The day at Swainsboro was great in every way. The students and teachers from all the schools were happy and enthusiastic from first to last. The hospitality of the people of Swainsboro was unbounded. Their homes were open to teachers and contestants for free entertainment; and the dinner—my! how they do feed a fellow Baskets galore were carried on tables a hundred yards long. Barbequed meats and lemonade were furnished in great abundance.

With deep appreciation for the many courtesies of the Swainsboro people and with only pleasant memories of the occasion, we wish to thank heartily all who helped in any way to make our meeting a success.

W. A. MULLOY,
President First District Accredited High School Association.

CARD OF THANKS

To the Editor of the Statesboro News.

Will you please publish for our Brother J. E. Derriso's family our gratitude and thanks to the kind and good people of Statesboro for all of their help and respects that they have so liberally extended to my brother and his family during the time of his severe illness and death. We wish to gratify these dear people and friends by extending to them our heartfelt gratefulness and thankfulness for all their help, which we so much appreciate. We feel that we are under much obligations to them all. True, we are pained to chronicle the death and suffering of our dear one, but we are encouraged to part with, but we are encouraged to believe that the great and good Master has come and called him home with Him, and from his sufferings here, to rest in peace and happiness in the great beyond where we trust that we all may meet again some sweet day. And may the blessed Lord help us all to so meet in the kingdom above. Also we have not forgotten that they helped so liberally at the time of his burial, for which they all yet have our greatest thanks. In respects, etc., S. M. DERRISO, and others of family.

DEATH OF MRS. MOCK

On Thursday morning at the Statesboro Sanitarium, after an illness of about two weeks Mrs. J. C. Mock passed peacefully into the Great Beyond. An infant only a few days old, preceded her the day before. The funeral was held today at DeLoach's church in the lower part of the county, where the interment was made. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dickerson. She had been married before, and was a Mrs. Preeor at the time of her marriage to Mr. Mock.

Mr. and Mrs. Mock have been residents of Statesboro for the past several years and have a large number of friends and relatives who regret to learn of the death of the latter.

SCHOOL CLOSED AT BRADWELL

The closing exercises of the school at Bradwell Academy were held today. There was a large crowd of friends and patrons of the school out to witness the closing exercises. Judge H. B. Strange, of the city court, and Prof. E. C. J. Dickens, of the Agricultural School, were the orators of the day. Hon. P. A. Stovall, of the Savannah Press had accepted an invitation to be present and deliver an address, but was unable to be present. A fine basket dinner was one of the features of the occasion. Prof. St. Clair is the principal of the school, which has been very successful during the term just closed, the enrollment reaching to nearly ninety pupils. Bradwell Academy is located in one of the best neighborhoods in Bulloch county, among a people who are wide-awake to the importance of a good school, and have always maintained one. The present site of the school is about one mile from Port and it is not at all improbable that the school will be moved into town in the near future.

(H. N. McKinney in Leslie's.)

I believe that today there is no product of real merit that cannot in some way be profitably advertised. I have no hesitation in stating my belief that if the United States Steel Corporation had spent a million dollars a year in advertising in newspapers, showing people who have as yet never thought of using them the possibility of the profitable use of many of their products, their sales would have been increased to a point where it would not have been necessary to cut off the dividends on the stock. I believe the day is coming when the great insurance companies will learn that advertising is a science as deep as insurance and that there are possibilities in the use of newspaper advertising of which as yet they have never dreamed.

DUBLIN GOOD ROADS AUTOIST HERE

This afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the Dublin Good Roads Committee, representing the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, arrived in town, accompanied by a strong delegation from Swainsboro, and representatives of the Savannah Morning News, Atlanta Constitution and Macon Telegraph.

The party, traveling in three automobiles, were met by a party of Statesboro citizens in five automobiles, some ten miles out on the Swainsboro road, and conducted into the city.

In the party are: Messrs Frank G. Corker, chairman of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce Good Roads Committee; R. M. Martin, secretary of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce; H. M. Stanley, editor of the Dublin Courier-Dispatch; R. M. Arnan, president of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce; L. W. Tutt, cotton broker, Dublin; H. G. Stephens, treasurer Dublin Chamber of Commerce; Fred Lewis, of the Atlanta Constitution; Emmet Houser, of the Macon Telegraph; E. W. Loky, of the Savannah Morning News. Traveling with the party is also Mr. G. C. Cavell.

The following members of the Swainsboro delegation came with the party: Dr. J. I. Bell; Messrs. W. E. McLeod, H. G. Roberts and George Summers.

The party is registered at the Jaeked for the night. They were given a ride around the city by a number of local citizens.

The party comes for the purpose of blazing the route for the Dublin County Seat Automobile Highway from Atlanta and Macon to Savannah. The party reports very good roads all the way except several small stretches which will be repaired in the near future. They will return via the southern route, through Tattall, Toombs and Montgomery, after which they will select the route.

HON. W. J. BRYAN TO LECTURE HERE

The Great Statesman and Orator Will Appear Before Statesboro Audience Evening June 13th.

A telegram from the Alkehest Lyceum Association to Col. Hinton Booth on yesterday announced that the invitation to Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan to speak here in the school Auditorium on the evening of June 13th, has been accepted. Mr. Bryan had been announced to speak in Claxton on the 13th of midday, and at Sylva next day. Statesboro will be directly en route from his appointment at Claxton going to Sylva.

The matter was taken up with the Lyceum Bureau, under whose auspices he is delivering these lectures. His subject will be "The Prince Peace." An admission fee will be charged to defray expenses.

The news that Mr. Bryan will come here will be hailed with genuine delight by a large number of our people, who had arranged to hear him at either one of the other appointments. We have not learned the exact price of admission, but suppose it will be one dollar for each adult.

