IN MEMORY.

In memory of little Annie Belle Deal, the little 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Deal, who departed this life April 9th, 1912. She was a bright, sweet-tempered little girl, and all who knew her loved her. For about seven days she suffered; until the Lord saw best to take her home. She has left a dear father and mother, one sister and one brother; kindred, many friends, to mourn her death. Her remains were interred in the Smith's Cemetery, Wednesday afternoon, April 10th. She is gone but not forgotten.

A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled The boon His love has given. Altho the body lingers here, The soul is safe in heaven.

We miss thee from our home. Dear Annie Belle; We miss thee from thy place. A shadow o'er our life is cast, We miss the sunshine of thy face.

We miss thy kind and willing hands, Thy fond and earnest care, Our home is dark without thee, We miss thee everywhere.

Dearest Annie Belle, she has left us, And our loss we deeply feel, But 'tis God that once bereft us; He can all our sorrows heal.

Yet again we hope to meet thee, When the days of life are fled, When with joy in heaven to greet thee.

Where no farewell tears are shed, The little crib is empty now; The little clothes laid by, A mother's hope, a father's joy, In death's cold arms doth lie.

Through all pain all times she would smile, A smile of heaven's birth, And when the angels call her home She smiled farewell to earth.

Heaven retaineth now our treasure, Earth the lonely casket keeps, And the sunbeams love to linger Where our darling Annie Belle sleeps.

Dearest love one, we must lay In the peaceful grave's embrace, But thy memory will be cherished Till we see thy heavenly face.

Oh, that dear one, how we loved her! Oh how hard to give her up, But an angel came down for her, And removed her from our flock.

There was an angel band in heaven, That was not quite complete, So God took our darling Annie Belle To fill the vacant seat.

Farewell, dear, but not forever, There shall be a glorious dawn, We shall meet to part no never, On the Resurrection morn.

NEGRO REPORTED TO HAVE FOUND FORTUNE

(Savannah Press.)
Nearly four hundred gold coins of old Spanish coinage, representing a value of nearly eight thousand dollars, is thought to be the golden harvest of a "find" of an ancient treasure by Marcus Byrd, a negro, near the old war battle site adjoining Le-Paveville.

The find was made a few days ago and the story is substantiated by the fact that Byrd has disposed of several old gold coins dated 1732 and 1748. Byrd said this morning that he had not made the find; that two other negro men had been the fortunate ones, but he has had several of the coins for the past day or so and this morning sold one for $16 to a well known business man on the Bay. Another was sold yesterday for $20.

Denied Finding Them.
With the characteristic caution of his race Byrd would not acknowledge this morning that he had made the find. He is employed by S. C. Wolf & Co., and makes daily excursions into the country buying old bottles. The finding of the gold by Byrd has spread like wild fire among the negroes of the city and is the chief topic of interest among the colored population today.

While walking through a piece of woodland near the Le-Paveville section a few days ago, Byrd, according to his employers, discovered an old coin lying upon the ground. Picking it up he searched around and soon found a little place hollowed out that contained a large number of the old coins, and when the whole crop has been secured it was found that there was close to four hundred in the lot, all of the Spanish style an ancient date.

Original Owner Unknown.
Who the original owner of the small fortune was when it was buried and by what strange freak of fortune the treasure at last came to light, are among the matters not yet clear. The coins are worth twenty dollars each, however, and that Byrd is the fortunate finder no one seems to doubt.

Byrd told the gentleman or the boy to whom he sold one of the coins today that he had found a pot filled with them and that he would bring in several more on Monday. He had counted the coins and there were four hundred, he said. He talked very cautiously to those to whom he displayed the coin for sale today, apparently being afraid that he would get himself into trouble.

When a Press reporter saw him he closed up like a clam.

GIVE FARMERS BENEFIT OF PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Washington.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley told the house committee on interstate commerce today some of his views on living and housekeeping.

Advocating a bill to require the net weight of food packages to be stamped upon them, he declared all food should be bought by weight or measure and not simply by package.

Dr. Wiley said a grocer recently tried to sell him a ham which he said weighed a certain amount. "I asked him if he had weighed it and he said it was weighed when it came in last November," said Dr. Wiley. "I made him weigh it again and it had lost 3 pounds. That saved me 90 cents."

