Penned for Husbands Only

When you bring your wife home a box of candy always eat it up yourself. It will make her glad to see you enjoying yourself.

Don't ever listen to anything your wife is telling you. You might make her think she is your equal.

Always come into the house with a smile on your face. It will make your wife wonder in whose company you have been.

Never talk to your wife at the breakfast table. If you say nothing you can never be accused of saying sarcastic things.

Never commend the coffee. Your wife will be sure to imagine that she can try a cheaper grade and save some of her housekeeping money.

Let the children use all the slang they want to. By doing this you will pick up some forceful new expression yourself.

If you are going to be late for dinner, never take the time to telephone. The servant may quit but your wife won't.

Give your wife a regular allowance, but borrow the most of it back during the week. This will teach her economy and an economical wife is a husband's blessing.

Don't bother to lift your hat to your wife when you meet her in the street. Too much attention makes a woman vain.

Never let your wife know when you are going to bring a friend home to dinner. The little surprises are the spices of life.

Never fail to remind your wife on her birthday how young and slender she looked the first time you saw her. Loving memories are honey to women's hungry hearts.

When your wife is telling a story to your guests, always be sure to interrupt her and finish it yourself. A true woman always appreciates a husband's aid.

Never go to church with your wife on Sunday morning. The offense you go the offense she will expect you to, and you might get the habit.

If your wife says she has a headache, just laugh at her. There is nothing like laughter to lighten life's burdens.

Always believe everything your wife tells you, and by and by she may begin to believe some of the things you tell her.

Never explain where you have been when you have been out late at night. If you do it once you'll have to do it always.

Don't ever take the trouble to be courteous to your wife's women friends. The ruder you are to them the more they will sympathize with her, and all women love sympathy.

Never forget to remove your collar as soon as you get home. An untidy husband excellently chastens an impatient wife.—Selected.

SMITH REMOVES HITCH'S MILITARY "SENTENCE"

Capt R. M. Hitch, Involved
for Statesboro Riots, Relieved of Disabilities

Governor Smith Saturday morning signed an order removing all military disabilities resting upon Capt. Robert M. Hitch, of Savannah, who was court-martialed, as a result of the famous Statesboro riots of 1904. Captain Hitch is a brother of Executive Secretary Calvin M. Hitch, and is one of the best known and most successful lawyers of Chatham county.

The disabilities resting against Captain Hitch barred him from holding office or serving in the national guard of Georgia, and were placed upon him by order of Gov. J. M. Terrell during his administration.

Captain Hitch, First Lieut. Georgia A. First Georgia infantry, at Statesboro on August 15 and 16, 1904. The troops had been ordered from Savannah to Statesboro to protect Cato and Reed, negroes, who had murdered a family of prominent Bulloch county people.

After the negroes had been tried, convicted and sentenced to hang, a mob of infuriated citizens stormed the court house, overpowering the military, took the negroes and hanged them.

The finding of the court-martial

SOMEBODY SWIPED HER GOOD CLOTHES.

When a man is caught in this fix it is sad, but when one of the dark town swells loses her glad rags it is pitiful, so this is a pitiful tale and is almost heart breaking to hear Lula Crawford tell of some one taking advantage of her absence as she was away during her faithful work on the Field's dairy wagon, without her consent taking all her good Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes, well such is the case, Lula was out on her regular rounds Saturday and upon returning to her beautiful little cottage that rests among the shanties at Field's farm was suddenly thrown into a panic when it was learned that some one had robbed all the darkies of their belongings, the intruder took particular pains to get the best in stock, so therefore the dark town population was not so well represented at church Sunday.

At this late hour no trace has been found of the robber or either of the clothes so Lula is still in deep mourning for the loss of her Mary Jane, Hobbie Skirt and almost broke into a cry when she said my Harem skirt is also missing. The Editor would ask that if any trace is found of the above clothes, that they would immediately notify Lula and she promises a great reward.

They are, hereby removed. It is further "ORDERED,"

"That a copy of this order be filed and made of record in the adjutant general's office."

In an interview with Mr. Baeot, superintendent of this road, he stated to a News reporter that the road was soon to begin the erection of a big freight depot with all modern conveniences, which when completed will be one of the best equipped freight stations in the state. Not only are they going to build a modern brick depot, but they are now and have been for the past few weeks laying several thousand feet of side track in Statesboro. They are now constructing a side track that will reach to the rear of the Statesboro Grain Co., also connect with the new warehouse being erected by the Raines Hardware Co. Besides this they will put in a side track that will run to the rear of Smith's stable, which will enable Mr. Smith to ship and receive all his mules and horses at the rear of his barn. When these tracks are completed the road will have spent something like $10,000 in side track-ago alone; besides this they have purchased about $35,000 worth of real estate near their depot. This real estate is rapidly being improved with buildings.

