DOG GUARDS MAN IN DITCH

Remarkable Faithfulness of Animal Shown at Louisville Wreck After Owner Dies

The Louisville Post-Examiner has a story of a dog which saved its master's life. The dog was named 'Old Boy' and was a German Shepherd. It was with its master, a man named 'Old Boy', when the train derailed. The dog was the only one to get out of the train and it was the only one to get out of the train.

Mr. R. H. Hannon has been in New York and Baltimore during the past week. He is expected home the early part of the week.

The Statesboro delegation to the inauguration will not be as large as anticipated. The published reports of the exorbitant prices for accommodations has caused a number of them to side track.

Wilson's Mill Burns.

On Monday night about eight o'clock the large planing mill belonging to Mr. J. A. Wilson down by the tracks of The Central of Ga. Railway was burned to the ground. The fire was under good headway before the Fire Department could get to work, and no effort was made to save it, a stiff wind was blowing and it took hard work on the part of the firemen and the citizens to prevent the flames from spreading to Beasley's shop, had it caught, there was no telling where the fire would have been stopped. There was no insurance either on the machinery or lumber and the loss is a pretty heavy one.

STILLMORE GETTING BUSY

If there is anybody who does not believe there is a genuine movement on for the creation of Stonewall County, with Stillmore as its County Seat, a short visit to that section will convince them that there is such a move on foot.

The people of Stillmore and surrounding country are making a determined fight for a new County, and it looks like they are going to succeed.

There has been a clamor for a new County in that section for several years. Certain insistent elements of the old counties have been petitioning for a County Seat at various places, until they have brought the people to believe that they ought to be cut off into a new County, but in doing so they believe that the County Seat should be located at a point where it will serve the public interest to the best advantage. Therefore, with Stillmore's magnificent railroad facilities, with three railroads crossing there, running out in six different directions, leaving no argument as to where the County Seat should be located.

Our friends at Metter have been wanting a new County for several years, and they now have one coming to them. They have grown tired of riding the railroad trains for twenty miles to attend Court and they are now to be rewarded by having this distance to their County Seat cut just half in two. It is only ten miles up to Stillmore, and with a double daily passenger train service, there is no reason why the County of Stonewall, with Stillmore as the County Seat, should not fill a long-felt want.

Messrs. M. R. and Morgan Atkins, J. M. and J. J. Thompson, and P. H. Preston constituted the Bulloch County share of the great crowd that attended the inauguration of President Wilson, in Washington this week.

Miss Mattie Coleman of Moultrie is spending some time with the family of her brother, Mr. G. C. Coleman.

SENATOR BACON KEEPS OUT OF PATRONAGE SQUABBLE—ALEXANDER TO GET FINE PLUM.

By James B. Nevin.
Washington, March 5.—Despite again various wars and rumors of wars (and that little "squabble" is coming in for a steady working job nowadays) the following Georgians seem to be sure to land various plums.
A. O. Blalock to be collector of internal revenue.
Hooper Alexander to be district attorney for North Georgia.
Howard Thompson to be marshal for North Georgia.
Robert Hiltch to be district attorney for South Georgia.

All of these gentlemen were good Wilson men and good Hoke Smith men in the primaries.

In making up the list of Georgia postmasters, moreover, the signs all point to a distribution along those same lines, all the way down the line.

Senator Bacon does not seem to be profoundly interested in the patronage question. He is deeply concerned with the nation's foreign affairs and with his prospective duties as president pro tem of the Senate. Besides, Mr. Bacon was not recently named for another full term of six years in the Senate, and there appears to him, no doubt, no immediate necessity for bothering with his fences or undertaking the organization of a machine.

In short, the impression is gaining ground all the time that the right of senatorial veto of O. K. in Georgia affairs has been placed largely if not altogether in the hands of Senator Smith.

To Make Favors Countable.

There is, of course, no question that Senator Smith will be a candidate to succeed himself in the Senate, and his partisans here fail to express the slightest surprise or disapproval that he should elect to put his friends on guard in Georgia. His unique status in the Senate and his nearness to the new president make it reasonably sure that he can deliver the goods where he pleases, as a rule. And that he is determined to deliver the same where it will be known that he did the work can hardly be doubted by one who uses his eyes and ears about this national capital and cares primarily to get at the truth of what is going on, with an intent to state it in unbiased form.

Those who came here from Atlanta, Georgia and vicinity—and there were thousands who did—unite today in saying that Tuesday's big inauguration festivities, with the climax of joy that the night brought, was the biggest thing of the kind they ever saw. The parade was a wonder, and Georgia was very conspicuous in it. There was no military from any section that made a finer impression than the Georgia boys did, and when they passed the big reviewing stand in front of the white house, they were cheered to the echo, time and again. In the grandstand, just off Lafayette park, immediately in front of the white house, 10,000 people watched the passing troops. Georgia was cheered more, perhaps, than any others, unless it was the great West Point cadet display.