Dr. Wiley paid his respects to federal authorities with whom he was in frequent controversy while chief of the bureau of chemistry.

Protests Free Sugar.
Dr. Wiley, in his capacity as "a farmer, engaged in practical agriculture and as one who has been interested during his whole active life in the industry," later filed with the senate finance committee a protest against a "free sugar" which he characterized as "a threat of the extinction of the industry."

"The production of sugar," said Dr. Wiley, "whether it be from beet or cane, requires the highest type of intensive culture that science has been able to suggest. The blow which free sugar would deal to the agricultural industries of this country will be only partly felt by those directly engaged in the culture and manufacture of this product. Its staggering and numbing influence would pervade all branches of agriculture and put back the era of development for years to come."

Dr. Wiley closed with a plea for the farmer, who, he declares has never had his full share of the benefits of the tariff.

ROBS JAIL OF WHISKY

Washington, Ga., April 30.—that the thirst of strong drink will drive a man to the most desperate deeds is evidenced by the fact that some time during Saturday night some unknown party broke into the Wilkes county jail and secured thirteen quarts of whisky. When two white men from Thomson were arrested and found with twenty-six quarts of whisky under their buggy seats, the whisky was taken by the officers and placed in one of the unused rooms connected with the dwelling portion of the county's magnificent jail for safe-keeping until the case against the two men is finally settled.

Breaking through the glass window and making a hole sufficiently large to permit the culprit to insert his arm and release the latch which fastened it, the thief managed to raise the window and helped himself to half of the whisky which was being carefully guarded as "evidence" against Thomas T. Dill and Billy Hundley.

It was the arrest of the above-named parties from Thomson, with the whisky which had been stolen from the county jail, that brought from a minister of this county, Rev. H. J. Strother, the indictment that Wilkes county authorities were seeking to create a monopoly in the blind tiger and whisky business. In his criticism of the officers of Washington for arresting the two white men from Thomson, on the meager circumstantial evidence, Mr. Strother furnished to the local press a sensational article in which he stated that the only person who was the fact

GEN. WALKER DISPUTES DAN CAREY'S CLAIM

Charleston, S. C., May 4.—"I was with the Citadel cadets when the first shot was fired on the steamer Star of the West, which was trying to carry supplies and provisions to Maj. Anderson's beleaguered garrison in Fort Sumter," said Gen. C. Irvine Walker, commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, today.

"I have no recollection of any person of the name of Dan Carey being a member of or with the corps in any connection. I believe there is some mistake about his reported claim. There can be no doubt that Cadet G. E. Haysworth, who after the war, practiced law until his death, pulled the lanyard of the cannon firing the first shot at the Star of the West. It was in the nature of an accidental honor, as he was no specially singled out for the task."

A dispatch from Dalton, Ga., via Chattanooga, said that Dan Carey, dying there, had claimed as a member of the "Charleston cadet" corps to have fired the first shot, Citadel records, complete and accurate, were searched today, but the name of Dan Carey does not appear on any of the lists. He was never a cadet, so far as the records show. Gen. Walker was a classmate to Haysworth. He has taken particular pains to set the records straight.

It is interesting to remark that a small piece of wood from the Star of the West is a cherished possession of the Citadel, the military college of South Carolina. This wood is in the star of the B. H. League medal which is annually awarded the best drill cadet in the corps, to be worn until another cadet wrests the coveted distinction in competitive drill. The star was cut out in the hull of the federal steamer.

Although there have been all sorts of contradictory claims, it has been established, according to Gen. Walker and other survivors the Haysworth actually pulled the lanyard on the cannon firing the first shot and it is claimed by Citadel that a cadet also fired the first shot actually directed at Fort Sumter. The cadets did much valuable service about Charleston during the Civil War.

THE ROBES OF MAY.

Sweet month of roses, we hail thee today, The beautiful rose bedecked sister of May, The skies are aglow and the world is atone With the splendor and beauty and music of June.

Sweet month of the roses so glad and so fair, Thou breathest the perfume of Eden so rare, The roses of Sharon, the lilies so sweet, Are strewn in the path of thy fast flying feet.