W. J. Bryan is the most eloquent platform orator in the world today, and those who miss this opportunity to hear him will miss the chance of a life time. There is no auditorium in any of the large cities, either North or South, that will hold the crowds who flock to hear his eloquence.

It is expected that a large crowd will greet him here.

THE HUNTER CASE.

Atlanta, Ga., May 24.—Friday or possibly Saturday Governor Brown will have another hearing on the J. C. Hunter case from Savannah. Early in this month Governor Brown resented Hunter, who is under sentence of death, to be 30, for thirty days.

Yesterday Solicitor General W. C. Hittredge, of Chatham, came before the governor by special request and presented the state's side of the case. About two weeks ago, Gov. Brown made this request of Solicitor Hittredge, because he wished to have all possible information in this very grave case.

It is understood that the solicitor said that Hunter was either guilty or innocent of the murder of his wife and two other women and that there was no possible middle ground about it. When the Rev. Mr. Wilder and Attorney Oliver of Savannah, appeared before the prison commission and made the pleas which won recommendation for commutation of life imprisonment, the state's side was not represented. Neither was it when the minister and attorney talked with the governor, hence Governor Brown's anxiety to get both sides.

Now Messrs. Wilder and Oliver have requested a further hearing, since Solicitor Hittredge appeared, and in response to their request Governor Brown said he would hear both sides at the same time either Friday or Saturday. All parties at interest will be present then.

Following this hearing Gov. Brown will announce his decision in the case.

Some Knocks for Roosevelt. Mr. Foster's subject was "Unlimited Anglo-American Arbitration." The portion of his address relating to Mr. Roosevelt follows:

"I had concluded the preparation of my address at this point when the fulmination of Theodore Roosevelt appeared in the public press. While I regret its appearance as tending to embarrass the action of the senate, I recall the fact that no man in public life today has shown such an erratic and inconsistent course in relation to the subject of international arbitration. His early public career was marked by a strong hostility to arbitration in general. In a magazine article as late as 1895 he attacked President Harrison for submitting the Bering sea question to arbitration."

"But when he assumed the responsibility of the presidency, it was he who sent the first case to the Hague court of arbitration invited the nations in hostile array against Venezuela to resort to the same court. In the first instance he proposed to settle the Alaskan boundary dispute by sending the American army to occupy and hold the territory by force, but finally yielded to the pacific advice of Secretary Hay, and in 1903 submitted the question to the London commission."

Calls Roosevelt Petulant. "In 1904 he sent a number of arbitration treaties to the senate, and yet, because the body saw fit to insist upon the exercise of its constitutional duty, he denounced this action as a 'sham' and a subterfuge, and in a petulant manner refused to put the treaties into force. But four years later, following the advice of Secretary Root, he sent the same treaties with the senate's amendment to that body and upon its approval put them into operation."

"Notwithstanding his early declaration in opposition to arbitration in general, he has done

NO PARDON FOR MORSE AND WALSH

President Taft Declines to Open Prison Doors to Former Ice King and Aged One-Time Banker.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—President Taft denied the applications for the pardon of Charles W. Morse of New York and John R. Walsh, of Chicago, the two most prominent bankers ever convicted and sent to federal prisons under the national banking laws.

Not only did the President refuse to pardon either Morse or Walsh, but he also declined this time to exercise any other sort of executive clemency in these cases or to shorten the sentence imposed upon the two men by the courts by which they were convicted.

In denying the pardons the President took the firm stand that the national banking laws or any other laws must be upheld when they meet the rich man even more than when they affect the poor.

Moral Turpitude.
The record in the Walsh case, the President said in an opinion, shows moral turpitude of the incidents and dangerous kind, to punish which the national banking laws were especially enacted.

In considering the case of Morse the President said, from a consideration of facts in each case, "I have no doubt that Morse should have received a heavier sentence than Walsh." Indeed, methods taken by Morse tend to show that he more keenly than Walsh did he realize the evil of what he was doing.

In his opinion in the Walsh case the President protested against the failure to discriminate between legitimate business and improper gain.

Must Draw the Line.

"The truth is," said he, "that in the mad rush for wealth in the last few decades the lines between profit from legitimate and improper gain from undue use of trust control over the people's property and money has sometimes been dimmed, and the interest of society requires that whenever opportunity occurs, those charged with the enforcement of the law should emphasize the distinction between honest business and dishonest breaches of trust."

The President's denial of the pardon applications of Morse and Walsh does not mean that they must stay in prison until the end of their terms. Walsh began a sentence of five years in January, 1910, in the Leavenworth penitentiary and under the federal parole law is eligible for parole next September. The President's action tonight having no bearing whatever upon the future application for parole. Morse began his fifteen years' term in the Atlanta penitentiary in January, 1910, also. In denying his application the President granted leave to renew it after January 1, 1913. Under the parole law Morse would be eligible for release in 1915.

Resisted Big Petitions.

Both Morse and Walsh made strong efforts to have the President exercise clemency. He was besieged by friends and attorneys of both men. Mrs. Morse got up a monster petition, which was signed by fifty scores of members of Congress and other prominent persons, and former Senator Hale of Maine did much in her behalf. The pleas of ill-health and reimbursement of all depositors in the Morse and Walsh banks were made in both cases.

Both applications were scanned closely at the Department of Justice by Attorney General Wickham and his assistants and both were read with care by the President himself. His action tonight was in accord with the recommendations of Mr. Wickham.

FIVE SISTERS BURN TO DEATH

Mother's Mistake Fatal. Kansas Woman Poured Gasoline Into Oil Lamp.

Union, Kan., May 21.—Five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Roach, of this place, ranging in ages from 7 to 16 years, were burned to death late last night in a fire which started in the Roach restaurant. The parents were badly burned.

