GOV. SMITH TO HOLD ON UNTIL DECEMBER.

Should a situation develop in Washington, whereby the vote of Mr. Smith would be needed for the passage of legislation pending in the Senate, he would, according to an "authoritative" statement reported in the Atlanta Constitution, immediately resign the governorship and take his seat as United States Senator from Georgia. Unless it is "demonstrated conclusively" to him that one more Democratic vote is needed, he declares that he will continue to discharge his duties as Governor until December. The Governor is said by the Georgia papers to have been carefully looking into the situation at the national capital with regard to the probable vote on all important measures before the Senate. He is quoted as being quite positive that all these "will either be passed or defeated by such a majority that one vote more or less will be of no consequence."

It is unfortunate that the question should have been complicated with political discussion, thinks the Atlanta Constitution (Dem.), for, "it is one of law," and Senator Terrell's ad interim term "expired with the meeting of the legislature." The Atlanta Journal (Dem.), a consistent Hoke Smith supporter, cannot refrain, however, from seeing the political side when it says in a general review of the situation:

"It is the old proverb exemplified again. 'We have piped unto you and ye have not danced, we have mourned unto you and ye have not wept.' In other words, it is impossible to please the folks that haven't got the votes."

The old manager of The New Statesboro Restaurant, Geo. Condon, has returned to Statesboro and now has his old position.

DEATH OF HARLY HALL.

(Communicated.)

Ocella, Ga., July 25, 1911.

Never in the history of Ocella has there been such a shock to the people, as when the news spread on that Harley Hall was dead, the people were stirred up, both white and black. On last Wednesday morning, July 19th, he said he did not feel so well, so he decided he would not go to work. He stayed around his home all the morning. After he had eaten his dinner he had on his cotton shirt, after which he went down town. He was down town about one hour, and he decided he would go back home. He was home about thirty minutes, when his wife noticed that he was acting queer; she saw that he was sick and called for Dr. Layfield, who came at once. On the doctor's arrival he saw that he was in a dying condition, so they called another doctor, Dr. Ashley, but before the doctor arrived he was dead. Telegrams were sent to several parts of the state and out of the state for his relatives, but none of them succeeded in getting here but his father and mother and one of his aunts. He was the son of Alex Hall, of Statesboro, Ga. He leaves a host of relative and friends to mourn his death. He only had one in family, his wife. They had been living here for six years, during five years of which time he had been with the Paulk Co. His brother, S. R. Hall, and his wife and his father and mother don't know how to show their regard to the Paulk Co. for the kindness and courtesy they took with him. They gave him a 800 burial and furnished everything that was necessary for his funeral. His remains were interred in the Ocella cemetery on Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The Paulk Co. business was closed during the services. The attendance was great. Harley Hall was one of a hundred that made the success he did. The Paulk Co. say they never expect to get a man to fill his position as he did because he was a man that was always strictly at business. He will always be remembered in Ocella.

OUR COUNTRY'S PROGRESS.

With Bulloch county yielding one-eighth of the world's cotton crop, and Statesboro the biggest Sea Island cotton market in the world, we have in this, a county to be proud of. Statesboro is bound to grow so long as it is so largely patronized by this, and adjoining counties, and the various businesses of Statesboro are amply able to fill the wants of their customers.

The growth of Bulloch county and Statesboro, has within the last few years, been very remarkable. Nearly all the land in the county is now cleared up and it won't be long before the very low land will be taken in. We have a right to be proud of such a growth and should be glad that we are citizens of this county.

However, the continuation of progress depends very much upon home patronage, and as a rule the people of this county not only believe in, but do patronize their home institutions. It is right to patronize your home merchant so long as he can supply you with what you want. However, there are a few articles he cannot advantageously carry and these can be bought elsewhere with no hurt whatever to the county. We should also patronize our home lawyers, doctors and other professional men so long as they meet successfully our requirements.

JOHN POWELL SELLS FIRST BALE OF COTTON.