Sweet month of the roses, the flowers must fade Like the flush on the cheek of a beautiful maid; For alas their written on the banner so gay The saddest of legends, we are passing a way.

But we dream of the day when this glorious earth Shall dawn once again in the fair fair robes of her birth; In the garden of God, on that evergreen shore, The flowers of beauty shall fade never more.

Allen's Shed Tears WHILE WOMEN SOB.
Wytheville, Va., April 30.—Progress was rapid today toward securing a jury to try Floyd Allen, indicted for five murders in the Carroll county court house on March 14 last. The first day's session of court adjourned with twelve talesmen satisfactory as to cause obtained out in a venire of forty. Four more talesmen are needed to fill the box and it is expected they will be selected early to-morrow when the defense will exercise the four peremptory challenges allotted to it by Virginia law and the remaining twelve talesmen will be sworn as jurors.

Floyd Allen was placed on trial for the murder of the Commonwealth's Attorney F. M. Foster. Many witnesses had looked on as the prisoner, as well as three other Allen relatives were searched for concealed weapons as they entered. Three armed detectives were stationed on guard among the spectators.

Allen's Shed Tears.
Judge A. A. Campbell, who was appointed to succeed the late Judge Thornton L. Massie, sat beside Judge Walter S. Staples, who was especially detailed by Gov. Mann to try the Allen case.

More than 200 witnesses will be called in the Allen cases. Not a few of them set out on foot from the mountains and should reach here to-morrow. It is a forty-mile walk from their homes but those who arrived to-night appeared none the worse for the journey.

The jail was the scene to-night of a reunion of the Allen family. Mrs. Floyd Allen broke down as she saw her husband and two sons, Victor and Claude, behind the bars. With her came Mrs. Albert Edwards, a sister of Floyd Allen and mother of Sidney Edwards. Mrs. Victor Allen, wife of one of the accused men, brought her three small children, Jack Allen, a brother of Floyd and father of Friel Allen, was in the party.

For a few minutes the strong defiance of the prisoners wavered and tears streamed the faces of all. The women left the jail sobbing.

So long have the Allens lived in their mountain homes that with one exception, the women members of the family before their trip here had never seen a railroad train or an automobile.

FLOYD ALLEN READY FOR MURDER TRIAL.
State Expects to Experience Much Difficulty in Selecting Jury.

Wytheville, Va., April 30.—Floyd Allen was before the bar in the circuit court here today to be tried for his life for the part he played in the Hillsville court-house tragedy on March 14.

His case was selected for trial first and upon its outcome will depend largely the methods of the state in prosecuting the five other accused clansmen now in jail here.

A large venire of citizens of this section has been summoned, as it is expected that considerable trouble would be experienced in getting a jury.

Floyd Allen stands indicted for five murders, but the prosecution elected to try him first of the murder of Commonwealth's Attorney Foster.

In being brought from the jail to the court house, Floyd Allen had his first ride in an automobile. His right leg was still in a cast, the result of wounds received in a pistol duel with Clerk Dexter Goad.

SECRETARY KNOX GUEST OF HONOR AT CELEBRATION.
Hundredth Anniversary Admission of Louisiana into the Union. Numbers of Dignitaries Witnessed Spectacle.

New Orleans, April 30.—With Secretary of State P. C. Knox as the guest of honor, Louisiana today celebrated the hundredth anniversary of its admission into the union. The program arranged by the Louisiana Historical Society began with the arrival of Secretary Knox from Washington this morning, and a public reception at the city hall by Mayor Martin Behrman. A banquet to-night concludes the celebration.

The guests, including the officers of the war vessels and officials, later re-assembled at the city hall and joined a parade, headed by the sailors and marines of the battleships and gunboat Petrel, and the organization of the Louisiana National Guard, and proceeded to the historic Cabildo, an administrative building erected by the Spaniards in 1770.

Knox Reviews Parade.
Scores of celebrities are guests of the Louisiana Historical Society, among them representatives of five Central American republics, drawn here because Secretary Knox's visit is regarded as a continuation of his recent trip through the republics in Central America.

Visit to the Warships.
Secretary Knox was met on his arrival by the Historical Society's committee and escorted to a hotel. He was later carried to the city hall reception, after which, with other distinguished guests, a visit was made to the battleships Nebraska and New Hampshire, ordered here by the war department to participate in the centennial.