The mother of the young girls filled a lamp with gasoline by mistake preparatory to ascending a stairway leading to a second floor room where her daughters were asleep. She applied a match to the lamp and an explosion followed, sending a burst of flame up the narrow stairway. The woman's dress caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by her husband. He rushed up the burning stairs and caught his youngest daughter, 5 years old, in his arms. Calling to the other girls to follow him, he ran to a rear window and jumped to the ground, the little girl safe in his arms.

For some reason the others failed to follow him and in a few minutes the bedroom in which the girls were sleeping was a seething mass of flames. Later their bodies were recovered.

A schoolboy's composition on Patrick Henry contained the following gem: "Patrick was not a very bright boy. He had blue eyes and light hair. He got married and then said, 'Give me liberty or give me death.'"

A DOG AT SIXTY DOLLARS AN OUNCE

The Smallest Pomeranian that Ever Sold in the Biggest Boat.

Brownie, the tiniest and finest Pomeranian that ever sailed on the Mauretania, arrived in New York with a slight touch of grip contracted, his master said, through too much hugging by the women passengers on the big liner, says the New York American.

Although Brownie is but eight weeks old, eight inches in length and weighs but eight ounces, George F. Goeghegan, who brought him from North Scotland, refused an offer of four hundred and eighty dollars for him.

That was the sum a passenger on the Mauretania said he would pay for Brownie, and he made his bid at the rate of sixty dollars an ounce, or sixty dollars for every week the little dog has lived. Mr. Goeghegan said that he could not sell Brownie at any price, as his little daughter, Edna, would be at the plea to meet him, and he had brought the puppy as a present for her.

Resisted Big Petitions.

Both Morse and Walsh made strong efforts to have the President exercise clemency. He was besieged by friends and attorneys of both men. Mrs. Morse got up a monster petition, which was signed by fifty scores of members of Congress and other prominent persons, and former Senator Hale of Maine did much in her behalf. The pleas of ill-health and reimbursement of all depositors in the Morse and Walsh banks were made in both cases.

Both applications were scanned closely at the Department of Justice by Attorney General Wickham and his assistants and both were read with care by the President himself. His action tonight was in accord with the recommendations of Mr. Wickham.

BLOODY DUEL ON PASSENGER TRAIN

Conductor Badly Wounded, But Mortally Wounds A. M. Thompson in Ga. R. R. Coach.

Augusta, May 21.—Capt. C. D. Bailey, conductor on passenger train No. 27 on the Georgia Railroad, which leaves Augusta at 3:20 p. m., eastern time, running between Augusta and Atlanta, was shot on his train half-mile this side of Mesina, and in turn shot his assailant, A. J. Thompson, a well known white farmer of Warren county.

Capt. Bailey was painfully but not seriously wounded, the bullet entering his leg between his hip and knee, and it is believed that A. J. Thompson, his assailant, was fatally wounded.

The shooting arose over the refusal of Capt. Bailey to stop the train at Mesina, a flag station four miles this side of Canak, and an argument resulted. When asked to stop Capt. Bailey stated he could not make a stop without orders and Thompson drew a gun, saying:

"You will stop this train at the muzzle of my revolver."

Capt. Bailey knocked Thompson's hand down, throwing the muzzle of the gun from his breast as Thompson fired, the bullet entering Capt. Bailey's leg. Thompson then turned to run and Capt. Bailey, who had drawn his pistol in the scuffle, fired and shot Thompson between his shoulders, the bullet penetrating his right lung.

Thompson was turned over to the county authorities at Canak, and Capt. Bailey was taken to the hotel.

TO UNKNOWN DEAD IN REVOLUTION SEA FIGHT

New York, May 21.—Hundreds of bouquets of flowers are drifting out with the tide, down the harbor and to the ocean tonight, a tribute to the unknown dead among the sailors and marines who lost their lives in naval battles of the American Revolution. Five thousand or more persons in solemn memorial service consigned the flowers to the waters of the Hudson today, while a detachment of coast artillery, Sons of Veterans of the Revolution, fired a salute over the river.

SOCIETY GIRL IS FOUND DEAD, FLOATING IN RIVER.

Blanche Willoughby Brooded Over Fiance's Illness.

Nashua, N. H., May 21.—Uncertainty as to the fate of Miss Blanche Willoughby, a talented young woman prominent in the social affairs of the city, whose coat, hat and gloves were found on the banks of the Merrimack river last Monday, ended today with the finding of her body floating in the stream.

Miss Willoughby is said to have brooded over the illness of her fiance, Capt. Harrison D. Swain, U. S. M. C., retired, of Nashua, who had made preparations to go West for his health, and also over the fear that she herself had contracted tuberculosis.

"She seems to be a thrifty, economical housewife."

"Hub! You don't know how thrifty she is. She's found that if you soak asparagus in cold water for an hour or two it'll take up the water the same as oysters do—and it's all asparagus too."—Chicago Tribune.

SENATE FAILS TO VOTE ON POPULAR ELECTION.

John Sharp Williams Takes Slip at Senator's Feet.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—With a warning from Senator Root against experimenting with the constitution and a caution from Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, that the South could not support federal supervision of senatorial elections, though favorable to direct popular vote, the Senate spent two hours without action discussing the House resolution for electing United States senators by direct popular vote.

Mr. Root opposed the entire proposition to amend the constitution as to senatorial elections, his special objection being to depriving Congress of the supervision of senatorial elections. He thought popular elections of senators would result in the Senate's deterioration.

Mr. Williams said that Mr. Root, not only "distinguished but notorious" for his ingenuity, had not covered up the motives in retaining supervision of the senatorial elections. With the elections transferred to the polls, said Mr. Williams, and federal supervision retained, there would be exercise of federal control when a senator is to be elected and he expressed surprise that Mr. Bristow, the insurgent Republican senator, should push his Southern allies into this unattractive position.

"Can no form of administration be adopted without demanding from the South some sacrifice?" asked Mr. Williams, feelingly.

