RESPONSIVENESS.

THERE isn't a bigger word in the language than the word "responsiveness." In its simplest sense, it does not merely mean quick comprehension, ready grasp of a given subject. It means more. It means to be busy.

IT is just as true today as it ever was that "a house divided against itself shall fall." And this leads up to the thought that in just such measure as there is lack of harmony between the members of any organization, to that extent the organization is a loser.

SO LONG as men of varying temperaments and habits of thought are thrown together, there are bound to be cliques, clans, cheap ridicule, dissensions—discords. A recognition of this truth and an earnest effort on the part of each to be broader and more lenient in his views, will contribute a whole lot toward getting things done as they should be done. Petty jealousies and obstinacy are responsible for a good deal of lost motion and a certain degree of self-effacement is essential to the best interests of any well-organized body of men.

THE man who goes about with a chip on his shoulder in the constant attitude of "standing up for his rights," imaginary or otherwise, is not rendering the highest service he might, because he is thinking too much about himself to the detriment of the firm's interests. In the long run, he doesn't get the best he is capable of getting because he doesn't give it. The habit of looking for slights, of cherishing grudges, makes him irresponsive.

IT is a mighty hard thing to be patient and keep the peace when a dozen different things are going wrong, but you can sit down as a definite rule and depend upon it without exception that there is absolutely nothing in the habit of "getting mad." Anger pays no dividends, to put it more plainly, if the time that is sometimes spent scrapping and "knocking were concentrated upon setting discrepancies to right, a whole lot more would often be accomplished. We can't afford to be small and pitted, either in justice to the house, to our associates or to ourselves. None of us are infallible. Slip ups are bound to occur in any organization. The best we can do is to guard against them in every way possible, and when they do occur, deal with them deliberately and sanely.

WE ALL know that the first duty of a good soldier is to obey, but not all Housewives know that one of their chief duties lies in not giving orders that are unreasonable. Fortunately, there are executives whose influence is an inspiration and a positive benefit. They are far more rare, though, than they should be. Such men know exactly what they want. They make clear to others what they want. At the same time they leave plenty of leeway for initiative and individuality. Men of this calibre are above constant nagging and picking. They do more than expect responsiveness from their helpers. They are responsive to them. There is mutual sympathy—they work together, not at swords' point.

MUTUAL responsiveness is a remedy for many of those business ills that throw different departments out of balance. When misunderstandings and unpleasant relations arise between individuals, let us remember that we are not children that we are not here to quarrel and vent our spleen on each other—but that we're here to ravel the problem out—to work together, just as a good team works—to get the thing done as it should be done, by being mutually responsive.

SAVANNAH TO REBUILD FIRE SWEEP SECTION

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 3.—Plans are already under way for the rebuilding of that section of the water front burned early Sunday morning. The Merchants and Miners' Transportation company, whose wharves were destroyed, has made arrangements for a temporary wharf and the Ocean Steamship company and Central railway which owned much of the destroyed property will at once begin its reconstruction.

It is expected the new wharves will be in many ways superior to those destroyed. A large number of insurance adjusters reached the city this morning to take up the question of losses for settlement. The question of losses for low the actual financial losses.

Many firemen are laid up today, suffering from various causes, as the result of their long tour of duty. Most of them complain of the effect upon their eyes of the heavy smoke, which was in some instances laden with fumes of acids stored in the burned warehouses.

Practically a half mile of the most valuable portion of Savannah's water front was raked by a fire at an early hour Sunday morning, that did probably a million and a half dollars' worth of damage and for several hours threatened the city with the most serious conflagration it has experienced in many years.

The magnificent wharves of the Merchant and Miners' Transportation company, with warehouses filled with freight just brought into port by steamers from Baltimore and Philadelphia, were quickly turned into a ruined mass by the flames.

Large storage warehouses filled with many articles of value were wiped out by the fire in a short time.

The heaviest losers are: The Ocean Steamship company, which owned the docks under lease to the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company; the American Steel and Wire company, which had an immense storage warehouse filled with its products intended for distribution to many points in the south; the Conklin Tin Plate company, which also had a distribution point here, and the Crane company, large dealers in plumbing supplies, whose warehouse had just been replenished for the early spring business.

The Atlantic Coast Line railway also had an office with valuable records in the ruins of the Planters' rice mill a few blocks from the center of the conflagration went up in smoke with the river front property.