The parade was reviewed by Secretary Knox from the grand stand erected in front of the Cabildo. With the secretary were Gov. J. A. Sanders of Louisiana; Gov. Earl Brewer, of Mississippi; Mayor Behrman and members of the city council. Archbishop James H. Blank and officials of the society.

Addresses of welcome were made by the governor and mayor, were responded to by Secretary Knox, representing the President. Secretary Knox was followed by Dr. A. E. Orlie, president of the Louisiana Historical Society, and Gov. Brewer.

Girls Unfurled Flag.
Miss Carliss E. Claiborne raised the same flag in Jackson Square Place d'Armes that her great-grandfather, Gov. Claiborne, unfurled one hundred years ago upon the same spot, the United States colors of 1812 with an additional star representing the new state of Louisiana. The flag raising was followed by a salute by the guns of the Washington artillery.

The program ended with patriotic songs and the formal opening of the Cabildo to the public as a state museum stocked with relics, many of which date back to the occupation of this territory by the Spaniards.

THE WILL OF THREE RICH MEN—HARRI-MAN, SAGE, ASTOR

And the Lesson They Teach as to Marriage and Wealth.

(Atlanta Georgian.)
The whole world feels admiration for John Jacob Astor.

He died a brave man, and under the heavy handicap of inherited wealth he lived the life of a good citizen volunteering his services in time of war, always ready to share any public-spirited movement.

It is therefore, with the kindest feeling that the world discusses the will of John Jacob Astor, and the lesson that it teaches concerning lives that are idle and husbands and wives that live apart, contrasted with the lives of a husband and wife, working hand in hand, living together and winning success by helping each other.

Recently in this country three very rich men have died.

Russell Sage died. He began with nothing except courage and a belief in the old-fashioned idea of marrying as a permanent institution.

He and his wife worked side by side for nearly half a century.
He left every dollar he had to his wife.

His will said in substance to the world that he had accumulated the millions and tens of millions year after year—that was his part of the work.

And now he gave his money to his faithful, life-long companion, to use in accordance with her unselfish and wise nature.

Most nobly Mrs. Sage has devoted her life and her fortune to her husband's trust.

Next came the death of E. H.
Harriman, a giant in nation building, one whom this country will remember as a builder of roads and an opener of new lands long after his detractors shall have been forgotten.

E. H. Harriman was a poor young man when he married. His wife, on the contrary was well-to-do. It did not seem to the world a very brilliant match for her when she married the penniless son of a poor clergyman.

That was a marriage in which the husband and wife lived and worked together. Genius in the brain of Harriman built thousands of miles of railroads, simplified management, practiced wise economies, increased profits —and when Harriman died at an age when his real work should only have begun, he left many scores of millions.

And he left every dollar to the wife who had lived with him and worked with him.

His will was the shortest will
on record.

It told the world that in death, as in life, his one thought was for his wife, the mother of his children, the friend of his whole life.

And Mrs. Harriman, intelligent and wisely, for the good of the public in endless directions, in spending the great fortune, that her husband left her.

There you have the lives and wills of two American citizens.

Now comes the will of John Jacob Astor.

The young man was born with a load that few can carry successfully—tremendous wealth.

He was inevitably the object of scheming mothers of cold-hearted social parasites.

He married twice.

From his first wife he was di-voiced.
His will leaves her not one dollar.
He married again, a young and attractive girl. His will leaves not one dollar to her.
Before each marriage, of course he made suitable provision in accordance with his ideas for the woman he was about to marry.
Every dollar that he owned goes to his children. Not a cent to either wife.

There is a text for those that discuss the question, "Is Marriage a Failure?" and for those that wonder whether the marriage institution is to endure.

There is a lesson for those that are interested in the effect of inherited wealth upon the average human being.

Not one marriage in one hundred can stand the blighting effect of wealth unlimited and self-indulgence unlimited from the marriage day, and not one human being in a hundred can endure the load of wealth inherited.

Praiseworthy and unusual is the man who in spite of wealth, and the absence of all necessity driving him to work, still works and does his share.