Mr. Bristow explained that his substitute measure would only transfer from the state Legislature to the people the duty of electing senators, and promised to vote for the House resolution if his substitute failed.

Mr. Sutherland said that federal supervision would have been provided for senatorial elections, if in the beginning they had been of popular character.

Mr. Hayner said that federal supervision was meant to be exercised only in case of the failure of a state to act. Mr. Heyburn remarked there had been various such failures during the time of the Civil War.

"Of what earthly use was that part of the constitution during the Civil War?" asked Mr. Borah.

"Of what earthly use was the constitution or any part of it, during the Civil War?" asked Mr. Nelson.

There was a general discussion of the motives of the constitution convention in giving federal supervision.

RAIN WORTH $50,000 TO FARMERS OF WHITEFIELD.

End of Long Drouth Brought Cotton and Corn Up From Ground Over.

Dalton, Ga., May 23.—The rain which has fallen here since Saturday has been worth fully $50,000 to the farmers of this county," remarked a prominent farmer here, his remarks being sanctioned by a number of others here.

"On account of the long drouth, some corn had been planted and that which had been planted was doing little good; but it was far better than the cotton which had been put in the ground, for the cotton was not coming up at all. The change over night from Saturday was wonderful, for the cotton plants had sprung up all down the rows. With timely seasons now for the rest of the year the farmers will produce the largest crops in the history of the county," he concluded.

Saturday morning the heavy rains came, breaking a drouth of several weeks' duration which had played havoc with the farmers. Many who had been planting corn were forced to abandon it on account of the long dry spell.

As has been the practice with the farmers in this section for years, corn and cotton make up the bulk of the crops planted, with the corn acreage considerably increased and the cotton acreage cut down.

The Farm as a Home.
From the crowded, noisy streets, redolent of soot and dirt, to the pure, fresh air of the countryside. How surpassingly sweet is quiet, peaceful contemplation of the manifold beauties with which Nature has endowed the open country! More and more, people of the cities and towns are heeding the clarion call of the farm. From every profession, from every walk in life, people are getting back to Nature, and for the progressive man, the energetic, alert, wide-awake man, she is a storehouse of boundless opportunities. For there is a living to be made on the farm—a good living—for any man that will work—that's the word—and hustle! We say hustle, for 'tis a false notion that farming is a dull, monotonous pastime—it's a call of work one-half the time and of leisure the other half, if one would succeed fully.

And work on the farm is by itself a very great pleasure—to look for the first green shoots peeping out of the ground in the spring-time, to watch with pleasure and pride the growing plants and, finally, to reap a rich reward in the shape of bountiful harvests, is all very attractive to the man with the hoe. To my mind, no earthly pleasure equals the joy of cultivating and watching from day to day the growth and progress of a fine crop of cotton, we'll say—or oats, or corn, or wheat, or potatoes.

Contrast the pure, sweet air of the country with the germ-laden city atmosphere; the pleasant groves, the fruitful orchards, the verdant meadows of the peaceful countryside with the grime and soot and noise of the city street. Which presents the most attractive aspect—which life the more desirable? Some have said that the country is "too lonesome," but we will endeavor to show where this argument falls flat.

In the first place, in most country districts are to be found churches and schools, those life neighbors with whom to exchange visits, telephons over which to carry on social converse or to transact business—in short there is just enough so-called "society" in the country—just enough, not too much, to serve as a diversion, for instance, while we believe that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, we know that all play and no work renders him a very "undesirable citizen."

No indeed, life on the farm is anything but dull—on the contrary for a good part of the time it is strenuous to a superlative degree—for instance, about the time the grass gets to growing and everything needs working at one and the same time.

It is something to be able to raise all the nice, fresh vegetables one can consume and all the nice, wholesome fruit one could wish for, to say nothing of your own meat and lard, chickens and eggs, etc.

In short, we maintain that the farm has many advantages over the city. Country life is the healthier and the country is by far the best place to live if we would bring up our children vigorous of body and pure of mind, for it is free of contagion as it is temptation. As a proof of this assertion we might mention the fact that the greatest and grandest figures in our nation's history were reared in the pure and wholesome atmosphere of a country home.

THE SPRING CHICKEN GOT IN ITS WORK.

If you want to reach the average Georgian approach him through his stomach. When the Savannah Aviator told the Savannah Automobile Club they were going to have "spring chicken" if they would come their way, the manner those fellows smiled showed the others present that the jig was up.

Seven-and-Eighths didn't have any roads, in fact they admitted this, but they played heavy on the string that promised "em 'spring chicken." The run was made, the holes were dodged, the stumps were straddled, the sand beds were plowed through, but a shower of roses down the line told them of "the better further on," and that was known to be a shower of "spring chicken." At Savannah the tired motorists were winded and dined, and many a housewife perhaps by this time wonders why she parted with those springers; she probably asks herself why she did it.

But there are few things in this world that will toll a fellow further than "spring chicken." There are a few, but not many. We have seen ever since the Savannah boys ate the "spring chicken" that their hearts yearned for more of it.

land until he had tied up 250,000 acres on the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania, with a track frontage of fifteen miles. He tried to persuade his own company to try boring for oil, but they wouldn't hear of it. He finally did get somebody to make a trial. The result was that a very high grade of lubricating oil was found.

Lately he has sublet 100,000 acres of his holdings to a British concern at a big figure and has disposed of another 100,000 more to smaller parties. He has presented 10,000 acres of the land to the gas company in whose employ he has been and has at least laid the foundation of a fortune. And this without developing a foot of the land himself.

TOO LONG, ANYHOW.