There is little doubt but that the S. & S. is doing more for Statesboro and Bulloch county than any other enterprise in our bounds. The directors of the road have never declared any dividends, all the surplus money has been spent in improvements and at least one-half of that has been spent in Statesboro and Bulloch county, and inasmuch as this road is partly owned by Statesboro citizens it should have the support of the entire town.

Mr. D. N. Baeot, superintendent of the road has been a citizen of Statesboro for some five years and since he has been connected with the road it has gradually been improving. Under his leadership the future can not be predicted, but we venture to say that if he has done so much toward improving the road during his short stay here, he will long have one of the best short line roads in the state.

S. AND S. ADDING BIG IMPROVEMENTS

Probably few people in Statesboro realize the value of the Savannah and Statesboro railroad to the city of Statesboro, the county of Bulloch. Few people stop to consider the past and present of this road, how it has grown from a mere tram road to one of the leading roads of the state. In 1898 when the road was first brought into Statesboro no doubt this was a mere hamlet; no one ever dreamed of the future of Statesboro and the Savannah & Statesboro railroad, but as Statesboro began her rapid growth the broad-minded officials of the road saw great things in store for the future of Statesboro and at once began to lay plans that would not only benefit the people of this section but would also be of benefit to the road, and as Statesboro grew this road at once began to put in improvements to meet the demands of the people. People at once grasped their efforts and began to put business to the road and by straight-forward business methods and promptness they were at once looked on as the shortest and best passenger line to Savannah, also the best freight line to the East, West and North, and today this road is the best, shortest and safest route to any point in the state besides connecting in Savannah with steamers that will quickly put you in any part of the world.

In an interview with Mr. Baeot, superintendent of this road, he stated to a News reporter that the road was soon to begin the erection of a big freight depot with all modern conveniences, which when completed will be one of the best equipped freight stations in the state. Not only are they going to build a modern brick depot, but they are now and have been for the past few weeks laying several thousand feet of side track in Statesboro. When these tracks are completed the road will have spent something like $10,000 in side track-ago alone; besides this they have purchased about $35,000 worth of real estate near their depot. This real estate is rapidly being improved with buildings.

There is little doubt but that the S. & S. is doing more for Statesboro and Bulloch county than any other enterprise in our bounds. The directors of the road have never declared any dividends, all the surplus money has been spent in improvements and at least one-half of that has been spent in Statesboro and Bulloch county, and inasmuch as this road is partly owned by Statesboro citizens it should have the support of the entire town.

There is every indication of at least 200 boarding students this fall. The people of Bulloch county have woken up to the realization of what a valuable accession the institution is to them and are enjoying the fact that ours is indeed the largest and best agricultural school in the state. This fact has become general information all over Georgia. President Dickens said the other day, "That he fully believes that Bulloch county will have 50 students at the opening of the school and that seven county will likely have 40". Every other county in the district is represented in making application for rooms.

The News would suggest that every student who entertains an idea of entering this school had better write to the President immediately, get a catalogue and fill out and mail the formal application blank at once. The sooner you do this, the surer you would be to get room.

FARMER JONES BOUGHT NEW AUTOMOBILE

How he Learned to Drive the Machine Before Trying it Out on The Roads of His Section.

Atlanta, July 15.—Farmer Ahasverus Jones, of Middle Georgia, came to Atlanta last week and bought an automobile of leading make and latest model. He bought it after the local agent had taken him to ride in it half a dozen times and explained to him all the details of operating it so he could begin using it as soon as he got home.

The agent also furnished a chauffeur who saw the car safely delivered to the farm.

Three days afterward the agent got the following letter from Farmer Jones:

"Dear Sir: I like my new car, but the differential is not working well. Please ship me a new differential gear at once."

This message, for more reasons than one, puzzled the agent. The differential, that queer lamp on the rear axle, is one of the mysterious parts of the automobile, familiar only to garage men and mechanics. The average automobile owner has never seen the inside of his differential box, and has only the vaguest idea of what is inside it.

For Farmer Jones to have got acquainted with his differential in so short a time was almost as hard to believe as that anything could have got the matter with it so soon.

The agent supposed maybe his patron had merely got terms mixed, and wanted a spark plug or a monkey wrench. He wired and the slightest answer came, "I know exactly what a differential is and mine is wrong."