Mr. John Powell, one of Bulloch's leading farmers, sprung a surprise on the county at large Wednesday by showing up with a bale of this year's cotton. Mr. Powell is a planter on Mr. J. W. Williams' plantation, near Adabelle, Ga. The bale was put up to the highest bidder and brought 14c a pound, and was bought by Mrs. Brooks Simmons for the Simmons Company. This is about the third or fourth bale sold in the state.

NO MORE LIQUOR ADS IN THE NEWS. ALL WHISKEY ADS IN THE NEWS CEASE

"Self praise is half scandal." True, but we feel that it is in keeping with propriety to call attention to the omission of all liquor advertisements from our columns. We feel that it is a worthy and right step, and one which will meet the sincere commendation of our people.

While the doing of a simple duty needs no praise, yet when the performance of that duty affects the public interest, it is well to let the public know. Therefore, not in a spirit of boasting, but with a sincere desire to have our position fully understood, we beg leave to announce that no more liquor advertisements will appear in our columns.

Many local-optionists, professing to be opposed to the liquor traffic, argue that liquor can not be controlled or driven out by legislation and that the only way to fight it is to "create a sentiment" against it. We are willing to do our utmost towards creating sentiment against its sale and immoderate use. To this end, we are willing to show our faith by our works, to the extent of closing our columns to all advertisements of the "stuff." It means to cut off several hundred dollars of revenue each year, but right is better than dollars.

JUDGE FITE AND THE PRESS.

Last week Editor Shope, of the Dalton Citizen published a criticism of Judge A. W. Fite's charge to the grand jury in Whitfield county, connected with humorous terms. But the judge did not think it was funny and he issued an attachment for the editor for contempt. When Shope was haled into court the judge furnished a written apology and retraction which he told the editor he must sign or go to jail. He signed. One of the conditions was that the apology and retraction should have editorial position in the paper.

Some week or two before the Georgia weekly editors met in Carversville, the home of Judge Fite. At a banquet a five-minute limit was put upon the speakers. It is reported that Judge Fite got the floor for a talk to the editors and held it for the balance of the evening. It is said that this "fired" the boys, particularly those that had a five minute speech up their sleeves. Whether Shope was one of these we are not advised. Anyhow, it is said that among other things the judge very properly and very earnestly emphasized the advice that the editor should always write and print his convictions; that if he were an editor he would do it if his good right arm withered at his side.

But it seems that Shope followed the advice too literally to please the judge.

It is recalled that about two years ago the editor of the Chattanooga Times printed something about Judge Fite which displeased the court, and a writ of attachment for contempt was issued for the Tennessee editor, but it could not be served outside of the state, and the aforesaid editor indignantly kept on his own side of the line—Macon Telegraph.

SHALL WE CHANGE THE CALENDAR? AT THE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

The British government is consulting other nations on the important question of a possible change in the calendar, so that the same day of the week, the proposal is that New Year's Day shall not be considered a day of the week or of the month. That would leave 364 days, which would divide exactly into 52 weeks, or four quarters of 91 days each. Each quarter would contain exactly 33 weeks divided in two months of 30 days each and one month of 31 days.

Easter Sunday and all movable feasts and dates depending upon it, would be fixed to fall every year upon the same day of the same month as well as on the same day of the week. Easter in that case would always be Sunday, April 14, and Christmas would always be Monday, December 25.

To provide for leap-year a special holiday, to be called Leap-Year-Day, would be inserted between June 30 and July 1, and this would not be a day of the week or a day of the month.

A bill for this purpose is now before the house of commons—Christian Endeavor World.

HOME—PRESENT PERILS AND PROPER SAFEGUARDS

The following article, which recently appeared in a church paper published in Pittsburg, contains so much of truth in it that we owe no apology to our readers for passing it on:

One of the perils of the home is the idleness and ignorance in which so many of our girls are raised. The writer makes this statement: "Except to be a drunken father, or a society-crazed mother, I do not know of a factor in the home which will destroy so much good money and so irretrievably play havoc with the family finances and with morals as an idle, helpless child." He made a test of four hundred girls in a Western correctional institution. Almost all of them came from our national "middle-classes," and most of them have working and earning fathers and mothers living. Of the four hundred girls only eighty-nine could be trusted to do plain cooking, only fifty-three understood general housework, and only thirty-five had a trade or a profession. More than seventy-five per cent of these girls, from our so-called "middle-classes," were idle and helpless—most of them were there for incorrigibility—which leads me to another important point, and that is the poor discipline and entire lack of discipline which exists in so many homes.