An Irishman came into a barber shop and the unsteady gait with which he approached the chair showed that he had been imbibing of the produce of the still, says the Argonaut. He wanted his hair cut, and while the barber was getting him ready went off into a sleep. His head kept bobbing from one side to the other, and at length the barber in making a slip out of the lower part of his ear. The barber jumped about and howled and a crowd of neighbors rushed in. Finally the demonstration became so great that it began to attract the attention of the man in the chair and he opened his eyes and said: "Wh-wh-what's the matter wid yez?" "Good Lord!" said the barber, "I've cut off the whole lower part of your ear." "Have ye Ah, thin, go on wid yer business—it was too long, anyhow."

THE THREE OPINIONS.

An Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scotsman were represented as looking through a confectioner's window at a beautiful young woman serving in the shop, says the Argonaut.

"Oh," exclaims Patrick, "do let us be after spending half a crown with the dear creature that we may look at her more conveniently and have a bit of a chat with her."

"You extravagant dog," says George, "I am sure one-half of it would do just as well. But let us go in by all means. She is a charming girl."

"Ah, wait a wee," interposed Andrew. "Dinna ye ken it'll serve our purpose just as well to ask the bonnie lassie to give us two sixpences for a shilling and inquire where Mr. Thompson's house is and sic like? We're no hungry, and may as well save the silver."

AGED MEXICAN FORCED TO QUIT BY THE REBELS

Mexico City, May 24.—President Porfirio Diaz is dead! Long live citizen Porfirio!

President Diaz, in a letter read by the president of the chamber of deputies this afternoon, resigned the presidency of the republic of Mexico and at exactly 4:54 o'clock the acceptance of the renunciation by the deputies was announced.

Everyone had expected an uproar and demonstration when the announcement should be made, but within the chamber the words of the president announcing the event were followed by a dead silence. The deputies seemed awed by what had taken place.

In the streets, however, black with people, every street leading to the hall was blocked and news that Diaz was at last no more the president was the signal for the wildest shouting and manifestations. There was no violence nor destruction of property.

The motion was offered to accept the president's resignation. One hundred and sixty-seven deputies voted aye, while two of them did not express themselves. They were Benito Juarez, a descendant of President Juarez, and Concepcion Del Valle. As their names were called the legislators arose and bowed their affirmation.

In similar fashion the resignation of Vice President Ramon Carral, now in France, was unanimously accepted, and similarly Francisco Leon De La Barra, late ambassador to Washington, was chosen provisional president. The latter will take the oath of office at noon tomorrow in the yellow parlor of the national palace.

Of scarcely less interest to the popular mind was the practical assumption of military control of the federal district by Alfredo Robles Dominguez, Madero's personal representative.

Personally, Dominguez commands only a small body of local rebels, but the federal garrison is under orders to make no move whatsoever without securing his approval. Senator Dominguez stated that he could bring 5,000 organized rebel troops into the city within three hours. Their baggage and horses are aboard trains furnished by the government at Cuernavaca, Pachuca and Tlalampantla. He stated that they will remain at their present stations unless they should be needed in this city to control the situation.

Arrangements are being perfected to pull off a very large time at the closing exercises at the First District Agricultural School on Tuesday. Gov. Elect Hoke Smith will be the orator of the day. Gov. Smith will arrive in an automobile from Millen about eight o'clock. Mr. J. G. Blitch has kindly consented to drive over to Millen and meet Gov. Smith in his automobile and bring him in. The Governor will get off the night train from Atlanta at that point and await the coming of Mr. Blitch.

A committee composed of C. E. Lee Moore and Hinton Booth has made a canvass of the city this morning and arranged for a fine spread to be made at the school at noon. Funds were also subscribed for plenty of ice cold lemonade, which, of course, will be served free to all who come. Ice water will be the music for the occasion, and the several barrels will also be on hand. The school boarding department have contributed two hogs and two head of cattle to be cooked and have brought a large lot of loaf bread, also several boxes of lemonade in addition to what the folks of the town will do. In addition to this the school has a large lot of vegetables growing on the place that will go to waste after the pupils leave, a large lot of these will be cooked and served. The friends and patrons of the school in the county are also invited to come and bring baskets. A very large crowd is expected and buthoo county people are not given to allowing folks to go off hungry.

A local orchestra which will be practicing for some time will furnish the music for the occasion, an invitation having been extended to them. These young people give some very fine music which will add greatly to the occasion.

The school management extends a hearty and cordial welcome to all who will come and look and hear for themselves what this institution has been doing.

Let us all come together and make this a red letter day. Let everyone who can command an assured that they will be taken care of.

Don't forget the day, next Tuesday, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Don't stay away because it's warm there will be plenty of lemonade and ice water to keep cool.

And there will be plenty to eat and some fine speaking and some fine music. Don't fail to come.

BLOOD FLOWS IN MEXICO CITY

While Diaz is Bed-Ridden Soldiers and Police Send Hail of Bullets into Mob Shouting for Madero.

Mexico City, May 24.—Enraged by the announcement that President Diaz and Vice President Carral would not resign before tomorrow, spectators in the gallery of the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon precipitated a riot that has resulted in numbers being shot down by the police and troops.

The troops which did the shooting reinforced the police later. The shouts of the mob crying "viva Madero," and "death to Diaz," could plainly be heard by the ambassador, although they did not penetrate so far as the President's bed-chamber, save when some careless servant allowed the door to remain open for a moment. The ambassador's motor car moved with difficulty. During its progress at different times griny hands were thrust inside and the diplomat was saluted with "viva El Embajador" (live the ambassador).

A mainstay which began late tonight caused the dispersal of most of the mob. At midnight, however, a remnant continued the demonstration, carefully watched by the police and soldiers, who followed them everywhere.

Nothing like accuracy is to be obtained tonight, with reference to the number of dead. Estimates run from seven to eighteen, including three policemen said to have been beaten to death by the mob.

