forming nodules on its roots, and through its roots it not only supplies considerable quantities of humus, but greatly improves the mechanical condition of the soil.

In producing profitable yields of hay, alfalfa utilizes large quantities of phosphorus and potassium, which must be obtained either directly from the soil or from added fertilizer. Whether alfalfa is a soil improver is a question which cannot be answered without some explanation. In the sense in which the term is commonly used, alfalfa is not a soil-improving crop, since it cannot be utilized in the same manner as cow peas, soy beans, crimson clover or hairy vetch for the building up of worn-out or depleted lands.

On the other hand it enriches the good soils through the nitrogen and humus added to the soil by its roots and crowns when the old field of alfalfa is broken up and also by the mechanical action of its roots upon the soil. Furthermore, the preparation of the land prior to seeding the alfalfa and the treatment in the way of top dressing and fertilizing which follow during the few years of its existence doubtless have a very beneficial effect on the crops succeeding it.

In actual practice, then, alfalfa improves good land, but cannot be considered in connection with poor land.

A Time to Speak Out

A gentleman, who is a noble spirited citizen, said to me one day this week: "If it wasn't for making myself conspicuous I would write an article for the News endorsing the editorial, calling attention to the way of civic improvement and commercial advancement, which appeared in the last issue."

Now that's just what the matter with Statesboro. Lots of folks are waiting on the other fellow to take the lead. There are all in favor of better things, especially a chamber of commerce and starting a boom for the town, but the average fellow doesn't want to appear in the line.

The spirit that made Atlanta what it is today was the willingness and eagerness of the citizens to take the lead. Why what has made that city has been the race for leadership among its citizens. If a fellow lags there the least he is lost in the shuffle. Why he has not to hustle and bustle and boom in order to stay in town. The spirit of conservatism and meekness is a good thing, in its place, but its place is not in town building.

Look at Barnesville, for instance, not even a county road, does fifteen million dollars worth of business every year. They don't make it out of their own people, but they make it out of the countless thousands who buy their wares in every state in the union. They reach away out for the dollars and bring them pouring into Barnesville's coffers, to give employment to Barnesville. In turn they make money to pay living expenses and buy and build homes. The result is that the city is rapidly growing into one of the trade centers of the state.

As stated before the merchant never asks what is the size of the town in which an article is manufactured. He doesn't care. All he wants to know is that he is getting the goods at the proper price and that they have the proper value in them.

We have enough hardwood timber growing in ten miles of us to keep one hundred vehicles and implement factories running one hundred years. Yet we sleep and sleep and sleep. Some day some shrewd Yankee will come in and buy it up for a song, cut it in and ship it away for use by some of the big trusts in the northern and western cities, and then the people at home will see the error they made. They will value millions of our own resources to send down here and make logs and take mortgages deeds to the farms in Bulloch and adjoining counties.

HON. J. W. OVERSTREET

Made Favorable Impression with Speech Monday.

After being introduced by Judge T. L. Hill, who said in his introduction that he, as well as a number of others, thought that Mr. Edwards had been in congress long enough, Mr. Overstreet was escorted to the rostrum. He came forward amidst a storm of applause.

Mr. Overstreet began his speech by discussing Mr. Edwards' record in congress. He showed that the present congressman had never been the author of a single bill of national importance that had passed, and that he had never been a prime mover in the passage of any of the important measures that have been before our national congress.

Mr. Overstreet also showed that last summer Mr. Edwards neglected his duties as congressman, and that he had been absent from the city of Savannah for a long period of time.

Mr. Overstreet then turned to the question of the election of Mr. Edwards to the office of congressman. He said that he was not in favor of Mr. Edwards' re-election, and that he was in favor of Mr. Overstreet's re-election.

IN THE TENTH DISTRICT

Rumor that Col. Willis Evans May not Enter, but Run for Judgeship.

(Augusta Chronicle)

If reports which came to Augusta yesterday are correct, the Tenth district congressional race may undergo a change in the next week or two. Yesterday Judge Rawlings confirmed the definite announcement that he is in the race, and later it was reported that Colonel Willis Evans, who has been mentioned as an almost certain candidate both of these gentlemen being from Washington county—may not, after all, run for congress, but that there is a strong probability that he will run for the office now held by Judge Rawlings in the Middle circuit. That announcement, if it should come, will add zest to the race in the Middle circuit, in that Mr. Hardeman of Jefferson, Judge Savage of Bulloch and Judge Saffold of Bulloch, are already avowed candidates for the judgeship in this circuit.

We understand that there is a move on foot to entertain the confederate veterans at a dinner at the Jackel hotel on memorial day, the last week in April. A gentleman who will head the list with a substantial subscription, suggested that The News call the attention of the people of the city to their duty in this matter.

The idea is a good one and should be encouraged by our people. It will show the veterans that we still have left with us that generation that is to follow them has that sense of appreciation for their services and sacrifices made in the sixties, that they will come out and make an exhibition of that feeling now.