Notwithstanding the fact that the big inauguration show is all over and Washington, theoretically, has settled down to humdrum things, the Georgia visitors are slow in getting away. In the grand rush for trains last night and today the Dixie land visitors have been conspicuous by their absence.

Dixie Folks Linger.

While many of them came, and saw and all have had a good time, they still seem disposed to linger on and see what may happen, as this thing of a Democratic administration in Washington is a novelty, anyway, and one never can tell. Most of the sojourners will leave eventually, clad in political rags and tags, and few in velvet gowns; but that thought has not yet sunk as deep into some minds as finally it must.

Despite the protests and denials of the faithful, the rumor persists that the new president has not yet brought himself quite to believe that he should let bygones be bygones in Georgia, and withhold all feeling against the State in that it went for another in the primaries. Mr. Wilson had his heart set on carrying Georgia in the primaries, and thought he surely would do so. If he had, Georgia likely would have a cabinet place to its credit today. As it was, the only man in the State who might have landed one of those berths, had he so elected, is Senator Hoke Smith. It is an open secret that President Wilson practically offered him the attorney generalship, but he declined. It may have been that Georgia would have landed a cabinet assignment, anyway, had the congressional delegation been able to get together on either Barrett or James R. Gray. But this seemed impossible, and so Georgia will have no place about the official family table of the new president.

Drummer's Key to Situation.

Washington already begins to look like a banquet hall deserted. Every outgoing train is packed and jammed with tired and surfeited visitors and another 24 hours should see practically normal conditions restored.

Three brass bands, marching up Pennsylvania avenue this morning within 100 yards or so of one another, served to point a moral and adorn a tale for one observant person along the way. The first band was from Massachusetts, and the observant person remarked that the bass drummer was carrying his own drum and beating it all by himself. The next band was from Maryland and the observant person remarked that the bass drummer of that band had a man carrying the drum in front while he carried it behind and did the beating. The third band was from Georgia and the observant person remarked that the bass drummer of that band had a colored brother hitched on in front of the drum and another hitched on behind, while he did nothing more than beat the drum, make a big noise and have an easy time of it.

"That's the way things are to be in this country," says this new administration," said the observant person. "Dixie is in the saddle and riding to glory."

BUILDING BILL NOW A LAW.

It is a source of general satisfaction to our people to know that the public buildings bill escaped the veto of President Taft—which came before him a short time before the end of his term. The fact that our appropriation of $50,000 is still in the bill, and the prospects are fine for the erection of the building, is good news. Fifty thousand dollars will put up a nice building, which will add materially to that section of the City. Just when steps will be taken to begin the advertising for bids remains to be seen.

CLAXTON AND GLENNVILLE DISAGREE.

The efforts to come to an agreement between the two proposed new counties, with Glennville and Claxton as their County seats, have fallen through, and there will probably be war to the finish between these two intended stars to be added to Georgia's crown.

The committee appointed in the meeting at Claxton on Friday afternoon went over to Glennville on Saturday and made an effort to get an agreement on a dividing line, but the reports from this conference are anything but encouraging. Glennville proposes to run her line within four miles of Claxton and about the same distance from Reidsville. After some unexplained delay the Claxton delegation were admitted to the Glennville meeting for conference, but we are informed that a delegation from Reidsville, headed by the ordinary, were refused admittance.

The Glennville people feel that they have elected the representative and are in a position to dictate terms to the "outsiders." A report from Liberty County is to the effect that a big kick is coming from them. They assert that Glennville is taking too much of her white population. As the matter now stands it leaves the Claxton proposition well nigh stranded.

PROF. USHER FOUND NOT GUILTY.

The jury trying the case of assault and battery against Professor G. E. Usher in the City Court yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty.

Prof. Usher is superintendent of the schools in Statesboro and a few weeks ago had occasion to whip the son of Mr. O. C. Alderman. Mr. Alderman swore out a warrant against him and the case was tried yesterday in the City Court. The trial consumed the entire day.

Prof. Usher was represented by Messrs. G. S. Johnston and Hinton Booth, and the prosecution by Solicitor Fred S. Lanier and Mr. A. M. Deal.

The jury was out only five minutes and returned the verdict stated above, with the word NOT heavily underscored.

The new County of Stonewall takes the fifteen mile creek as its Eastern boundary line and eliminates that large and increasing number of farmers East of the creek who are not clamoring for a new County. In other words, it takes practically everybody who wants a new County, and leaves out practically everybody who does not want a new County.

This is regarded as a splendid settlement of the new County question, as far as it touches that particular section.

Dress making, Children's dresses and Plain Sewing. Mrs. F. D. Thexton, Parish Street.

WILL ORGANIZE FAIR.

Success of Last Fall Fair Commends It to the People Again.

It is now a practical certainty that we will have another Fair this fall. The one last fall proved quite a success, being the first attempt and gotten together in such a short time.

A stock company is being organized and buildings and grounds will be constructed and the Fair will be made permanent.

This is the outlook now, but it all depends on the reception given the movement by our business men.