HE TALKS CHINK TO DEFENSELESS HOUSE.
One Speech That Will Be Part of Aerial in Record.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—Real Chinese was sung to the House of Representatives this afternoon, but it will not appear in the Daily Congressional Record. Representative Stephens of California, told the House a story of a Chinaman brought into a police court of Los Angeles.

"He was asked when he last saw the dog," said Mr. Stephens, "but the question was put through the interpreter, who turned to the Chinaman and said: (Here followed Chinese dialect that sent the House into roar of laughter.)

"Those words ought to be taken down," said Representative Olmstead, as the official stenographer sat with his writing arm paralyzed.

"The Chinaman replied," began Mr. Stephens again and another long jargon of Chinese rolled out on the defenseless House.

"What did he actually say?" called a Democratic member.

"Three o'clock," said Mr. Stephens.

The official record tomorrow will state that "Mr. Stephens here gave a Chinese sentence occupying one minute."

not chairs enough in the palace for them, and they stood on the stairways, in the parlors and lined the corridors.

Cry "Death to Diaz."
Almost at the moment of the demonstration the American ambassador, Henry Lane Wilson, drove up in his limousine and entered the palace. His visit was for the purpose of paying his respects to the President. He chartered for some time with Madame Diaz, the latter expressed her regrets that the President was too sick to receive any visitors. When the ambassador emerged he found troops lined up in front of the palace and mounted police at either end of the block.

The troops which did the shooting reinforced the police later. The shouts of the mob crying "viva Madero," and "death to Diaz," could plainly be heard by the ambassador, although they did not penetrate so far as the President's bed-chamber, save when some careless servant allowed the door to remain open for a moment. The ambassador's motor car moved with difficulty. During its progress at different times griny hands were thrust inside and the diplomat was saluted with "viva El Embajador" (live the ambassador).

A mainstay which began late tonight caused the dispersal of most of the mob. At midnight, however, a remnant continued the demonstration, carefully watched by the police and soldiers, who followed them everywhere.

Nothing like accuracy is to be obtained tonight, with reference to the number of dead. Estimates run from seven to eighteen, including three policemen said to have been beaten to death by the mob.

FEMININE ENDORSEMENT.

She advanced to the paying teller's window, and handing in a check for $50, stated that it was a birthday present from her husband and asked for payment, says the Southwest. The teller informed her that she must first endorse it.

"I don't know what you mean," she said hesitatingly.

"Why, you see," he explained, "you write your name on the back, so that when we return the check to your husband, he will know we have paid you the money."

"Oh, is that all?" she said, relieved. One minute elapsed.

Thus the "endorsement": "Many thanks, dear. I've got the money. Your loving wife, Evelyn."

KILLS HIS BRIDE.
St. Louis, May 23.—Alois Eisenbarth, 78 years old, killed his bride of a month with a hatchet and pitchfork here today and also seriously injured his sister-in-law. Neighbors tried in vain to save the woman. Eisenbarth accused his wife, 30 years old, of trying to get his property.

THE ELLIS REUNION.
It was the pleasure of the scribe to be present at a birthday occasion tendered Mr. Joshua Ellis, of near Metter, Ga., last Sunday, May 21st, 1911.

The occasion was a complete surprise to Mr. Ellis, he and two of his daughters had gone to church and while he was away at church, his children, who live at different points came on the train and hastily gathered to the home. When he returned from church and walked in his parlor, there to his surprise were all of his children and grand children, except one, and his daughters-in-law and sons-in-law. He was again surprised by such a summons "repart" which they spread. He, having thought all was over, to his surprise they presented to him a nice surry, in which he can comfortably travel.

There were 38 of his kinsmen present. There was Mr. and Mrs. John Giddens and children of Swainsboro, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright, of Metter, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellis, of Pulaski, and little girl, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Ellis and children, of Halcyondale, Ga., Mrs. W. H. Ellis and children, of Statesboro, Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis, of Metter, Mrs. Lizzie Emmett of Statesboro, Ga., Miss Ruth and Dell Ellis, and his wife, Mrs. Mattie Ellis.

The occasion was indeed a pleasant one which marks the 69 mile post of Mr. Ellis' age.

We parted from him wishing that we might be permitted to again enjoy such an occasion.

We wish for him many more years of this earth, and when the hours grow dark and the evening sun is fading its last rays of light he can look back on many years of usefulness.

TAFT IN MONKEY HOUSE.

Just As a Boy Again He Visits Bronx Zoo.

New York, May 23.—President Taft was whisked back into boyland today. He motored out to the Bronx Zoo, inspected more than half the animals, shook hands with the monkeys, fed the elephants and the two-horned rhinoceros and watched the keepers feed the biggest python in captivity.

He was happy as a youngster and his interest never flagged till the last cage had been inspected. John L. Cadwalder, attorney for the Bronx Zoological Society, suggested today's trip and the president at once accepted the invitation.

Senator Bacon of Georgia, Maj. Butt, Henry W. Taft, Attorney General Wickensham and John Hayes Hammond made up the party. They went first to the administration building, where the President gazed long at the head of a white rhinoceros that Col. Roosevelt shot in Africa. The President smiled broadly when he saw that two monster elephants took on the wall were smuggled into the country.

Next the President went to the monkey house. He was especially interested in "Susie" and "Baldy," two particular pets. After the President had watched their antics for several minutes, a keeper opened the door and Susie and Baldy were presented in du-fusion to President William H. Taft.

"Hello, Baldy," said the President as the monkey reached out his hairy paw. "I am glad to meet you."

Baldy acknowledged the honor of being the first monkey to meet a President, with a respectful nod of his head.

After the monkeys the President wanted to see the lioness "Buffalo Bill" Jones issued in Africa. The President knows "Buffalo," but thought more highly than ever of his prowess after a keeper had jabbed the lioness with a stick and heard her roar. It was with the elephants, however, that the President felt really at home. Keeper Palmer bought a bag of sugar, and the President stood close up to the cage and allowed the elephants to eat out of his hand.