It is suggested that the fund be raised and turned over to the Daughters of the Confederacy and that they take the details of the entertainment in hand. The ladies composing this organization will doubtless take pleasure in taking the matter in hand, but they should not be asked to raise the funds.

Let's get busy and show these old veterans that we appreciate them while they are living. This is better than flowers after they are dead.

Superintendent's Corner.

The Teachers' Institute was well attended on the 14th inst. But very few teachers absent. The teachers of Bulloch county are wide awake and progressive. When called upon they usually respond. They were entertained by the pupils of the Statesboro high school for the first hour of the day. A splendid program was rendered by the pupils, which consisted of music and recitations. Then the institute was called to order and a new chairman elected for the remainder of the term. Prof. T. M. Purcell was elected chairman, and Miss Jessie Mikel, secretary. Prof. James H. St. Clair discussed the subject of "Discipline" in an interesting way. Next Prof. Purcell made a very logical talk on the "Mission of the Teacher." Lastly a paper by Miss Ruth Porter on "How to Teach Reading" was to the point, and shows that Miss Porter knows how it should be done.

The following program was prepared for the next meeting, which will be held on next second Saturday: "How to Raise the Standard of Efficiency among Teachers"—Miss Jessie Mikel. Debate: Resolved, "That Manual Arts and Domestic Sciences Should be Incorporated in the Curriculum of the Schools of Bulloch County"—Affirmative, C. D. Hart and Miss Polly Wood. Negative, A. B. Johnson and Miss Juanita Garner.

Reading—Miss Lula Warnock. "Should the Law of Education Promulgate a Set of Rules for the Government of Schools of this County?"—Mr. Willie Wilkinson.

Committee for Arranging Program—Miss Lorena Mann, Prof. T. M. Purcell and Prof. James H. St. Clair.

New Pensioners Will Wait.

The check to cover the pensions for Confederate veterans and widows arrived one day during the past week. But the nine new names placed on the list this year by Commissioner Lindsay will have to wait until the legislature meets in July, for the reason the state has no funds to pay them with.

After a conference with the governor, it was decided to meet the payroll of the old members and allow the new ones to wait until the legislature can make an appropriation for them.

Commissioner Lindsay writes Judge Tate to ask the ones left off the payroll to hear with him patiently. He assures them that they will get their money—that the state of Georgia cannot afford to lay down on these people.

It is a matter of deep regret that these people will have to wait. They are, in most cases, people who need their pensions. They did as valiant service for the confederacy as the ones who have been receiving their pay all the years, and it is a matter of extreme regret that any one of them will have to wait.

and do things harmful to the school who never visit the school to see for themselves the real conditions that exist. Mr. Patton, before you find too much fault, go to your school and give the teacher and pupils encouragement. Do not try to prevent success. If your teacher is making a mistake he or she will certainly appreciate a kindly suggestion as to how to best avoid trouble.

Teachers, remember that the first of April ends the time for enrolling the boys and girls in clubs of this county. Those of you have not secured the names of the boys and girls, do so and let me have their names and addresses at once.

Obituary

Mrs. Nellie Robinson, wife of Mr. John T. Robinson and daughter of Mr. J. M. Jenkins, was born Dec. 21, 1879, and died Dec. 23, 1913. She was a kind and affectionate lady, and was the mother of all with whom she associated. Though the sun of her life has set, still the beautiful twilight lingers in its golden reflection, leaving an afterglow of memories to those who knew and loved her.

She was a member of the Methodist church at Eureka, Bulloch county, for a number of years, and one of its most devoted members. Her funeral was preached by her pastor, Rev. G. R. Stevens, and her body laid to rest in Eureka cemetery to await the resurrection of the just. The survivors are her husband, Mr. J. T. Robinson, and her four children, and many other relatives and friends, and they all are prepared for a happy reunion in heaven, where there is no sorrow or trouble.

FLORAL AUTO PARADE TO MAKE OLD SAVANNAH GLAY

Hundreds of Beautifully Decorated Machines Enter

A floral auto parade, the first ever held in South Georgia, and in all likelihood the best ever held in Georgia, will be one of the features of the festivities accompanying the meeting of the National Drainage Congress at Savannah, April 22-26.

Literary prizes will be offered for the most attractively decorated automobile or float. Many entries have already been made from Savannah automobilists and from the inquiries received it is apparent that many other Georgia towns will have representatives competing for the honors of the occasion. Paper flowers, as well as the natural ones, will be lavishly used for decorations. Out of town motorists can make up their designs at home, bring the decorations with them on the trip to Savannah, and adjust them on the morning of the parade. The judges will probably be the Governors of Georgia and adjacent states. Many of the chief executives of southern states are expected to attend the congress, and from among them the judges will be chosen.