And honorable the man born rich, flattered and encouraged in egotism, who retains his capacity for affectionate devotion and his fitness for marriage and its deep responsibilities.

The worlds need never worry about the institution of marriage or think that it will end.

The only problem is, how soon will human beings become worthy of that institution?

You see the best men, the ablest and the greatest, living faithful married lives, and proving at the end absolute devotion to the wife left behind.

As human beings improve, marriage will improve, becoming sacred, universal and permanent.

solvent and ask that the receiver be authorized to wind up the estate for the benefit of the creditors.

The involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were not unexpected by the creditors as it was known to many of them that the affairs of the defendant company were not in a flourishing condition. This company was re-organized about a year ago when some of the leading creditors took charge and elected W. V. Davis of Savannah acting president in the hope of putting the concern back on a solvent basis.

The petition was filed in the United States Court by Wilson and Rogers, attorneys for the petitioners, and shortly afterward Referee A. H. MacDonell appointed Mr. Moynele receiver.

President Davis was served with a copy of the petition as he was leaving for the steamer to go to New York.

MR. WM. F. SIKES
HAS PASSED AWAY

(Savannah Press.)
William Fletcher Sikes, 40 years old, died at his home at 319 Boltan street west, at 10:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of two months. His remains will be taken tonight over the Seaboard to Glenville, his former home, where he interment will take place tomorrow afternoon.
He had only been in Savannah a short while.

Mr. Sikes was until recently the chief deputy sheriff of Tattall county. He is survived by his wife; three children, two boys and a girl.

Ex-Senator Aldrich is in London. What do the interest want
him to do over there.

GALLOWAY TAKES
THE ONE CHANCE
(Savannah News.)
Taking the one chance in ten thousand which physicians stated he had, W. J. Galloway, cashier of the Bank of Collins, who attempted suicide in the banking rooms about three weeks ago, and on the fair road to recovery, and in a few days will leave the Park View Sanitarium.

It is thought that Mr. Galloway will leave about the middle of the week. He is very weak, but perfectly rational. Leaving Savannah, he will not return to Collins, at once, but will go to his old home at Mallory, S. C. It has not been decided when he will return to Collins, though his intention is to return there.

Worrying over reports circulated to the effect that he was drinking had, according to Mr.
Galloway is what caused him to try to end his life. The reports worried him considerably. He states, and brooding over them, he finally decided to end it all.
He had stopped drinking, he declares, and it was the continued circulation of the reports after it was known that he was not drinking, that worried him.

According to physicians, the fact that Mr. Galloway has lost one and two ounces of brain matter from the frontal lobe of his brain, will not in any manner affect his mind. He is now perfectly rational, and states he has no trouble in recalling various subjects and matters of the past.

During his illness, Mrs. Ora Galloway, his wife of less than a year has been with him constantly and the strain is now showing on her. A frail woman, the tension has been about all she could stand, and now that her husband is on the road to recovery, her in-demonitable courage and air of cheerfulness are about gone.

What he will do on his return to Collins, Mr. Galloway does not know. Besides being cashier of the bank, he was in the insurance business, and he has made no plans for the future. Whether he will return to the bank or not, is problematical, though he knows of no reason why he should not.

Mr. Galloway shot himself once, putting the pistol inside mouth. The ball went upward, passing out just behind the right eye, penetrating the brain. He was rushed to Savannah, it being thought he would die before reaching here.

Rational from the time he was found, Mr. Galloway refused to discuss the shooting but stated he now wanted to live. The physicians told him that he had only one chance in ten thousand, and he took that one chance. Several times at the sanitarium it was thought he would die, as on one occasion he lost consciousness for a few minutes.

After he rallied from the operation he slowly began to improve. For days there was no noticeable change in his condition, and then he began gaining strength, until he is improved to such an extent that he will be discharged in a few days.

HORSE THIEF WITH A MEAN DISPOSITION

Vidalia, Ga., May 4.—The meanest case of horse theft on record has just occurred in this section.
The thief took a horse and buggy with the harness and buggy trimmings that go with it from the barn of J. B. Brevton near Ailey, carrying the turnout to near here, where he unhitched the horse, out the harness to shreds, put the buggy which was new, on the Macon, Dublin and Savannah Railroad track to be torn up by a train and turned the horse loose, which wandered into Vidalia and was turned over to the owner, who is offering a reward for the return of the thief.