Then the President was taken to see the reptiles. Head Keeper Snyder showed him the python that eats a whole pig at one bite; stirred up the rattlesnakes until they buzzed in anger, and threw two white mice into the mongoose's cage to show how that animal kills its prey.

"I'd like to spend a whole day here," said the President, as he stepped into his automobile. "I would like to see every animal in the park."

From the Zoo the President was driven back to the home of Mr. Caldwell, where tonight he was the guest of honor at an informal dinner. Among the other guests were Henry W. Taft, Attorney General Wickensham, Secretary Hill and Maj. Butt and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie.

SECRET PRICES FOR WHITE PRINT PAPER.
Alleged That Mills Will Not Have Public Quotation, and Sell Abroad Cheaper Than at Home.

Washington, May 23.—Charges that the American newspaper are compelled to pay higher prices than necessary for their news print paper because the International Paper Company is in practical control of the industry in this country, were made today at the Canadian reciprocity bill hearing before the finance committee by John Norris representing the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

In an effort to prevent this secret fixing of prices, Mr. Norris said he had made efforts to buy paper and to pay cash for it, but only two mills out of fifty in this country had sold to him.

The reason for the refusal, he claimed, was that the paper makers did not want a public quotation of their prices as they would have sold the paper at auction, thus making the prices public.

"The paper makers of this country," Mr. Norris said, "have preferred to keep their mills idle and their labor unemployed, and to allow Canada to sell paper here to the advantage of Canadian labor and the disadvantage of their own labor, rather than sell paper at the mill."

Mr. Norris accused the International Paper Company of selling paper abroad cheaper than here, with having "launched into a gigantic wood land speculation," with having an inflated capitalization of at least $40,000,000 and with keeping down production by maintaining a capacity of only 35 per cent of modern equipment.

"Yet the International Paper Company," he added, "is asking congress to put a premium upon the antiquity of plants in mills that were verging on bankruptcy years ago."

is universally conceded to be a good habit, and a good habit has been defined by someone as

"Yesterday's Achievements Taking the Sting from Today's Toil."

This definition states the exact truth, based upon the experience of thousands of depositors throughout the world.

While you are forming this exceptionally good habit, you are accumulating a fund for future use. Life is worth living when you have money in bank—it gets monotonous when you are broke.

STRAIGHT POLITICAL FROM C. S. BARRETT

Union City, Ga., May 22.—"To the Officers and Members of the Farmers' Union: I conscientiously believe I am in a good position to advise the American farmer as 19-20ths of the men addressing him in any capacity today—and that for the sole reason that I have no political aspirations and never expect to harbor any."

"No man ever gets into politics directly. His 'friends' always drag him in, to hear him tell it, by the hair of the head. But none of my 'friends,' with or without the quotation marks, will get me within looking distance of a political office."

"That is why I feel free to tell you the truth about yourself—no abuse you, if that is necessary for your soul's welfare and the progress of your family."

"Farmers aren't used to being abused by politicians, or public men—except when the same farmer swats one or the other out of office."

"Nobody so bland as the man out for votes. He may be shrewd enough to see where a word of blunt truth telling would help the farmer more than a ton of flattery—but he generally hasn't the spine. He just lays on sugar, rips the fellow from the farmer's diskles up the back, handshakes the farmer and ambles the farter into office."

"I've heard some of them express their true sentiments about you when you licked them, however. And they weren't complimentary. They sometimes licked up the word 'd—n' with 'fool.'"

"Therefore, the farmer stands sorest in need of any creature on earth of having the truth told him—the truth told about himself, about his business, his own leaders, politics and politicians. His need in this direction is one of the most pathetic things in our day."

"The politicians have too long played with his passions, used him as a cat's paw and left him worse off than they found him. The time is here for a few homely truths. I haven't spared them heretofore, and I'm not going to now."

"In fact, I'm going to speak more and more plainly as I get older. And if more agricultural leaders would do the same, the so-called 'redemption' of the rural districts would come with a rush. For while the farmer doesn't relish being told the truth at first, he soon cultivates a taste for it—it's so unusual you know. After a while he suddenly finds himself suddenly able to discriminate between the old hypocorites who would lie himself into office and the honest man. Then he looks back to the man who has kept his record clean, and that man stands out in his memory as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

"Just now I want to emphasize the value to the farmer, the indispensability rather, of scientific distribution of products."

"A great many people are, with honest motive, striving to help the farmer produce more goods at less cost and labor. They really want to help him. And then, there are a few who are urging him on to production that prices may drop and everybody get a lift—except the farmer."

"I read in a current magazine recently of some truck raisers in Vermont, who thought they were not getting enough for their production. So they began inclosing little notes sewed up securely in each dressed turkey which read something like this: 'Mr. consumer, I got so much a pound for this turkey. Please write me what you paid.'"

"Mrs. Wilson had been in bad health since January, but her condition had at no time been considered serious, although medical attention had been deemed necessary. The shock of the death of sister, Mrs. J. C. Mock of Statesboro, appeared to have reacted on her weakened condition and caused a relapse. She returned from the funeral Monday in much worse health."

"Mrs. Wilson seemed much improved, Tuesday, and went about her household duties as usual, cooking breakfast and attending to the many little things that come up for a housewife to do. Her 5-year-old son, who was standing at the window called to her to come to the window quick."

"Not knowing what he wanted

TWO PALATKA WOMEN DROWN

Palatka, Fla., May 22.—Mrs. William Shields and Mrs. John D. Cannon, members of prominent families here, were drowned while bathing in the surf South Beach today. The ladies were among the large crowd going to the beach to-day on the Red men's annual excursion.