"I do not here lay down maxims for the management of children. I know that oftentimes the fault of incorrigibility lies with the parents as much as with the children. I know that all the creatures called girls are not fitted to be mothers, nor all the creatures called boys to be fathers, when they grow up. But I also know this, that if parents would get in closer touch with teachers, and visit the public school more often, and attend Sunday school with their children, there would be many cases where they would have their untutored eyes opened to manifestations of that 'incorrigibility' long before it grew to such proportions that the authorities have to take it in hand. There is a good old adage which says: 'Not all black sheep were born black,' and to this I might add another, and make it say that neither do the black sheep become so in a single night.

"Germany, recognizing the parental tendency to favor the daughter in idleness, has devised a number of laws, and is preparing others, which go so far as to provide a fine for the parents who fail to educate a daughter into practical useful work before she is eighteen years of age. He writes: 'You are forbidden to have idle or ornamental children.'

"France and England are now following closely on the German heels. We think of France as a frivolous nation, but according to Monsieur Cambon, former ambassador to the United States, the duty of French families and the close intimacy preserved between parents and children on all matters relating to home management and home finances, is an eye-opener for us and our lack of system. When we read how thoroughly French daughters are made to understand the exact state of the family finances; how they go daily with the mother of a trusted family servant and learn systematically the art of preparing and serving the food, we do not wonder that the French people have money to lend to other nations—so much money that the interest alone amounts to three hundred and sixty million dollars a year.

"In connection with the careful training of the French daughters to buy and prepare, it is important to note that, as a result, the average price of a meal for one person in a French family is two cents, while in Germany it is three cents, in England it is five cents, and in the United States it is eight cents. Waste is one of our great faults in this country, shows that statistics to learn that their death rate per thousand is lower than that in England, Germany, Russia, Italy, Spain or the United States.

"A woman who is responsibly connected with the largest retail dry goods store in the world says: 'I meet at least a quarter of a million of girls every year. They represent every industrial walk of life from the farmer's daughter to the banker's heiress. One point of similarity is to be noted about almost every one of them—money to them is water trickling through the fingers. What it cost a father or mother to produce the money for them apparently never enters their minds. The spirit of false show and display is upon them, and the truth of the real value of money is the last thought in their minds."

"Dr. Weaver, a German consul in Chicago, brings the charge that the American boy as a class is quite as weakly pampered, and backs up the statement with some illustrations which may be new to us. Here is one: "Not so very long ago, he says, 'we received at the consulate a letter from a great manufacturing concern of this United States. It stated that it desired to immediately employ sixty capable young men with mechanical training, and our assistance was asked in securing the young men. The least pay offered, was $75 a month, and promotion was certain if the work was well performed. Through us and technical colleges of the country, as well as through certain scientific newspapers, the sixty young men finally were secured.' And I want you to notice the result. The nationalities of the sixty were: Germans, 16; Belgians, 15; French, 10; Polish, 8; Bohemian, 5; English, 3; American, 2; Hungarian, 1. Fifty-eight of these young men were born abroad, and had been brought up from the foreign viewpoint of work. 'That we are right and you are wrong,' he continues, 'seems to me to be proved by the fact that most of the important work in the United States today being done by foreign-born; not by American-born children. Go into any great establishment where brains are required with work, and see whether my words are not true.'

"You may wonder whether, in taking up these lines, I am not diverging from my subject. I am not. Drunkenness, vice, crime, divorce and all the so-called great evils, would not make the inroads upon our homes which they do if these lesser evils were obliterated. Modern strenuousness, modern industrial methods, modern social methods, modern multiplicity of entertainments and amusements not to mention clubs—clubs for men, clubs for women, clubs for children—all lead from the home. They have led from it until home life today is reduced to a minimum, compared with what it was but fifty years ago. We are so busy with outside reform that there is danger of our waking up some day to the fact that our homes need reformation.