Ex-Senator Aldrich is in London. What do the interest want
him to do over there.

THE EDWARDS CORN CLUB PRIZE
We must have the prize this year.
Boys get busy and win the $100 prize offered by Congressman U.
G. Edwards, to the one who can raise the most corn to the acre.
It is only a matter of a few days hard work and you will be sure to win the prize and give the county the name of having the best land in the State to raise corn upon, which is true to the letter.
Remember now that Wayne has already organized their club and are hard at work, but it is better late than never.

Some of the Liberty boys have got to help their old "DAD," raise his crop this year and while you are at it you may as well work for the prize and when you have the prize money in your pocket you can have a good time with it or buy another good horse.

Organize a club this week and get down to business and stop this playing, for we must have the best corn crop this year that has ever been produced in the State of Georgia.

Now Boys there is only one thing to do, and that is to settle down to work and the good Lord will provide for what is best.—

SANITARY STEAM PRESSING MACHINE

DEAR SIR: When sending your clothing to be pressed, have you ever realized, and every clean-minded man would shudder with disgust at the thought, that the cloth used to press your suit had just previously been used to press the suit of a man suffering from Disease, Filthy Habits, etc.—the cloth in the interim being wet and wrung out in a pail of probably dirty water, especially so toward the end of the day's work?

To overcome this, we have installed an up-to-date SANITARY STEAM PRESSING MACHINE, known as "THE HOFF-MAN." A garment that passes through this machine is disinfected; as no germs or microbes can exist under a temperature as high as the dry steam we inject; at the same time it removes any odor, takes away the grimy appearance, raises the nap, revives the colors and imparts to the garment that freshness desired by all discerners.

HATS BLOCKED AND CLEANED.

ATLANTA WOMEN UPHOLD SEA LAW

(Atlanta Journal.)
Is the "women first" rule right as enforced in the Titanic disaster?

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the woman suffrage organization in Georgia, says yes. But not because women belong to the "weaker sex," but because they are more valuable to the world. She did not agree with her sisters of the North and West in believing that the "women first" should be abolished. Neither does Miss Alice Ormond, an Atlanta girl prominent in the suffragist movement in New York, where she has recently lived.

"Women are decidedly more important to society than men, in view of the fact that it is the woman who brings children into this world and then cares for them until they are able to take their places in life," said Mrs. McLendon, "and for that reason if for no other, women should be the first to be saved when an occasion like that on the Titanic arises."

Woman's Importance.
"We want the importance of womanhood to be realized by the rest of the world and we believe that if she is so important to the world that men will step aside and allow her a take first place in the lifeboats that they should be willing to grant her full suffrage."

"I think, too," she added, "that in a number of cases where the men waited and let the women get into the boats that it was merely because they realized that on account of their own physical strength that they could have forced their way ahead and they were ashamed to do that. It was a noble thing to do, but I have the added thought that most of those men on the Titanic hoped and believed there would be plenty of lifeboats to go around and were willing to let the women go first. That belief that they would ultimately be saved had a lot to do with the chivalry they showed in stepping aside for feeble womenkind."

Tribute to Man's Chivalry.

"I don't think woman suffrage should ever do away with the historic women first rule of the sea," said Miss Alice Ormond, an ardent worker in the cause of suffrage. Miss Ormond who now makes her home in New York, is visiting her mother at 8 Piedmont place and will not return to New York in time for the monster suffragette parade on May 4.

"The chivalry of man caused those heroes on the Titanic to step aside and let the women take their places in the boats," said Miss Ormond, "and while I believe that woman has now reached the place in her onward stride where she should have equal political rights with man, I don't believe that such a thing should cause man to have less of a feeling of chivalry and sentiment toward her."

"In other words, the chivalry that caused such an act as that on the Titanic came as the result of woman's physical inferiority to man, the voluntary bowing of the strong before the weak, and a tribute to the most beautiful thing in human nature—a true womanly woman. The recognition of woman's intellectual suffrage to her will ever make her less of a true woman and thus lessen man's respect for her. While man views womanhood in the old chivalric way, he will continue to offer his life for her when the occasion arises."