The burned area extends from a point west of West Broad street to the Ogeechee canal, which divides the docks of the Ocean Steamship company from those of the Merchants and Miners'.

Because of the peculiar location of the fire, the fire department found it very hard to fight it. The river blanketed one side of the burning mass and the other was enclosed in massive warehouse walls, which were hard to get into and in which it was almost impossible to fight the flames because of the large freight accumulation.

A block away from the center of the fire lies Yamocora, a densely populated section of the city, made up largely of small wooden houses, and it was realized that if the fire reached this section the loss would run much greater than it did. The efforts of the firemen were directed largely to saving this section and keeping the flames from spreading eastward toward the river front.

Rev. Mr. Black of North Carolina has been conducting a Union service at the Methodist church during the week, the services have been largely attended both afternoon and evening, and a great deal of interest seems to be manifest. Prayer meetings are being held every afternoon in different parts of the city.

As the days pass the interest in the meetings increase, the church has been filled to its capacity at each service. There will be no private meeting this afternoon, but there are any services to night, but tomorrow morning services will be held at the Methodist church led by Dr. Black, and a service will also be held at the Baptist church led by the pastor. Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock there will be three services, one at the Methodist church for men and boys over fourteen years of age only, at this of the city. In this they were largely successful. Luckily there were no ships at the wharf of the Merchant and Miners'. One had been there early in the evening, but had sped on to Jacksonville after having deposited a large amount of freight.

Early Sunday morning the steamship Merrimack, bound from Jacksonville to Baltimore, via Savannah, reached port, but found its docks in flames. It docked at the lower Coast Line wharves and left at once.

There were two of the ships of the Savannah line in port and these were carried to a point of safety, although their docks were not damaged. The fire is believed to have started in a car of hay that stood upon the dock of the Merchants and Miners Transportation company.

At one location in the fire the firemen were badly handicapped in their work by the blinding fumes of some powerful acid that almost put out their eyes. Several of them had to be sent to the hospital to be treated. It is not thought their injuries are permanent. There were some minor casualties during the fire but no fatalities.

Because of the extent of the fire and the network of electric wires that encompassed it, it was found necessary to cut out the electric current, the power house being but a half block from the flames. This left the firemen to work under a great handicap in impenetrable darkness except for the light from the fire itself. The large plant of the Savannah Brewing company adjoins the burned section on the south and J. Williams, the brewery watchman, was the first to see the flames.

He stepped out of the brewery office about seventy-five feet from the point where the blaze started, walked down the drive towards the warehouses, to make sure that the glow he saw in the sky was caused by a blaze, and returning, turned in an alarm.

As evidence of the quickness with which the blaze spread, Williams says that at 1:05 o'clock he stepped outside the office, but saw no glow. At 1:15 o'clock he again looked out, and the sky was lighted by the glow of the burning building. After he had made his examination and sent in an alarm he returned to the lane separating the brewery from the burning warehouses. He declares that fully fifty feet of them were in flames by that time.

All Savannah was sightseeing Sunday, with the ruins their objective point. It is estimated that 50,000 people visited the scene. The reserve fire engines were still playing on the ruins Sunday night.

It's Worth More than it Costs You

OF COURSE you admit the value of the automobile for any one who has to go from one place to another—and wants to get there and back quickly. We all agree on that point.

The cost of the automobile is what is worrying you, maybe.

You wonder is it worth the money—to you.

Have you ever noticed that when a man buys an automobile, and, after using it, either in his business or for pleasure, or for both, sells it, always buys another one?

Yes? Well, that's the answer.

Buy an automobile, find out that its price is an investment rather than an expense, and you can't do without it. You wouldn't want to.

Because you will have found that the car is worth more to you than it cost you, that it has added to your capacity of doing business, that it made one hour do the work of three; that the store, the theatre, the folks ten miles away, have suddenly become your next-door neighbors, that it has given a store of health to you and your family.

Which automobile?

The Overland—because it is the best value that money can buy.

Whatever your notions are as to what an automobile should be to do justice to your requirements, whether you value power, comfort, impressive appearance, low cost of upkeep, or the kind of durability—Overland durability makes the possession of a car, a source of down-to-earth satisfaction, you can't afford to consider any automobile without first investigating the new Overland.

Just come and take a look at it. Compare it with others. Let us give you a ride in the big, fully equipped Overland; it involves no obligation on your part. Then draw your own conclusions.—That's all.