Mrs. Shields was the daughter of Charles Rifenberg, of Palatka Heights and her husband is a well known employe of the Wilson Cypress Company. Mrs. Cannon was the wife of John D. Cannon, who is associated with his brother in the meat business here. She leaves a little girl 3 years of age.

A long distance message states that the bodies were recovered immediately and that a sister of Mrs. Shields came near losing her life in an effort to save her sister. The bodies were brought to Palatka on the excursion train to-night.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No. Never. It's foolish to fear a fanciful evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause fever, chills and fevers, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lenoira, N. C. "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy. Only 50c. at W. H. Ellis Co.

SEA ISLANDERS IN CONFERENCE

Seeking Better Market. They Will Combine With Farmers Union.

Charleston, S. C., May 23.—One of the most important agricultural meetings ever held in this section of the South was that of the South Carolina planters of Sea Island or long staple cotton, over 100 of whom gathered here for a session which lasted nearly six hours. The meeting came as the result of the long staple cotton planters' decision that some action would have to be taken to secure steady and reasonable market price for this staple.

It was decided at the meeting to commence the campaign for a better marketing condition by combining with the National Farmers' Union and attempting to have that body co-operate with the planters in marketing their crop at a profit. President C. S. Barrett of the union who was present, assured the planters of the co-operation of the national body. It is also possible that the Sea Island planters may adopt the Mississippi warehouse system as a method for selling their product directly.

Several addresses were made among the speakers being President Barrett, B. A. N. Wilson of Mississippi, one of the prime movers in the warehouse system and J. W. Reed, secretary of the South Carolina branch of the Farmers' Union.

LONGEST FLIGHT MADE BY A BIRD.

Golden Plover Travels 2,600 Miles Without Pause or Rest.

Such elliptical migration routes as that mentioned above are rare among land birds, but are used, and on a far larger scale by many water birds, notable among which is the golden plover, says a writer in the National Geographic Magazine. This species nests along the Arctic coast of North America, and as soon as the young are old enough to care for themselves fall migration is begun by a trip to the Labrador coast, where the plover fattens for several weeks on the abundant native fish. A short trip across the Gulf of St. Lawrence brings it to Nova Scotia, the starting point for its extraordinary ocean flight, due south to the coast of South America.

The golden plover takes a straight course across the ocean and if the weather is propitious makes the whole 2,400 miles without pause or rest. But if tempests arise, it may be blown out of its course to the New England coast and start anew on the advent of fair weather; or it may rest for a few days at the Bermuda, one-third of the way along its course, or at the nearest of the Lesser Antilles, still 600 miles from the mainland of South America. These, however, are emergency stop-overs, to be resorted to only in case of storms. Having accomplished its ocean voyage, it passes across eastern South America to its winter home in Argentina.

After a six months' vacation here the plover finds its way back to the Arctic by an entirely different route. It travels across Northwestern South America and the Gulf of Mexico, reaching the United States along the coasts of Louisiana and Texas. Thence it moves slowly up the Mississippi valley and by early June is again at the nesting site on the Arctic coast. Its round trip has taken the form of an enormous ellipse, with a minor axis of 2,000 miles and a major axis stretching 8,000 miles from Arctic America to Argentina.

In the Wake of the Measles.

The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, whooping cough, measles, cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

MAY HEAT BREAKS FORTY YEAR RECORD.

Hot Wave to Ebb, Says Weather Bureau, After Highest Known in Years for May.

Washington, May 23.—Spurred by a welcome breeze that made the temperature at Philadelphia drop from 94 to 58 today, the weather bureau tonight predicted that the hot wave was about to temporarily drop out of the limelight. From Philadelphia northward, through New York and New England it was much cooler. It is cooler in the lake region and the northwest and in other sections, but Washington carried off first honors in the East with 95 as the day's official record. Philadelphia and Scranton trailing closely with 94 and Baltimore with 90. Down in Arizona both Yuma and Phoenix recorded 98. An easterly wind is expected to lower the temperature in this section of the country tomorrow. In this city, both houses of congress sweltered today. The records for both intensity and the duration of the heat period, especially in the Mississippi valley eastward, probably have not been exceeded in May during the past 40 years.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly sorrow" writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city "of indigestion, headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble."

"My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

"If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui."

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

"What are you looking for?" I said.

"I'm looking," said Tarkington, "for that chap who wouldn't let us in. I want to give him a quarter."

"The performance wasn't up to much. Tarkington fidgeted in his chair and at the end of the first act he suggested that we go. On our way out I saw my illustrious friend peering anxiously at the lobby."

"What are you looking for?" I said.

"I'm looking," said Tarkington, "for that chap who wouldn't let us in. I want to give him a quarter."

THE LIMOUSINE.

(The Somerville Journal). Life doesn't seem the same to us. Since father bought a limousine. Our thoughts, our dreams, our talk—yes, all—Are flavored now with gasoline. We realize what we in years of limousineless life have lost. What joy to see the neighbors stare And know they're wondering what it cost!

On cushioned air we glide along—The tires haven't busted yet—With not a single thing to show How deely father is in debt. We look as rich as Carnegie. And ma's especially elate. Although, of course, she had to sign The mortgage on pa's real estate.

We go out riding every day. And you can bet we eat a dash. Although we must admit we are Extremely short of ready cash. What though the sordid tradesmen wear A look that's not at all serene? Our life is so much broader now. Since father bought a limousine.

OF COURSE, There is nothing too good for your EYES :: ::

Between old-fashioned spectacle-fitting and optical service there is a very wide difference, and this difference counts preservation of sight. Failing or imperfect vision may be due to any of a large number of causes. These causes can be determined only by very delicate, scientific tests, and each eye being tested separately according to correction needed. I provide modern optical service. I learn just what the trouble is and correct it, having lenses specially ground when necessary. My charges for fitting glasses are reasonable. Call and see my up-to-date optical parlor.