W. T. Busbin, Route 1, Fayetteville, Ga. was cured of bronchitis. He writes: "I have been a sufferer from bronchitis for six months, so severely I could hardly breathe. I tried many remedies, but Foley's Honey and Air Compound was the only medicine which served me. I recommend it as a positive cure for bronchitis, coughs and throat troubles." W. H. Ellis & Co.

YOUNGEST MAYOR IS A PARALYTIC

Little Rock, Ark., April 30.—"For myself I'm going to use three essentials to success, faith, prayer and perseverance. They never fail you if you are in the right, and you are already a failure if you are in the wrong." This is the nutshell philosophy of Hon. Joe F. Sullivan, recently elected mayor of Inboden, the youngest mayor of the United States. His election was a most exciting one, and more votes were polled than in any previous contest in the progressive village of 500 population. Joe is not quite 21 years old, and is a cripple, but this did not deter him.

"Misfortune," he repeated, "when asked if that was not a handicap, 'There's no such word as that to me. What do you call fortune. My afflictions make me what I am, and will help to make me what I am to be. I'm perfectly reconciled to my condition, and never think of being lame or worrying over what can't be helped. Really I haven't time to waste in that manner, there is too much for me to do. No whimpering in mine."

The boy mayor of Arkansas, well known in the little city as the boy editor, and known at home as "the boy with the goats," is not yet grown, a paralytic. At the age of 14 years he was stricken with paralysis, which deprived him of the use of his left arm and both legs. In all these years he has never stood on his feet or taken a step. The only way of getting about is by driving a team of trained Angus goats, which have been to him for five years what feet are to those that walk. They follow him about like dogs, lie on the porch by his chair till he is ready to perch by his chair till he is ready to go.

TITANIC PICTURES WILL BE AUTHENTIC.

Moving Picture Machine Was On Board the Carpathia, and All the Scenes Relative to the Rescue Were Put in Motion Pictures.

The motion pictures of the Titanic disaster which will be shown at the Star Theatre next Friday night will be the real pictures, taken of the various scenes as they occurred, and not a stage reproduction.

The pictures will begin with the laying of the keel of the giant liner, which was to be the largest and most magnificent vessel ever built. They will next show the launching of the ship, then show it completed and ready to sail the seas over which the builders of the proud vessel thought it would be complete mistress. Here you are also conducted through the interior of the ship and shown its luxurious equipment, its mahogany saloons and dining rooms; its baths and swimming pools; everything being done that would give the passengers of the vessel the utmost in comfort and luxury.

You will next be shown the ship leaving port on her ill-fated gay-hearted and smiling-faced voyage—betried and smiling-faced passenger waving good-bye to relative and friend on shore. Deliberately the great ship moves on out to sea, believing herself immune to the terrors of the deep, so confident is she of her strength and power.

It is now early morn, first daylight, and you are looking over a calm sea from the deck of the of the heroine ship, Carpathia. Down, down, two miles or more, on the sea's bottom lies the great Titanic, that was last shown sailing so proudly away from port. She was thought to be the mistress of the sea, but the sea has swallowed both her and sixteen hundred of her passengers, and yet is apparently as emotionless and undisturbed as if she had swallowed a chip with as many ants on it. The life boats containing the shivers can now be seen, and the ice berg which sank their ship; also all the scenes connected with the rescue work of getting survivors on the Carpathia are shown. Next will be scenes on board the Carpathia en route to New York, showing the survivors in reclining chairs and on cots, recuperating from the exposure and shock incident to those awful hours from the time the Titanic went down until the arrival of the Carpathia.

Finally you will be shown the Carpathia moving slowly into New York harbor, and also the throngs awaiting her arrival at the pier. Among them are those who have received the news by wireless that their loved ones are saved; other who have received no news, but are still hoping that in some way their loved ones are saved also. The picture then closes with the landing of the survivors, and their meeting with those who have so anxiously awaited their return.

There will be four exhibitions of this wonderful picture on Friday night; the first beginning at 6:30, second at 7:30, third 8:30 and fourth at 9:30, so everybody will have an opportunity of seeing it. Admission 15 cents to all. STAR THEATRE.