If we hold a Fair this fall, the people are going to expect a bigger one and a better one than we had last year, and in order to do this, we will all have to pull together.

NOTICE.

Estimates cheerfully furnished on all classes of work both wood and brick. My work is guaranteed to give satisfaction and contracts turned out with dispatch. Give me a chance at your work. S. B. Hedges, Statesboro, Ga.

Miss Emma Smith is visiting relatives in town this week.

A BOARD OF TRADE TO BE ORGANIZED.

We understand that there is a movement on foot to organize a Board of Trade in Statesboro. There is no question but what this is the one crying need of the city. Almost any other town in this entire section has a Board of Trade, yet Statesboro has no such organization.

We understand, however, that a meeting will be called in the next few days and a Board of Trade organized here. There are a number of questions that mean much to this city now that cannot be handled any other way than through a good, live Board of Trade.

THE SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER.

The Bulloch County Teachers' Association met on the first Saturday in March at the Statesboro High School building, with quite a good attendance, although the day was very unfavorable, it being rainy in the morning of the day.

Rev. Mr. Dennis conducted the Devotional Exercises, then the teachers began their professional work.

The following program was arranged for the next meeting of the Association, which will meet again on the fifth day of next April:

Devotional Exercises, conducted by the Rev. J. F. Singleton.

"Evils of Cigarette Smoking"—Dr. A. J. Mooney.

Debate, "Resolved, That a Compulsory Education Law for the State of Georgia Would be Beneficial for the Schools of Bulloch County." Affirmative, Prof. S. D. Alderman, Miss Juanita Gardener, Prof. H. R. Kimbrough, Negative, Prof. B. H. Ramsey, Miss Zulienne Lane, Prof. John Ross. Speeches limited to ten minutes.

Round table discussion continued. Session from 10:30 to 1:00 o'clock. Teachers are urged to be there on time.

So far, the most of the schools of Bulloch County have had easy sailing, as there has been but a few cases of contagious disease to keep down the attendance. Very few schools that are near the danger line for dismissal for lack of the required attendance. The result of good attendance on the part of the pupils will be very beneficial to the school children throughout the whole County.

Teachers will take special notice of the following list of books, which they are expected to get and read during this spring:

Manual for Georgia Teachers—County Superintendent's price, Free.
Hodges' Nature Study and Life—Ginn & Co., Commerce Hall, Atlanta, Georgia—postpaid, $1.00.

Colgrove's "The Teacher and the School," Charles Scribner's Sons, Temple Court Building, Atlanta, Ga., post paid, $1.00.
"Everyday Problems for Country Teachers," by W. V. O'Shea, $1.25.

If you expect to renew your first grade license, get these books and get prepared, or if you expect to stand this summer's examination, you will have to have the above-named books. Do not overlook this notice.

The next and the last special examination for those who have no license will be given some time the latter part of March. Watch for the notice and be ready to come in and take it.

One of our teachers married the day before she left her home to come to Bulloch to teach, and she found after two months time spent teaching up here in Bulloch that she could no longer live apart from her better half, so last Friday she gave up her school to return to her husband. She was Miss Ethel Bowles. Do not know whom she married. Her home is in Fitzgerald, Ga.

Mr. M. L. Tinley has sold his interest in the firm of the Blitch Parish Company, Mr. Adam Jones and Miss Georgia Hagins taking over a large part of his stock in the Company. Mr. Tinley has not decided yet what he will engage in.

FARMING LAND FOR SALE.

I will sell that fine farm located about two and one-half miles west of Statesboro. There is plenty of land cleared for a good two-horse farm, and in a good state of cultivation; also one farm six miles from Statesboro, containing fifty-two acres. And one lot at the end on South Main street in Statesboro. Also one automobile, Cole "30," will make reasonable terms to parties wanting to buy any of the above property. For further particulars, call on or write ROGER J. HOLLAND, Statesboro, Ga.

Mr. H. K. Hulst has moved his Novelty Works and Repair Shop to the concrete building formerly occupied by C. H. Hamilton where he will be glad to serve his friends.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

MARCH 13th and 14th.

The correct styles in tailored and dress hats from the leading fashion centers will be shown. The ladies of the city and surrounding country are invited to call.

New Spring Goods.

Owing to our late visit to the Eastern markets, our New Spring Goods have been slightly delayed in arriving, but they are now in, and ready for inspection.

They were selected in person by experienced buyers, representing our firm and comprise all that is new and seasonable. They are now on our shelves, and we respectfully invite the people to call and see us. Especial attention is directed to our new Spring line of Shoes for gentlemen, ladies and children, they include all of the Spring Novelties in foot-wear.

We are prepared to take care of our customers during the season, and hope to have the pleasure of meeting them when they need anything in our line.

The KIND of DRESSES A WOMAN RAVES OVER

Dainty enough for afternoon tea, yet quiet enough for street wear. Need we speak of the usefulness of such dresses? They are reasonably low in price, even the prettiest of them.

Every garment is of far better material, and very much more carefully cut and made than you might expect from the price.