"The school, the Church, the State, can never take the place of the home, and the home must be a unit. 'All in the home must be one in the home,' as the old Saxons proverb puts it, or as Schiller has it: 'Where child and parents stand together, there can be no stress of wind or weather.'

CONVICT SHOTS GUARD

Waynesboro, Ga., Aug. 1.—The negro convict Steve Simmons, who to day killed a convict guard and escaped, was shot and killed by the sheriff's posse, after a chase of several hours. The negro, after the killing of G. Deck, the guard, had three cartridges in the pistol he had snatched from the other guard, Mr. Jeffers, and after being rounded up by the dogs and posse emptied the contents of the pistol at Sheriff Joiner of Screven county without effect. The negro was in a muddy place between him and the posse, and after being shot either fell in the creek or attempted to cross and went to the bottom under fifteen feet of water. His body is being dragged for, but up to this hour has not been recovered.

The other negro convict who escaped has not been captured. In the posse were sheriffs from Burke, Jenkins and Screven, the bloodhounds of Burke and Screven being used. Other court officers were present in the posse and nothing like a lynching was pulled off.

Burke county has had but one lynching and that was years ago, caused by parties living outside of the county. The people here are law-abiding, although several incidents have wrought them up to an intense pitch.

Mr. Deck's remains will be carried to his home at Rocky Springs for burial.

Simmons shot and killed Mr. Deck early this morning and fled with another convict, Otis Blount. Several of the negro convicts ran when the killing occurred, but came back.

Mr. Jeffers, deputy warden, when he was close enough the negro snatched his pistol and Mr. Deck was called to stop the negro. Mr. Deck was reading and as he raised from his chair the negro shot him twice through the head and fired at the other guards. All seemed panic stricken for the minute and the negroes escaped in the swamps.

Simmons was serving a six months' sentence for gambling. After his first day on the gang he escaped and it was only last week that he was captured and placed on the road again.

Mr. Deck's body was brought to the city in an automobile and carried to Mrs. E. G. Walters'. He was 33 years old and had only one brother in the county who is also a guard on the gang. He is survived by his parents and several brothers. He was a quite popular man and was a candidate to fill the unexpired term of Hon. Julian L. Fulcher, who died before taking his seat.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Reports on the growing cotton crop of 1911 received by the department of agriculture continue to indicate that the yield this year will be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, in the history of the industry. The condition of the crop on July 25 as announced today was 89.1 of a normal crop. This was nine-tenths of one per cent above the average on July 25 for the past ten years.

Based on the average condition of the crop on July 25 for the past ten years and the average yield per acre for the same period, the condition reported today, if it should continue, would indicate a final total yield of 207.25 pounds per acre, which upon 34,000,000 acres, the estimated final acreage, allowing for the abandonment of 3 per cent of the acreage, means a total cotton crop of 14,093,000 bales of 500 pounds each. This estimate is unofficial.

Notice.
The public is hereby notified to trade for a certain note dated July 21, 1911, for the sum of $400.00, due Nov. 1, 1911, payable to W. H. Goff, as the consideration has failed and I will not be the same.

Entered at the post office at Statesboro as 2nd class mail matter.

"The jaws of death must be terrible to face."

"Yes; and the jaws of life are not the pleasantest things in the world."

A well-known judge entered a well-known restaurant.

"Will you try our turtle soup,

sir?" asked the waiter.

"I have tried," said the judge,

"and my verdict is that the turtle has proved an alibi."

Sherman White, a Richmond,

Ind., piano player, has broken the world's record endurance piano playing. White played without a stop for thirty-eight hours, and declared afterward that, had it been necessary he could have played for fifty. During all that time

White played distinct notes

and not merely chords.