Herrington's LIVER PILLS For Georgia People

Clean out the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels, thereby preventing and relieving Hemorrhagic, Bilious, Malaria, and all forms of fever. Headache, Neuralgia, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Backache, Pains in Side and Limbs. MAKES and KEEPS YOU WELL.

Statement from Dr. L. P. Herrington

Waynesboro, Ga., Jan. 1st, 1913—It is with pardonable pride that I hand over my pills to The Herrington Company, who will use them as I have tried to do to bless the world. This company will be able to reach thousands of suffering people whom I never could hope to see. In these pills is my life work of twenty-five years in the active practice of regular medicine. That they have already relieved homes and people without number is expressing the truth modestly. They were born during the worst epidemic of hemorrhagic fever this county ever saw in an effort to get some compound that would prevent that disease. These pills have prevented thousands from having malaria fevers and I believe that it is due to these pills that hemorrhagic fever has been largely eliminated from our county. Since their birth, twenty-five years ago, they have been my stand-by in treating all forms of malaria. I commend them to the public with the modest assurance that they will clean out the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels and start them on a perfect highway to health.
L. P. HERRINGTON, M. D.

FOLEY'S HONEY-TAR COMPOUND

MESSIAH'S GLORY IS DRAWING NIGH
The Stones Announce the Signs of His Presence.

Pastor Russell at Washington Temple. The Beginning of His Pastorate. Texts For Three Discourses Found on the Front of the Union Depot. The Message of the Hour—Not the Burning of the World, but the Rolling Away of the Curse and the Uplift of Humanity Will Result From Messiah's Kingdom.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 6.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn last week accepted a call from the Washington Temple Congregation, New York Avenue and Thirtieth Street. After some appropriate remarks at Washington he was the only center of influence in the city. He took for his text one of the three Bible quotations found over the portals of our temple: "Thou hast put all things under him."—Psalm viii. 6.

Pastor Russell declared this text especially appropriate for a great public building reared in the dawn of the glorious Age of Messiah's Kingdom. Although optimistic respecting the grand outcome of the Creator's Plan, Pastor Russell fully believed the Bible to teach that, preceding the sunrise of the New Age, there would be a dark hour of awful trouble, which is almost upon us.

He reminded his hearers that the old view now gradually fading from us is that Messiah, instead of coming as a son of time and setting up His Kingdom, delegated authority to His followers, one of whom should be spiritual king of the world and entitled Pope. Under this mistaken notion, well-meaning men have declared that if the Hierarchy of Christ were authorized to reign, it should use the secular arm of power to compel all to acknowledge the papal throne as God's Throne, on earth. It is still claimed that each Pope in turn is Christ's vicegerent.

Napoleon broke this spell when he took the Pope a prisoner to France. The world since then has doubted the vicegerency and has held that if the Lord's Kingdom were on earth, the Divine Power would have upheld it, and no dissonance or ignominy would have been permitted.

The Bible Much Neglected.
The creeds have been revered, while the Bible has been neglected under the supposition that the creeds presented the Bible teaching in a simple and plain manner. The rejection of the Bible has meant also the rejection of the Bible. The colleges of Christendom are turning out unbelievers. The horrible consequences will soon be manifest in the overwhelming of our social structure in anarchy. Thank God, that will be the opportune moment when Messiah will take the reins of government, to bless, to uplift.

Man a Little Lower Than Angels.
The Psalmist, considering the heavy burden of God's unaided man, was assured that he should promise to deliver fallen man. He recites the glory and honor in which Adam was created—the head of the earthly things, in the likeness of God, a little lower than the angels.

St. Paul quoted the prophecy and applied it to the Hebrews in 1:3. The Logos was made flesh like the first Adam, "that He by the grace of God might taste death for every man." The work of delivering the world from the power of sin and death had not followed more quickly the work of Calvary because, in the Divine Program, Christ must first lead forth an "elect" number of sons to glory. With the completion of their number will come the glorious time when the curse shall be rolled away and blessings come instead.

The Sanctifier and the Sanctified.
The word sanctified, the Pastor explained, carries the thought of being set apart to some special service. As the Lord Jesus sacrificed His every earthly interest to do the Father's will, so must all who would sit with Him in His Throne. St. Paul declares that the Sanctifier and the sanctified ones are all one—He the Head and they the Body members.

Then the Divine Program will carry blessings to all the families of the earth, redeemed with the precious blood of Jesus. These will partake of flesh and blood, therefore the Redeemer became partaker of the same, that He might not only redeem them, but destroy death and the destroyer. He will liberate the slaves of sin and death, roll away the Curse, and open the prison-house of the tomb. Thus all will have fullest opportunity of returning to the image of God, Divine fellowship and life everlasting.