So down to the farm went the agent. He got there about 10 o'clock one morning. Nobody was in sight at the house, but out in the barn he heard the noise of a ginney or a threshing machine in full operation. Astounded because it wasn't the season for cotton ginning or harvesting wheat, he went to the barn door and peeped in. No, it wasn't a gin; it wasn't a threshing machine; it was the automobile. Farmer Jones had jacked it clean off the floor, with all four wheels suspended in the air. Then he had cranked it up and climbed in and taken hold of the steering gear, opened wide the throttle and thrown in the clutch. The wheels were flying at great rate. Every minute or so Farmer Jones would turn an imaginary curve, and blow his horn at an imaginary pedestrian, retarding the spark when he came to an imaginary hill, just as the agent had taught him in Atlanta. He had been practicing that way for three days past. He did not intend to show himself to his neighbors, he said, until he had full control of the machine. "What was the matter with the differential?" Well the agent could see for himself how curious the wheels acted. Sometimes one went and sometimes the other, and sometimes they went in different directions.

The housewife says: "Our summer trip Won't cost us much this year; I've planned just how to save some coin."

Her husband says: "You dear!" "Yes," she replies, "we don't need much. For our vacation rest, I'll get but six new gowns while you Can have your oldest pressed."

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything. I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at W. H. Ellis Co.

The agent was a little sore. "I didn't tell you this car for a stationary monkey engine," he said. "Now you watch." So he lowered the car to terra firma, swung it around to the door, opened the throttle and out she swung as easily as you please, both hind wheels doing their work perfectly.

Farmer Jones is still wondering why they wouldn't do the same way when the car was jacked off the ground. The agent couldn't fully explain to him, for that's what makes the mystery of the differential.

BOOZE WAS SLACK IN CITY SATURDAY NIGHT.

One Dry Night in History of Statesboro.

Saturday night was no doubt the driest night for some few Saturdays in the history of Statesboro, according to the story told by the thirsty crowd that generally wait for the Saturday express to arrive, when they may take their, or maybe more and enjoy their Sunday, the usual express came in Saturday, but when the boys called for their small package they were advised that there was nothing doing, no nothing doing in the line of booze this time because the express company absolutely refused to ship whiskey. This will cut the usual disturbances short that have heretofore been taking effect every Saturday night in the dark town district.

SURPRISE DINNER TO MRS. R. A. WOODRUM.

Brooklet, Ga., July 22, 1911.
Editor News, Statesboro, Ga.
The family and friends of Mrs. R. A. Woodrum, 62 years old, met at her home on the above date, and a surprise dinner was enjoyed under the shade of large china trees, about 15 miles from Statesboro. Many nice presents were presented. Twenty-seven children and grandchildren, and friends numbering about 100 were present. The day was much enjoyed by all present. We hope to enjoy many more such occasions.

B. E. CASSIDY DEAD, AT METTER, GA.

Mr. B. E. Cassidy, a prominent farmer of near Metter, Ga., died at his home Thursday after a short illness. Mr. Cassidy was about 55 years old and has been a resident of Bulloch for a number of years, and was considered one of the prominent farmers of the county. Mr. Cassidy was well known over the county and has a great number of friends that much regret to hear of his death. He leaves a family to mourn his death. His remains were interred in the cemetery at that place Friday.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT MACDONNELL CHURCH.

Revival services will be held at MacDonnell church, Hubert, Ga., beginning next Sunday. The pastor will be assisted by his brother, Rev. J. C. G. Brooks, of Ashburn, who is well and favorably known to many of the good people of this county, having assisted in a revival at New Hope two years ago. The general public is most cordially invited to attend these services.

BULLOCH ROADS ARE THE BEST IN STATE

Declares W. B. Blood, of Kellogg's Toasted Corn
Flake Company.

In an interview with the News reporter, Mr. W. B. Blood, who has been in Statesboro for three or four days advertising Kellogg's Cornflakes, stated that he had traveled about three thousand miles over the roads of Georgia in this big advertising automobile truck and says that he has not found roads that would equal Bulloch's roads. He also says that the crops of this county are second to none, that better crops can be found in this county than any other county in the State.

Mr. Blood was very favorably impressed with Statesboro and Bulloch County and says that he will give us a good word wherever he goes.

Mr. Blood is traveling through every county in the state and to have such remarks made about our roads and crops shows that Bulloch stands out as the leader.

EXPERT FARMER OF CHATHAM COUNTY VISITS STATESBORO

Inspects The Big Canal and The Agricultural School.