A certain medical specialist was in the habit of using a notebook to assist his memory. In the course of time his aged father died. The worthy doctor attended the funeral as chief mourner with due solemnity. At the close he was observed to draw out a notebook and cross out the word,

"Mourner. Bury father."

Isadore Roth, of Erie, Pa., a young Jewish student at the Northern Ohio University, who was one of the nine students expelled for fighting, stands to lose

$60,000 unless the strike of the 800 other students of the university results in his reinstatement.

Under the terms of his father's will, Roth was to inherit $60,000

if he graduated. Graduation would have taken place in two weeks had he not been expelled.

A TRAGEDY.

He courted her in ardent mood.

But when he wooed she wouldn't.

He married, and later died.

And when she could he

A LIFE SAVER.

"Chuggins is fearfully selfish,

since he got the new motor car,"

said the critical friend.

"In what way?"

"Every time he looks to warn

a pedestrian he thinks he ought to have a lifesaving medal."

FORGOT THE PINK STUFF.

Wife—"Why didn't you stop at the drug store and get the things I asked you to?"

Hubby—"Well, you see, my dear, I suddenly remembered that I promised you never to do anything to bring a blush to your cheek."

SHE TELLS HIM.

"Does your wife ask you for things she knows you cannot afford?"

"She hasn't asked me for a thing since we were married."

"Gee! How do you manage it?"

"Who wants a thing she doesn't want?"

ARE YOU A STATESBORO BOOSTER?

Or are you one of those fellows who stand around hotel doors and prominent corners and talk about what you saw in New York, Paris beat to a frazzle? To the States-

You'll Meet These Random Con-

So far fear you may be pestered near future, let me give you a tip.

Here's the way to handle that fellow:

Look Him Square In The Eye

and tell him as emphatically as you know how that—

HE'S TALKING RAG TIME.

I've traveled some myself, and I really know that Statesboro is as near up to date in many respects as any city on earth. True

we have no subways, neither have we any skyscraper buildings; but we have the majority of features that are essential to a modern American city.

UNCLE SAM IS READY TO BUY GEORGIA FORESTS

If the state of Georgia wants the first appropriation for the Appalachian national park approved by congress through the passage of the Weeks bill, it must pass Senator

Kincaid's resolution giving legislative consent to the purchase by

Uncle Sam of 32,000 acres of land

in Fannin, Union, and Gilmer counties.

Every state in the Appalachian system from New Hampshire to North Carolina, excepting only

Georgia, has granted consent for the acquisition by the national government of lands within their borders to be used for forest reserve.

Georgia, thru Congressman Gordon Lee, was fortunate enough to draw down the first appropriation

under the Weeks act, but the Government will not acquire the land in North Georgia until the legislature gives consent.

It is not expected there will be any opposition in the legislature to the proposed forest reserve which is the first indication of conservation on a practical basis in Georgia, but the legislative session is drawing to a close and both houses are swamped with bills

many of them untouched even by committee.

Earnings of College Men

Some light on the capacity of college men for business is furnished by the figures for the graduates of Dartmouth College in 1909.

It appears that the class secretary has secured confidential reports from 76 out of 100 young men graduates in that year. Their incomes, now after ten years of effort, range from $789 in one case to $12,000 in one other—average of $2,620. The summary is as follows:

One of $750, one of $900, two of

$1,000, two of $1,050, one of $1,25,

one of $1,300, one of $1,400, one of

$1,450, five of $1,500, one of $1,600, one of $1,650, one of $1,700, nine of $1,800, six of $2,000, one of $2,100,

two of $2,400, four of $2,500, one of

$2,600, one of $2,750, one of $2,800,

six of $3,000, one of $3,100, one of $3,200, four of $3,500, two of

$4,000, two of $4,200, one of $7,000,

one of $7,500, one of $12,000.

The most contented of "self-made" men inclined to deem that this is a good showing and that is no doubt much better than would be a record of the same number of young men ten years out of the common schools.—Macon, Tele-

LET THE CAPITOL REMAIN IN ATLANTA SAYS CITIZENS. PETITION SIGNED BY FIVE HUNDRED SIXTY TWO CITIZENS.