LEAPS FROM TRAIN; NO BONES BROKEN

Saannah, Ga., May 4.—J. W. Turner, 48 years of age, and a native of Memphis, en route for Midville, Ga., jumped through a coach window on the Central of Georgia railway train No. 4, Atlanta to Savannah, at 4:05 o'clock this morning, while traveling at the rate of 45 mile an hour.

The train was stopped and Conductor C. R. Richards ran back to the fallen man, who was unconscious but investigation showed that he was alive and a physician at Wadley pronounced that no bones were broken. Turner will be out again in about 10 days. He will make no statement as to the motive which prompted him to make the wild leap, but it is supposed that he was temporarily insane or deranged.

His escape from instant death is considered miraculous, but his life was saved by his body falling on a soft spot on the side of the embankment. He was picked up from the ditch.

HOKE SMITH WILL TAKE NO PART IN POLITICS

Atlanta, May 4.—United States Senator Hoke Smith will take no part in the gubernatorial race in Georgia this summer, and will probably make no fight on Hon. John M. Slaton, as some of the senators friends have predicted. The senator himself is authority for this statement. In his recent interview on behalf of Woodrow Wilson, Senator Smith, said: "I wish to state most emphatically my desire to take no part in local politics in Georgia, especially during the coming summer."

In using the term "local politics," Senator Smith is understood to have meant state politics as differentiated from national.

This expressed intention would seem to mean that there will be no factional line-up in the gubernatorial campaign this year, notwithstanding the fact that when Commissioner Hudson flung his hat into the gubernatorial ring, it was stated on what appeared to be reliable authority that he had been assured of Senator Smith's support.

Those responsible for Mr. Hudson's race are prominently identified with what has been known as the Hoke Smith faction, and it was believed at first that Senator Smith himself was one of those who persuaded Mr. Hudson to enter the race.

But Mr. Hudson has denied the general report accrediting him as the "Hoke Smith candidate," though his opponents still insist that it was at the urgent request of Smith that he left the congressional field to become a gubernatorial candidate.

CRAZY TO TRAVEL, BOY KILLS FATHER AND TAKES MONEY

Indianola, Iowa, May 4.—Despairing of saving enough money for a trip around the world from the precarious income of playing a violin at country dances, A. I. Waymon, aged 19, shot and killed his father, robbed the body, hitched up the farm horses and called his sister.

They drove away from the home of death on the first lap of their young journey. When the murder was discovered the next morning, search was made for them and A I (he has no other name except the initials) was arrested at Des Moines while trying to trade his team for an automobile. He gave the name of a Bevington bank where his money was on deposit to the auto dealers and the telephone request for information brought a request for the youth's arrest. A few hours after his arrest he confessed that he killed his father.

John Waymon, the father, was shot as he sat at a table in the kitchen of the farm house reading a newspaper. Mrs. Waymon was away from home in a hospital and the shot was not heard by "Grandma" Waymon, who lived back of the farm house in a cottage. She discovered the crime the next morning. She is very deaf and seriously afflicted with rheumatism and crawled on her hands and knees most of the mile necessary to notify her other son.

Sister Told of Plans.

A I Waymon's ambition to travel has been the controlling motive of his life. He talked of little else and worked for nothing else. His one passion was to save money for his tour and in recent years he has included his sister, Mabel, aged 14, in his plan. She told her school mates the day of the murder that they were to start that evening.

Neighbors have long regarded A I as a dangerous boy. Aside from violin playing his one accomplishment was rifle shooting. Often he induced little boys to accompany him into the woods and would shoot buttons from their clothing as entertainment.

It is believed that he planned the murder of his father early in the week. The evidence as to that is that he traded a shotgun to a neighbor for a "noiseless" 25-caliber rifle He and Mabel had their clothing ready on Friday. That night A I went to his grandmother's cottage as usual, after the chores were done, and told her goodnight. At that time his father was in the kitchen. Four bullets were found in the father's head, two at the base of the skull and two higher. Two holes were found in the window, one in range with Waymon as he sat at the table, the other as he lay on the floor. It is believed that each hole in the window marks the entrance of two bullets.

Mabel did not know of the death of their father until after the arrest. Both were brought to the county jail immediately after following their arrest in Des Moines.