All Things Under Him.
The world will be officially turned over to Messiah at His Second Advent. "Ask of Me, and I will give Thee the heathen for Thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for Thy possession." By the exercise of Divine Power Satan will be restrained and ultimately destroyed. Then the perfect earth will be delivered over to God, as St. Paul points out in I Corinthians xv, 25-28.

Impersonates Parent: Is Arrested.
Lexington, Ky.—Henry B. Stewart and Nannie B. Wells, fourteen years old, were married here and a few hours later Stewart and his sister, Mrs. Thomas, were arrested charged with impersonating another for the purpose of unlawfully securing a marriage license. It is said Mrs. Thomas went with her brother to get the license and passed herself off as "Nannie B. Wells."

FOREIGNERS ARE FLEEING FROM MEXICO CITY.

Shells From Cannon of Federals and Rebels Plow Through Houses in Residence Section, Killing Many—No Zones of safety. Conditions the same

Among the buildings damaged was that of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, in the side of which a great hole was torn. Over the building during the battle, the British and American flags were flying. Most of the buildings suffering the greatest damage are owned by Mexicans, in many of which, however, Americans and other foreigners have offices. Considerable damage was done to the National Theater, now under construction. It was at this point that the rebels dismounted, while others to the northwest suffered a similar fate. This evidence of expert marksmanship on the part of the gunners in the rebel ranks was further demonstrated in the sweeping shrapnel fire over the higher buildings in the center of the city. These operations were intended to free the district from troublesome riflemen and machine guns. One section of these were in the tower of the sixth police station; a few blocks further east the Gore office building was used for the same purpose, while other structures within the same area harbored little quick fire.

TREES MOWN DOWN. In some streets the overhead wires dangle from posts, the fire from one side or the other having sheared off many of the supports. In Alameda, the great wooded park in the center of the city, the trees were mowed down by the vicious fire; small twigs and limbs cover the ground in places, evidences of the heaviness of the small arm fire.

The last two days to do anything but seek places of safety. Business houses, banks and restaurants are closed, and not even a railway ticket is to be bought in the up-town offices. The offices of the cable company have been kept open throughout the fighting, however, and this morning when the shrapnel was beating in on all sides, and once a shell tore a gasping hole in the iron shutters over the windows, the force of Mexican operations continued without interruption of their work, receiving and sending at tables not five feet away.

Residents of Gore Court evacuated only after two shells had bored their way into the big apartment house. Dozens of buildings show great jagged holes, broken cornices and torn off corners, while hundreds bear more insignificant marks of what has been the most terrible bombardment any city in North America has ever known. Hundreds of thousands of bullets into the roofs, effectively clearing for a time at least these buildings of the picked men from the federal troops.

Some of the rebel shells and not a few rifle bullets reached the National Palace, but none did serious damage, but it is not believed that Diaz seriously contemplates at the present time an attack on Madero's headquarters. Madero has promised to make a combined assault.

Stories of occasional robbery and looting by small mobs were reported during the day, but for the most part the criminal as well as the law-abiding element were too terrified by the incidents of this day.

His courage was great, his confidence remarkable. Over at the arsenal Gen. Diaz calmly directed the operations. He characterized them as solely defense. He, too, was optimistic.

The number of dead and wounded cannot even be estimated, but it is large.

For two hours during the forenoon the rebel gunners rained shot and shell at the lofty structures of the city, from the roofs of which federal sharpshooters and machine gun men had attempted to make the insurgents in the trenches and behind the barricades of the arsenal.

Shells from the heavy guns were well timed, the explosions again today by shot and shell. It was not until nine o'clock to-night that the fire in all quarters ceased.

Mexico City, Feb. 12.—Mexico's capital was torn asunder and entrenched in and around the arsenal, had held his ground against the federals. He had done more than this. He had subjected the city to a more terrible bombardment than that of yesterday.

He had enlarged his zone of action and had sent forces against the National Palace.

But to-night Madero was optimistic. Throughout the bombardment and the almost continuous rattle of machine guns and rifles, the President went about his work in the place apparently unperturbed.

He took counsel frequently with the Finance Minister, Ernesto Madero. From time to time he was in conversation with Gen. Huerta, the commander-in-chief, regarding plans of attack.