The following strong array of names of Bulloch County tax payers signed to a paper circulated around Statesboro for a few days shows in no uncertain terms how the people of this county stand in the movement inaugurated by the people of Macon looking to the removal of the State Capitol to that city.

The list was not carried out of Statesboro except to Register being presented to the citizens of the town and the farmers who came in during the few days that it was kept open. The original was mailed to Messrs Williams and Murphy our two representatives, yesterday morning.

It is unnecessary for us to comment on the personal of the names signed to the paper, the people here know them and know they compose a fair representative body of our citizens. It is said that less than two dozen people declined to sign the paper, they were without exception citizens of the town. Only one farmer refused to affix his signature to the list. The sentiment expressed by the great majority of those signing was that they were opposed to any removal at all, and a few signing stated they had no objection if Macon came across with the dough to defray the expenses of the new capitol, provided the "dough" was in hand before the folks voted. The following is the list:

GEORGIA—Bulloch County.
To Hon. J. W. Williams and J. M. Murphy.

We the undersigned tax payers of Bulloch County, being opposed to the laying of the great tax burden necessary to the removal of the State Capitol to Macon, therefore petition you to strike names from the list providing for same.

LAURENS COUNTY CLAIMS TO HAVE BEST 12 ACRES CORN GROWING IN U. S.

Offer to Put Up $500 Against $500
If Any Community, East, West,
North or South Will Average
Over 150 Bushels to Acre.

Dublin, Ga., Aug. 2.—The Dublin Chamber of Commerce has been authorized to challenge the corn growers of the United States, excepting those of this county, to match or better the yield on 12 acres of corn now in process of growth in this county. The contest to be for a purse of $1,000, one-half to be provided by the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, through J. E. Smith, Jr., who offers to donate the sum and the other half by the party who desires to contest the claim that this is not the best twelve acres of corn in the United States.

The corn in question is a 12-acre field owned by Messrs. D. A. Thomas and J. T. Moore, near Tingle on the Wrightsville and Tennille Railroad, in this county. Competent experts say that it will average more than 150 bushels per acre. Messrs. Moore and Thomas have quite a reputation as corn growers, having made 1,050 bushels on nine and a half acres last year. The 12-acre plot on which they are counting so strongly this year adjoins the acreage planted last year.

The fame of this plot of corn has extended so wide and is of such magnificent growth that visitors, with no other purpose in view, have come from as far as Tennessee, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, while several attaches of the Department of Agriculture at Washington have been sent here to look at it and make reports upon it. These will be published in due course, and will be distributed by the department.

Some faint idea of what the corn is may be had when it is stated that Mr. Smith, who is one of the leading business men and farmers of the county, standing erect and without moving, as from his tracks touched with his hands eight-five well grown and good-sized ears of the corn. Competent judges declare that there are several acres of the corn that will produce more than 2.0 bushels to the acre. Contestants should wire the Dublin Chamber of Commerce their desire to enter the race that additional information be sent them.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But of ten germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see the pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Baidan, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c. at W. H. Ellis Co.

VARDAMAN ELECTED.

Former Governor Wins Hands Down Over Percy and Alexander.
Jackson, Miss., Aug. 2.—Incomplete returns from yesterday's democratic primaries in Mississippi show that former Governor Vardaman is the lead by not less than 15,000. At Vardaman's headquarters a bulletin was issued claiming that his majority will be 20,000 and it is not improbable that this estimate will be fully verified. United States Senator Percy and Mr. Alexander have both conceded defeat.

IT TAKES THE RING TO KEEP THE GIRL

The custom of giving an engagement ring at betrothal time comes down to us from traditional times, and has endured because of its pretty and symbolic meaning. It still has a beautiful significance, and whether you wish a diamond or some less costly gem, you will find our store the proper place to make your selection.

This is the one time of all that you must be sure you are getting something reliable, and when it comes from us you can rest assured it is good. Our Strong Sizing is being carried up to sizes 12. Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.
Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Panna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley's Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well, and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley's Kidney Pills are in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills.