Bulloch County had quite a distinguished farmer visit her farms Wednesday. At an invitation of Manager Baco of the Savannah & Statesboro Railway, Prof. J. M. Johnson, the superintendent of that famous Model farm which the Savannah Chamber of Commerce is conducting, visited the big tract of land owned by the stock company of Statesboro and Bulloch county men and which is located at Tucker, 14 miles east and on the Savannah & Statesboro Railway. He was met at Ivanhoe by Mr. Baco, R. F. Donaldson, W. G. Raines, W. B. Martin, and Prof. E. C. J. Dickens of the Agricultural School and accompanied to the train and walked over the big 3300 acre farm and inspected the canal which Mr. Baco is digging with the big steam shovel.

Automobiles took the party from Arelia to Statesboro where dinner was waiting them at the Jaekel Hotel.

Talking to the News of the undertaking, Prof. Johnson was full of enthusiasm. He said: "That drainage movement is the biggest farm improvement in your county for years. It is a pronounced success. That big ditch will absolutely dry that big tract to where it will be one of the finest farms in the county. It will teach your people and in fact the people of this vast section that these supposed low lands are in fact the best lands of the state. Much and lasting credit is due Manager Baco for his patient toils and skill in doing the surveying and carrying the work to successful termination. I regard it as the realization of Baco's dream. Some men doubtless looked upon it at one time as a vision, but you watch them now come to see in it a real and valuable lesson to farmers. The great holders of that big farm have a gold mine when that farm is developed. All they need to do is to put cash into it and develop the property."

Prof. Johnson is a member of the Board of Visitors of the State College of Agriculture and was once one of the professors of that great College. He naturally went to see our Agricultural school. Talking to the News he said: "I have heard so much of the success of your First District School that I wanted to see for myself. Indeed it is all that is said for it. I found that a busy bull. In the office Prof. Dickens has things in business shape like a bank, he knows just where the school stands at home and in the District. So great is that pile of application blanks for admission that it means a large student body. So he plans and Prof. Rowan, the able Professor of Mechanics is directing in the building of a large new building for a dining room and dormitory. It will be a beauty and a great help to the school, but the thing which struck me is the farm. I walked over it from side to side, it is well laid out and splendidly cultivated. It shows the results of different fertilization and cultivation. Prof. Dickens, Prof. Harper (my old student whom I was glad to see doing such good work) and Mr. Barr the superintendent all seem to work in perfect harmony together, it is the best ordered crop I have seen. I have this to say, if Prof. Dickens and his faculty manages the school right

New Railroad Basket Picnic

Editor Statesboro News:

August 5th we will have a basket railroad picnic at the end of the railroad at the Waldburg Waters place. There and then we will vote on two lines, one to Claxton, and one to Pembroke, and proceed to build the one chosen. Parties of Statesboro, Brooklet, Claxton and Pembroke and intermediate sections who are interested in the railroad are invited to come with their families and enjoy the day. We will have speaking, band music, barbecue, and free rides over new railroad during the day. It will be practically decided that day whether the road will be extended to the Seaboard Railroad or to the Zetterwater timber, and go the opposite direction to Olives, the success or failure of that day will be an index of the intelligence, enterprise and progress of our people here, can we afford to put our heads under our wings and sleep until this opportunity has past and continue to live in remote seclusion without a railroad to give us advantages that our liberal and progressive neighbors enjoy, this is now a matter of our choice. We can act and have the road, or do nothing and let others have it. Which will we do? If people don't act and reach out they never get things. Of course part of the institution as well as they do the farm, it is no wonder that the whole state looks upon this as the leading District Agricultural school of Georgia.

I thoroughly enjoyed my visit to your county, the big canal and the big school, the two are a great blessing to the already famous Bulloch county."

"The Uptown Church."

Is offering you larger things than you are now experiencing. Come next Sunday and receive the blessings in the feast of good things offered to you there.

The themes for study will be as follows:—
Morning—"Life more abundantly,"
Evening—"The two great contrasts,"
Wednesday evening prayer meeting—"A sick prophet and how the great Physician treats his case."
Sunday School at 4:30 in the afternoon.

A Ginmer Wanted.

To operate a three gin system for upland cotton. A man with some force and one who takes hold and don't mind work. If this kind of a man has only worked around a system gin and can learn and wants to learn, I can use him.

Address:—"THE GINS," care Statesboro News.

We have men who are void of intelligence, sympathy and enterprise and never help their neighbors, and we always have some of that kind, but I appeal to the intelligent element of our community, who live for the pleasure and happiness of their neighbors as well as their own, to come over and help to secure the greatest and most important need of our country, the new railroad. We may never have an opportunity again offered to us. Will we show our appreciation of this opportunity to have equal advantages of others by having a railroad.