The latter part of April is the ideal time of the year in Georgia's seaport. The weather then rivals the best that Italy or California offer at any season of the year. The scheduled to Tybee Island, Georgia's noted seaside resort, is favorable for those who wish to enjoy a few hours in the bracing atmosphere of the ocean and visit Fort Screven, one of Uncle Sam's most powerful defenses against invasion. Fishing in the waters will be at its prime, boating invites those who love the sport, and two hundred miles of the south's finest shaded highways entice the autoist and motorcyclist. Men of prominence in public life and business affairs will gather for the congress. From Europe will come several engineers of note, among them Sir William Willcocks, whose work in the construction of the great Assuan Dam across the Nile in Egypt, the world's most colossal work of that nature, has won him international fame. The importance of drainage is becoming more apparent from day to day, especially in Georgia, Florida and the Carolinas, with their great low, unclaimed areas, susceptible of vast agricultural possibilities. The congress will be productive of a wondrous stimulus in that direction.

JUDGE SPEER NOT BE EXONERATED

Report is That the Committee Will Probably Censure Him.

Augusta, Ga., March 28—A Washington special to the Augusta Chronicle says: Judge Emory Speer's statement that he would "not be unwilling" to accept retirement if the house judiciary committee withdrew the charges against him is disregarded by the Webb committee, it was said Thursday.

The impression is gaining ground in Washington in official circles that the subcommittee may not recommend impeachment proceedings, but may, instead, present a report to the full committee, severely criticizing Judge Speer for his conduct on the bench. It is said that Mr. Volstead, the republican member of the committee, will certainly not assign a report recommending impeachment; that Chairman Webb is strongly in favor of a report censuring Judge Speer for certain of his acts. In the event that impeachment is decided upon, Mr. Webb will be designated by the house to conduct the prosecution before the bar of the senate.

This much is assured, however: the subcommittee will not exonerate Judge Speer in full. Some of the charges against him may be reported upon as having been unjustified; others may be reported upon as entirely warranted, though not sufficient to justify an impeachment process. It is believed that the charge of arbitrary and oppressive conduct will be reported upon as having been substantially proven.

The plan of retirement, it is stated, has never met with favor from the committee, and will not be given any consideration at all. The committee will probably render its report within the next seven or eight days.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL PRESENT NEW PLAY

"Her Gloves," a Farce Comedy, Will Be Given in April.

The dramatic club will present to the people of Statesboro a new play about the middle of April. The exact date has not been set. This announcement is to put you on notice that you have something good to look forward to.

This is the second play the club will give, and they are doing all in their power to make it a better one than "To, Mac, Brown." All who saw the first play were pleased with the local talent, and will be glad to know that another will be given.

"Her Gloves" is a farce comedy in three acts, and one stage setting, full of fun and possessed with a novel plot. Be sure to see it. The cast is as follows: Misses Lucy Birch, Wilfred Parker, Ruth Lester, Annie Olliff and Mary Beth Smith. Messrs. Walter Johnson, Edwin Groover, Hubert Jones, R. H. Kingley and Harold Meyer.

In the next issue a short sketch will be given and the cast each character portrayed. The club is a branch of the civic league, a part of the proceeds to go to school athletics. So the people of Statesboro should certainly back the club in all their efforts to make this production a greater success than the first.

Big Revival at the Baptist Church.

What is without question, the most successful revival meeting ever had in Statesboro, and in Bulloch county for that matter, is now in progress at the Baptist church in this city.

The pastor is being assisted by Dr. J. H. Dew, of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Dew is accompanied by Mrs. Dew who has charge of the music in the meeting.

The large church auditorium as well as the Sunday School room are filled to their capacity at each evening service. The interest in the meeting has been steadily increasing and scores of people are being added to the church. Dr. Dew was pastor of the Baptist church here twenty-four years ago, when he came here with his bride and took up the ministry in Bulloch county. He was then living in South Carolina, but since leaving here took up the evangelistic work and has been traveling all over the country. He is a strong and forceful preacher, with fine delivery and a sweeping knowledge of the scriptures attracts the wonder and admiration of his hearers. There is nothing sensational about his preaching—just a plain, earnest presentation of truth as he finds it in God's book, relying upon that, as used of God, in the salvation of souls.

As the meeting progresses the interest seems to increase. One of the most powerful and touching sermons ever heard in Statesboro was the one delivered this morning, when the subject was, "Our Wives and Mothers." Hardly an eye was dry in the great congregation that filled the church to its full capacity. At the conclusion of the service, Mrs. Dew sang the song entitled, "My Mother's Beautiful Hands." It was a touching finale to the scene which had preceded it.

Dr. and Mrs. Dew have many strong friends here who knew them twenty years ago, and they have added many more by their visit in our midst. All about seventy-five additional have been made to the church, and many more are expected.

Gordon Alderman, a young white boy, piled guilty to a charge of assault and battery in the city court this Wednesday morning, and was given a sentence of six months on the state farm. Judge Strange, however, gave his consent to suspend the sentence in the case if his uncle would take him out on his farm and look after him. The boy promised to do better if allowed this privilege.
